NOTE.

THE legislation of the past Session of Parliament, which by the establishment of representative County Councils marks a new era in the development of Local Government in this country, has practically left untouched the laws relating to Local and Municipal Government with which this work professes comprehensively to deal. This work and the Local Government and County Electors Acts, 1888, taken together, therefore, now cover the whole field of the laws relating to the existing Local and Municipal Government of the country. The Authors being about to publish a treatise on the Local Government and County Electors Acts, 1888, it appears to them desirable, simultaneously with the publication of that book, to re-issue the present work, with such additions thereto as shall bring the law of Local and Municipal Government there treated of fully up to date. For this purpose the judicial decisions and legislation relating to the subject-matter of this work since its publication have been carefully prepared in the form of Addenda for insertion at the proper places, and the book is now re-issued with the addition of these Addenda, so that the practitioner in the country may have in his hands a work comprehensive in its character, and brought up to date.

October, 1888.

On the other hand, an agent employed to collect rents may be liable as "owner," though he has no money of his principal in hand: Mayor of St. Helen's v. Kirkham, L. R. 16 Q. B. D. 403, 34 W. R. 440, 50 J. P. 647.

The effect of this part of the Act is that Improvement Commissioners, who are hereby made urban sanitary authorities, are reconstituted as new bodies under this Act, having vested in them the powers given by their local Acts as well as those given by this Act. And such commissioners in doing any act in the exercise of the powers originally conferred by their local Acts are acting under this Act, and are entitled to any protection or privilege given by this Act to members of local authorities acting under its provisions: Lea v. Facey, L. R. 19 Q. B. D. 352, 56 L. J. Q. B. 536, 35 W. R. 721, 51 J. P. 756.

The cleaning, levelling, and cementing the bottom of a pool, into which the effluent from sewage works flowed, was held to be a work for sewage purposes within this section: Wimbledon Local Board v. Croydon Rural Sanitary Authority, L. R. 32 Ch. D. 421, 55 L. T. N. S. 106.

And in Reg. v. Wheatley, L. R. 16 Q. B. D. 34, 55 L. J. M. C. 11, 54 L. T. N. S. 680, 34 W. R. 257, 50 J. P. 424, where an order of justices made under this section required the owner of premises to abate a nuisance arising from untrapped drains, "and to execute such works and do such things as may be necessary for that purpose," it was held that such order was bad on the very ground that it did not specify what works and things the owner should execute and do for the purpose of abating the nuisance.

Proceedings under this section must be ordinary proceedings known to the law. In the absence of special damage a local authority cannot sue in respect of a public nuisance except with the sanction of the Attorney-General by action in the nature of an information: Wallasey Local Board v. Gracey, L. R. 36 Ch. D. 593, 56 L. J. Ch. 739, 57 L. T. N. S. 51, 35 W. R. 694, 51 J. P. 740.

The Public Health (Ships, &c.) Act, 1885 (48 & 49 Vict. c. 35), by s. 2 provides that s. 110 of the Public Health Act, 1875, "shall have effect not only for the purpose of the provisions of that Act relating to nuisances, but also for the purpose of such of the provisions of that Act relating to infectious diseases and hospitals as are referred to in the schedule to this Act" (viz. ss. 120, 121, 124, 125, 126, 128, 131, 132 and 133 of the Public Health Act, 1875).

This section does not make an urban authority liable, at common law, to indictment for non-repair of a highway: Reg. v. Mayor of Poole, L. R. 19 Q. B. D. 602, 56 L. J. M. C. 131, 52 J. P. 84.

But an indictment for such non-repair will lie under section 10 of the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878: Reg. v. Mayor of Wakefield, L. R. 20 Q. B. D. 810, 52 J. P. 422.

A private road may be a street within the meaning of this section: Midland Railway Co. v. Watton, L. R. 17 Q. B. D. 30, 55 L. J. M. C. 99, 54 L. T. N. S. 482, 34 W. R. 524, 50 J. P. 405.

Moreover the power of the urban authority over the streets may be subject to the rights of other bodies. Thus, where a gas company laid down gas pipes under the surface of the streets, as they were bound to do by statute, and the urban authority, in repairing the streets used steam rollers of such a weight as to injure the pipes, it was held that the gas company were entitled not only to recover damages, but also to have an injunction to restrain the urban authority from using steam rollers in such a way as to injure their pipes: Gas Light and Coke Co. v. Vestry of St. Mary Abbott's, Kensington, L. R. 15 Q. B. D. 1, 54 L. J. Q. B. 414, 33 W. R. 892, 49 J. P. 470.

"Not sewered to the satisfaction of the urban authority." The urban authority must make up their minds within a reasonable time: Bonella v. Twickenham Local Board, cited in Addendum to p. 52.

As to the meaning of the word "street," Maude v. Baildon Board was disapproved of by the Court of Appeal in Corporation of Portsmouth v. Smith, L. R. 13 Q. B. D. 184; but fresh doubt was thrown upon the point by the House of Lords, 10 App. Cas. 364, 54 L. J. Q. B. 473.

As to how far the urban authority in executing the works must follow the terms of their own notice, see Local Board for Acton v. Lewsey, L. R. 11 App. Cas. 93, 55 L. J. Q. B. 404, 54 L. T. N. S. 657, 34 W. R. 745, 50 J. P. 708.

But as to a Dissenting chapel, vested in trustees, see Wright v. Ingle, L. R. 16 Q. B. D. 379, 55 L. J. M. C. 17, 54 L. T. N. S. 511, 34 W. R. 220, 50 J. P. 436.

As to when the line must be prescribed, see Newhaven Local Board v. Newhaven School Board, cited in Addendum to p. 239.

This section does not apply to new buildings on land never before built upon: Williams v. Wallasey Local Board, L. R. 16 Q. B. D. 718, 55 L. J. M. C. 133, 55 L. T. N. S. 27, 34 W. R. 517, 50 J. P. 582.

A local authority has no power to charge the rates with the expenses of promoting a bill in Parliament for the purpose of obtaining powers to purchase land: Cleverton v. Rural Sanitary Authority of St. Germain's Union, 56 L. J. Q. B. 83.

The Court cannot enlarge the time for making an award beyond the period limited by this sub-section: In re Maekenzie, L. R. 17 Q. B. D. 114, 55 L. J. Q. B. 309, 34 W. R. 487.

See further on this section Whiteley v. Basley, L. R. 21 Q. B. D. 154, 36 W. R. 823.

In Burgess v. Clark, L. R. 14 Q. B. D. 735, a penalty was enforced against an officer of a local board for letting rooms to the board; and in Todd v. Robinson, L. R. 14 Q. B. D. 739, a penalty was enforced against such an officer on the ground that he was a shareholder in a company having a contract with the board. As a remedy for the hardship caused by these decisions the Statute 48 & 49 Vict. c. 53, was passed, which is as follows:

"Sect. 1. This Act may be cited as the Public Health (Members and Officers) Act, 1885, and shall be construed as one with the Public Health Act, 1875, in this Act called the principal Act.

"Sect. 2. Notwithstanding anything in the hundred and ninety-third section of the principal Act, or any similar restrictions in any local Act, to the contrary, it shall not be unlawful for any officer or servant appointed or employed under the principal Act or local Act by the local authority to be concerned or interested in any contract with the local authority made with such consent or approval as is hereinafter mentioned for the sale, purchase, leasing, or hiring of any lands, rooms, or offices, or to be concerned or interested in any contract with the local authority as a shareholder in any joint stock company, and no officer or servant of a local authority shall be incapable of holding any office or of being employed under the principal Act or local Act, or be liable to any penalty by reason only of his having been concerned or interested either before or after the passing of this Act in any such contract as aforesaid. No such contract as aforesaid shall be made after the passing of this Act, or approved if made before the passing of this Act, for the sale, purchase, leasing, or hiring of any lands, rooms, or offices except with the consent of two-thirds of the number of the members of the local authority present at a meeting held after seven clear days notice shall have been published in some newspaper circulating in the neighbourhood, and after notice shall have been sent in writing to every member stating the nature of the contract, and the time and place of the meeting at which the question is to be considered.

"Sect. 3. Proceedings for the recovery of any penalty under Rule 70 of Schedule II. to the principal Act shall not be taken except with the consent in writing of the Attorney General.

"Sect. 4. No member of any local authority shall vacate his office by reason only of his having any share or interest in any newspaper in which any advertisement is inserted relating to the affairs of such local authority, or of the district subject to the jurisdiction of such local authority, anything in any general or local Act of Parliament to the contrary notwithstanding.

"For the purposes of this section the expression 'local authority' means any 'local board' or 'improvement commissioners' as defined by the principal Act."

As to the meaning of "market gardens or nursery grounds," see Purser v. Local Board of Health of Worthing, L. R. 18 Q. B. D. 818, 56 L. J. M. C. 78, 35 W. R. 682, 51 J. P. 596.

But where the covenant contained the word "outgoing," paving expenses were held to be within the covenant: Aldridge v. Ferne, L. R. 17 Q. B. D. 212, 55 L. J. Q. B. 587, 34 W. R. 578.

The Public Health and Local Government Conferences Act, 1885 (48 & 49 Vict. c. 22), now provides as follows:—

"Sect. 2. Any local authority may, when empowered by and subject to any regulations made by the Local Government Board in that behalf (which regulations the said Board is hereby authorized from time to time to make, vary, or rescind), pay the reasonable expenses of any member or members or clerk to the local authority attending any conference or meeting of members of local authorities held for the purpose of discussing any matter which is connected with the duties which devolve on them, and any reasonable expenses incurred in purchasing reports of the proceedings of any such meeting or conference, and may charge the amount to any rates applicable to the general purposes of the Public Health Act, 1875, within their district.

"Sect. 3. Expressions used in this Act have the same respective meanings as they have in the Public Health Act, 1875, save and except that in England the term 'local authority' shall not mean or include the urban authority of any borough."

See Darenth Main Valley Sewerage Board v. Guardians of Dartford Union, L. R. 19 Q. B. D. 270.

On a summons under this section justices may state a special case under section 33 of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879: Sandgate Local Board v. Pledge, L. R. 14 Q. B. D. 730, 52 L. T. N. S. 546, 33 W. R. 565, 49 J. P. 342.

A person who is in fact disqualified from being a member of a local authority, but acts in the bonâ fide belief that he is a member, is entitled to notice of action under this section: Lea v. Facey, cited in Addendum to p. 49.

Now the Public Health (Ships, &c.) Act, 1885 (48 & 49 Vict. c. 35), by sect. 3 provides as follows: "In any case in which the Local Government Board are by the principal Act authorized permanently to constitute a port sanitary authority by provisional order they may permanently constitute a port sanitary authority by order.

"Every order made under this section shall specify a day on which it shall come into operation in the event of its not becoming a provisional order as hereinafter provided, and at least four weeks before such day a copy of it shall be sent by the Local Government Board to every riparian authority which is by the order or otherwise required to contribute to the expenses of the port sanitary authority, and if before such day notice in writing shall be received by the Local Government Board from any such riparian authority objecting to the order, and such notice is not withdrawn before such day, the order shall be deemed to be a provisional order duly made by the Local Government Board under the principal Act, and in the event of its being confirmed by Parliament shall come into operation on such day as may be provided in that behalf in the Act confirming it.

"Any order made under this section may, if the same has not become a provisional order, be repealed, altered or amended by any subsequent order made by the Local Government Board."

“Or is rated to the relief of the poor.”

In a case under a similar section in the Metropolis Management Act, 1855 (sect. 6), it was held that an owner of small tenements who agrees with the overseers to pay rates instead of the occupiers, under section 3 of the Poor Rate Assessment and Collection Act, 1869, is not himself a “person rated or assessed to the relief of the poor:” Mogg v. Clark, L. R. 16 Q. B. D. 79, 55 L. J. Q. B. 69, 53 L. T. N. S. 890, 34 W. R. 66, 50 J. P. 342.

The town council of a borough is not bound under this rule to keep a register for the purpose of taking a poll with respect to the application of the borough funds to the promotion or opposition of bills in Parliament, under sect. 4 of the Municipal Corporations (Borough Funds) Act, 1872: per Cave, J., Ward v. Mayor of Sheffield, L. R. 19 Q. B. D. 22, 56 L. J. Q. B. 418.

In case of a vacancy occurring through “failure duly to elect,” the six weeks are to be computed from the day on which the retiring member goes out of office, and not from the day on which the election of a member to fill his place is held: Reg. v. Cooban, cited in Addendum to p. 228.

The filling up of vacancies under this rule is “business” within the meaning of rule 2 of Schedule I. But the Act does not say that, where the number of the Board falls below the quorum required by that rule, the Board is thereby dissolved. See Newhaven Local Board v. Newhaven School Board, L. R. 30 Ch. D. 350, 53 L. T. N. S. 571, 34 W. R. 172.

By 48 & 49 Vict. c. 53, s. 3, proceedings under this rule shall not be taken except with the consent in writing of the Attorney General. See this Act in the Addendum to p. 153, sect. 193, ante.

And now by sect. 3 of the County Electors Act, 1888, every person who is entitled to be registered as a voter in respect of the occupation of land of the value of ten pounds, is entitled to be enrolled as a burgess.

Occupation of a dwelling-house by virtue of an office, service, or employment within the meaning of the Representation of the People Act, 1884, s. 3, is no qualification for the municipal franchise: McClean v. Prichard, L. R. 20 Q. B. D. 285, 58 L. T. N. S. 337, 36 W. R. 508.

Page 271, section 9, sub-section 2 (b) and (c).

The Municipal Voters Relief Act, 1885 (48 Vict. c. 9), now provides as follows:—

“Sect. 2. From and after the passing of this Act a man shall not be disqualified from being enrolled or voting as a burgess at any municipal election in a borough, in respect of the occupation of any house, by reason only that during a part of the qualifying period, not exceeding four months in the whole, he has, by letting or otherwise, permitted such house to be occupied as a furnished dwelling-house by some other person, and during such occupation by another person has not resided in or within seven miles of the borough.

“Sect. 3. In this Act—

“The expression ‘burgess’ has, in England, the same meaning as in the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882.

“The expression ‘municipal election’ has, in England, the same meaning as in the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882.”

A person who is not qualified to be a burgess, but has been enrolled on the burgess roll and is therefore entitled to vote under section 51, is not thereby qualified to be elected a councillor by the terms of this proviso: Flintham v. Roxburgh, L. R. 17 Q. B. D. 44, 55 L. J. Q. B. 472, 54 L. T. N. S. 797, 34 W. R. 543, 50 J. P. 311.

As to the meaning of "outgoing alderman," see Hounsell v. Suttill, L. R. 19 Q. B. D. 498, 56 L. J. Q. B. 502, 51 J. P. 440.

Where a county prison is locally situate within the limits of a city, the jurisdiction to hold inquests on prisoners dying in such prison is in the coroner for the county, and his jurisdiction is not affected by this section: Reg. v. Robinson, L. R. 19 Q. B. D. 322, 35 W. R. 843, 52 J. P. 22.

The words "commonly understood" in the proviso to this section mean commonly understood by any person comparing the nomination paper and the burgess roll: Moorhouse v. Linney, cited in Addendum to p. 356.

A nomination paper was subscribed with the full and correct name of "Charles Arthur Bowman" as an assenting burgess; his name was erroneously entered on the burgess roll as "Charles Bowman" only. It was held that he was ineligible to subscribe the nomination paper, and the nomination was bad, such defect not being cured by section 241: Moorhouse v. Linney, L. R. 15 Q. B. D. 273, 53 L. T. N. S. 343, 33 W. R. 704, 49 J. P. 471.

The Water Companies (Regulation of Powers) Act, 1887 (50 & 51 Vict. c. 21), now provides as follows:—

"Sect. 3. This Act shall apply to every water company which is a trading company supplying water for profit, and to which any of the provisions of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, have been or shall be made applicable by any special Act or Provisional Order confirmed by Parliament, and every such special Act and Provisional Order shall be deemed to be amended by this Act, and shall be construed accordingly.

"Sect. 4. Where the owner and not the occupier is liable by law or by agreement with the water company to the payment of the water rate in respect of any dwelling-house or part of a dwelling-house occupied as a separate tenement, no water company shall cut off the water supply for non-payment of the water rate, but such water rate, without prejudice to the other remedies of the company for enforcing payment thereof from such owner, shall, together with interest thereon at the rate of five pounds per centum per annum, computed from the expiration of one month from the time when the same has been claimed by the company until receipt thereof by the company, be a charge on such dwelling-house in priority to all other charges affecting the premises; and (without prejudice to such charge) the amount may be recovered, with the costs incurred, from the owner or from the occupier for the time being in the same manner as water rates may by law be recovered: Provided always, that proceedings shall not be taken against the occupier until notice shall have been given to him or left at his dwelling-house to pay the amount due for water rate out of the rent then due or that may thereafter become due from him, and he shall have omitted so to pay such water rate; and provided also, that no greater sum shall be recovered at any one time from any such occupier than the amount of rent owing by him, or which shall have accrued due from him since such notice shall have been given or left as aforesaid, and that every such occupier shall be entitled to deduct from the rent payable by him the sum so recovered from him or which he shall have paid on demand.

"Sect. 5. In the event of any such supply being cut off in contravention of this Act, the company cutting off the same shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for each day during which the water shall remain cut off, which penalty shall be recoverable summarily from the company by, and shall be paid to, the person aggrieved."

But where a private Waterworks Act provided that the annual value of a dwelling-house should not be fixed by justices at less than the gross sum assessed to the poor rate, it was held that "gross sum assessed to the poor rate" meant "gross estimated rental," and not "rateable or net value": Bristol Waterworks Co. v. Uren, L. R. 15 Q. B. D. 637, 54 L. J. M. C. 97, 33 W. R. Dig. 239, 49 J. P. 564.

(passed in 1852), reciting the earlier Act, kept on foot all provisions then subsisting, it was held that nothing in the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, impliedly took away from the company their power of distress: Richards v. West Middlesex Waterworks Co., L. R. 15 Q. B. D. 660, 54 L. J. Q. B. 551, 33 W. R. 902, 49 J. P. 631.

"Sect. 3. This Act shall not apply to Scotland, Ireland, or the City of London.

Sections two hundred and thirty-three, two hundred and thirty-four, and two hundred and thirty-six to two hundred and thirty-nine, both inclusive, of the Public Health Act, 1875, shall apply, with the necessary modifications, to all money borrowed by any library authority after the passing of this Act, as if the library authority were an urban sanitary authority, and as if references to the Public Libraries (England) Acts, 1855 to 1887, were substituted in those sections and in the forms therein mentioned for references to the Sanitary Acts or the Public Health Act, 1875.

"So much of section seventeen of the principal Act as incorporates the clauses and provisions of the Companies Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, with respect to the borrowing of money on mortgage or bond is hereby repealed except as to any money borrowed before the passing of this Act.

"Sect. 8. "Sect. 9. Where any parish is partly within and partly without any borough or district which shall have adopted or shall contemplate the adoption of the principal Act, the part of such parish without the borough or district shall, for the purposes of the fourth section of the Public Libraries Amendment Act (England and Scotland), 1866, be considered a parish within the meaning of the said section; and the overseers of the poor for the said parish shall, for the purposes of the said section, be considered the overseers of the part of the parish situate without the borough or district, and the expenses referred to in the said section shall, so far as such part of the parish is concerned, be defrayed out of a rate to be levied by the overseers in such part of the parish, either as an addition to the poor rate, or as a separate rate to be made and recovered in the same way as a poor rate, and to be subject to the same rights of appeal.

Provisions affecting the Metropolis only.

"Sect. 10. In the metropolis any district shall have power to adopt the principal Act, and for such purpose the said Act shall be altered and have effect as follows:—

- (1.) Sections eight, nine, twelve, fifteen, twenty-one, and twenty-two shall be read as if the word 'district' was substituted for the word 'parish'; and the words 'district board' instead of the word 'overseers' and the word 'vestry' as the case may be.
- (2.) Section thirteen shall not apply, and instead thereof the following provisions shall have effect:—

The expenses of calling and holding the meeting of the ratepayers, whether the principal Act shall be adopted or not, and the expenses incurred by the commissioners in carrying the said Act and the Acts amending the same into execution in any district, to such amount as shall be from time to time sanctioned by the district board, shall be paid out of the funds of the district board applicable to the general expenses incurred by them in the execution of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, and the sums required for the purpose of defraying the expenses incurred by the commissioners as aforesaid shall be paid by the district board to such person as shall be appointed by the commissioners to receive the same, but nothing herein contained shall enable district boards to levy or expend for the purposes of the principal Act and the Acts amending the same any greater sum in any year than one penny in the pound.

- (3.) Section fourteen shall be read as if the words 'district boards' were substituted for the word 'vestries'; the word 'district' for 'parish'; and 'funds applicable to the general expenses incurred by the district board in the execution of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855,' for 'money to be raised for the relief of the poor,' and section sixteen shall be read as if the words 'district board' were substituted for the word 'vestry,' and the words 'rates out of which the expenses of the commissioners are payable' for the words 'rates levied in pursuance of this Act.'

- (4.) Where any parish has, previously to the passing of this Act, adopted the principal Act, or shall subsequently adopt the same:—

(a.) No person shall, by reason of being a ratepayer of such parish, be accounted as a ratepayer of the district of which it forms a part.

(b.) No representative on the district board for such parish shall take any part in any proceedings under this section.

(c.) Such parish shall not be called upon to contribute towards any expenses incurred, and no part of the funds of such parish shall be expended in or towards calling or holding the meeting of the ratepayers of the district, or carrying the Act into execution in the district.

(d.) And, in every respect, such parish shall, for the purposes of this section, be treated as if it were outside the district.

(e.) Any question of accounts arising between such parish and the other parishes in the district, or between such parish and the district, in consequence of this section, shall be decided finally by the Local Government Board.

"Sect. 11. This Act shall not deprive any parish in the metropolis of the power of adopting the principal Act, but after any district shall have adopted the said Act, no parish within such district shall also adopt it in manner provided by section one of the Public Libraries Amendment Act, 1877, or hold a meeting for considering its adoption, without the consent of the Local Government Board."

The market authority may from time to time (unless otherwise expressly provided by any Act) demand and receive in respect of the weighing of cattle tolls not exceeding the amounts specified in the schedule to this Act, or such other amounts as may be authorized by the Local Government Board to be taken by the market authority; and sections thirty-six to forty-one (both included) of the Markets and Fairs Clauses Act, 1847, shall apply to the tolls mentioned in this section, as if this Act were the special Act, and the market authority were the undertakers.

"Sect. 9.—(1.) The market authority of any market or fair may at any time apply to the Local Government Board to be exempted from the provisions of this Act on the ground that the sale of cattle at such market or fair is or is likely to be so small as to render it inexpedient to enforce the provision and maintenance of a place for weighing cattle and of a weighing machine under this Act; and thereupon the Local Government Board may by order declare that this Act shall not apply to such market or fair until after the expiration of a time not exceeding three years to be limited by such order. Any order made under this section may at any time be wholly or partially rescinded, altered, or extended by any subsequent order of the Local Government Board.

(2.) This Act shall not apply to any market or fair to which any order under this section applies so long as it is declared by such order that this Act shall not apply thereto.

"Sect. 10. In the application of this Act to Scotland and Ireland this Act shall be read and construed as if for the expression 'the Local Government Board' there were substituted, as regards Scotland, the expression 'the Secretary for Scotland,' and as regards Ireland, the expression 'the Local Government Board for Ireland.'

Now the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1885 (48 & 49 Vict. c. 72), provides as follows:—

"Labouring Classes Lodging Houses.

"Sect. 1.—(1.) The Labouring Classes Lodging Houses Acts, 1851 to 1857, may be adopted—

- (a) for the city of London by the Commissioners of Sewers of the city of London;
- (b) for the metropolis, exclusive of the city of London, by the Metropolitan Board of Works if one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State approves of such adoption;
- (c) for any urban sanitary district by the urban sanitary authority of such district in accordance with section ten of the Public Health Act, 1875; and
- (d) for any rural sanitary district, by the sanitary authority of the district upon such certificate published by the Local Government Board, and after such delay as hereinafter mentioned.

(2.) A rural sanitary authority in any district desiring to adopt the said Acts may apply to the Local Government Board for the certificate required for such adoption, and shall specify in such application the area in which they consider that accommodation is necessary for the housing of the labouring classes, and thereupon the Local Government Board shall direct a local inquiry to be held by one of their inspectors, and if after such local inquiry the inspector shall certify that accommodation is necessary in such area for the housing of the labouring classes, and that there is no probability that such accommodation will be provided without the execution of the said Acts, and that having regard to the liability which will be incurred by the rates, it is under all the circumstances prudent for the said authority to undertake the provision of the said accommodation under the powers of the said Acts, the Local Government Board may if they think fit publish that certificate in the 'London Gazette,' and thereupon the sanitary authority may adopt the said Acts: provided that—

- (a) unless the Local Government Board state in publishing such certificate that, by reason of the date of the next ordinary election of members of such authority or otherwise, an emergency renders it necessary to adopt the Acts immediately, such adoption in pursuance of the certificate shall not take place before the ordinary election of members of such authority which is held next after the date of the local inquiry; and
 - (b) after the end of twelve months from the date of the certificate the Acts shall not be adopted without a fresh certificate; and
 - (c) no land shall be acquired, nor buildings erected under the said Acts outside of the area mentioned in the certificate, except after a fresh application, inquiry, and certificate.
- (3.) Where the rural sanitary authority think it just that the burden of the expenses of the execution of the said Acts should be borne by some contributory place or places only in their district, instead of by the whole of their district, the authority may in their application to the Local Government Board request permission to limit the burden of such expenses to such contributory place or places, and thereupon the justice of such limitation shall be inquired into at the local inquiry, and the Local Government Board, if satisfied after the local inquiry that the circumstances of the contributory place or places and of the rest of the district render such limitation just, may make an order to that effect, and thereupon the expenses of the execution of the said Acts in the area mentioned in the order shall be borne by the contributory place or places named in the order instead of by the whole district. The provisions of this enactment with respect to the burden of the expenses shall apply upon every application for a fresh certificate.

(4.) When the Labouring Classes Lodging Houses Acts, 1851 to 1867, have been adopted by the Metropolitan Board of Works, or by any sanitary authority, or by the Commissioners of Sewers of the city of London, then

- (a) such board or authority or commissioners shall have power to carry the said Acts into execution within the area for which they are adopted, subject in the case of a rural sanitary authority to the foregoing provisions with respect to rural sanitary authorities, and for that purpose may exercise the same powers whether of contract or otherwise as in the execution of their duties under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, and the Acts amending the same, or under the Public Health Act, 1875, or under the Acts conferring powers on such Commissioners of Sewers respectively;

- (b) all expenses incurred by such board or authority in the execution of the said Acts shall be defrayed—
- (i.) in the case of the Metropolitan Board of Works, out of the Dwelling House Improvement Fund under the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875 ;
 - (ii.) in the case of an urban sanitary authority, as part of the general expenses of their execution of the Public Health Act, 1875 ; and
 - (iii.) in the case of a rural sanitary authority, as special expenses incurred in the execution of the Public Health Act, 1875, and, save where the burden of such expenses is by order of the Local Government Board to be borne by one contributory place only, shall be deemed to be incurred for the common benefit of all the contributory places liable to bear such expenses: Provided that if on the application of the rural sanitary authority it is so declared at the time of the publication of the certificate by the Local Government Board, then the said expenses of the rural sanitary authority shall be defrayed as general expenses of the said authority in the execution of the Public Health Act, 1875, and if such expenses are not to be borne by the whole of the district, shall be charged to the contributory places which are to bear the same as an addition to the general expenses otherwise chargeable thereto ;
 - (iv.) in the case of the City of London, out of the Dwelling House Improvement Fund under the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875 ;
- (c) all receipts under the said Acts shall be paid to the fund out of which such expenses are payable, and the accounts of such receipts and expenses shall be audited in like manner and with the like incidents and consequences respectively as the accounts of the general or special expenses above mentioned ; but separate accounts shall be kept of the receipts and expenditure for the purposes of the said Acts ;
- (d) such board and commissioners may borrow for the purpose of the execution of the said Acts, in like manner and subject to the like conditions as they may borrow for the purposes of the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875, and every such authority may borrow for the purpose of the execution of the said Acts in like manner and subject to the like conditions as for the purpose of defraying the above-mentioned general or special expenses ;
- (e) in the application of the said Acts to the City of London, ‘district’ shall mean the City of London, and ‘board’ the Commissioners of Sewers of that City ; and in the application of the said Acts to the Metropolis, ‘district’ shall mean the metropolis exclusive of the City of London, and ‘board’ the Metropolitan Board of Works ; and in the application of the said Acts to a rural sanitary district, ‘district’ shall mean the said district, and ‘board’ the rural sanitary authority. In any case where an urban sanitary authority does not levy a borough rate or any general district rate, but is empowered by a local Act or Acts to borrow money and to levy a rate or rates throughout the whole of their district for purposes similar to those or to some of those for which a general district rate is leviable, it shall be lawful for such sanitary authority to defray the expenses incurred in the execution of the said Acts by means of money to be borrowed, and a rate or rates to be levied, under such local Act or Acts.

“ Sect. 2.—(1.) The expression ‘lodging-houses for the labouring classes’ when used in the Labouring Classes Lodging Houses Acts, 1851 to 1867, shall be deemed to include separate houses or cottages for the labouring classes, whether containing one or several tenements, and the purposes of the said Act shall be deemed to include the provision of such houses and cottages.

“(2.) Land for the purposes of the said Acts as amended by this Act may be acquired by the Metropolitan Board of Works, by the Commissioners of Sewers of the City of London, and by any sanitary authority in like manner as if those purposes were purposes of the Public Health Act, 1875, and sections one hundred and seventy-five to one hundred and seventy-eight, both inclusive, of that Act (relating to the purchase of land), shall apply accordingly, and shall for the purposes of this Act extend to the metropolis in like manner as if the Commissioners of Sewers and Metropolitan Board of Works respectively were a local authority in the said sections mentioned, and one of her Majesty’s Principal Secretaries of State were substituted for the Local Government Board.

“ Sect. 3. In the event of the removal from their present sites of Millbank Penitentiary or Pentonville Penitentiary, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, on the recommendation of the Commissioners of Her Majesty’s Treasury, and subject to such conditions as they may think reasonable, and in the event of the removal from its present site of Coldbath Fields Prison, or House of Detention, Clerkenwell, it shall be lawful for the justices of the peace for the county of Middlesex if the justices think fit so to do, to sell and convey those respective sites or any part or parts thereof to the Metropolitan Board of Works, at a fair market price.

Amendment of Artizans Dwellings Acts.

“ Sect. 4. The owner of any premises who is required by an order of a local authority made under the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Act, 1868, to execute any works on or to demolish any premises, shall cease to have the power to require the local authority to purchase such premises.

Amendment of Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Acts.

“ Sect. 5.—(1.) The Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Acts, 1875 to 1882, shall extend to all urban sanitary districts.

(2.) In either of the following cases :

- (a) Where an officer of health has reported to any local authority in the metropolis, exclusive of the City of London, either in pursuance of the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Act, 1868, that any premises are in a condition or state dangerous to health, so as to be unfit for human habitation, or in pursuance of section eight of the Artizans Dwellings Act,

1882, that the pulling down of any obstructive buildings would be expedient, and such authority resolve that the case of such premises or buildings is of such general importance to the metropolis that it should be dealt with by a scheme under the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Acts, 1875 to 1882; or

- (b) Where any such official representation as mentioned in section three of the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875, has been made to the Metropolitan Board of Works in relation to any houses, courts, or alleys within a certain area, and the Metropolitan Board of Works resolve that the case of such houses, courts, or alleys is not of general importance to the metropolis, and should be dealt with under the Artizans Dwellings Acts, 1868 to 1882:

such local authority or board may submit such resolution to one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and thereupon the Secretary of State may appoint an arbitrator, and direct him to hold a local inquiry, and such arbitrator shall hold such inquiry, and report to the Secretary of State as to whether, having regard to the size of the area, to the number of houses to be dealt with, to the position, structure, and sanitary condition of such houses, and of the neighbourhood thereof, and to the provisions of section three of the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Act, 1875, the case is either wholly or partially of any and what importance to the metropolis at large, with power to such arbitrator to report that in the event of the case being dealt with under the Artizans Dwellings Acts, 1868 to 1882, the Metropolitan Board of Works ought to make a contribution in respect of the expense of dealing with the case. The Secretary of State, after considering the report of the arbitrator, may, according as to him seems just, decide that the case shall be dealt with either under the Artizans Dwellings Acts, 1868 to 1882, or under the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Acts, 1875 to 1882, and the officer of health or other proper officer shall forthwith make the report or official representation necessary for proceedings in accordance with such decision.

(3.) Where an arbitrator has under the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Acts, 1875 to 1882, determined the amount of compensation, an appeal shall not lie to a jury from the decision of such arbitrator without leave of the High Court of Justice, but such court or any judge thereof at chambers may grant such leave upon application in a summary manner, and upon being satisfied that a failure of justice will take place if the leave is not granted.

Amendment as to Interest on Public Works Loans.

"Sect. 6. Any loan advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners in pursuance of the Labouring Classes Lodging Houses Acts, 1851 to 1867, or of the Artizans Dwellings Acts, 1868 to 1882, or of the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement Acts, 1875 to 1882, the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Improvement (Scotland) Act, 1875, and any Acts amending the same, or of any of such Acts, or for labourers dwellings in pursuance of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, shall bear such rate of interest, not less than three pounds two shillings and sixpence per cent., as the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury may from time to time authorize, as being in their opinion sufficient to enable such loans to be made without loss to the Exchequer.

Provided that this section shall cease to be of effect after the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight.

Amendment of General Sanitary Law, &c.

"Sect. 7. It shall be the duty of every local authority entrusted with the execution of laws relating to public health and local government, to put in force, from time to time as occasion may arise, the powers with which they are invested, so as to secure the proper sanitary condition of all premises within the area under the control of such authority.

"Sect. 8. Whereas under section ninety of the Public Health Act, 1875, the Local Government Board can declare that section to be in force within the district of a sanitary authority, and after the publication of notice of such declaration such authority is empowered to make by-laws with respect to lodging-houses, and it is expedient to authorize every such authority to make such bye-laws without any declaration by the Local Government Board: Be it therefore enacted as follows:—

Every sanitary authority shall have power to make bye-laws for the matters specified in section ninety of the Public Health Act, 1875.

"Sect. 9.—(1.) A tent, van, shed, or similar structure used for human habitation, which is in such a state as to be a nuisance or injurious to health, or which is so overcrowded as to be injurious to the health of the inmates, whether or not members of the same family, shall be deemed to be a nuisance within the meaning of section ninety-one of the Public Health Act, 1875; and the provisions of that Act shall apply accordingly.

(2.) A sanitary authority may make bye-laws for promoting cleanliness in, and the habitable condition of tents, vans, sheds, and similar structures used for human habitation, and for preventing the spread of infectious disease by the persons inhabiting the same, and generally for the prevention of nuisances in connection with the same.

(3.) Where any person duly authorized by a sanitary authority or by a justice of the peace has reasonable cause to suppose either that there is any contravention of the provisions of this Act or any bye-law made under this Act in any tent, van, shed, or similar structure used for human habitation, or that there is in any such tent, van, shed, or structure any person suffering from a dangerous infectious disorder, he may, on producing (if demanded) either a copy of his authorization purporting to be certified by the clerk or a member of the sanitary authority, or some other sufficient evidence of his being authorized as aforesaid, enter by day such tent, van, shed, or structure, and examine the same and every part thereof in order to ascertain whether in such tent, van, shed, or structure there is any contravention of any such bye-law, or a person suffering from a dangerous infectious disorder.

(4.) For the purposes of this section 'day' means the period between six o'clock in the morning and the succeeding nine o'clock in the evening.

“(5.) If such person is obstructed in the performance of his duty under this section, the person so obstructing shall be liable, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding forty shillings.

(6.) This section shall apply to the metropolis, with the substitution of section nineteen of the Sanitary Act, 1866, for section ninety-one of the Public Health Act, 1875, and of nuisance authority, under the Nuisance Removal Acts, for sanitary authority.

(7.) Nothing in this section shall apply to any tent, van, shed, or structure erected or used by any portion of Her Majesty’s military or naval forces.

“Sect. 10.—(1.) With respect to bye-laws authorized by this Act, or by the Labouring Classes Lodging Houses Act, 1851, to be made—

(a) Sections two hundred and two and two hundred and three of the Metropolitan Management Act, 1855, where such bye-laws are made by the Metropolitan Board of Works, or any nuisance authority in the metropolis; and

(b) The provisions of the Public Health Act, 1875, relating to bye-laws, where such bye-laws are made by a sanitary authority, shall apply to such bye-laws, and a fine or penalty under any such bye-law may be recovered on summary conviction.

(2.) For the purposes of the execution of their duties under this Act the Local Government Board may hold such local inquiries as the Board see fit, and sections two hundred and ninety-three to two hundred and ninety-six, both inclusive, of the Public Health Act, 1875, relating to inquiries by such Board shall apply.

(a) Any sale, exchange, or lease of land, in pursuance of the said Act, when made for the purpose of the erection on such land of dwellings for the working-classes, may be made at such price, or for such consideration, or for such rent, as, having regard to the said purpose, and to all the circumstances of the case, is the best that can be reasonably obtained, notwithstanding that a higher price, consideration, or rent might have been obtained if the land were sold, exchanged, or leased for another purpose.

(b) The improvements on which capital money may be expended, enumerated in section twenty-five of the said Act, and referred to in section thirty of the said Act, shall, in addition to cottages for labourers, farm servants, and artizans whether employed on the settled land or not, include any dwellings available for the working classes, the building of which in the opinion of the Court is not injurious to the estate.

(2.) Any body corporate holding land may sell, exchange, or lease such land for the purpose of the erection of dwellings for the working classes at such price, or for such consideration, or for such rent as having regard to the said purpose and to all the circumstances of the case is the best that can reasonably be obtained, notwithstanding that a higher price, consideration, or rent might have been obtained if the land were sold, exchanged, or leased for another purpose.

“Sect. 12. In any contract made after the passing of this Act for letting for habitation by persons of the working classes a house or part of a house, there shall be implied a condition that the house is at the commencement of the holding in all respects reasonably fit for human habitation. In this section the expression ‘letting for habitation by persons of the working classes’ means the letting for habitation of a house or part of a house at a rent not exceeding in England the sum named as the limit for the composition of rates by section three of the Poor Rate Assessment or Collection Act, 1869, and in Scotland or Ireland four pounds.

Supplemental.

The expression ‘sanitary district’ means the district of a sanitary authority:

The expression ‘sanitary authority’ means an urban sanitary authority or a rural sanitary authority:

The expressions ‘urban sanitary authority’ and ‘rural sanitary authority’ and ‘contributory place’ have respectively the same meanings as in the Public Health Act, 1875:

The expression ‘cottage’ may include a garden of not more than half an acre; provided that the estimated annual value of such garden shall not exceed three pounds.

“Sect. 14. This Act, so far as it amends the Labouring Classes Lodging Houses Act, 1851 (14 & 15 Vict. c. 34), the Labouring Classes Dwelling Houses Act, 1866 (29 & 30 Vict. c. 28), and the Labouring Classes Dwelling Houses Act, 1867 (30 & 31 Vict. c. 28), (which Acts are in this Act referred to as the Labouring Classes Lodging Houses Acts, 1851 to 1867), shall be construed as one with those Acts, and together with those Acts may be cited as the Labouring Classes Lodging Houses Acts, 1851 to 1885.

PREFACE.

THE object of the following work is to arrange and bring together in one volume the laws which urban and rural authorities, as constituted by the Public Health Act, 1875, and municipal corporations are called upon to administer. The work is not a mere commentary upon these laws; but in every case the exact words of the statute or part of a statute which governs or is administered by local and municipal authorities are fully set forth and annotated. In addition to the numerous statutes cited in the notes, the body of the work contains 142 statutes and substantial parts of statutes.

The Public Health Act, 1875, as first in importance, is the first statute treated. By way of introduction to this Act, it has been thought advisable to print a short history of sanitary legislation prior to 1875, taken from the report of the Royal Commission of 1869 on Sanitary Laws in England and Wales (exclusive of the Metropolis), and also the Circulars, explanatory of the Act, issued by the Local Government Board on 30th September, 1875. The Act itself will be found to be carefully and copiously annotated. Wherever cases are referred to throughout the work, references are given to all the reports in which the case appears. Thus, in the modern cases references are given to the Law Reports, Law Journal, Law Times Reports, Weekly Reporter, and Justice of the Peace. This, it is believed, will be found of especial value to practitioners in the country.

The Municipal Corporations Acts and the Local Government Board Act, 1871, as regulating and establishing municipal authorities and the Government Department, under the supervision of which local government laws are administered, follow the Public Health Act, 1875. This disposes of the constitution of local and municipal authorities.

Following the order suggested by the Public Health Act, 1875, as to the subject-matter of the laws which Local and Municipal Authorities have to administer, the text of the work contains the statutes, annotated, relating to the following subjects: Sewers and Rivers Pollution, Water (including the Waterworks Clauses Acts, 1847, 1863), Lighting (including the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, the Gasworks Clauses Acts, 1847, 1871, and the Gas and Waterworks Facilities Acts, 1870, 1873), Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings, Infant Life Protection and Adulteration of Food, Nuisances (including Explosives, Petroleum, and Alkali Acts), Libraries, Museums and Schools of Art, Contagious Diseases (Animals), Highways (including the Tramways Act, 1870), Compulsory taking of Land, Burial, Loans, and Audit.

In addition to the statutes dealing with these subjects, the Clauses Consolidation Acts are set forth and annotated, viz., the Lands Clauses, Towns Improvement, Towns Police, Markets and Fairs, Commissioners, Railways and Companies' Clauses Consolidation Acts. Where any of these are incorporated with the Public Health Act, 1875, the fact and extent of the incorporation is carefully noted.

Various statutes relating to Municipal Corporations, Municipal Elections, Inclosure and Recreation Grounds, Rating, and Bridges, with many others, are also given.

It was originally intended to include the Model Bye-laws issued by the Local Government Board, and references have been occasionally made to them in the earlier notes, but having regard to the size of the work it was felt that this would unduly increase its bulk without corresponding advantage.

The legislation of 1884, at which period the work was so far advanced in type as to render interpolation impracticable, has been placed out of order at the end of the book.

A selection of the Circulars and Orders of the Local Government Board and the Standing Orders of the Houses of Parliament relating to Local Bills and Provisional Orders will, it is hoped, prove of practical value.

Special pains have been taken in the preparation of the Index to make it as comprehensive and accurate as possible. A table of upwards of 2500 cases cited in the book is also given. The Addenda bring the cases up to date of publication, and are printed on one side only for convenience of removal to their proper places in the body of the work.

The authors desire to acknowledge their indebtedness to Mr. F. G. Rucker, Mr. W. W. Orr, and Mr. J. F. Rotton, legal adviser to the Local Government Board, Barristers-at-Law, for much valuable assistance in the preparation of the work. They have, also, to thank Mr. J. F. Moulton, Barrister-at-Law, for several notes upon the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, and for the Forms of Electric Lighting Provisional Order, and Licence for Electric Lighting.

A sewer made by the owner of some only of the houses in a street not yet a highway, though made for the purpose of draining his own amongst other houses, is not a sewer made by a person "for his own profit" within the meaning of this section: *Acton Local Board v. When a local authority have caused a supply of water to be brought in pipes along a street, and have given notice to the owner of a house to obtain a supply and to do all such works as may be necessary for that purpose, the water company are entitled to charge rates, although neither the authority nor the owner have caused the house to be connected with the main : *Southend Waterworks Co. v. „ 120, line 6—

See also Reg. v. Sheil, 49 J. P. 68, a case under the Metropolis Management Act, where it was held that in proceedings for recovering expenses of paving new streets in the metropolis, it is a preliminary question of fact whether the alleged street is a street, and this is for the magistrate to determine.

„ 121, line 15 from bottom—

See also Williams v. Wandsworth Board of Works, cited in addendum to p. 45.

„ 122, line 17, “The expenses incurred by them.”—

If the sewerage and paving of a street to an amount exceeding £50 has been done by contractors, employed by the urban authority, but without any written contract under their common seal, as is directed by s. 174, the authority are nevertheless entitled to recover the expenses from the frontagers : Bournemouth Commissioners v. Watts, L. R. 14 Q. B. D. 87, 54 L. J. Q. B. 93, 51 L. T. N. S. 823, 33 W. R. 280, 49 J. P. 102.

„ 125, section 152—

In order that a local authority may declare a street, not repairable by the inhabitants at large, to be a highway so that it may become so repairable, it is necessary that each of the works specified in this section shall, at the time of declaration, have been executed upon the street to the satisfaction of such authority. This section and section 150 are not correlative : Att.-Gen. v. Bidder, 47 J. P. 263.

THE LAW OF PUBLIC HEALTH AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

HISTORY OF THE SANITARY LAWS.

THE following short history of the Sanitary Laws, previous to the passing of the Public Health Act, 1875, is taken from the report, presented to Parliament in 1871, of the Royal Commission appointed in 1869 to inquire into the operation of the Sanitary Laws in England and Wales (exclusive of the Metropolis).

"In the earlier periods of our history the common law afforded the only means by which a comparatively rude and scattered population could vindicate their right to protection from injury to health by neglect or nuisance.

"The Legislature, however, seems to have become speedily sensible of the need of taking additional precautions, and it is worthy of notice that in the year 1388 an Act was passed, imposing a penalty of no less than £20 upon persons who cast animal filth and refuse into rivers and ditches. This may properly be considered as the first Sanitary Law in the Statute Book. The next is an Act passed in 1489, which prohibits the slaughtering of cattle within cities and boroughs. Both these Acts (which are reprinted among our evidence) continued to be law until the year 1856, when they were with other obsolete statutes repealed.

"In the older records there is but little evidence to show to what extent the Courts of law and equity exercised remedial or restrictive interference in such matters, and the Sheriffs' Tourn and Courts Leet, which were in possession of sanitary powers, and probably in their day exercised useful local jurisdiction, fell at length into desuetude, and, unless in the case of exceptional Courts Leet, became obsolete. It is worthy of note that the Court Rolls of Stratford-on-Avon show that in 1552 Shakespeare's father was fined for depositing filth in the public street, in violation of the bye-laws of the manor, and again in 1558, for not keeping his gutter clean.

"Commissions of 'Sewers' for the purpose of draining off or controlling the action of waters within defined limits, and of providing (but incidentally and to this extent only) for the health of the population, appear to have been issued by the Crown at its discretion from very early times, and Acts were passed in the reigns of Henry VI. and Henry VII. relating to this subject. At length in the reign of Henry VIII. the Statute of Sewers authorised the issue of Commissions of Sewers, at the discretion of the Lord Chancellor, the Lord Treasurer, and Chief Justices, and enacted a general definition of the duties of the Commissioners appointed by them—such as—the overlooking (within the particular district) of sea banks and sea walls, and the cleansing of rivers, public streams, and ditches. Important Commissions were from time to time issued in conformity with this Act, and operated in their several districts more or less directly on the public health; but had they been much more numerous, they would to no appreciable extent have supplied the absence of general or local sanitary legislation.

"The more populous and wealthy towns began as early as the reign of George II. to seek a remedy in their individual cases by applications to Parliament for special legislation; and very numerous special Acts have been passed between that date and the present time for conferring on populous places powers of local government, pointed more directly in the earlier instances at the paving, lighting, cleansing, and improving the districts embraced in them, but recognising in all later instances the importance of sanitary regulations, and affecting to make provisions accordingly; but until lately no general measure applicable to the whole kingdom provided for the health and comfort of the people.

"The attention of the Legislature has, however, been specially directed from time to time to meet the extraordinary attacks of pestilent and contagious diseases; as in the case of the stringent enactments introduced by James I. against the plague, and, as in later times, the Vaccination Acts have been directed against small-pox.

"The recent sanitary legislation in this country has been remarkably drawn out by, and connected with, three outbreaks of cholera which led to investigations of the means of preventing or mitigating infectious diseases, and so drew attention to the fact that the seats of endemic disease are generally where the air or water are polluted.

First cholera, 1831. "The alarm caused by the ravages of Asiatic cholera in the year 1831 led to the first move in sanitary reform.

6 Geo. IV. c. 78. "Debates immediately took place in Parliament, and the provisions of a section of the Quarantine Act of 1825, giving the Privy Council power to make regulations in case of emergency, were greatly extended by a temporary Act of 1832.

2 & 3 Will. IV. c. 10. "Crowded parts of towns, and the courses of rivers fouled by refuse, were observed to be the chief resort of the epidemic. High, open, and dry situations were not attacked. The dense masses of working people, brought together by the rapid growth of manufacturing, mining, and commercial industry, had presented sanitary difficulties of such unprecedented magnitude as to be at once novelties and puzzles for legislative treatment.

3 & 4 Will. IV. c. 90. "The Lighting and Watching Act, 1833, repealing an older Act of 1830, made 11 Geo. IV. c. 27. provisions for lighting and watching in parishes of England and Wales; enabled the ratepayers to appoint inspectors, who might contract for works; imposed penalties for contaminating waters by gas, and gave the surveyor of the Commissioners of Sewers power to enter the premises of gasworks.

5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 76. "A vestry convened on application by three ratepayers, might adopt this Act. "In 1835 the Municipal Corporations Act was passed, by which a better organization, with powers of making bye-laws for local government, and for the prevention and suppression of nuisances, was given to certain municipalities in England and Wales.

6 & 7 Will. IV. c. 86. "In 1836 was passed the Act under which the Registrar-General of Births, Deaths, and Marriages was appointed. This Act considerably amended the machinery of registration, and gave the first means of deriving sanitary information from it by bringing the registers kept throughout the kingdom into collocation in the hands of a Registrar-General, and by ordering him to prepare and submit an annual abstract of them to Parliament.

Reports, 1838. "In 1838—9 three reports made to the Poor Law Commissioners, as to the Report, Registrar-General, 1839. causes of disease prevalent in the metropolis, led to an inquiry extending over Great Britain; and in 1839 the first report of the Registrar-General exhibited a general survey the increasing amount, and the causes, of excessive mortality in towns. Mr. Slaney induced the House of Commons to appoint a Select Committee on the health of towns, which reported in 1840, recommending the Acts should be passed for a better regulation of buildings and construction of sewers, and for the appointment of Local Boards of Health and inspectors.

Slaney's Committee, 1840.

"The report drew attention to the evils of interments in populous cities; the importance of water supply; the want of open spaces in crowded cities; the necessity of some superintendence over common lodging houses; and the advantages which would result from the establishment of public baths.

Vaccination Acts, 1840, 3 & 4 Vict. c. 29, and 4 & 5 Vict. c. 32. "In 1840 and 1841 the first Vaccination Acts were passed, which empowered the guardians and overseers, under the supervision of the Poor Law Commissioners to contract for the vaccination of all persons resident in their unions and parishes respectively. The Act of 1840 prohibited the production of small-pox by inoculation or other means, and the latter Act provided that the expenses of vaccination should be paid out of poor rates, but that vaccination should not be considered parochial relief.

"In 1842 Mr. Chadwick's report to the Poor Law Board on the results of the above-mentioned inquiry ordered in 1839, so elaborately described the unsatisfactory sanitary condition of the labouring population, gave so much evidence of the effects of preventive measures in raising the standard of health and chances of life, and so ably exposed the feebleness of the law on the subject and its capability of amendment on recognised principles, that the Home Secretary, Sir James Graham, brought the subject under the serious attention of the Cabinet.

report, 1842.

"In 1843 Sir Robert Peel issued a Royal Commission, of which the Duke of Buccleuch was chairman, to inquire into the state of large towns and populous districts; and the inquiry was specially directed to the causes of prevalent disease; to the best means of improving the public health by existing laws giving powers for drainage, water supply, and building regulations; and to possible amendments of those laws. This evidence elaborately traced, in the case of fifty sample towns, an excessive mortality to defective drainage, and other like causes capable of removal; and exhibited instances of reduced mortality where such causes had been removed.

Buccleuch's Commission, 1843.

"It appeared that the then existing law respecting drainage, namely the Statute of Sewers, under which Commissions of Sewers were issued, contemplated only surface drainage, and that in most of the large towns the communication of house drains with the main sewers was prohibited, or made a matter of special privilege.

23 Hen. VIII.
c. 5.

"It also appeared that few of the Local Improvement Acts then passed gave any jurisdiction over sewers for the discharge of refuse, or were based on any complete schemes of sewerage, and that in relation to water supply, they only provided that mains should be laid in the principal streets.

"General uncleanness, and deficiency and impurity of water, especially in the poorer parts of towns, were the result. Costly charges, for any improvement, were made on owners or occupiers, while more comprehensive plans might have been better carried out for a quarter of the cost.

In a second report, made in 1845, these Commissioners recommended that the Crown should inspect and supervise the sanitary improvement of towns and populous districts; that local authorities should have more power, and that their districts should be enlarged and made co-extensive with drainage areas; that the necessary arrangements for drainage, paving, cleansing, regulating buildings, and water supply should be under one administrative body; and that there should be compulsory rating for water supply as well as for sewerage, the local authority contracting with any companies which might have already undertaken the supply.

second report, 1845.

"The legislation required for accomplishing these purposes was, after two failures, effectually commenced in the following year.

"In 1846 was passed the first of a series of Acts for the removal of nuisances. By this Act a summary jurisdiction in such matters was first given to justices in petty sessions, on the information of Town Councils, or Commissioners under Local Acts, or Boards of Guardians, as the case might be; nuisances were defined to be the filthy or unwholesome condition of any dwelling-house or other building, or of any accumulation of any offensive matter, dung, &c., or of the existence of any foul drain, privy, or cesspool.

Prevention
Act, 1846,
9 & 10 Vict.
c. 96.

"This introduction of guardians among the authorities for such purposes may be said to have first extended sanitary legislation to rural districts.

"The Act also empowered the Privy Council to make regulations for the prevention of formidable contagious diseases. This Act was to remain in force until the end of the session of 1848.

"In 1847 the Towns Improvement Clauses Act and the Towns Police Clauses Act were, with several similar Acts, passed for consolidating in one Act respectively certain provisions generally required in local Acts for various public purposes, and by thus supplying provisions for many requisites for local government in the way of regulation of streets and buildings, consumption of smoke, supply of water, &c., &c., they considerably facilitated further legislation. Except in special cases their provisions have been adopted in all subsequent local legislation.

"In 1848 was passed the first great and comprehensive measure which may be called the ground-work of our sanitary legislation. It, however, was principally

Public Health
Act, 1848,

11 & 12 Vict. c. 63. designed, as appears from the preamble, for towns and populous places in England and Wales, not including the metropolis, and it did not come into force in any locality unless petitioned for by ratepayers, or enforced by the Board of Health upon evidence of an exceptionally high rate of mortality. It seems, from the debate on Lord Morpeth's introduction of the bill, that dissatisfaction with the sanitary administration of the country, under the common law and local Acts, and in the absence of any general legislation, led to the establishment of the General Board of Health, consisting of a President and two other persons appointed by the Crown, of whom one was paid. A second paid member was added to the Board in the year 1850 by 'The Metropolis Interment Act,' which imposed new duties on the Board. The Board, which was to be continued during five years, was empowered to appoint inspectors.

General Board of Health.
11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, ss. 4, 6.

13 & 14 Vict. c. 52, ss. 2, 31.
Cf. 15 & 16 Vict. c. 85, s. 1.

"The powers of local government supplied by this Act were generally an extension of those before given by sundry local Acts to Commissioners of Sewers in the metropolis, and to authorities in a few large towns. Many provisions corresponding to sections in the Towns Improvement Clauses Act are found in the Act; and communities were thus enabled to obtain by a simple process powers which they could not previously obtain except by a local Act incorporating sections of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act.

"The powers specified were for constructing or managing sewers and drains, wells, pumps, water and gas works, deposits of refuse, waterclosets, slaughter-houses; regulating offensive trades; removing nuisances, and protecting water-works belonging to Local Boards from pollution; paving, regulating streets, dwellings, common lodging houses, cellars, &c.; providing burial grounds, recreation grounds, &c., and supplying public baths with water.

"Facilities were also given for purchasing land, and authority for levying rates for such purposes. Local Boards were, moreover, made surveyors of highways.

"All public sewers were vested in the Local Boards.

"In corporate boroughs the Town Councils were to be the Local Boards of Health; in other districts Local Boards of Health were to be elected by owners and ratepayers.

11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 36, ss. 37—40.

"The Local Boards might appoint committees to act, subject to their approval, for special purposes, and by subsequent sections the appointment of such officers as surveyors and inspectors of nuisances was directed, and that of a member of the medical profession, to be called an officer of health, who was to perform such duties as the general board might order, was authorised. Contracts for public works, special assessments, and appeals were also provided for.

"A cheap and easy mode of procuring the amendment or repeal of local Acts by the machinery of Provisional Orders was now introduced.

Nuisances Removal and Diseases Prevention Act, 1848.

11 & 12 Vict. c. 123.

12 & 13 Vict. c. 111.

Second cholera, 1849.

"In 1848 was also passed the Nuisances Removal and Diseases Prevention Act of that year, in substitution for a similar Act of 1846 which was about to expire, and in 1849 this Act of 1848 was amended.

"These Acts were not (as the previous Act of 1846), passed for a limited period, a circumstance which indicates an increased confidence in this class of legislation; they strengthened the previous statutory remedies, but were repealed, so far as relates to England, in 1855, to make way for still more stringent provisions.

"In 1849 the second visitation of cholera came, and the reports then made by the medical officers who had been established more clearly traced the most fatal ravages of the epidemic to the crowded alleys of large old towns, impure air and water, and foul streams.

14 & 15 Vict. c. 28.
16 & 17 Vict. c. 41.
15 & 16 Vict. c. 84.

"The Common Lodging Houses Acts of 1851 and 1853, and the Metropolitan Water Act, 1852, showed increased attention to the necessity of sanitary precautions. These enactments, affecting limited portions of our subject, are merely mentioned here to trace continued progress, and because by the latter a supervising power was given to the Board of Trade, introducing a new controlling power into, and so complicating, sanitary government.

"The Lodging House Acts we shall describe by-and-by; Metropolitan Acts do not come into our inquiry.

Town sewerage works.

"Encouraged by the facilities which the Public Health Act, 1848, offered, the towns began to carry out large works for their own sewerage and drainage, taking the rivers, on which most of them had been situated for water supply, as the means of discharging what they simply looked upon as refuse; regardless of the loss to themselves of pure water, of the waste of sewage, and of the injury to the inhabitants of the valleys through which these poisoned rivers were afterwards to flow.

"Thus men and cattle suffered by drinking from a polluted stream which should have afforded a pure supply to both town and country, whilst the towns were throwing to waste that which should have been employed as a valuable manure by the country, and the only remedy was by costly and tedious actions at law and suits in Chancery.

"In 1854 the third visitation of Asiatic cholera came, somewhat less destructively, except in certain localities, and by those very circumstances carrying additional warning of the need and use of sanitary precaution. Third cholera, 1854.

"Its immediate effect in inspiring the Legislature with renewed activity is remarkable.

"Postponing the consideration of some subsidiary legislation for special objects incidentally conducive to sanitary improvement, we find the next step in the general course of legislation one which we have already noticed, namely, the substitution in 1855 of a comprehensive Nuisance Removal Act, for the Acts passed in 1848 and 1849, which were repealed.

"This Act consolidated the law relating to removal of nuisances, made a fresh and extended definition of nuisances, enabled local authorities to appoint sanitary inspectors and allow them a proper salary, enabled surveyors of highways to cleanse or make ditches near highways, imposed penalties on pollution by gas of any streams or reservoirs, authorised sanitary inspectors to examine and seize unwholesome meats, and dealt with noxious trades. Under this Act the local authorities had certain limited powers of entry given them; there was also a provision against overcrowding of houses. It was to be executed by the Local Boards constituted throughout England and Wales, excepting the metropolis, and added to the category of Local Authorities-Highway Boards; a committee called the Nuisance Removal Committee, which might be annually chosen by the vestry; a board of inspectors for lighting and watching, with the surveyor of highways; or the guardians and overseers of the poor and the surveyors of highways. The guardians per se were no longer an authority under the Nuisance Removal Act of 1855. Consolidated Nuisance Removal Act, 1855. 18 & 19 Vict. c. 121.

"The exceptional powers relating to formidable contagious or epidemic diseases were brought into a separate Statute of the same year, the Diseases Prevention Act, 1855, which continued the powers of preceding Acts, under which the Privy Council might issue orders during the prevalence of any 'formidable epidemic, endemic, or contagious' disease, and amended the powers of the Board of Health as to issuing regulations where such orders should be in force. Such regulations, when made, were to relate to the speedy interment of the dead, house to house visitation, the dispensing of medicines, and affording medical skill and accommodation, but were not to extend to cleansing of streets, &c., cleansing, disinfecting, &c. of houses, &c., and removal of nuisances. Diseases Prevention Act, 1855. 18 & 19 Vict. c. 116.

"The separate treatment of 'nuisance removal' and 'diseases prevention' as subjects distinct from general sanitary administration, and from each other, illustrates the casual and experimental course of legislation, which has led not only to confusion by unmeaning distinctions between common provisions for public health, but to repetition of subjects in parallel enactments. This confusion is further increased by the authorities instituted for special purposes being frequently the same as the general authorities, under special designations.

"In the year 1854 the Board of Health was reconstructed, and thenceforth consisted of a President and the Secretaries of State, together with the President and Vice-President of the Board of Trade. The President was to receive a salary of £2000, and might sit in Parliament. The other members were not paid any salary in consideration of their new duties. The Board was to continue during one year and to the end of the next session. Reconstruction of the General Board of Health, 1854.

"The Continuance Act of 1855 enabled the Board of Health to appoint a paid Medical Council, consisting of such number of persons as the Board, with the consent of the Treasury, might think expedient, and a paid medical officer, and 17 & 18 Vict. c. 95. 18 & 19 Vict. c. 115.

to assign to such Council and medical officer such duties as the Board might see fit. Under this Act the Board proceeded to appoint Mr. Simon, the medical officer, who (under the Privy Council) still ably executes the duties of the office. The Board was again continued during one year and to the end of the then next session.

"Although the Acts for the regulation of the metropolis are outside our inquiry, they are very significant of and have often taken the lead in sanitary progress, and we must mention, as showing the turn which public opinion was taking, that in the Metropolitan Local Management Act of this year, 1855, by which the Board of Works for the metropolis was created, and the old Commissioners of Sewers were abolished, provision was made for the appointment of a medical officer of health and an inspector of nuisances, by every vestry. The former officer is a legally qualified practitioner, and his duties are to inspect and report periodically on the sanitary condition of his district, to ascertain the existence of diseases, to point out the existence of any nuisance, and to give advice on the best sanitary expedients of all sorts. His practice is to consult always the books of the registrars, and of the hospitals, dispensaries, workhouses, and all public institutions affording sanitary information. The latter officer sets the law in motion. This Act was amended in 1862 in some particulars.

"In 1858 the General Board of Health was allowed to expire, having only been continued since its re-construction in 1854 by yearly renewals⁽¹⁾; and the powers given to that Board by the Diseases Prevention Act of 1855, to issue regulations in case of epidemics, were, with other powers for protection of health, vested in the Privy Council.

"In the same year, 1858, the Local Government Act, which is to be construed with the Public Health Act of 1848, as one Act, was passed, and took effect in all places where that Act was in force at the time of its passing; and the two together constitute the principal sanitary legislation now on the Statute Book⁽²⁾.

"The Local Government Act, 1858, amended the Public Health Act of 1848 as to the constitution and powers of Local Boards of Health in towns or populous districts in England and Wales, excepting the metropolis. It handed over to the Home Secretary the few remaining functions of the discontinued General Board for the purposes of sanctions, provisional orders, and appeals, and the Local Government Act Office was made a sub-department of the Home Office for the execution of the Act, and for the central superintendence and assistance of all Local Boards.

"From the passing of this Act its provisions, read in connection with the previous Statute of 1848, became the governing powers of all existing Local Boards of Health, and became, without the necessity for any further legislation or any provisional order, or any sanction by the central authority, capable of adoption, in part or wholly, by the resolution of Town Councils in corporate boroughs, of Towns Improvement Commissioners in all ordinary cases of Improvement Commissioners; of owners and ratepayers in all other places having defined boundaries; and in all other places not having defined boundaries the provisions of the two Statutes were made capable of adoption in approved cases through the instrumentality of the Secretary of State.

"Local Boards armed with the powers of this Act in amendment of those of 1848, might even compulsorily interfere with private property by purchase, through means of provisional orders, confirmed by Parliament; and by the same process local Acts might be repealed or altered, and districts changed under amended provisions of the Act of 1848. The powers for compulsory taking of land under the 75th section mark an important and new step in legislation. The same Act greatly extended local powers for the execution of sanitary works in such urban districts as adopted it; and gave, in fact, most of the requisite powers of police and municipal government, if only they were duly sought and duly used.

"Besides the Local Government Act Amendment Acts of 1861 and 1863, further powers have been given to Local Boards by the Sanitary Acts of 1866, and following years.

Local Government Amendment Acts

"The Local Government Act Amendment Act of 1861 provided for the costs of proceedings in adoption of the Act of 1858, gave powers of its partial adoption to any local authorities, under local Acts or otherwise, although not invested by the local Acts with powers of sanitary regulation and extended powers beyond districts for the outfall of sewers and for repairs of highways in parts of parishes not included within the boundaries of any Local Board district. It made other new provisions, especially as to borrowing. 24 & 25 Vict. c. 61.

"The principal objects of the Local Government Act Amendment Act of 1863 were to prevent the adoption, unless with the approval of the Secretary of State, of the Local Government Act, 1858, in places having less than 3000 inhabitants, and to declare that Act no longer in operation in places of like population which had adopted or might adopt it, unless within three months after adopting it they proceeded to elect their Board and appoint the officers required by the Local Government Act. This Act also amended the preceding Acts in some matters of detail. 26 & 27 Vict. c. 17.

"Before describing the Sanitary Acts, we must notice as earlier in date the Nuisances Removal and Sewage Utilization Acts. The former (nuisances being still treated as a separate subject), were amended by an Act of 1860, another Act of 1863, and Act of 1866, and the second part of the Sanitary Act of 1866 (1). Nuisance Removal Amendment Acts.

"The Nuisances Removal Amendment Act of 1860 amended the Nuisance Removal and Diseases Prevention Acts of 1855, again constituting the guardians the local authority, as in the Act of 1846, and enabling them to appoint committees for one or more parishes or places for executing the Act. 23 & 24 Vict. c. 77. §

"The Nuisances Removal Amendment Act of 1863 gave powers to medical officers of health or inspectors of nuisances as to the seizure of unwholesome meat, fish, fruit, bread, &c. 26 & 27 Vict. c. 117.

"The Sewage Utilization Act of 1865, which applied also to Scotland and Ireland, was, as its title suggests, passed for the purpose of enabling existing authorities, e.g. Town Councils, Improvement Commissioners, Vestries, &c., to dispose of the sewage of their districts so as not to become a nuisance, and to make arrangements for its application to agricultural purposes. With these views it empowered those bodies under the designation of 'sewer authorities' to construct sewers, to exercise specified powers of the Acts of 1848 and 1858, and the amendment Acts (including those for acquiring land by compulsion), and to take measures for preventing the pollution of streams, &c. This Act largely increased the sanitary powers exercisable in rural districts, if indeed it may not be said to have introduced into such districts the first real instalment of active sanitary powers. The expenses of carrying the Act into execution were to be paid by Town Councils out of the borough fund or rate, by Improvement Commissioners or trustees out of the rates leviable by them, and by Vestries out of the poor rate. Sewage Utilization Acts. 28 & 29 Vict. c. 75, 1865.

"The Sewage Utilization Act of 1867 gave further power to the authorities to distribute sewage outside their districts and to purchase land for that purpose; and to several authorities to unite their districts, and their Boards, for operations affecting all of them. It also authorised the levying of a rate for defraying the expenses of sewer authorities, exempting the same properties as are exempted in the case of the general district rate levied by a Local Board. Under this Act Local Boards were constituted 'sewer authorities' within their respective districts in place of Vestries. 30 & 31 Vict. c. 113.

"To return to the Sanitary Acts, that of 1866 in its first part amended the Sewage Utilization Act, giving to 'sewer authorities' power to form committees, and to Vestries in that capacity to form special drainage districts, and extending their powers of making and using sewers and supplying water. Sanitary Acts, 29 & 30 Vict. c. 90, pt. i.

"In its second part it amended the Nuisance Removal Acts, and added to the definitions of nuisances, especially as regards crowded houses and workshops, and smoke, and to the duties and powers of 'nuisance authorities'; especially in the way of providing means for disinfection and places for the reception of dead bodies. Section 16 moreover empowers the chief officer of police, under the Pt. ii.

(1) 23 & 24 Vict. c. 77, 26 & 27 Vict. c. 117, 29 & 30 Vict. cc. 41 & 90.

direction of the Secretary of State, to take proceedings in default of the nuisance authority.

Pt. iii. "The third part enabled authorities, with the consent of the Secretary of State, to make regulations as to houses let in lodgings, hospitals, and baths; empowered the Privy Council to compel two or more Boards of Guardians to act together in executing the Diseases Prevention Act, and Burial Boards to transfer their powers to Local Boards, and Local Boards to adopt the Baths and Washhouses Act. The 46th section incorporated sanitary authorities.

"The 49th section of this Act was a great step in advance; it authorised the Secretary of State, in case of default, to proceed—first by calling on the defaulting authority to remedy its omission, and in the event of continuing default, to perform the neglected duty at the expense of the district.

31 & 32 Vict.
c. 115. "The second Sanitary Act (1868), extended the provisions of the Public Health Act as to the removal of house refuse to all sanitary authorities. This gave Vestries, as sanitary authorities, many powers similar to those of guardians as nuisance authorities.

32 & 33 Vict.
c. 100. "The Sanitary Loans Act of 1869 empowered the Public Works Loan Commissioners, on the certificate of the Secretary of State, to advance sums required for the execution of sanitary works done by him on the default of any local authorities, charging local rates with its repayment.

33 & 34 Vict.
c. 53. "And lastly, the Sanitary Act, 1870, was passed to facilitate the removal of infected persons who were without proper accommodation, and to provide for service of notices in special drainage districts and of orders of the Secretary of State on sewer authorities."

To complete the history it is only necessary to add that in 1872 Mr. Stansfield (the first President of the Local Government Board) introduced a bill into Parliament, which was passed into law and became the Public Health Act, 1872, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 79. This Act contained many amendments of, but did not consolidate the law. Further miscellaneous amendments were made by the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, and finally Mr. Selater-Booth, who became President of the Local Government Board in 1874, introduced a bill for the consolidation and simplification of the Sanitary Acts, which eventually became law as the Public Health Act, 1875.

TO URBAN SANITARY AUTHORITIES.

Local Government Board, Whitehall, S.W., 30th September, 1875.

SIR,

I am directed by the Local Government Board to bring under the notice of the Urban Sanitary Authority the provisions of the Public Health Act of the last session (38 & 39 Vict., c. 55).

The Act, for the sake of clearness and convenience of reference, is distributed under eight principal headings, and all the provisions relating to any particular subject will be found under the same title. It consolidates, so far as regards England, exclusive of the metropolis, the whole of the Sanitary Acts, with the following exceptions, viz., "The Bakehouse Regulation Act," "The Artizans' and Labourers' Dwellings Act, 1868," "The Baths and Washhouses Acts," and "The Labouring Classes' Lodging Houses Acts." The Acts thus consolidated are, of course, repealed; but the Acts which have been excepted, and the duties of sanitary authorities under them, are in no way affected.

Although the main object of the Act is consolidation, it is right to state that when the bill was prepared advantage was taken of the opportunity to introduce certain amendments of the law, the chief of which were explained to the House of Commons by the President of the Board, Mr. Selater-Booth, in moving for leave to bring in the bill. After the bill was circulated numerous other amendments were suggested by various sanitary authorities. These amendments were carefully considered by the Board, and a large number of them were subsequently adopted and inserted during the various stages of the measure in both Houses. The object of many of the amendments was to clear up doubtful points of construction, and to harmonise the provisions of the various Acts which were consolidated, whilst the effect of others is to extend the powers and obligations of urban authorities with respect to sewerage, water-supply, gas, the abatement of nuisances, and other matters connected with sanitary administration and town government.

Before noticing the amendments in detail, it should be observed that the Act does not alter the present constitution of any existing urban authority, or the tenure of office of any of their officers or servants; nor does it affect any existing rights and liabilities, all of which have been fully preserved by sections 326 and 343.

The following detailed statement shows the principal alterations of the law contained in the Act, so far as they relate to urban sanitary authorities:—

Sewerage and Drainage.

Under the Sanitary Acts it was open to doubt whether sewers constructed by a sanitary authority without their district vested in the authority constructing them, or in the authority of the district in which the sewers were situated. Section 13 removes this doubt by declaring that they shall vest in the authority who constructed them, or to whom they have been transferred.

By the Local Government Act Amendment Act, 1861, section 4, power was given to sanitary authorities to construct works of sewerage outside their districts, but it was provided that nothing in that Act should empower such authorities to discharge unpurified sewage into streams or water-courses. Section 17 has made this provision applicable to all works of sewerage, whether within or without the district of the authority, and has extended it to canals, ponds, and lakes.

Section 19 imposes on every local authority, which is the common term in the Act for urban and rural sanitary authorities, the duty of causing their sewers to be ventilated, so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health.

In cases where, for the purpose of enforcing the drainage of a row of undrained houses, it would be less expensive to construct a new sewer than to compel such houses to drain into an existing sewer, the authority are empowered (section 23) to construct a new sewer and to apportion the expense among the owners of the houses.

It has happened that a local authority, after enforcing the communication of house drains with a particular system of sewers, have found it necessary to change their general scheme of sewerage, and to construct fresh sewers; but the Sanitary Acts contained no provision under which the local authority could compel fresh junctions, or defray their cost. Section 24 now empowers a local authority, under these circumstances, to close any such existing drains, on condition of providing others equally effectual and communicating with the new system.

Under the Sewage Utilization Act, 1867, a local authority were not empowered to let, for more than seven years, land held by them for purposes connected with sewage distribution; this period is extended by section 29 to twenty-one years.

Water Supply.

Section 51, in conformity with the recommendation of the Royal Sanitary Commission, requires that the sanction of the Local Government Board should be obtained before any waterworks or water-rights are purchased by a local authority.

By the Public Health Act, 1848, section 75, local authorities were placed under certain restrictions in the construction of waterworks within the limits of supply of any water company, and a question having arisen whether these restrictions were confined to cases where the company is empowered by statute to supply water, section 52 removes the doubt, by expressly limiting such restrictions to cases where the water company has acquired Parliamentary powers.

Before constructing any reservoir to hold more than 100,000 gallons, local authorities are required, by section 53, to give notice of their intention by advertisement; and in case of objection on the part of any person interested, the Local Government Board are empowered, after local inquiry, to allow the proposed work, with or without modifications, or to disallow it.

Section 54 confers on local authorities the same powers for carrying water mains without their district as they have for carrying sewers, and imposes on them the like restrictions.

Where the local authority have constructed or purchased waterworks, section 55 imposes upon them the obligation of keeping the supply of water pure and wholesome.

The provisions of the Sanitary Acts with reference to the supply of water by local authorities having been found in some respects inadequate, section 57 incorporates the provisions of the Waterworks Clauses Acts, with regard to communication pipes, the waste or misuse of water, the fouling of water, and the payment and recovery of water rates. The effect of this incorporation will be to give local authorities supplying water the benefit of such of the provisions of the general Acts relating to water companies as are applicable to their circumstances; and in consequence of such incorporation some of the provisions of the Public Health Act, 1848, have been omitted as unnecessary.

Sections 58, 59, and 60 enable local authorities to supply water by measure, and contain such provisions with respect to meters as are usually found in special Water Acts.

In cases where a local authority have more water than is required for the supply of their own district, and the authority of an adjoining district are willing to take the surplus, section 61 enables the necessary arrangements to be entered into for that purpose, subject to the sanction of the Local Government Board. It is believed that this provision will not infrequently be found useful in cases where a local authority obtain their supply from sources outside their district.

Complaints have often been made, that in attempting to enforce a compulsory supply of water to houses in districts where no local Act is in force, the limited charge, viz., 2d. a week, is insufficient to enable a proper supply to be furnished. The Local Government Board are now empowered by section 62, on the application of any local authority, to extend the limit of charge to such amount as the Board may, under all the circumstances of the case, deem reasonable. The same section, by expressly enabling the local authority to enter into contracts with a water company, removes certain difficulties which had arisen under the Sanitary Acts, where the authority enforced a supply of water in a district within the limits of a water company.

The Sanitary Acts required the consent of three-fifths of the shareholders of a water company to the transfer of their undertaking to a local authority. By section 63 the consent of three-fourths is required where the company is not registered under the Companies' Act, 1862, but in the case of companies so registered the consent must be expressed by a special resolution passed in the manner provided by that Act. The object of this amendment is to assimilate the law to the requirements of the standing orders of the House of Lords in similar cases.

The power of local authorities under the 50th section of the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, to institute proceedings for the closing of polluted wells, cisterns, and tanks, has been extended by section 70, so as to include the case where the water is used for the manufacture of aerated or other drinks for human consumption. The section further enables proceedings to be taken against the owner as well as the occupier, and empowers the authority, if an order of justices under the section is not complied with, themselves to carry it into execution, and to recover the expenses in a summary manner from the person on whom the order is made.

Common Lodging Houses.

In addition to the duties imposed on local authorities under the Sanitary Acts, in relation to these houses, they are required by section 80 (3) to make bye-laws for the giving of notices and the taking precautions in case of any infectious disease.

Nuisances.

Previously to the decision of the Court of Queen's Bench in the case of The Guardians of the Rye Union v. Paine, 44 L. J. M.C. 148, which was decided after the introduction of the bill, doubts had been entertained whether, under the Nuisance Removal Acts, the overcrowding of a house by members of the same family constituted a nuisance within the meaning of those Acts. The Court decided that the fact of the overcrowding being caused by members of the same family was immaterial; and section 91 is in accordance with that decision.

Under the Nuisances Removal Acts, the justices were not enabled to impose a penalty on the person causing a nuisance until he had actually disobeyed an order to abate it. Section 96 now empowers the justices to impose, by their order for the abatement of any nuisance, a penalty not exceeding £5 on the person on whom the order is made.

It was generally considered that, under the Sanitary Acts, local authorities could not protect the inhabitants of their respective districts against nuisances existing therein, but originating in another district; and as it often happened that these nuisances were of a very serious character, frequent complaints were made to the Board of this defect in the law. Section 108 now enables local authorities to deal with nuisances of this kind, by conferring upon them the power of instituting legal proceedings in such cases, subject to the condition that summary proceedings are to be taken only before the justices having jurisdiction in the district where the act complained of arises.

Offensive Trades.

Proceedings under the Nuisances Removal Acts, with respect to offensive trades, could only be taken by a nuisance authority within the limits of a city, town, or populous district; and it was necessary to show that the person complained of was not using the best practicable means to abate the nuisance. Under section 114 the proceedings in question may be taken by the authority in any urban district, and the burden of proof that the best practicable means are used to abate the nuisance is thrown upon the defendant.

The provisions of the 28th section of the Nuisances Removal Act, 1855, by which the person complained of could compel the authority to abandon summary proceedings against him, and to proceed in a superior Court, has been omitted from the Act, having been found in practice sometimes to have the effect of depriving the authority of any remedy by reason of the cost and delay involved if the proceedings were taken to a superior Court.

By means of a provision corresponding to that contained in section 108, and to which attention has already been called, urban authorities are enabled by section 115 to protect the inhabitants of their districts from nuisances arising from offensive trades carried on in other districts.

It should be stated that the provisions contained in sections 108 and 115 extend to the metropolis.

Infectious Diseases and Hospitals.

Under the Sanitary Act, 1866, and the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, persons suffering from infectious disorders could, in certain cases, be compulsorily removed to any hospital provided by the local authority within the district; and for this purpose any hospital was to be deemed to be within the district if it was declared by the Local Government Board to be within a convenient distance of the district. By section 124, every hospital, to which persons may be compulsorily removed under the above provisions, is required to be a suitable one, and within a convenient distance of the district, and it will be for the justice now to determine whether or not the hospital fulfils these conditions, the Board having no longer any power to make orders for the purpose referred to.

In connection with hospitals, a new and important provision will be found in section 132, which enables a local authority to recover expenses incurred by them in maintaining in a hospital patients who are not paupers.

Mortuaries.

Under the Sanitary Acts the local authority were empowered to provide a mortuary, and section 141 of the present Act imposes on local authorities the obligation of making such provision, if required by the Local Government Board to do so.

The following section (142), under which a justice may order the removal to a mortuary of the body of a person who has died of any infectious disease, renders any person obstructing the execution of such order liable to a penalty not exceeding £5.

Removal of Toll Gates.

The power given by the Local Government Act, 1858, to urban authorities to agree with the trustees of a turnpike road to remove toll gates, related to gates situated "within two miles from the centre of any town or place" within their district; and as it was difficult to determine in many cases what was the centre referred to, section 148 enables an urban authority to exercise this power with regard to all toll gates within the district.

Regulation of Streets and Buildings.

A penalty, not exceeding £5, is imposed by section 149 upon any persons injuring trees in the public streets, and the Court may, in addition, order compensation to be paid for the damage actually done.

In cases where urban authorities propose to compel the sewerage and paving of private streets, they were required to deposit plans and sections before giving notice to the owners to do the works. They are now required by section 150 to deposit also estimates of the probable cost of the works.

An amendment of some importance, in connection with the power to regulate the line of buildings, will be found in section 155, which provides that where the front only of a house in a street is taken down, the urban authority may prescribe the line of the new building. Under the previous law the authority could not interfere unless the entire house was taken down.

It will be observed that the next section (156), which prohibits the bringing forward of buildings beyond the line of the adjoining buildings without the consent of the authority, imposes a penalty not exceeding 40s. a day during the continuance of an offence against this enactment, and thus supplies a summary remedy in substitution for the proceeding by indictment, which alone was available under the previous law.

In addition to the other bye-laws which urban authorities might previously make with respect to new buildings, section 157 enables them to make bye-laws with respect to the structure of chimneys. The same section contains a provision, following the precedent in the metropolis, exempting the buildings of railway companies from the operation of any bye-laws made by the authority, relative to the construction of new buildings.

Section 158 requires, with respect to new buildings, that the authority shall signify, in writing, their approval or disapproval of the plans deposited with them in accordance with their bye-laws within one month from the date of deposit.

Lighting Streets.

An urban authority could only contract for lighting their district for a period not exceeding three years, and they had no power to provide gasworks. The consequence was, that whenever it became necessary for them to undertake such works, they were compelled to apply to Parliament for a special Act for the purpose. Section 161 removes the restriction with regard to contracts, and enables the authority, in districts or parts of districts, where there is no company or person supplying gas under the authority of Parliament, to undertake such supply themselves, and for that purpose to obtain a provisional order, under the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, authorising a gas undertaking. The effect of this latter provision is to place urban authorities on the same footing with respect to commencing and carrying on a gas undertaking as an ordinary gas company. The provisional order, however, must be obtained from the Local Government Board, instead of from the Board of Trade.

Urban authorities are further empowered (section 162), subject to the sanction of the Local Government Board, to purchase the undertaking of any gas company supplying the district. The powers of sale conferred by this section on the directors of the company correspond with those given by section 63 to the directors of a water company.

Public Pleasure Grounds.

Urban authorities are enabled for the first time, by section 164, to make bye-laws providing for the regulation of their public walks and pleasure grounds, and for the removal of offenders by a constable or an officer of the authority.

Markets.

The powers of sale conferred on the directors of a market company by the 53rd section of the Local Government Act, 1858, have been modified by section 168, so as to correspond with those given in the case of the sale of the undertakings of water and gas companies, by sections 63 and 162, which have been already explained.

Public Regulations.

The terms "superintendent constable" and "any constable or other officer appointed by virtue of this or the special Act," as used in the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847, are defined by section 171 to include any superintendent of police, and any constable acting in the district of the urban authority; and the expression "within the prescribed distance," when occurring in the incorporated provisions of the Town Police Clauses Act, is defined to mean "within any urban district;" and by the same section licenses granted to the drivers of hackney carriages by the urban authority are declared to be in force for one year only, or until the next general licensing meeting.

The powers of urban authorities under the twenty-fifth section of the Local Government Act Amendment Act, 1861, to make bye-laws for the licensing and regulating of horses and boats for hire are extended, by section 172, so as to include the qualification of drivers, conductors, and boatmen, and the names of boats, the number of persons to be carried in them, and their mooring places.

Contracts.

The 85th section of the Public Health Act, 1848, required that contracts by a Local Board, when not a Town Council, should not only be sealed, but also be signed by five or more members of the Local Board. Section 174 of the present Act dispenses with the formality of signing, and simply requires that the contract, if the value exceeds £50, should be in writing, and sealed with the common seal of the authority.

Purchase of Lands.

Any doubt which may have been felt as to the requirements of the Sanitary Acts with respect to the resale of surplus lands, not needed for the purposes for which they were purchased, has been removed by section 175, which expressly provides that local authorities shall resell any such surplus lands, unless the Local Government Board otherwise direct, and shall apply the proceeds of any such resale towards the discharge, either by means of a sinking fund or otherwise, of their existing mortgage debts.

The 127th section of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, which provides that surplus lands, if not resold within the prescribed period, shall vest in the owners of adjoining lands, is not incorporated with section 176 of the present Act, but the other provisions of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, with regard to the sale of superfluous lands, still apply, including the section which requires that superfluous lands shall be offered to the owner from whom they were originally taken or to the owner of the adjoining lands. It will be seen that the section contains a new provision with regard to the service of notices in the case of owners of rights of common, and enacts that such notices may be served on any three or more of such persons on behalf of all of them.

Arbitration.

Under the Public Health Act, 1848, where the arbitrators neglected or refused to appoint an umpire, the appointment had to be made by the Court of Quarter Sessions. Owing to the length of time that must sometimes elapse before an application can be made to Quarter Sessions, it was deemed expedient to provide that in future such appointment should rest with the Local Government Board. See section 180 (7). By the same section the award is required to be made within two months from the date of submission to arbitration, or the date of reference to the umpire, as the case may be.

Bye-laws.

Under the Sanitary Acts it was requisite that the bye-laws of an urban authority, when not a Town Council, should be under their seal, and signed by five members. In future they must be under seal, but need not be signed. (Section 182.)

Section 186 facilitates the proof of bye-laws in legal proceedings, by providing that, except where made by the Council of a borough, a copy of them, signed and certified by the clerk, shall be primâ facie evidence of their having been duly made and confirmed. The case of bye-laws made by the Council of a borough, it will be remembered, is provided for by the 36 & 37 Vict. c. 33.

Officers.

Although the Public Health Act, 1872, rendered it obligatory on every sanitary authority to appoint a medical officer of health, neither that Act, nor the previous statutes, prescribed his duties, and it was only in cases where part of his salary was repaid from the Parliamentary grant that the Local Government Board had any jurisdiction in the matter. Having regard, therefore, to the importance of securing uniformity in practice, and of adopting the necessary means for ensuring periodical reports and returns respecting the sanitary condition of each locality, the Legislature have now empowered the Board, by section 191, to prescribe the qualifications and duties of other medical officers of health appointed under the Act, although no portion of their salaries is repaid out of moneys voted by Parliament. Power is also expressly given to the Board by the same section to impose conditions in cases where the district medical officer of a union is appointed medical officer of health. The section further enables local authorities, in case of the illness or incapacity of their medical officer, to appoint a deputy medical officer, subject to the approval of the Local Government Board.

The appointment of assistant officers by urban authorities is also authorised by section 189.

Mode of conducting Business.

The Public Health Act, 1848, required the acts of committees to be submitted for approval to the urban authorities appointing them. The acts of committees, however, appointed under the Nuisances Removal Acts, required no such approval. In this respect the new statute follows the latter precedent, by authorising the appointment of an executive committee, whose acts will not necessarily require confirmation; at the same time it enables the authority to impose on a committee any restrictions they may think fit (section 200), and no committee is to be authorised to borrow money, make a rate, or enter into a contract.

Provision is made in section 203 for the filling up of casual vacancies in any committee.

Expenses.

The 9th section of the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, empowered the Board to alter, by provisional order, the incidence of rating in urban districts, in any way that seemed to them fair and equitable. This section was intended to meet cases where the system of rating prescribed by the Local Government Act was not in force, and section 208 now expressly restricts the power of the Board in this matter, so that in future they can only declare that the expenses of the authority shall be defrayed out of a general district rate, subject, however, to the provisions in section 216, relating to the mode of raising the sums required for the repair of the highways. The application for a provisional order to alter the incidence of rating must now be made by the authority, or by ten ratepayers.

General District Rate.

Express provision is made by section 209 for the continuance or establishment of a district fund, where the expenses of the authority are defrayed out of a general district rate.

Section 211 renders the valuation list under the Union Assessment Committee Act conclusive for the assessment of the general district rate, the power which previously existed of adopting another basis of assessment being taken away.

Highway Rate.

The provisions of the Local Government Act Amendment Act, 1861, with reference to the "excluded part" of a parish, the remainder of which has been constituted or included in an urban district, are modified by section 216, which provides that when the excluded part has been included in a highway district, it shall no longer, in any case, be considered as forming part of the urban district for highway purposes.

Provision is also made by the same section for the issuing of an order by the Court of Quarter Sessions directing the election of a waywarden for the excluded part.

Borrowing Powers.

Doubts have been expressed (1) as to whether loans under the Sanitary Acts could properly be repaid by equal annual instalments of principal and interest combined; (2) as to the precise amount required to be set aside and invested annually, when provision was made for repayment of the loan by means of a sinking fund; and (3) as to the mode in which the sinking fund was from time to time to be applied towards the discharge of part of the loan. Section 234 therefore expressly authorises loans under the Act to be repaid by equal annual instalments of principal or of principal and interest combined; it enacts that where the repayment is by means of a sinking fund, the annual amount to be set aside is to be such as will, with accumulations, be sufficient to repay the loan at the end of the term; and it provides that the whole, or any part of the fund, may at any time be applied towards the discharge of the loan; but until the loan is discharged, the interest which would have accrued on the amount withdrawn must be paid into the fund, in addition to the other payments.

Local authorities are exempted (section 238) from responsibility to the transferee of any of their mortgages, until an entry of the transfer has been made in the register kept by them; and by the same section a penalty, not exceeding £20, is imposed on the clerk of the authority, if he wilfully neglects or refuses to make any such entry in the register.

The powers of borrowing, conferred by the Act on local authorities, are extended by section 244 to Joint Boards, Port Sanitary Authorities, Local Boards of Health of main sewerage districts, and Joint Sewerage Boards; and the Public Works Loan Commissioners may make any loan to any of these authorities, in the same manner and upon the same terms as to urban or rural authorities under the Act.

The Public Works and Local Loans Acts.

In connection with the borrowing powers of local authorities, under the present statute, it is desirable that their attention should be called to two Acts passed during the last session, viz., (1) the Public Works Loans Act, 1875 (38 & 39 Vict. c. 89), and (2) the Local Loans Act, 1875 (38 & 39 Vict. c. 83).

(1.) The first Act consolidates, with amendments, the law relating to loans by the Public Works Loan Commissioners, and section 13 requires that every intending borrower shall send to the Commissioners, on or before the 31st of December in every year, a statement of the loans likely to be required during the ensuing financial year, commencing with the 1st of April following; and the Public Works Loan Commissioners are prohibited from granting any loan which has not been included in the statement above referred to, except with the consent of the Treasury, which can only be expected under very exceptional and pressing circumstances.

Although the Act does not come into operation until the 1st of April, 1876, section 54 provides that the first statement of the probable requirements of loans shall be sent to the Commissioners on or before the 31st of December, 1875. Local authorities, therefore, who are desirous of borrowing from the Public Works Loan Commissioners will see the necessity of sending in the requisite statements within the prescribed time.

It should be added that, when any loan is advanced by the Commissioners on the security of a rate, section 36 imposes on the Local Government Board the duty of satisfying themselves that the loan is applied to the purpose for which it has been advanced. The Board are empowered to make, with this object, such examination as they may think necessary, and to appoint an officer to conduct the examination.

(2.) The Local Loans Act enables local authorities to borrow sums which they are authorised to raise upon debentures, debenture stock, or annuity certificates; and section 26 empowers them, when they propose to raise a loan by the issue of securities under the Act, to apply to the Local Government Board to authorise the issue of such securities under official sanction, and this sanction will be conclusive evidence that the local authority had power to issue the securities, and that the same are in conformity with the Act. It should also be stated that the Act enables local authorities to re-borrow in the manner prescribed by it any sums required for the purpose of discharging existing loans. (See section 31.) This Act will not come into force until the 1st day of January, 1876, and, in the meantime, the Board will cause the necessary forms and instructions to be prepared for giving effect to the provisions referred to.

Audit.

Where the district auditor is a member of the urban authority (section 247), the audit is to be conducted by some other auditor appointed by the Local Government Board, and not, as hitherto, chosen by the Local Board from among the auditors of the adjoining unions.

It was recently decided by the Court of Queen's Bench, in the cases of Gibson v. Bell, and The Queen v. The West Bromwich Improvement Commissioners, that the accounts of Improvement Commissioners as an urban sanitary authority were by the Public Health Act, 1872, required to be audited in the same manner as the accounts of Local Boards. Section 247 accordingly directs these accounts to be audited in all respects in the same manner as those of Local Boards, although the provisions of the local Act with respect to audit may be inconsistent with those of the present statute.

In conformity with the precedent of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1844 (7 & 8 Vict. c. 101, s. 32), the power of an auditor to surcharge is extended by the same section to sums lost by the negligence or misconduct of any accounting person, or any sums not brought into account by him.

Legal Proceedings.

Section 255 facilitates proceedings against persons who jointly contribute to a nuisance. Under the Nuisances Removal Acts much difficulty was experienced in enforcing any remedy, unless it could be clearly proved that the separate contribution of the person proceeded against would alone cause a substantial nuisance, such proof being often from the nature of the case almost impossible.

To save technical objections and expense in legal proceedings, section 260 dispenses with the necessity, on the part of the plaintiff, of proving the corporate name of the authority and the constitution or limit of the district.

Under the Sanitary Acts the jurisdiction of County Courts extended only to the recovery of debts not exceeding £20. This limit is enlarged by section 261 to £50.

Section 262, following the previous law, provides that no proceeding shall be removed by certiorari into a superior Court; but the judges having recently expressed a strong opinion that the power of stating a special case which can be removed into a superior Court ought not to be taken away, a proviso has been added reserving that power.

Appeal.

The time during which an appeal may be made to the Local Government Board, with respect to expenses summarily recoverable, and private improvement expenses, is extended, by section 268, from seven to twenty-one days. The appellant is required to deliver a copy of his memorial to the local authority, and the Board's decision on the appeal is expressly made conclusive on all parties.

The provisions with respect to appeals to Quarter Sessions, contained in the Public Health Act, 1848, and the Nuisances Removal Act, 1855, are, for the purposes of the Act, consolidated in section 269, with the following amendment:—(Sub-section 1) the appeal is not required to be made to the next Court of Quarter Sessions if the same is held within twenty-one days from the demand of the rate or the decision appealed against; (sub-section 4) the appellant, if in custody, may be released on entering into recognizances; and (sub-section 6) appeals, other than those against rates, may be adjourned.

Alteration of Areas.

In addition to the powers which were given to the Local Government Board in relation to the alteration of areas by the 22nd section of the Public Health Act, 1872, section 270 of the present Act enables the Board, by provisional order, to include the whole of any Local Government or rural district in any adjoining Local Government district, and any portion of a Local Government district in any rural district.

By the 25th section of the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, the Local Government Board were empowered, by order, to settle disputes as to the boundaries of adjoining districts, upon the application of the authorities interested therein. Section 278 enables such a settlement to be made on the application of any one of the authorities interested, and renders it clear that the enactment only applies to the districts of Local Boards or Improvement Commissioners.

Union of Districts.

The provisions of the 28th section of the Local Government Act, 1858, which enabled an urban authority to execute works in adjoining districts with the consent of the authorities of such districts, have been made expressly applicable by section 285 to all sanitary authorities and districts.

The 10th section of the Public Health Act, 1872, authorised the appointment of the same person as medical officer of health for two or more districts; and section 26 of that Act provided for the formation of a united district for all or any of the purposes of the Sanitary Acts, including, therefore, amongst such purposes, that of the appointment of a medical officer of health. This, however, could only be done by provisional order, upon the application of one or more of the sanitary authorities interested, and it involved the necessity of setting up a Joint Board with its several officers and attendant expenses. Section 286 of the present Act enables the Local Government Board, on any representation that the appointment of a medical officer of health for two or more districts, situated wholly or partially in the same county, would diminish expense or otherwise be to the advantage of such districts, to issue an order uniting them for that purpose, and prescribing all necessary consequential regulations. In the event of the authority of any district proposed to be included objecting to the arrangement, that district can only be included in the combination by means of a provisional order. No urban district containing a population of more than 25,000, or borough having a separate Court of Quarter Sessions, can be included in any combination under this section without the consent of the local authority of such district or borough.

The section further provides that no medical officer of health shall be appointed for any urban or rural district within the united district, except as an assistant to the medical officer appointed under this provision; but the Board may assign to the district medical officer of any poor law union, comprising a constituent district, the duty of rendering local assistance to the medical officer so appointed.

Port Sanitary Authorities.

The following new power is given to the Local Government Board by section 287—viz., to constitute, as the port sanitary authority for the whole or any part of a port, or for any two or more ports, a Joint Board, consisting of representatives from all or any of the riparian authorities of such port or ports. The section further removes a doubt which had been raised with respect to the power of the Local Government Board to renew temporary orders, by expressly authorising the renewal from time to time of such orders.

The new power of appointing a Joint Board as the port sanitary authority has rendered it unnecessary to continue the provision under which riparian authorities might be enabled to send representatives to the meetings of the port sanitary authority, and that provision has therefore not been re-enacted.

Provisional Orders.

Where a provisional order was made for the formation of a united district under the Public Health Act, 1872, the order was prima facie evidence that all the requirements in respect of the previous proceedings had been complied with. This provision is now extended by section 297 (7) to all provisional orders made under the present Act.

Defaulting Authorities.

The provisions of the Sanitary Acts, with respect to defaulting authorities, are extended by section 299 so as to embrace those cases where a local authority make default in either fulfilling or enforcing any of the additional obligations imposed by this Act.

Powers of the Local Government Board in relation to local Acts.

The power of the Board to repeal or alter local Acts by provisional order is enlarged by section 303, so as to enable them to deal with the case of a local Act in force in more than one district, although the application for its repeal or amendment is made by the local authority of one of the districts interested only. The section also enables the Board, when amending a local Act by provisional order in such a way as to extend or diminish the area of its operation, to determine what local authority shall have jurisdiction in the area thus included or excluded.

Miscellaneous Provisions.

The right of entry possessed by local authorities and their officers, for the discharge of their duties, is extended by section 305 from the hours of ten and four to nine and six ; and it will be seen that the power to apply to a Court of Summary Jurisdiction for an order enforcing entry, in the event of refusal, now includes cases where such entry is required for the purpose of making works or keeping them in repair.

It has sometimes happened that a new borough is created, which consists of or includes an existing Local Government or Improvement Act district, in which case the Town Council supersede the previous urban authority. In order to remove any doubt as to the effect of this change, section 310 provides that all the powers, duties, liabilities, and property of the Local Board, or Improvement Commissioners, shall be transferred to the Town Council.

The same section also declares that the transfer to an urban authority of the powers, property, and liabilities of any Local Board or Improvement Commissioners, under the Public Health Act, 1872, is to be deemed to have included their property, powers, and liabilities as a Burial Board, for which case no provision had previously existed.

Changes in local circumstances sometimes render it desirable that a Local Board should have power to alter their name, and this power is accordingly given them by section 311, subject to the sanction of the Local Government Board.

To meet those cases where any of the provisions of the Sanitary Acts are referred to in any statutes, orders, or documents now in force, section 313 declares that the corresponding provisions of the present Act shall be considered as substituted for the analogous provisions of the repealed Acts. Thus, if by any Act of Parliament the consent of owners and ratepayers to any matter,—as, for instance, in the case of the Municipal Corporations (Borough Funds) Act,—is required to be expressed by resolution, in the manner provided by the Local Government Act, 1858, the resolution in future must be passed in conformity with the requirements of Schedule III. of the present Act.

Where a bye-law has been made under the Sanitary Acts by any local authority, and the same is inconsistent with the present Act, such bye-law is to that extent repealed by section 315 ; and section 326 declares that, subject to this provision, all bye-laws under the Sanitary Acts shall be deemed to have been made under this Act.

Temporary Provisions.

Section 323 enables the Local Government Board, by provisional order, to dissolve districts constituted for the purpose of main sewerage only, or subject to the jurisdiction of Joint Sewerage Boards, or to constitute such districts united districts, subject to the jurisdiction of a Joint Board.

Saving Clauses.

As the Sanitary Acts are now repealed, and sanitary authorities for the most part derived their powers from those Acts, special provision was necessary to preserve the authorities and arrangements in existence at the time of the passing of the new Act. Section 326 therefore declares that Local Government districts, constituted in pursuance of the Sanitary Acts, shall be deemed to be districts under the Act ; that all sanitary authorities charged at the time of the passing of the Act with the execution of the Sanitary Acts shall be deemed to be authorities charged with the execution of the Act ; and that their officers and servants shall continue in their offices and employments so long as they would have done if the Act had not passed.

Another important section is that which excepts mines and the manufacture of mineral produce from the operation of the Act. Under the Nuisances Removal Acts the exception extended, not only to mines and the smelting of ores and minerals, but also to the manufacturing of the produce of such ores and minerals generally. The exception in section 334 of the present Act is less extensive, and only applies to mines, to the smelting of ores and minerals, to the calcining, puddling, and rolling of metals, and to the conversion of pig-iron into wrought-iron, so as not to interfere with these processes.

SCHEDULE I.

RULES AS TO MEETINGS AND PROCEEDINGS.

1.—Rules applicable to Local Boards.

The Public Health Act, 1848, enabled Local Boards to make bye-laws for the summoning of their meetings and the transaction of their business. Under the present Act they may make regulations for those purposes, and such regulations do not, as in the case of bye-laws, require the confirmation of the Local Government Board.

The Public Health Act, 1848, prohibited the transaction of any business, unless one-third of the number of members were present at the meeting; but rule 2 of this schedule declares that a larger quorum than seven members is not to be required in any case.

The names of members voting on any question are to be recorded in such a way as to show whether each vote given is for or against the question (rule 6); and every question is to be decided by a majority of votes of the members present and voting on it (rule 7). The corresponding provisions of the Public Health Act, 1848, merely required the record of the voters' names, unaccompanied by any statement as to whether the respective votes were given for or against the question, and left it open to some doubt whether the majority required was a majority of those present or of those voting.

Minutes and copies of orders and resolutions made and passed at meetings, if purporting to be signed by the chairman either of the meeting at which the proceedings took place or of the following meeting, are to be received as evidence in legal proceedings. (Rule 10.)

Rule 11 provides that the annual meeting of every Local Board must be held as soon as conveniently may be after the 15th of April.

2.—Rules applicable to Committees of Local Authorities other than Councils of Boroughs, and to Joint Boards.

The whole of these rules are new. They authorise meetings and adjournments, prescribe a quorum in cases where none has been prescribed by the appointing authority, provide for the election of a chairman, and the manner in which a majority of votes is to be determined, render proceedings valid, notwithstanding vacancies or defective appointments, and declare that the minutes, orders, and resolutions of the Committee or Joint Board, if authenticated as in the case of those of Local Boards, shall be evidence in legal proceedings.

SCHEDULE II.

I.—RULES FOR ELECTION OF LOCAL BOARDS.

Number and Qualification of Members.

The Local Government Board were enabled by the 28th section of the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, to increase or diminish, by order, the number of members of a Local Board; but they were not empowered to effect any such increase or diminution before the next ordinary election. Rule 2 of this schedule confers upon them the necessary powers for this purpose.

Wards.

Under the Local Government Acts the number, boundaries, and proportionate representation of the wards in a Local Government district could be altered by order; but the wards, when once established, could not be wholly abolished, except by the dissolution of the district. Rule 6 enables them to be abolished by an order of the Local Government Board.

Qualification of Voters, Scale of Voting, and Register of Owners.

The Public Health Act, 1848, authorised only corporations and companies to vote by proxy in the election of Local Boards. Rule 14 extends this privilege to all owners entitled to a vote. Every instrument appointing such a proxy must be in writing, and attested by a witness. (Rule 15.)

It was doubtful whether, under the Public Health Act, 1848, members of a partnership could vote as individual owners in respect of partnership property. This doubt has been removed by rules 16 and 17, which enable partners in a firm of less than seven members to vote as if the qualifying property were equally divided between them, firms of seven members and upwards being treated as a company.

Rules 20 to 30, both inclusive, contain new regulations with respect to claims, and objections to claims of owners and proxies to be entered on the register required to be kept by the 23rd section of the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, and also with respect to the annual revision of such register by the chairman. If the chairman is unwilling or unable to act, and the Local Board fail to appoint another person for the purpose, then the clerk must conduct the revision. The most important of these regulations are that all such claims and objections must be made on one of the first six days of March in every year, notice to that effect being published by the chairman, both by advertisement and posting in the usual manner, in a form prescribed in Schedule IV.; and that the register shall be closed not later than the 16th of March, and remain in force for the next twelve months.

Election.

Hitherto no particular time has been specified for the publication by the returning officer of the notice required to be published previous to an election. Rule 36 requires him to publish this notice after the close of the revision of the register, but not less than fourteen days before the last day appointed for delivery to him of the nomination papers.

By the Public Health Act, 1848, section 22, persons having the custody of parochial books or papers were required to allow them to be inspected, and extracts taken by the returning officer; but no penalty was imposed in case of refusal. This omission is rectified by rule 38, which imposes in such a case a penalty not exceeding £5.

By rule 43 the names of the candidates are required to be inserted in the voting papers in alphabetical order, instead of, as hitherto, in the order in which the nomination papers have been received.

It will be seen by reference to the form of voting paper that the insertion of the name of one nominator will in future be sufficient.

Counting of Votes.

The returning officer is enabled, under rule 51, to attend for the purpose of examining and casting up the votes after any election at any place which may have been previously appointed by him for that purpose. Such place need not be, as heretofore, the office of the Local Board.

By the same rule candidates are for the first time afforded the right of themselves attending, or appointing agents to attend, the casting up of the votes; but any candidate or agent interfering with or obstructing the proceedings may be removed by order of the returning officer, and, when so removed, will not be permitted to return.

Rule 48 requires that the last day for collecting the voting papers shall be not later than the 7th of April, and rule 55 provides that the returning officer shall make all his arrangements for the conduct of the election, so as to ensure its completion, and the ascertainment of the result, on or before the 15th of April in every year; and on that day the candidates elected are to come into office, the members, in whose room they are elected, continuing in office until that day.

Retirement of Members.

If the number of persons elected for any ward is less than three, they are required by rule 61 to go out of office in such year or years as the Local Board, with the sanction of the Local Government Board, may determine.

Casual Vacancies.

It was not clear whether under the Local Government Act, 1858, a vacancy created by a failure duly to elect members was a casual vacancy; or how, in the event of such vacancy, or any other casual vacancy being left by the Local Board to be filled up at the next annual election, the member elected to fill such vacancy was to be distinguished from the other successful candidates. In order to leave no doubt on these points, rule 65 includes a failure duly to elect members among the causes creating a casual vacancy, and declares that in the event of a casual vacancy being filled up at an annual election, if there is a poll, the member who has been elected by the fewest votes is to be deemed to be elected to fill such vacancy; and if there is no poll the question is to be determined by lot. The rule also extends the period during which a casual vacancy may be filled up by the Local Board from a month to six weeks, or such further period as the Local Government Board may by order allow.

General Provisions.

Rule 66 adds the bank holidays to the days hitherto excluded under the Public Health Act, 1848, for the performance of any act in relation to any election.

In lieu of imprisonment, a penalty not exceeding £20 may be imposed under rule 69 upon any person tampering with voting papers, personating voters, or interfering with the delivery or collection of voting papers.

Temporary Provisions.

It should be specially noticed that rule 73 provides for the continuance in office until the 15th of April next of all members of existing Local Boards.

II.—PROCEEDINGS IN CASE OF LAPSE OF LOCAL BOARDS.

The Sanitary Acts contained no provision for the vesting of the property of a lapsed Local Board in the succeeding authority; and in the event of no new Local Board being elected, the district remained a Local Government district, and was under the control of no local authority. Both these defects are cured by rule 2 of Part II. of this schedule, which enables the Local Government Board, in the event of no new election taking place within three months, to dissolve the district and declare it to be a rural district, or included in any adjoining rural district, the property of the lapsed Local Board passing to the new authority. The rule further enables the Board to determine any question as to the fact of a Local Board having lapsed, or the date of such lapse.

SCHEDULE III.

Rules as to Resolutions of Owners and Ratepayers.

Under the Local Government Act, 1858, section 13 (1), a meeting for the purpose of passing a resolution for the adoption of that Act had to be called, on the requisition of twenty ratepayers or owners. A meeting for the purpose of passing the corresponding resolution under this Act may be called under rule 1 of this schedule on the requisition of twenty ratepayers or owners, or of twenty ratepayers and owners, but the requisitionists, in both cases, are required to be resident in the district or place with respect to which the resolution is to be passed.

Under the Local Government Act, 1858, section 13 (3), the meeting could only be adjourned from day to day, and the construction placed by the law officers of the Crown upon this provision was that the adjournment must be from one day to the next. The interpretation has been productive of inconvenience, and in some cases has led to the failure of the proceedings, when the adjournment has been improperly made over intervening days. An amendment has therefore been introduced (rule 5), enabling the meeting to be adjourned from time to time.

The foregoing statement does not profess to exhaust all the minor amendments which have been made in the law by the present Act; but the Board believe that they have sufficiently explained the nature and intention of all the principal changes effected by it, and they trust that their observations will be of service to urban authorities in administering its various and important provisions.

I am, &c.,

To the Clerk to the Urban Sanitary Authority.

JOHN LAMBERT,
Secretary.

TO RURAL SANITARY AUTHORITIES.

Local Government Board, Whitehall, S.W.,
30th September, 1875.

[The introductory portion of the circular is the same as that of the circular to urban authorities, ante, p. 8.]

Constitution of Authorities.

In some cases where nearly the whole of the parishes of a poor-law union are included in one or more urban districts, the number of elective guardians qualified to act as members of the rural sanitary authority was too small to enable them to form a quorum; and in others, the members of the rural sanitary authority have been so few as to prevent the efficient discharge of their duties. Section 9 of the present Act, therefore, enables the Board to nominate as members of any rural sanitary authority a sufficient number of persons to make up the number to five, exclusive of ex officio members; such nominees to be selected from owners or occupiers of property in the district of a value sufficient to qualify them to act as elective guardians of the union.

Sewerage and Drainage.

Under the Sanitary Acts, sewers in an urban district, excepting those made for the purposes of profit, or under the authority of Commissioners of Sewers, or for the drainage or improvement of land under local or private Acts, vested in the urban authority; but no similar provision was made with respect to sewers in rural districts. For the future these will vest in the rural sanitary authority, subject to the above exceptions, and to the proviso that sewers constructed by or transferred to any authority empowered by statute to construct sewers, will vest in the authority who constructed them, or to whom they have been transferred. In order to prevent this and other provisions of the Act from extending to drains for surface water belonging to highway authorities, the definition of "sewer" contained in the Public Health Act, 1848, has been modified by section 4 of the present Act, so as to exclude drains vested in or under the control of any authority having the management of roads, and not being a local authority under the Act. It may be here observed that "local authority" is the term used in the Act when it is intended to include both urban and rural sanitary authorities.

The power possessed by Local Boards under the 44th section of the Public Health Act, 1848, of purchasing sewers, or rights in sewers, in their districts, has been extended by section 14 to rural authorities.

By the Local Government Act Amendment Act, 1861, section 4, power was given to sanitary authorities to construct works of sewerage outside their districts; but it was provided that nothing in that Act should empower such authorities to discharge unpurified sewage into streams or water-courses. Section 17 has made this provision applicable to all works of sewerage, whether within or without the district of the authority, and has extended it to canals, ponds, and lakes.

Section 19 imposes on every local authority the duty of causing their sewers to be ventilated, so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health.

In cases where, for the purpose of enforcing the drainage of a row of undrained houses, it would be less expensive to construct a new sewer than to compel such houses to drain into an existing sewer, the authority are empowered (section 23) to construct a new sewer and to apportion the expense among the owners of the houses.

It has happened that a local authority, after enforcing the communication of house drains with a particular system of sewers, have found it necessary to change their general scheme of sewerage, and to construct fresh sewers; but the Sanitary Acts contained no provision under which the local authority could compel fresh junctions or defray their cost. Section 24 now empowers a local authority, under these circumstances, to close any such existing drains, on condition of providing others equally effectual and communicating with the new system.

Under the Sewage Utilization Act, 1867, a local authority were not empowered to let, for more than seven years, land held by them for purposes connected with sewage distribution; this period is extended by section 29 to twenty-one years.

Privies, Waterclosets, &c.

The power given to Local Boards by the 52nd section of the Public Health Act, 1848, to enforce proper watercloset or privy accommodation in factories, has been extended by section 38 of the present Act to rural authorities. The previous provision only applied to factories in which persons of both sexes, and above twenty in number, were employed; but the restriction as to number has now been removed.

Scavenging and Cleansing.

By the 60th section of the Public Health Act, 1848, urban authorities were enabled to enforce the whitewashing, cleansing, or purifying of houses, on the certificate of the medical officer of health, or two medical practitioners, that they were in such a filthy or unwholesome state as to affect or endanger the health of any person, or that such whitewashing, cleansing, or purifying would tend to prevent or check infectious disease. Section 46 extends this power to rural authorities.

It will be observed from section 4 that "house" includes schools, also factories and other buildings in which more than twenty persons are employed at one time.

Offensive Ditches and Collections of Matter.

The power contained in the 31st section of the Local Government Act, 1858, enabling an urban authority to obtain an order of justices for the cleansing of any offensive ditch or water-course lying near or forming the boundary of their district, is conferred by section 48 on rural authorities.

Water Supply.

[Same as the circular to urban sanitary authorities under this head, ante, p. 9.]

Common Lodging Houses; Nuisances.

[Same as the circular to urban authorities under these headings, ante, p. 10.]

Offensive Trades.

Proceedings under the Nuisances Removal Acts, with respect to offensive trades, could only be taken by a nuisance authority within the limits of a city, town, or populous district. Section 114 provides that such proceedings shall, for the future, be taken only by authorities in urban districts; but this provision is subject to the general power contained in section 276, which enables the Board to confer on a rural authority any urban power which the circumstances of the district may require.

Infectious Diseases and Hospitals; Mortuaries.

[Same as the circular to urban authorities under these headings, ante, pp. 11 and 12.]

Lighting Streets.

In some cases application had been made to the Board to invest the rural authority with power to contract for the lighting of some of the populous portions of their district; but a difficulty existed in complying with such applications, in cases where the Lighting and Watching Act (3 & 4 Will. IV. c. 90) was in force. Section 163 enacts that if lighting powers are conferred on a rural authority in a place where the Lighting and Watching Act has been adopted, that Act shall be superseded by the present statute.

Purchase of Lands; Arbitration.

[Same as the circular to urban authorities under these headings, ante, pp. 13, 14.]

Bye-laws.

Section 186 facilitates the proof of bye-laws in legal proceedings, by providing that a copy of them, signed and certified by the clerk to the rural authority, shall be prima facie evidence of their having been duly made and confirmed.

Officers.

Section 190 expressly authorises the appointment of assistant officers by a rural authority, and provides that the assistant clerk of the union shall be appointed clerk of the rural authority, when the clerk of the union is unable or unwilling to undertake the duty. Under the 6th section of the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, the assistant clerk might be appointed to the office; but his appointment was merely optional.

Although the Public Health Act, 1872, rendered it obligatory on every sanitary authority to appoint a medical officer of health, neither that Act nor the previous statutes prescribed his duties, and it was only in cases where part of his salary was repaid from the Parliamentary grant, that the Local Government Board had any jurisdiction in the matter. Having regard, therefore, to the importance of securing uniformity in practice, and of adopting the necessary means for insuring periodical reports and returns respecting the sanitary condition of each locality, the Legislature have now empowered the Board, by section 191, to prescribe the qualifications and duties of other medical officers of health appointed under the Act, although no portion of their salaries is repaid out of moneys voted by Parliament. Power is also expressly given to the Board by the same section to impose conditions in cases where the district medical officer of a union is appointed medical officer of health. The section further enables local authorities, in case of the illness or incapacity of their medical officer, to appoint a deputy medical officer, subject to the approval of the Local Government Board.

The provisions contained in sections 37 to 39 of the Public Health Act, 1848, both inclusive, which relate to the disabilities of officers of urban authorities, which require them to give security and account for receipts and disbursements, and which enable summary proceedings to be taken against them, when defaulting, are extended by sections 192 to 196 of the present statute to the officers of rural authorities.

Mode of conducting Business.

The Public Health Act, 1872, contained no express provision enabling a rural authority to fill up casual vacancies in any committee appointed by them. Section 203 now confers this power.

By the 76th section of the Local Government Act, 1858, urban authorities were required to make and publish an annual report of all works executed by them during the preceding year, and of their receipts and disbursements. This duty is imposed upon all local authorities by section 206; but the obligation of publishing the report in a local newspaper does not extend to rural authorities.

Expenses.

Section 229 differs from the corresponding provisions in the Sanitary Acts, by not including among special expenses the expenses of the cleansing and lighting of streets in any contributory place when the requisite urban powers have been conferred on the rural sanitary authority for that purpose. Such expenses will, therefore, for the future, be general expenses, unless otherwise determined by order of the Local Government Board. The section is, moreover, so worded as to show clearly that the water-rents or rates levied in a contributory place are to be applied in defraying the cost of providing the water supply for such place.

Section 11 of the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, prohibited the levying of a special rate in any contributory place where the amount required in any one year was less than £10, or so small that a rate of less than a penny in the pound would be required to raise it. This prohibition is extended by section 230 to every case where the amount required by any precept or precepts comes within either of the limits mentioned. It has also been made clear that the amount is to be paid as if forming part of the contribution required for general expenses.

Borrowing Powers.

Doubts had been expressed (1) as to whether loans under the Sanitary Acts could properly be repaid by equal annual instalments of principal and interest combined; (2) as to the precise amount required to be set aside and invested annually, when provision was made for repayment of the loan by means of a sinking fund; and (3) as to the mode in which the sinking fund was from time to time to be applied towards the discharge of part of the loan. Section 234, therefore, expressly authorises loans under the Act to be repaid by equal annual instalments of principal or of principal and interest combined; it enacts that where the repayment is by means of a sinking fund, the annual amount to be set aside is to be such as will, with accumulations, be sufficient to repay the loan at the end of the term; and it provides that the whole or any part of the fund may at any time be applied towards the discharge of the loan; but until the loan is discharged the interest which would have accrued on the amount withdrawn must be paid into the fund, in addition to the other payments.

Local authorities are exempted (section 238) from responsibility to the transferee of any of their mortgages, until an entry of the transfer has been made in the register kept by them; and by the same section a penalty not exceeding £20 is imposed on the clerk of the authority if he wilfully neglects or refuses to make any such entry in the register.

The Public Works and Local Loans Acts.

[Same as the circular to urban authorities under this heading, ante, p. 16.]

Legal Proceedings.

The 133rd and 134th sections of the Public Health Act, 1848, render the consent of the Attorney-General necessary to proceedings for the recovery of penalties under that Act, except by persons aggrieved or by the Local Board, and provide for the application of penalties. Sections 253 and 254 embody these provisions, and make them applicable to rural districts and authorities.

Section 255 facilitates proceedings against persons who jointly contribute to a nuisance. Under the Nuisances Removal Acts much difficulty was experienced in enforcing any remedy, unless it could be clearly proved that the separate contribution of the person proceeded against would alone cause a substantial nuisance, such proof being often from the nature of the case almost impossible.

To save technical objections and expense in legal proceedings, section 260 dispenses with the necessity on the part of the plaintiff of proving the corporate name of the authority, and the constitution or limits of the district.

Under the Sanitary Acts the jurisdiction of County Courts extended only to the recovery of debts not exceeding £20. This limit is enlarged by section 261 to £50.

Section 262, following the previous law, provides that no proceedings shall be removed by certiorari into a superior Court; but the judges having recently expressed a strong opinion that the power of stating a special case which can be removed into a superior Court ought not to be taken away, a proviso has been added reserving that power.

Appeal.

[Same as the circular to urban authorities under this heading, ante, p. 17.]

Alteration of Areas.

In addition to the powers which were given to the Local Government Board in relation to the alteration of areas by the 22nd section of the Public Health Act, 1872, section 270 of the present Act enables the Board, by provisional order, to include the whole of any rural district in any adjoining Local Government district, and any portion of a Local Government district in any rural district.

With respect to the constitution of urban districts, in pursuance of resolutions passed by the owners and ratepayers in places situated in rural districts, the attention of the authority may be directed to sections 272 to 274, both inclusive. These sections set forth the proceedings which may now be taken by owners and ratepayers in order that a place may be constituted a Local Government district, and it will be found that such proceedings are analogous to those prescribed by the Local Government Act, 1858, with regard to the adoption of that Act; but in future the resolution to be passed by the owners and ratepayers, instead of being to the effect that the Local Government Act should be adopted, must affirm that it is expedient that the place should be constituted a Local Government district.

It should be observed that the resolution of owners and ratepayers must be passed in the manner provided by Schedule III. to the Act.

General provisions with respect to orders made by the Board under this part of the Act are contained in section 275. The most important of them are (1) that a newly constituted Local Government district is to remain under the jurisdiction of its former local authority until the first meeting of the Local Board; and (2) that any such order may provide for the settlement of differences, the adjustment of accounts, and the apportionment of liabilities.

It is important to observe that section 276 clears up any doubt which might have previously existed as to the right of the Board to apply urban provisions to a rural district where such provisions do not confer powers on the authority, by enacting in express terms that the Board may declare any urban provisions of the Act to be in force in rural districts. Any new powers conferred by the Act, and which may, under special circumstances, be needful to a rural authority, may, by order of the Board, be rendered applicable to them under this section.

Union of Districts.

[Same as the circular to urban authorities under this heading, ante, p. 17.]

Port Sanitary Authorities; Provisional Orders; Defaulting Authorities; Powers of the Local Government Board in relation to Local Acts.

[Same as the circulars to urban authorities under these headings, ante, p. 18.]

Miscellaneous Provisions.

The right of entry possessed by local authorities and their officers, for the discharge of their duties, is extended by section 305 from the hours of ten and four to nine and six, and it will be seen that the power to apply to a Court of Summary Jurisdiction for an order enforcing entry, in the event of refusal, now includes cases where such entry is required for the purpose of making works or keeping them in repair.

To meet those cases where any of the provisions of the Sanitary Acts are referred to in any statutes, orders, or documents now in force, section 313 declares that the corresponding provisions of the present Act shall be considered as substituted for the analogous provisions of the repealed Acts. Thus, in cases where rural sanitary authorities have been invested with urban powers contained in the Sanitary Acts, they will, by the operation of this section, be invested with the corresponding powers contained in the present Act.

Where a bye-law has been made under the Sanitary Acts by any local authority and the same is inconsistent with the present Act, such bye-law is to that extent repealed by section 315; and section 326 declares that, subject to this provision, all bye-laws under the Sanitary Acts shall be deemed to have been made under this Act.

Temporary Provisions; Saving Clauses.

[Same as the circular to urban authority under these headings, ante, p. 19.]

SCHEDULE I.

Rules applicable to Committees.

The whole of these rules are new, and apply to the committees appointed by the rural sanitary authority. They authorise meetings and adjournments; prescribe a quorum, in cases where none has been prescribed by the appointing authority; provide for the election of a chairman, and the manner in which a majority of votes is to be determined; render proceedings valid, notwithstanding vacancies or defective appointments; and declare that the minutes, orders, and resolutions of the committee, purporting to be signed by the chairman, either of the meeting at which the proceedings took place or of the following meeting, shall be evidence of legal proceedings.

SCHEDULE II.

Proceedings in case of Lapse of Local Boards.

The Sanitary Acts contained no provision for the vesting of the property of a lapsed Local Board in the succeeding authority; and in the event of no new Local Board being elected, the district remained a Local Government district, and was under the control of no local authority. Both these defects are cured by rule 2 of Part II. of this schedule, which enables the Local Government Board, in the event of no new election taking place within three months, to dissolve the district and declare it to be a rural district, or included in any adjoining rural district, the property of the lapsed Local Board passing to the new authority. The rule further enables the Board to determine any question as to the fact of a Local Board having lapsed, or the date of such lapse.

SCHEDULE III.

Rules as to Resolutions of Owners and Ratepayers.

Under the Local Government Act, 1858, section 13 (1), a meeting for the purpose of passing a resolution for the adoption of that Act had to be called, on the requisition of twenty ratepayers or owners. A meeting for the purpose of passing the corresponding resolution under this Act may be called under rule 1 of this schedule on the requisition of twenty ratepayers or owners, or of twenty ratepayers and owners, but the requisitionists, in both cases, are required to be resident in the district or place with respect to which the resolution is to be passed.

Under the Local Government Act, 1858, section 13 (3), the meeting could only be adjourned from day to day, and the construction placed by the law officer of the Crown upon this provision was that the adjournment must be from one day to the next. This interpretation has been productive of inconvenience, and in some cases has led to the failure of the proceedings, when the adjournment has been improperly made over intervening days. An amendment has therefore been introduced (rule 5) enabling the meeting to be adjourned from time to time.

Hitherto the meeting has been required to elect its own chairman, but under rule 6 the summoning officer will be the chairman, unless he is unable or unwilling to preside, in which case only the chairman will be elected by the meeting.

The provisions of the same section of the Local Government Act have been held as constituting the churchwardens and overseers summoning officers only in cases where their jurisdiction has been co-extensive with the places in which it has been proposed to adopt the Act. An express enactment contained in rule 2 declares, in accordance with this interpretation, that the jurisdiction of these officers must be conterminous with the proposed district, so that in all other cases the summoning officer must be appointed by the Board.

The foregoing statement does not profess to exhaust all the minor amendments which have been made in the law by the present Act; but the Board believe that they have sufficiently explained the nature and intention of all the principal changes effected by it, and they trust that their observations will be of service to rural authorities in administering its various and important provisions.

"Owner" means the person for the time being receiving the rackrent of the lands or premises in connection with which the word is used, whether on his own account or as agent or trustee for any other person, or who would so receive the same if such lands or premises were let at a rackrent⁽¹⁾:

"Rackrent" means rent which is not less than two-thirds of the full net annual value of the property out of which the rent arises; and the full net annual value shall be taken to be the rent at which the property might reasonably be expected to let from year to year, free from all usual tenant's rates and taxes, and tithe commutation rentcharge (if any), and deducting therefrom the probable average annual cost of the repairs, insurance, and other expenses (if any) necessary to maintain the same in a state to command such rent⁽²⁾:

"Street" includes any highway (not being a turnpike road), and any public bridge (not being a county bridge), and any road, lane, footway, square, court, alley or passage, whether a thoroughfare or not⁽³⁾:

the difficulties which were felt with regard to the earlier definition. It was held under the earlier definition that a right of fishing was within the term "land": Oldaker v. Hunt, 6 De G. M. & G. 376, 1 Jur. N. S. 785. As to whether a right of abstracting water from a stream can be compulsorily obtained under s. 176, post, see note ⁽¹⁾, post, p. 69.

(1) There is a special definition of "owner" given by schedule 2, r. 10, post, p. 229.

The definition is the same as that given in the Public Health Act, 1848. A notice under s. 69 of that Act (which corresponds with s. 150 of the present Act), served upon the person de facto receiving the rents, though not as agent, and without any rightful authority to do so, was held good; "owner" being the person de facto receiving the rent rightfully or wrongfully: Peek v. Waterloo and Seaforth Local Board, 2 H. & C. 709, 33 L. J. M. C. 11, 9 L. T. N. S. 338, 12 W. R. 252, 9 Jur. N. S. 1244. Under the same section the trustee of a school to whom premises were, under 4 & 5 Vict. c. 38, conveyed upon trust to allow them to be used only as a school for the education of the poor, was held liable to contribute to the expenses of paving, &c., as "owner," although he had no power to let the premises, and therefore neither received, nor could receive, any rent in respect of them: Bowditch v. Wakefield Local Board, L. R. 6 Q. B. 567, 40 L. J. M. C. 214, 25 L. T. N. S. 88. Where Lord Holland, being the owner in fee of certain land, entered into a building agreement with one Hall, whereby the latter agreed to build houses on part of the land and to lay out the remainder as a garden, for the exclusive use of the tenants of the houses, and Lord Holland agreed to grant to Hall a lease of each house as it was built, and to grant a lease of the garden with the last house, but it was expressly agreed that Hall should have no interest in any house or land until a lease of it was granted; Hall having built some of the houses, but not all, and Lord Holland having subsequently sold the reversions of the houses which were built, it was held that Lord Holland was the "owner" of the garden within the definition of the Metropolis Local Management Act, 1855, s. 250 (which is identical with the definition above): Holland v. Kensington Vestry, L. R. 2 C. P. 565, 36 L. J. M. C. 105, 17 L. T. N. S. 73, 15 W. R. 1045. Under this same definition a land company who had laid out certain lands, of which they were the owners, for building purposes, and made roads across them, which roads they had dedicated to the public so far as any act of theirs could do so, but no proceedings had been taken to make the roads repairable by the parish, were held not to be the "owners" of the land so far as regards the soil of the roads irrevocably dedicated to the public: Plumstead Board v. British Land Co., L. R. 10 Q. B. 203, 44 L. J. Q. B. 38, 32 L. T. N. S. 94, 23 W. R. 634.

See further the notes to s. 150, post, p. 119, and Cook v. Montagu, post, p. 92.

As to whether a receiver appointed by the Court of Chancery is an "owner" as above defined, see Eddleston v. Francis, 7 C. B. N. S. 568.

(2) This is the definition of net annual value given by the Parochial Assessment Act, 1836, 6 & 7 Will. IV. c. 96, s. 1.

(3) "Includes" is used in this clause by way of extension of the meaning of the word "street." See Nutter v. Accrington Local Board, post, p. 46. And as to the difference between the expressions "means" and "includes" in the interpretation clauses of an Act of Parliament, see R. v. JJ. Cambridgeshire, 6 E. & B., per Erle, J., at p. 1007.

Sec. 4. "House" includes schools, also factories and other buildings in which [more than twenty] persons are employed [at one time] ⁽¹⁾:

"Drain" means any drain of and used for the drainage of one building only, premises within the same curtilage, and made merely for the purpose of communicating therefrom with a cesspool or other like receptacle for drainage, or with a sewer into which the drainage of two or more buildings or premises occupied by different persons is conveyed ⁽²⁾:

"Sewer" includes sewers and drains of every description, except drains to which the word "drain" interpreted as aforesaid applies, and except drains vested in or under the control of any authority having the management of roads, not being a local authority under this Act ⁽³⁾:

Whether or not a road is a street is a question of fact: Mande v. Baildon Board, post, p. 120.

The prima facie meaning of "street" is confined to the roadway and footways, but may include the houses abutting thereon: London, Chatham and Dover Ry. v. Corporation of London, 19 L. T. N. S. 350; Baker v. Mayor of Portsmouth, L. R. 3 Ex. D. 4, 47 L. Ex. 289, 37 L. T. N. S. 381; and see Galloway v. Corporation of London, L. R. 1 H. L. 35 L. J. Ch. 477, and Robinson v. Barton-Eccles Board, post, p. 128.

A turnpike road, if it is in fact a street, is not prevented by the above interpretative clause from being a street; and, therefore, a street which is also a turnpike road is excluded from the operation of ss. 63 and 144, post, p. 113: Nutter v. Accrington Local Board, L. R. 4 Q. B. D. 375, 45 L. J. Q. B. 457, 40 L. T. N. S. 802, per Brett and Cotton, L.J.J., Bramwell, L.J., diss., reversing the judgment of the Queen's Bench Division. The word "streets" in this Act extends to places which are in all respects private, over which the public have no right: Taylor v. Corporation of Oldham, L. R. 4 Ch. 395, 46 L. J. Ch. 105, 35 L. T. N. S. 696, 35 W. R. 178, Jessel, M.R., who cites the definition of the word from the Imperial Dictionary, viz., "A street is properly a pathway or road; but in usage, any way or road in a city having houses on one or both sides."

See further, Le New v. Vestry Mile End Old Town, 8 E. & B. 1054, 27 L. J. Q. B. 1, and the notes to ss. 149, 150, 157 (1), post.

As to "turnpike road," and as to "county bridge," see the Highway Acts, post.

(4) This clause is by way of extension of the meaning of the word "house." See New v. Accrington Local Board, and R. v. JJ. Cambridgeshire, ante, p. 45. A small piece of ground immediately in front of a house, and occupied with it, was held to be "a part of the house" within the meaning of s. 92 of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845: Mason v. London, Chatham & Dover Ry., L. R. 6 Eq. 101, 37 L. J. Ch. 453. And it has been held down that the word house in the same section includes all that would pass by a deed of the house; but that it does not include land which is not necessary for the convenient use and occupation of the house, but only for the personal use and occupation of the owner and occupier: Steel v. Midland Ry., L. R. 1 Ch. App. 275, 13 L. T. N. S. 14, 14 W. R. 3, 14 W. R. 367. See the section of the Act post. Under the Folkestone Local Improvement Act, 1855 (which incorporated the Towns Improvement Act, 1847, post), giving power to prescribe the line of any "house" to be built in streets, and to cause houses to be set back, so as to allow a certain width of street, compensation being made to the "owner," it was held that a church was a house and the vicar an owner within the Act: Corporation of Folkestone v. Woodward, L. R. 15 Eq. 159, 42 L. J. Ch. 782. Hence church and the land appurtenant to it is not rateable, either as a house or land, the expenses of paving a new street under the Metropolitan Improvement Acts, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 130, s. 105, and 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 77: Angill v. Paddington Vestry, L. R. 3 Ch. 714, 37 L. J. M. C. 171, 9 B. & S. 496, 16 W. R. 1167.

The words in italics and between brackets are repealed by the Factory and Workhouses Act, 1875, 41 & 42 Vict. c. 16, s. 107, post.

(5) See the note to the word "sewer," infra.

"Curtilage" is "a court yard, backside or piece of ground lying near or belonging to a dwelling house."—Wharton's Law Lexicon.

(6) The word "drain," as used in the Act (The Public Health Act, 1848, the corresponding interpretation clauses of which are similar to the above), means a passage

- "Slaughter-house" includes the buildings and places commonly called slaughter-houses and knackers yards, and any building or place used for slaughtering cattle, horses or animals of any description for sale:
- "Water company" means any person or body of persons corporate or unincorporate supplying, or who may hereafter supply, water for his or their own profit:
- "Waterworks" includes streams, springs, wells, pumps, reservoirs, cisterns, tanks, aqueducts, cuts, sluices, mains, pipes, culverts, engines, and all machinery, lands, buildings, and things for supplying or used for supplying water, also the stock in trade of any water company:
- "Bakelhouse Regulation Act" means 26 & 27 Vict. c. 40 (Bakelhouse Regulation Act, 1863) ⁽¹⁾:
- "Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Act" means 31 & 32 Vict. c. 130 (Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Act, 1868):
- "Baths and Wash-houses Acts" means 9 & 10 Vict. c. 74 (An Act to encourage the establishment of Public Baths and Wash-houses); 10 & 11 Vict. c. 61 (An Act to amend the Act for the establishment of Public Baths and Wash-houses):
- "Labouring Classes Lodging Houses Act" means 14 & 15 Vict. c. 34 (Labouring Classes Lodging Houses Act, 1851); 29 & 30 Vict. c. 28 (Labouring Classes Dwelling Houses Act, 1866); 30 & 31 Vict. c. 28 (Labouring Classes Dwelling Houses Act, 1867):
- "Sanitary Acts" means all the above-mentioned Acts and the Acts mentioned in Part I. of Schedule V. to this Act ⁽²⁾:
- "Sanitary purposes" means any object or purposes of the Sanitary Acts:
- "Court of Quarter Sessions" means the court of general or quarter sessions of the peace having jurisdiction over the whole or any part of the district or place in which the matter requiring the cognizance of general or quarter sessions arises:
- "Court of Summary Jurisdiction" means any justice or justices of the peace, stipendiary or other magistrate or officer, by whatever name called, to whom jurisdiction is given by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts or any Acts therein referred to:
- "Summary Jurisdiction Acts" means the Act of the session of the eleventh and sewage from a single house only, irrespective of the consideration whether it then falls into a cesspool or larger sewer. The word 'sewer' comes from the word to 'sew,' i.e., to drain, and has a much more extended signification, embracing works on the largest scale, such as draining the fens of Lincolnshire by means of canals, &c. In the common sense of the term it means a large and generally, though not always, underground passage for fluid and feculent matter from a house or houses to some other locality, but it does not comprise a cesspool for the purpose of retaining the sewage, whether as a simple deposit or to be converted into manure or other useful purpose." Sutton v. Mayor of Norwich, 27 L. J. Ch. 739, 31 L. T. 389, Kindersley, V.-C. A stream or watercourse, about a mile and a half in length, from 15 to 14 feet in breadth, and from 5 to 3 feet in depth, supplied by the drainage, natural and artificial, of cultivated land, and receiving at one point the drainage of two or three houses in its passage to the river into which it flowed, was held not to be a sewer within the meaning of the Public Health Act, 1848: R. v. Local Board of Health of Godmanchester, L. R. 1 Q. B. 328, 35 L. J. Q. B. 125, 14 L. T. N. S. 104, 14 W. R. 375. A marsh wall or embankment that keeps back the river Thames at high water from inundating the Isle of Dogs, and through which sewers pass which drain the isle at low water, is a sewer within the Metropolitan Local Management Act, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, s. 204: Poplar District Board v. Knight, E. B. & E. 408, 28 L. J. M. C. 37, 5 Jur. N. S. 196.

Description of rural districts and rural authorities.

9 ⁽¹⁾. The area of any union ⁽²⁾ which is not coincident in area with an urban district ⁽³⁾, nor wholly included in an urban district (in this section called a rural union), with the exception of those portions (if any) of the area which are included in any urban district, shall be a rural district, and the guardians of the union shall form the rural authority of such district: Provided that—

- (1.) An ex officio guardian resident in any parish or part of a parish belonging to such union, which parish or part of a parish forms or is situated in an urban district, shall not act or vote in any case in which guardians of such union act or vote as members of the rural authority, unless he is the owner ⁽⁴⁾ or occupier of property situated in the rural district of a value sufficient to qualify him as an elective guardian for the union ⁽⁵⁾:
- (2.) An elective guardian of any parish belonging to such union, and forming or being wholly included within an urban district, shall not act or vote in any case in which guardians of such union act or vote as members of the rural authority:
- (3.) Where part of a parish belonging to a rural union forms or is situated in an urban district, the Local Government Board may by order divide such parish into separate wards, and determine the number of guardians to be elected by such wards respectively, in such manner as to provide for the due representation of the part of the parish situated within the rural district; but until such order has been made the guardian or guardians of such parish may act and vote as members of the rural authority in the same manner as if no part of such parish formed part of or was situated in an urban district.

Where the number of elective guardians who are not by this section disqualified from acting and voting as members of the rural authority is less than five, the Local Government Board may from time to time by order nominate such number of persons as may be necessary to make up that number from owners ⁽⁴⁾ or occupiers of property situated in the rural district of a value sufficient to qualify them as elective guardians for the union, and the persons so nominated shall be entitled to act and vote as members of the rural authority, but not further or otherwise.

Subject to the provisions of this Act, all statutes, orders and legal provisions applicable to any Board of Guardians shall apply to them in their capacity of rural authority under this Act for purposes of this Act; and it is hereby declared that the rural authority are the same body as the guardians of the union or parish for or within which such authority act.

Powers and duties of
rities.

10. In addition to the powers, rights, duties, capacities, liabilities and obligations exercisable by or attaching to an urban authority under this Act, every urban authority shall within their district (to the exclusion of any other authority which may have previously exercised or been subject to the same) have, exercise, and be subject to all the powers, rights, duties, capacities, liabilities and obligations within such district exercisable or attaching by and to the local authority under the Bakehouse Regulation Act ⁽⁶⁾, and the Artizans and Labourers Dwellings Act, or any Acts amending the same.

Where the Baths and Wash-houses Acts and the Labouring Classes Lodging Houses Acts, or any of them, are in force within the district of any urban authority, such authority shall have all powers, rights, duties, capacities, liabilities ⁽¹⁾ This is a re-enactment of the Public Health Act, 1872, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 79, s. 5, and Public Health Act, 1874, 37 & 38 Vict. c. 89, s. 1, with the addition of the power given to the Local Government Board to nominate members so as to make up the number of members to five. The Board possessed a similar power as respects members of Boards of Guardians in the metropolis by 30 Vict. c. 6, s. 79.

⁽⁴⁾ Defined ante, p. 45.

⁽⁵⁾ As to who are ex officio guardians, see 4 & 5 Will. IV. c. 76, s. 38, and 7 & 8 Vict. c. 101, s. 24.

and obligations in relation to such Acts exercisable by or attaching to the Council, Incorporated Commissioners, Local Board Improvement Commissioners and other commissioners or persons acting in the execution of the said Acts, or any of them. Secs. 10-12.

Where the Baths and Wash-houses Acts are not in force within the district of any urban authority, such authority may adopt such Acts; and where the Labouring Classes Lodging Houses Acts are not in force within the district of any urban authority, such authority may adopt such Acts.

Where any local Act other than an Act for the conservancy of any river is in force within the district of an urban authority, conferring on any commissioners, trustees or other persons powers for purposes the same as or similar to those of this Act (but not for their own pecuniary benefit), all the powers, rights, duties, capacities, liabilities and obligations of such commissioners, trustees or other persons in relation to such purposes shall be transferred and attach to the said urban authority ⁽¹⁾.

11. In addition to the powers, rights, duties, capacities, liabilities and obligations exercisable by or attaching to a rural authority under this Act ⁽²⁾, every rural authority shall, within their district (to the exclusion of any other authority which may have previously exercised or been subject to the same), have, exercise, and be subject to all the powers, rights, duties, capacities, liabilities and obligations within such district exercisable by or attaching to the local authority under the Bakehouse Regulation Act, or any Acts amending the same ⁽³⁾. Powers and duties of rural authorities

12. From and after the passing of this Act all such property, real and personal, including all interests, rights and easements in to and out of property real and personal (including things in action), as belongs to or is vested in, or would but for this Act have belonged to or been vested in the Council of any borough, or any Improvement Commissioners or Local Board as the urban sanitary authority of any district under the Sanitary Acts, or any Board of Guardians as the rural sanitary authority of any district under those Acts, shall continue vested or vest in such Council, Improvement Commissioners, or Local Board, or Board of Guardians as the local authority of their district under this Act, subject to all debts, liabilities and obligations affecting the same property. Vesting of property in local authorities.

All debts, liabilities and obligations incurred by any authority whose powers, rights, duties, liabilities, capacities and obligations are under this Act exercisable by or attached to a local authority, may be enforced against the local authority to the same extent and in the same manner as they might have been enforced against the authority which incurred the same ⁽⁴⁾.

In 1875 a decree was made against the Corporation of Birmingham as the sanitary authority thereof, granting a perpetual injunction to restrain them from allowing sewage to flow into a river, the injunction being suspended for five years to give the borough an opportunity to execute certain works. At the expiration of that time it was desired to enforce the injunction, but in the meantime the Birmingham, Tame and Rea District Drainage Board, by a provisional order under section 279, post, p. 199, had succeeded to the rights and liabilities of the Corporation of Birmingham in respect of the sewage:—Held by Court of Appeal (discharging the order of Bacon, V.-C.) that liberty could not be given to amend the original bill by making the Birmingham, Tame and Rea District Drainage Board parties, and that the decree could only be enforced against them by an action. A.-G. v. Corporation of Birmingham, L. R. 15 Ch. D. 423, 43 L. T. N. S. 77, 29 W. R. 127, followed A.-G. v. Dorking Union, L. R. 20 Ch. D. 595, at p. 600.

Where the sewers, &c., of a district become vested in a local authority upon their becoming the sanitary authority of the district, and they do no act to create or increase a nuisance, they are not liable to an action or injunction in respect of a nuisance existing before they became the sanitary authority and allowed by them to continue. The remedy is that given by section 299, post, or by prerogative writ of mandamus: Glossop v. Heston Local Board, post, p. 53.

PART III.

SANITARY PROVISIONS ⁽¹⁾.SEWERAGE AND DRAINAGE ⁽¹⁾.Regulations as to Sewers and Drains ⁽¹⁾.

Sewers
vested in local authority.

13 ⁽²⁾. All existing and future sewers ⁽³⁾ within the district of a local authority, together with all buildings, works, materials, and things belonging thereto,

Except

- (1.) Sewers made by any person ⁽⁴⁾ for his own profit, or by any company for the profit of the shareholders; and
- (2.) Sewers made and used for the purpose of draining, preserving, or improving land under any local or private Act of Parliament, or for the purpose of irrigating land; and
- (3.) Sewers under the authority of any commissioners of sewers appointed by the Crown ⁽⁵⁾, shall vest in and be under the control of such local authority ⁽⁶⁾.

Provided that sewers within the district of a local authority which have been or which may hereafter be constructed by or transferred to some other local authority, or by or to a sewage board or other authority empowered under any Act of Parliament to construct sewers, shall (subject to any agreement to the contrary) vest in and be under the control of the authority who constructed the same or to whom the same have been transferred.

14 ⁽⁷⁾. Any local authority may purchase or otherwise acquire from any person ⁽⁸⁾ any sewer ⁽⁹⁾, or any right of making or of user or other right in or respecting a sewer (with or without any buildings, works, materials, or things belonging thereto), within their district, and any person may sell or grant to such authority any such

⁽¹⁾ As to use of headings in determining the sense of sections ranged under them, see Hammersmith Ry. v. Brand, ante, p. 48.

⁽²⁾ This section is the same as the Public Health, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 43, but the proviso at the end is new. This and the following section extend to rural authorities.

⁽⁶⁾ "That is to say, that instead of allowing the subsoil to remain in the owner of the soil, subject to an easement or right of sewage or drainage, the absolute property in the sewer (which means not merely the brick barrel or whatever it may be forming the sewer, but the whole interior of the sewer, that is, the whole of the space occupied by it) is now vested in the sewer authorities. And if the sewer is a large one, it amounts in substance for all useful purposes to the whole of the subsoil, and that is absolutely vested in the corporation." Per Jessel, M. R., Taylor v. Corporation, Oldham, L. R. 4 Ch. D. 395, at p. 411, 35 L. T. N. S. 700. But the sewer does not vest in them so as to give them a right to stop it up, and thereby cause a nuisance to the inhabitants; their ownership is a modified one, limited to the purposes of carrying out their duties imposed by Parliament. See A.-G. v. Dorking Union, L. R. 20 Ch. Div. 595, per Jessel, M. R., at p. 600; and see section 18, post, p. 56. Compare section 149, post, p. 117, which "vests" streets in the urban authority, and see note ⁽²⁾, p. 118.

sewer right or property belonging to him; and any purchase money paid by such authority in pursuance of this section shall be subject to the same trusts (if any) as the sewer right or property sold was subject to. Secs. 14-15.

But any person who, previously to the purchase of a sewer by such authority, has acquired a right ⁽¹⁾ to use such sewer shall be entitled to use the same, or any sewer substituted in lieu thereof, to the same extent as he would or might have done if the purchase had not been made ⁽²⁾.

15. Every local authority shall keep in repair all sewers belonging to them, and shall cause to be made such sewers as may be necessary for effectually draining their district for the purposes of this Act ⁽³⁾.

⁽²⁾ As to power of local authority in certain cases to close drains communicating with their sewers upon providing others as effectual for the purpose of drainage, see section 24, post, p. 59.

⁽³⁾ This and the three following sections, 16, 17, and 18, are founded upon the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 45; the Local Government Amendment Act, 1858, 24 & 25 Vict. c. 61, s. 4; and the Sewage Utilization Act, 1865, 28 & 29 Vict. c. 75, s. 4, and should be read together. The 19th section should also be read with them.

As to the power of local authorities to acquire lands for the purposes of this Act, and the incorporation of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts, see sections 175, &c., post.

By section 299, post, p. 207, special provision is made for enforcing the duties created by the Act, if the local authority fails to perform them. These provisions do not oust the jurisdiction of the Courts in the case of any legal wrong done by the local authority. But where the local authority merely neglects to perform their duty (e.g., under the present section in providing a satisfactory and healthy system of drainage), it is no ground of action by an individual for damages or an injunction, though on proper evidence of a refusal by the authority a prerogative writ of mandamus might be obtained in the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court: Glossop v. Heston Local Board, L. R. 12 Ch. Div. 102, 49 L. J. Ch. 89, 40 L. T. N. S. 736, 28 W. R. 111; A.-G. v. Dorking Union, post, p. 56. So, in the absence of negligence on their part, a local authority is not responsible for any injury resulting to an individual from the disrepair of a sewer: Hammond v. Vestry of St. Pancras, L. R. 9 C. P. 316, 43 L. J. C. P. 157, 30 L. T. N. S. 296, 22 W. R. 826; Whitehouse v. Birmingham Canal Co., 27 L. J. Ex. 25. But where Commissioners, acting under powers conferred by Act of Parliament, ordered new sewers to be constructed under a contract and plans which did not provide for a "penstock" or flap necessary to prevent the plaintiff's premises from being flooded, and the consequence was that the premises were flooded with sewage, the Commissioners were held liable to be sued for negligence: Ruck v. Williams, 3 H. & N. 308, 27 L. J. Ex. 357. And for an action against a Local Board under the Metropolis Local Management Act, 1855, for neglecting to keep a sewer clean, whereby the plaintiff's premises were flooded, see Meek v. Whitechapel Board, 2 F. & F. 144, and Brown v. Sargent, 1 F. & F. 112. But where a water company have observed the directions of the Act of Parliament in laying down their pipes, they are not responsible for an escape of water from them not caused by their own negligence, and the fact that their precautions proved insufficient against the effect of a winter of extreme coldness such as no man could have foreseen is not sufficient to render them liable for negligence: Blyth v. Birmingham Waterworks, 11 Exch. Rep. 781, 25 L. J. Ex. 212, 2 Jur. N. S. 333, 4 W. R. 294.

Where damage was caused to a plaintiff by reason of his horse stepping upon a grid or grating put upon a highway under which was a sewer to drain the surface-water off the road into the sewer, through the defective state of the grid, a local authority, who were the surveyors of highways, and in whom also the sewers were vested, were held liable as owners of the sewer, for not keeping the grid in a proper state, though they might not be liable as surveyors of the highway: White v. Hindley, L. R. 10 Q. B. 219, 44 L. J. Q. B. 114, 32 L. T. N. S. 460, 23 W. R. 651, followed by Court of Appeal in Blackmore v. Vestry of Mile End Old Town, L. R. 9 Q. B. D. 451, 51 L. J. Q. B. 496, 46 L. T. N. S. 869, 30 W. R. 740. See also Smith v. West Derby Local Board, L. R. 3 C. P. D. 423,

Sec. 16.

16 (1). Any local authority may carry any sewer through, across, or under any turnpike road, or any street or place laid out as or intended for a street, or under any cellar or vault which may be under the pavement or carriageway of any street, and, after giving reasonable notice in writing to the owner or occupier (if on the report of the surveyor it appears necessary), into, through, or under any lands whatsoever within their district (2).

Powers for making sewers.

47 L. J. C. P. 607; and further as to remedy by action for breach of statutory duty, see Atkinson v. Newcastle and Gateshead Waterworks Co., L. R. 2 Ex. D. 441, 36 L. T. N. S. 761, 25 W. R. 794.

Remedy for injury done by local authority in pursuing the powers conferred by the Act.

Where an injury is done to an individual by a local authority in performing their duties or exercising their powers under an Act of Parliament, the question arises whether the remedy, if any, is that specially given by the Act, or whether an action may be brought in respect of the injury. It seems that if the injury be the necessary and inevitable result of the carrying out by the local authority of the Act, no action will lie, and the only remedy is that given by the Act; but if the authority be not necessarily obliged to commit the injury, an action will lie: Cator v. Lewisham District Board, 34 L. J. Q. B. 74 (Exch. Cham.); A.-G. v. Colney Hatch Asylum, post, p. 55; A.-G. v. Metrop. Board of Works, 9 L. T. N. S. 139, 27 J. P. Ch. 597, V.-C. Wood; Boulton v. Crowther, 2 B. & C. 703; Blantyre v. Clyde Navigation Trustees, W. Notes, 1871, p. 69; and see Metrop. Asylum District v. Hill, post, p. 89. The authority over sewers and the drainage powers given by Parliament do not authorise the committal of a nuisance by the local authority in the exercise of those powers, and they may be restrained by injunction: A.-G. v. Hackney Board of Works, L. R. 20 Eq. 626, 44 L. J. Ch. 545, 33 L. T. N. S. 244; A.-G. v. Bradford Canal Co., L. R. 2 Eq. 71, 35 L. J. Ch. 619, 14 L. T. N. S. 248, 15 L. T. N. S. 9. Notwithstanding the obligation imposed by the Act upon a Local Board to drain their district, their right to send sewage into the sewers of an adjoining district is no higher than the right of a landowner to send sewage from his land on to the land or into the drains of a neighbouring landowner: A.-G. v. Acton Board, L. R. 22 Ch. D. 221, 52 L. J. Ch. 108, 47 L. J. N. S. 510, 31 W. R. 153. But where a Local Board have once authorised drains to be connected with their sewers, the Court will not grant an injunction to stop up these drains: Ibid. And a public body may be liable to an indictment for causing a public nuisance by the exercise of powers conferred on them by Act of Parliament: R. v. Bradford Navigation, 34 L. J. Q. B. 191, 11 Jur. N. S. 766, 29 J. P. 404. An action will lie against a local authority for negligently carrying out works so as to cause a nuisance: Southampton Floating Bridge Co. v. Southampton Local Board, 28 L. J. Q. B. 41; and see the notes to section 17, post.

Compensation for injury.

By section 308, post, p. 211, it is provided that where any person sustains any damage by reason of the exercise of any of the powers of this Act, full compensation shall be made to him.

As to the power of the local authority to compel the paving, &c., of private streets, see section 150, post, p. 119.

The Court has power, under the Settled Estates Act, 1877, 40 & 41 Vict. c. 18, by sub-sections 20 and 21, to direct part of settled estates to be laid out for streets, &c., either to be dedicated to the public or not, and to direct that such streets, &c., shall be made and executed, and to give directions as to the payment of the costs of making, &c., and of repair, &c.

As to use of patent by local authority for purpose of purifying and deodorizing sewage, see Higgs v. Godwin, post, p. 60.

(1) See note (1) to section 15, ante, p. 53.

(2) It is not necessary that the local authority should purchase the lands for the purpose of exercising these powers. It is only necessary to make compensation for the damage done: N. London Ry. v. Metrop. Board of Works, 1 Johns. 405, 28 L. J. Ch. 909; and see Roderick v. Aston Local Board, L. R. 5 Ch. Div. 328, 46 L. J. Ch. 802, 36 L. T. N. S. 328, 25 W. R. 403. Entrances or man-holes, made for the purpose of entering the sewer, are part of the sewer, and may be made without purchasing the land for the purpose: Swanston v. Twickenham Local Board, L. R. 11 Ch. Div. 838, 48 L. J. Ch. 623, 40 L. T. N. S. 734, 27 W. R. 924.

They may also (subject to the provisions of this Act relating to sewage works without the district of the local authority) exercise all or any of the powers given by this section without their district for the purpose of outfall or distribution of sewage ⁽¹⁾. Secs. 16, 17.

17 ⁽²⁾. Nothing in this Act shall authorise any local authority to make or use any sewer, drain, or outfall for the purpose of conveying sewage or filthy water into any natural stream or watercourse, or into any canal, pond, or lake, until such sewage or filthy water is freed from all excrementitious or other foul or noxious matter, such as would affect or deteriorate the purity and quality of the water in such stream or watercourse, or in such canal, pond, or lake. Sewage to be purified before being discharged into streams.

The local authority are not confined to carrying the sewer underground; they may carry it partly under and partly over the ground, or wholly over the ground: Roderick v. Aston Local Board, supra.

In the case of Re Corporation of Dudley, L. R. 8 Q. B. D. 86 (C. A.), 51 L. J. Q. B. 121, 45 L. T. N. S. 733, it was decided that a landowner is bound to preserve to the sewer subjacent support, and is entitled to be compensated immediately for such obligation. But now by the Public Health Act, 1875 (Support of Sewers) Amendment Act, 1883, 46 & 47 Vict. c. 37, s. 4, it is provided that a local authority shall not, by reason only of anything contained in the Sanitary Act, under which a sanitary work is constructed, be deemed entitled to or bound to acquire or to make compensation for any right to support against any person owning or interested in any mine. See the Act, post. In Metrop. Board of Works v. Metrop. Ry., L. R. 4 C. P. 192, 38 L. J. C. P. 172, 19 L. T. N. S. 744, 17 W. R. 416, it was held that a local authority acquired no right to lateral support. But see Re Corporation of Dudley, supra.

Section 305, post, p. 210, does not apply to proceedings under this section, and a local authority is not justified in attempting to carry out a project for sewerage which, by the description contained in their notice, would cause a nuisance, and they may be restrained by injunction from so doing: Lamacroft v. St. Thomas's Rural Sanitary Authority, 42 L. T. N. S. 365, 44 J. P. 441.

A notice is reasonable when it specifies the object of an entry to be the construction of a sewer of certain dimensions, and shows that the entry will be made at a particular point, and that the sewers will go from that point in an oblique direction. It is not necessary that the notice should be accompanied by a map: Cleckheaton Society v. Jackson, 14 W. R. 950. As to the giving of notices under this Act, see sub-section 266, &c., post, p. 191.

As to compensation for the damage done by the local authority, see section 308, post. The landowner is entitled to immediate compensation in respect of the obligation to preserve subjacent support, and for being deprived of free power to work subjacent mines, but not for the risk of percolation of sewage into the subjacent mines: Re Corporation of Dudley, supra.

(1) See the provisions as to sewage works without the district, sections 32, 33, and 34, post, pp. 61, 62. And as to construction of the earlier Acts, see Haywood v. Loundes, 4 Drew. 454, 28 L. J. Ch. 400, 5 Jur. N. S. 185, 7 W. R. 279.

(2) See note (3) to section 15, ante, p. 53. This section is in the nature of a proviso to the two former sections. It was, in fact, so expressed to be in the earlier Act, the Local Government Amendment Act, 1858, 24 & 25 Vict. c. 61, s. 4, "That is to say, although they (i.e., the local authority) have power to make all such sewers as they think necessary for the district, they must not, under that power, make or use any sewer they acquire for the purpose of so conveying sewage water." Per James L.J., Glossop v. Heston Local Board, ante, p. 53.

Generally, if a public body, which has powers given it by statute for the performance of a particular object, exercises its powers so as to injure the property of others, it is responsible for the injury, unless the act done was absolutely necessary for the performance of the object of the statute: A.-G. v. Colney Hatch Asylum, L. R. 4 Ch. App. 146, 38 L. J. Ch. 265; Metropolitan Asylum District v. Hill, post, p. 89; and see the cases cited ante, p. 53. And if a public body transgress the powers conferred on them by statute, an injunction will be granted, in which case it is immaterial that no damage has been caused to anyone thereby. And the rule is the same, whether the information

18. Any local authority may from time to time enlarge, lessen, alter the course of, cover in, or otherwise improve any sewer belonging to them, and may discontinue, close up, or destroy any such sewer that has in their opinion become be laid ex officio by the Attorney-General, or at the relation of a private individual : A.-G. v. Cockermouth, L. R. 18 Eq. 172, 44 L. J. Ch. 118, 30 L. T. N. S. 590, 22 W. R. 619. See further, Manchester Ry. v. Workop, 23 Beav. 198, 26 L. J. Ch. 345; A.-G. v. Hockney, L. R. 20 Eq. 626, 44 L. J. Ch. 545, 33 L. T. N. S. 244.

Where the right to an injunction against a nuisance or other injury is shown, it is no part of the duty of the Court to inquire in what way the defendants can best remove it : A.-G. v. Colney Hatch Asylum, supra. But when the difficulty of removing the injury is great, the Court will suspend the operation of the injunction for a time, with liberty to apply for an extension of time : Ibid. Where, however, an injunction was granted on 1st March, restraining a Local Board of Health from causing or permitting sewage or water polluted therewith to pass through drains or channels under their control into a river, to the injury of the plaintiff, a miller, residing about three miles below the outfall, an execution was stayed till the 1st of July, and the Board did not subsequently to that date stop the flow of sewage into the river, but alleged that they had not discovered a mode of deodorizing the sewage ; that compliance with the order was practically impossible without stopping the drainage of the town ; that there had been no wilful default ; and that sequestration would be ineffectual, as the property of the Board was public property, and futile, as the members of the Board would all resign,—it was held that there had been a gross and wilful contempt, and sequestration was ordered to issue : Spokes v. Banbury Board, L. R. 1 Eq. 42, 35 L. J. Ch. 105, 13 L. T. N. S. 426, 11 Jur. N. S. 1010.

But where a sanitary authority have not themselves constructed sewers which are a nuisance, but only permit them to be used as formerly by the inhabitants, they are not doing an act which can be restrained. If they are neglecting their duty in providing a sufficient sanitary scheme for the neighbourhood, the remedy is by mandamus : A.-G. v. Dorking Union, L. R. 20 Ch. Div. 595 (C. A.), 51 L. J. Ch. 585, 46 L. J. N. S. 573, 30 W. R. 579 ; Glossop v. Heston Board, ante, p. 53. And the Court will not make an order against a public body or against individuals to do an act, unless it is satisfied that it is within their power to do it : A.-G. v. Dorking Union, supra, per Jessel, M.R. In dealing with the question of restraining a public body from continuing a state of things which existed before the commencement of their powers, the Court must take into consideration the balance of convenience : Ibid.

For further cases dealing with injunctions to restrain nuisances by pollutions of streams, &c., see A.-G. v. Luton, 2 Jur. N. S. 180 ; A.-G. v. Birmingham, 4 K. & J. 528, 6 W. R. 811, 22 J. P. 561 ; R. v. Darlington, 6 B. & S. 562, 35 L. J. Q. B. 45, 13 W. R. 789 ; A.-G. v. Kingston, 34 L. J. Ch. 481, 12 L. T. N. S. 665, 11 Jur. N. S. 596 ; A.-G. v. Leeds, L. R. 5 Ch. 583, 39 L. J. Ch. 254 ; Oldacre v. Hunt, 1 Jur. N. S. 785 ; N. Staffordshire Ry. v. Tunstall, 39 L. J. Ch. 131 ; Holt v. Rochdale, 39 L. J. Ch. 761 ; A.-G. v. Basingstoke, 45 L. J. Ch. 726 ; A.-G. v. Richmond, 35 L. J. Ch. 597 ; A.-G. v. Halifax, L. R. 5 Ch. App. 116, 39 L. J. Ch. 129 ; Bidder v. Croydon Local Board, 6 L. T. N. S. 778 ; Goldsmid v. Tunbridge Wells Commissioners, L. R. 1 Eq. 166, 1 Ch. App. 349, 35 L. J. Ch. 88, 382, 14 Jur. N. S. 308, 13 L. T. N. S. 154.

Where a local authority are interfering with a watercourse by drawing off the water flowing in a defined surface channel through adjoining land in a manner not authorised by Act of Parliament, they will be restrained from so doing : Grand Junction Canal v. Shugar, L. R. 6 Ch. App. 483, 24 L. T. N. S. 402, 19 W. R. 569. But where they direct underground waters not known to be formed into a stream flowing in a defined channel, no action lies against them : Chasemore v. Richards, 7 H. L. C. 349, 29 L. J. Ex. 81. See further New River Co. v. Johnson, 2 E. & E. 435, 29 L. J. M. C. 93 ; R. v. Metrop. Board of Works, 3 B. & S. 710, 32 L. J. Q. B. 105. "Making or using" means that they must not make a sewer which brings down the sewage into the river, or must not use existing sewers for bringing into a stream, &c., sewage which they by other means bring into the old sewer : Glossop v. Heston Board, ante, p. 53, per Cotton, L.J.

19 ⁽²⁾. Every local authority shall cause the sewers ⁽³⁾ belonging to them to be constructed, covered, ventilated and kept so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and to be properly cleansed and emptied. Cleansing sewers.

20. An urban authority may, if they think fit, provide a map exhibiting a system of sewerage for effectually draining their district, and any such map shall be kept at their office, and shall at all reasonable times be open to the inspection of the ratepayers of their district ⁽⁴⁾. Power of owners and occupiers within district to drain into sewers of local authority.

Any person causing a drain to empty into a sewer of a local authority without complying with the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding £20, and the local authority may close any communication between a drain and sewer made in contravention of this section, and may recover in a summary manner from the person so offending any expenses incurred by them under this section ⁽¹⁰⁾.

22 ⁽¹¹⁾. The owner ⁽¹²⁾ or occupier of any premises without the district of a local authority may cause any sewer ⁽¹³⁾ or drain ⁽¹⁴⁾ from such premises to communicate with any sewer of the local authority on such terms and conditions as may be agreed on between such owner or occupier and such local authority, or as in case Use of sewers by owners and occupiers without district.

Where any house ⁽⁴⁾ within the district of a local authority is without a drain ⁽⁵⁾ sufficient for effectual drainage, the local authority shall by written notice require the owner ⁽⁶⁾ or occupier of such house, within a reasonable time therein specified, to make a covered drain or drains emptying into any sewer which the local authority are entitled to use, and which is not more than one hundred feet from the site of such house; but if no such means of drainage are within that distance, then emptying into such covered cesspool or other place not being under any house as the local authority direct; and the local authority may require any such drain or drains to be of such materials and size ⁽⁷⁾, and to be laid at such level, and with such fall as on the report of their surveyor may appear to them to be necessary.

If such notice is not complied with, the local authority may, after the expiration of the time specified in the notice, do the work required, and may recover in a summary manner the expenses incurred by them in so doing from the owner, or may by order declare the same to be private improvement expenses ⁽⁸⁾.

Provided that where, in the opinion of the local authority, greater expense would be incurred in causing the drains of two or more houses to empty into an existing sewer pursuant to this section, than in constructing a new sewer and causing such drains to empty therein, the local authority may construct such new sewer, and require the owners or occupiers of such houses to cause their drains to empty therein, and may apportion as they deem just the expenses of the construction of such sewer among the owners of the several houses, and recover in a summary manner the sums apportioned from such owners, or may by order declare the same to be private improvement expenses.

- (2.) Contract for the use of, purchase, or take on lease any land, buildings, engines, materials, or apparatus, either within or without their district; and
- (3.) Contract to supply for any period not exceeding twenty-five years any person with sewage, and as to the execution and costs of works either within or without their district for the purposes of such supply:

Provided that no nuisance be created in the exercise of any of the powers given by this section (4).

It was held under the corresponding section of the Public Health Act, 1848, that a Local Board had no power to enter upon land without the consent of the owner for the purpose of making reservoirs and deposit beds for retaining sewage, and they were restrained by injunction from so doing: Sutton v. Mayor of Norwich, 27 L. J. Ch. 739, 31 L. T. 389.

Where a patented process for precipitating animal and vegetable matter from sewage for agricultural purposes is made use of by a local authority solely for the purpose of deodorizing and purifying sewage water, and not with a view to obtaining a product for commercial purposes, it is no infringement of the patent: Higgs v. Godwin, E. B. & E. 529, 27 L. J. Q. B. 421.

Where a Local Board, in pursuance of an agreement, granted a lease of the sewage works of a town to a company, and of a plot of land, the company covenanting to keep the outfall of the works, with the engines, &c., in proper working order, so as to admit the free flow of sewage through the sewers, and so that the same might not at any time be stopped; and the Board filed a bill against the company complaining that the company's works were insufficient; that they were pumping only a portion of the sewage and were heading back the residue in the sewers so as to cause a nuisance to the inhabitants of the town, and praying for an injunction; a demurrer by the company, on the ground that the Court could not superintend the proper performance of the work

28. The local authority of any district may, by agreement with the local authority of any adjoining district, and with the sanction of the Local Government Board, cause their sewers ⁽¹⁾ to communicate with the sewers of such last mentioned authority, in such manner and on such terms and subject to such conditions as may be agreed on between the local authorities, or, in case of dispute, may be settled by the Local Government Board: provided that so far as practicable storm waters shall be prevented from flowing from the sewers of the first-mentioned authority into the sewers of the last-mentioned authority, and that the sewage of other districts or places shall not be permitted by the first-mentioned authority to pass into their sewers so as to be discharged into the sewers of the last-mentioned authority without the consent of such last-mentioned authority ⁽²⁾.

Secs. 28-32.

Power to agree for communication of sewers with sewers of adjoining district.

29. Any local authority may deal with any lands ⁽³⁾ held by them for the purpose of receiving, storing, disinfecting or distributing sewage in such manner as they deem most profitable, either by leasing the same for a period not exceeding twenty-one years for agricultural purposes, or by contracting with some person to take the whole or a part of the produce of such land, or by farming such land and disposing of the produce thereof; subject to this restriction, that in dealing with land for any of the above purposes, provision shall be made for effectually disposing of all the sewage brought to such land without creating a nuisance ⁽⁴⁾.

Power to deal with land appropriated to sewage purposes.

30 ⁽⁵⁾. Where any local authority agree with any person ⁽⁶⁾ as to the supply of sewage and as to works to be made for the purpose of such supply ⁽⁷⁾, they may contribute to the expense of carrying into execution by such person all or any of the purposes of such agreement, and may become shareholders in any company with which any agreement in relation to the matters aforesaid has been or may hereafter be entered into by such local authority, or to or in which the benefits and obligations of such agreement may have been or may be transferred or vested.

Contribution to works under agreement for supply or powers for disposing of sewage.

31. The making of works of distribution and service for the supply of sewage to lands for agricultural purposes shall be deemed an "improvement of land" authorised by "The Improvement of Land Act, 1864," and the provisions of that Act shall apply accordingly ⁽⁸⁾.

Pointing*, L. R. 4 Q. B. D. 340, 48 L. J. M. C. 135, 40 L. T. N. S. 844, 27 W. R. 658; Cf. ex parte Whitchurch, post, p. 94.

If such notice is not complied with, the local authority may, at the expiration of the time specified in the notice, do the work thereby required to be done, and may recover in a summary manner from the owner the expenses incurred by them in so doing, or may by order declare the same to be private improvement expenses. Provided that where a watercloset, earthcloset, or privy has been, and is used in common by the inmates of two or more houses, or if in the opinion of the local authority a watercloset, earthcloset, or privy may be so used, they need not require the same to be provided for each house (3).

37 (4). Any enactment in force within the district of any local authority requiring the construction of a watercloset shall be deemed to be satisfied by the construction, with the approval of the local authority, of an earthcloset.

As to earth-closets.

Any local authority may, as respects any house in which any earthcloset is in use with their approval, dispense with the supply of water required by any contract or enactment to be furnished to any watercloset in such house, on such terms as may be agreed on between such authority and the person providing or required to provide such supply of water.

Any local authority may themselves undertake or contract with any person to undertake a supply of dry earth or other deodorizing substance to any house within their district for the purpose of any earthcloset.

In this Act the term "earthcloset" includes any place for the reception and deodorization of faecal matter constructed to the satisfaction of the local authority.

(1) See the next section.

(2) Defined ante, p. 45.

(3) The powers given by this section must be exercised with regard to the circumstances of each particular case, and the local authority cannot lay down a general regulation requiring all privies, &c., throughout their district to be converted into waterclosets. See Tinkler v. Wandsworth Board of Works, 2 De G. & J. 261, 27 L. J. Ch. 342, 4 Jur. 293. But in any particular case, if the circumstances justify them, they may require a watercloset to be substituted for a privy. See St. Luke's Vestry v. Lewis, 1 B. & S. 865, 31 L. J. M. C. 73, 5 L. T. N. S. 608, 8 Jur. N. S. 432.

A discretion as to the nature and extent of the works required to be done is vested in the local authority, and the justices at petty sessions cannot review their determination as to the matter: Hargreaves v. Taylor, 3 B. & S. 613, 32 L. J. M. C. 111, 8 L. T. N. S. 149, 11 W. R. 562, 9 Jur. N. S. 1053; and see Austin v. Vestry of Lambeth, ante, p. 58.

40. Every local authority shall provide that all drains, waterclosets, earthclosets, privies, ashpits, and cesspools within their district, be constructed and kept so as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health ⁽⁵⁾.

41 ⁽⁶⁾. On the written application of any person to a local authority, stating that any drain, watercloset, earthcloset, privy, ashpit, or cesspool on or belonging to any premises within their district is a nuisance or injurious to health (but not otherwise), the local authority may, by writing, empower their surveyor or inspector of nuisances, after twenty-four hours' written notice to the occupier of such premises, or in case of emergency without notice, to enter such premises, with or without assistants, and cause the ground to be opened, and examine such drain, watercloset, earthcloset, privy, ashpit, or cesspool. If the drain, watercloset, earthcloset, privy, ashpit, or cesspool on examination is found to be in proper condition, he shall cause the ground to be closed, and any damage done to be made good as soon as can be, and the expenses of the works shall be defrayed by the local authority. If the drain, watercloset, earthcloset, privy, ashpit, or cesspool on examination appear to be in bad condition, or to require alteration or amendment, the local authority shall forthwith cause notice in writing to be given to the owner or occupier of the premises, requiring him forthwith or within a reasonable time therein specified to do the necessary works; and if such notice is not complied with, the person to whom it is given shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues to make default, and the local authority may, if they think fit, execute such works, and may recover in a Power of local authority to make bye-laws imposing duty of cleansing, &c., on occupier.

44 ⁽²⁾. Where the local authority do not themselves undertake or contract for ⁽³⁾—

The cleansing of footways and pavements adjoining any premises,

The removal of house-refuse ⁽⁴⁾ from any premises,

The cleansing of earth-closets, privies, ashpits, and cesspools belonging to any premises, they may make bye-laws, imposing the duty of such cleansing or removal, at such intervals as they think fit, on the occupier of any such premises ⁽⁵⁾.

An urban authority may also make bye-laws for the prevention of nuisances arising from snow, filth, dust, ashes and rubbish, and for the prevention of the keeping of animals on any premises so as to be injurious to health ⁽⁶⁾.

Power to provide receptacles for deposit of rubbish.

45. Any urban authority may, if they see fit, provide in proper and convenient situations receptacles for the temporary deposit and collection of dust, ashes, and rubbish; they may also provide fit buildings and places for the deposit of any matters collected by them in pursuance of this part of this Act ⁽⁶⁾.

Houses to be purified, on certificate of officer of health, or of 46 ⁽⁷⁾. Where, on the certificate of the medical officer of health, or of any two medical practitioners, it appears to any local authority that any house, or part thereof, is in such a filthy or unwholesome condition that the health of any person is affected or endangered thereby, or that the whitewashing, cleansing or purifying

As to notices and service thereof, see sections 266, 267, post.

As to recovery of penalty, see sections 251 et seq., post.

⁽³⁾ See sections 42 and 43, and notes, ante.

⁽⁴⁾ "Refuse" means articles for which the owner has no use, except as rubbish. See Filbey v. Combe, 2 M. & W. 677, 1 Jur. 721; Law v. Dodd, 1 Exch. R. 845, 17 L. J. M. C. 65; *Lyndon v. A bye-law requiring all occupiers to remove all snow and other obstructions opposite their premises, and which had been duly allowed by a Secretary of State, was held bad, as not being warranted by a statute which authorised the making of bye-laws with respect to the removal of "dust, ashes, rubbish, filth, manure, and soil," which bye-laws were required to be allowed by a Secretary of State. The mere allowance by the Secretary of State does not give the bye-law validity: R. v. Wood, 5 El. & Bl. 49, 3 C. L. R. 1134, S. C. sub. nom. R. v. Rose, 24 L. J. M. C. 130, 1 Jur. N. S. 802.

A bye-law prohibiting the keeping of swine generally within a borough was held bad: Everett v. Grapes, 3 L. T. N. S. 669; but a bye-law prohibiting the keeping of pigs within 100 feet of any dwelling-house, and a bye-law requiring certain drainage for premises where pigs were kept, were held not unreasonable: Wanstead Board v. Wooster, 35 L. T. 81, 37 J. P. 403.

If the person to whom notice is so given fails to comply therewith within the time therein specified, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten shillings for every day during which he continues to make default; and the local authority may, if they think fit, cause such house, or part thereof, to be whitewashed, cleansed or purified, and may recover in a summary manner the expenses incurred by them in so doing from the person in default⁽³⁾.

shall for every such offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings, and to a further penalty not exceeding five shillings for every day during which the offence is continued, and the urban authority shall abate or cause to be abated every such nuisance, and may recover in a summary manner the expenses incurred by them in so doing from the occupier of the premises on which the nuisance exists.

Offensive Ditches and Collections of Matter.

48⁽⁶⁾. Where any watercourse or open ditch lying near to or forming the boundary between the district of any local authority and any adjoining district is foul and offensive, so as injuriously to affect the district of such local authority, any justice having jurisdiction in such adjoining district may, on the application of such local authority, summon the local authority of such adjoining district to appear before a Court of Summary Jurisdiction to show cause why an order should not be made by such Court for cleansing such watercourse or open ditch, and for executing such permanent or other structural works as may appear to such Court to be necessary; and such Court, after hearing the parties, or ex parte in case of the default of any of them to appear, may make such order with reference to the Provision for obtaining order for cleansing offensive ditches lying near to or forming the boundaries of districts.

49 ⁽²⁾. Where in any urban district it appears to the inspector of nuisances that any accumulation of manure, dung, soil, or filth, or other offensive or noxious matter ought to be removed, he shall give notice to the person to whom the same belongs, or to the occupier of the premises whereon it exists, to remove the same; and if such notice is not complied with within twenty-four hours from the service thereof, the manure, dung, soil, or filth, or matter referred to shall be vested in and be sold or disposed of by the urban authority, and the proceeds thereof shall be applied in payment of the expenses incurred by them in the execution of this section; and the surplus (if any) shall be paid on demand to the owner of the matter removed.

The expenses of removal by the urban authority of any such accumulation, if and so far as they are not covered by the sale thereof, may be recovered by the urban authority in a summary manner from the person to whom the accumulation belongs, or from the occupier of the premises, or (where there is no occupier) from the owner.

50 ⁽³⁾. Notice may be given by any urban authority (by public announcement in the district or otherwise) for the periodical removal of manure or other refuse matter from mews, stables, or other premises; and where any such notice has been given any person to whom the manure or other refuse matter belongs who fails so to remove the same, or permits a further accumulation, and does not continue such periodical removal at such intervals as the urban authority direct, shall be liable without further notice to a penalty not exceeding twenty shillings for each day during which such manure or other refuse matter is permitted to accumulate ⁽⁴⁾.

Powers of Local Authority in relation to Supply of Water.

(2.) Take on lease or hire any waterworks, and (with the sanction of the Local Government Board) purchase any waterworks, or any water or right to take or convey water, either within or without their district, and any rights, powers, and privileges of any water company; and

(1) The provisions of this Act as to water supply have been now supplemented by The Public Health (Water) Act, 1878, post. It provides that it shall be the duty of every rural authority to provide, or require the owner to make provision, for a supply of wholesome water for consumption and domestic purposes within a reasonable distance of every occupied dwelling-house within their district, and that no house shall be built or rebuilt without a certificate from the sanitary authority of the district that there is such a supply. Provision is also made as to rating in rural districts, where stand-pipes are provided, and as to compulsory rating by urban authorities. And it is provided that the Local Government Board may invest any urban authority with the powers or duties given to a rural authority.

A Committee of the House of Lords in 1877, when considering a provisional order for the compulsory purchase of water rights under section 176, post, p. 142, decided that the order was ultra vires, and the law officers have advised "that in issuing a provisional order under the 176th section of the Public Health Act, 1875, the Local Government Board cannot confer upon a local authority power to purchase for the purposes of the Act, otherwise than by agreement, any right to abstract water from any stream." Contracts c. 31, provides, by section 6, that any landowner charging, or proposing to charge, his estate with the cost of the construction of reservoirs or other works for the supply of water under the Act, may enter into any agreement for the supply of water to any sanitary or other local authority for any term not exceeding the number of years during which the cost of the improvement or any part of it is made a charge upon the estate, provided that every such agreement be approved by the commissioners, and that no premium or benefit in the nature of a premium be reserved to the landowner. with limited owners.

river, or stream, or the supply, quality, or fall of water, without the consent, in writing, of the persons entitled to prevent such interference.

As to compensation in case of damage by reason of the exercise of the powers of the Act, see section 308, and the notes thereto, post, pp. 211.

Where a local authority are interfering with a water-course in a manner not authorised by Parliament, they will be restrained from so doing, and the person injured will not be left to his remedy under the compensation clause: Grand Junction Canal Co. v. Shugar, ante, p. 56, post, p. 212.

A local authority are not bound to give compensation under the compensation clause for any damage they may cause, which would not have been actionable, if they had not been acting under the authority of the Act: Hall v. Mayor of Bristol, post, p. 212.

Having regard to this decision and section 332, post, it will be useful to state shortly the general law relating to water rights and easements.

The rights with regard to running water are either (1) NATURAL RIGHTS, or (2) EASEMENTS.

(1) NATURAL RIGHTS.

The right to receive a flow of water flowing in a natural stream upon the surface of the earth, and to a reasonable use of it, is an ordinary right of property—a natural right—belonging to the riparian proprietors, i.e., the proprietors of adjoining land, and is not enjoyed by virtue of acquiescence or a presumed grant: Chasemore v. Richards, ante, p. 56; Wood v. Waud, 3 Exch. R. 748, 775, 18 L. J. Ex. 305; Rameshwar Pershad Narain Singh v. Koonj Behari Pattuk, post, p. 73; Gale on Easements, 5th edition, p. 218. “Primâ facie, every proprietor upon each bank of a river is entitled to the land covered with water in front of his bank to the middle thread of the stream; or, as it is commonly expressed, ad medium filum aquæ. In virtue of this ownership, he has a right to the use of the water flowing over it in its natural current, without diminution or obstruction. But, strictly speaking, he has no property in the water itself, but a simple use of it while it passes along. The consequence of this principle is, that no proprietor has a right to use the water to the prejudice of another. . . . There may be and there must be allowed to all, of that which is common, a reasonable use”: Tyler v. Wilkinson, 4 Mason U. S. R. 397, per Story, J., cited Gale on Easements, 5th edition, p. 219. A riparian proprietor has a right to a reasonable use of the water for his domestic purposes and for his cattle, without regard, in case of deficiency, to the interests of proprietors lower down the stream: Miner v. Gilmour, 12 Moore R. C. 156; and see Edleston v. Crossley, 18 L. T. N. S. 15. And a company which purchases the land of a riparian owner stands in the same situation as he did with respect to the water rights connected with that land: Swindon Waterworks Co. v. Wilts & Berks Canal Co., L. R. 9 Ch. 451, 7 H. L. 697, 33 L. T. N. S. 513. Accordingly, where a railway company, whose line crossed a stream in the immediate neighbourhood of one of their stations, took water for supplying their engines and for the general purposes of the station, and upon a bill being filed by a millowner lower down the stream, it appeared that the abstraction of water did no damage in wet weather, and never shortened the working of the mill for more than a few minutes a day, it was held that the company, as riparian proprietors, were entitled to take a reasonable quantity of water for their purposes, and that in this case the quantity was reasonable: Earl of Sandwich v. Great Northern Ry., L. R. 10 Ch. D. 707, 27 W. R. 616. But see, as to evidence on this point, A.-G. v. Great Eastern Ry., L. R. 6 Ch. App. 572, 19 W. R. 788. So the owner of the banks of a non-navigable river may build a mill-dam across the stream within his own property, and divert the water into a mill-lade, without asking the leave of the proprietors above him, provided he does not obstruct the water from flowing as freely as it was wont, and without asking the leave of the proprietors below him, if he takes care to restore the water to its natural course before it enters their land: Orr-Ewing v. Colquhoun, L. R. 2 Ap. Cas. 839, per Lord Blackburn. But as to navigable rivers, see Ibid., and as to rights of conterminous proprietors, Ibid., per Lord Gordon, and Bickett v. Morris, infra. But where a canal company established by certain Acts of Parliament, which gave them rights as to taking water from streams within the distance of 2000 yards for the purpose of making and maintaining the canal, purchased a mill on a stream from which they had the right to take water, and thus became riparian proprietors entitled to the flow of water from brooks and streams running into that stream, subject to the rights which other riparian owners might lawfully exercise, and the directors of a waterworks company purchased a mill on the upper part of the same stream and so became riparian owners, but they not only used the water for the purposes and in the manner allowed by law, but collected it into a reservoir for the supply of an adjacent town, and claimed as their legal right such a user of it, it was held this use of the water by the waterworks company was not a reasonable use of the stream such as could be made by an upper riparian proprietor, and that the canal company, who were also riparian owners, whose flow of water was thereby affected, were entitled to come into Equity and obtain an injunction to restrain this use of the water: Swindon Waterworks Co. v. Wilts & Berks Canal Co., ante, p. 70. And it was no excuse that the canal proprietors had previously sold some of the water to the inhabitants of the town and others: per Lord Hatherley, Ibid. In Owen v. Davies, Weekly Notes, 1874, p. 175, it was held that a Board of Health only had the ordinary right of a riparian proprietor, and were not entitled to divert water to their reservoir.

Sec. 51.

It is actionable to heat the water of a natural stream: Mason v. Hill, 3 B. & Ad. 304, 5 B. & Ad. 1.

No one but a riparian proprietor has a right to the water of a stream as against other riparian proprietors: Ormerod v. Todmorden Mill Co., L. R. 11 Q. B. D. 155, but see Kensit v. Great Eastern Ry., L. R. 23 Ch. D. 566. The Stockport Waterworks Co. sued one Potter for fouling the water of the Mersey, which came to their works through a tunnel which they had made under permission from a riparian proprietor. It was held that they were not entitled to sue, as they were not themselves riparian proprietors: Stockport Waterworks Co. v. Potter, 3 H. & C. 300, 10 L. T. N. S. 748, 10 Jur. N. S. 1005.

Thus it appears that any interference with the natural flow of running water, either by throwing it back, diverting it, polluting it, or abstracting an unreasonable quantity, unless the person so acting has acquired a right to do so by contract, prescription or other adequate authority, may be the subject of an action at the suit of any of the other riparian proprietors affected thereby.

An action will lie for an unreasonable and unauthorised use of running water, even though there be no actual damage to the plaintiff; and it matters not how much the plaintiff has used the water, or whether he has used it at all: Embrey v. Owen, 6 Ex. R. 369, 20 L. J. Ex. 212; Sampson v. Hoddinott, 1 C. B. N. S. 611; Harrop v. Hirst, L. R. 4 Ex. 43, 38 L. J. Ex. 1, 19 L. T. N. S. 426; and see Miner v. Gilmour, ante, p. 70, and Wilts & Berks Canal Co. v. Swindon Waterworks Co., supra. But see Kensit v. Great Eastern Ry., supra. So the owner of land on the banks of a river can maintain an action to restrain the fouling of the river without showing that the fouling is actually injurious to him: Crossley v. Lightowler, L. R. 3 Eq. 279, 2 Ch. App. 478, 36 L. J. Ch. 584, 16 L. T. N. S. 438, 15 W. R. 801. If the defendant has caused the water to be foul, there is a damage in law, although the existence of other causes of foulness occasioned by other riparian landowners, may make the damage done by the defendant undistinguishable.

What interference actionable.

If a riparian owner encroach on the altius or channel of the stream, as by erecting a permanent building in the channel, this is not a reasonable use of the stream, and the owner on the opposite side of the stream may maintain an action without showing special damage: Bickett v. Morris, L. R. 1 H. L. Sc. App. 47; see Orr-Ewing v. Colquhoun, ante, p. 70. And so an encroachment made on a tidal river may be restrained at the suit of the Crown without showing damage: A.-G. v. Earl of Lonsdale, L. R. 7 Eq. 377, 38 L. J. Ch. 335, 20 L. T. N. S. 64, 17 W. R. 219; A.-G. v. Terry, L. R. 9 Ch. 423, 30 L. T. N. S. 215, 22 W. R. 395.

But if an easement have been acquired with respect to water, those against whom (2) EASEMENTS it has been acquired cannot complain of its exercise; and on the other hand, the person entitled to such easement may maintain an action for any interference with its exercise.

The right to interfere with the accustomed course of water, either by penning it back or transmitting it altered in quantity or quality to an extent not justified by natural right, is an easement: Gale on Easements, 5th ed., p. 218. Such right to use water to the prejudice of any riparian proprietor above or below by throwing back, diverting, or polluting it, is a right for which the claimant must show a title by contract, prescription or other adequate authority: Mason v. Hill, supra; Embrey v. Owen, supra; Wright v. Howard, 1 Sim. & Stuart, 190.

Sec. 51.

section 2.

By the Prescription Act, 2 & 3 Will. IV. c. 71, s. 2, "no claim which may be lawfully made at the common law by custom, prescription or grant to any way or other easement or to any watercourse or the use of any water to be enjoyed or derived upon, over, or from any land when such way or other matter as herein last before mentioned shall have been actually enjoyed by any person claiming right thereto without interruption for the full period of twenty years shall be defeated or destroyed by showing only that such way or other matter was first enjoyed at any time prior to such period of twenty years, but nevertheless such claim may be defeated in any other way by which the same is now liable to be defeated; and where such way or other matter shall have been so enjoyed as aforesaid for the full period of forty years, the right thereto shall be deemed absolute and indefeasible unless it shall appear that the same was enjoyed by some consent or agreement expressly given or made for that purpose by deed or writing."

By section 4, "Each of the respective periods of years hereinbefore mentioned shall be deemed and taken to be the period next before some suit or action, wherein the claim or matter to which such period may relate shall have been or shall be brought in question, and no act or other matter shall be deemed to be an interruption within the meaning of this statute unless the same shall have been or shall be submitted to or acquiesced in for one year after the party interrupted shall have had or shall have notice thereof, and of the person making or authorising the same to be made."

Section 6

By section 6 no presumption shall be allowed or made in favour or support of any claim upon proof of the exercise or employment of the right or matter claimed for any less period or number of years than the period or number mentioned in the Act as applicable to the case.

Section 7.

By section 7 the time during which a person otherwise capable of resisting a claim shall have been an infant, idiot, non compos, feme covert or tenant for life, or during which any action or suit shall have been pending, and shall have been diligently prosecuted until abatement by death, shall be excluded in the computation of the above periods, except where the right is declared to be absolute and indefeasible.

Section 8.

Section 8 provides that when land or water, upon, over, or from which any way or other convenient watercourse or use of water shall have been enjoyed or derived, has been held under any term of life or years exceeding three years, the time of enjoyment during such term shall be excluded in the computation of the period of forty years, in case the claim shall within three years next after the end or determination of the term be resisted by any person entitled to any reversion expectant on it.

Abandonment of easement.

The mere suspension of the exercise of a prescriptive right is not sufficient to destroy the right. But where dye-works had not been used for more than twenty years, and had been allowed to go to ruin, it was held that any right of fouling a stream attached to them was lost: Crossley v. Lightowler, ante, p. 71.

Artificial
watercourses,
&c.

With regard to watercourses altogether artificial, there seems no reason to doubt that the long-continued submission of the servient owner (i.e., the owner of the land on which the burthen of the easement is imposed) to the discharge of water upon his tenement or to the conducting of it through his land by the owner of the dominant tenement (i.e., the tenement to which the right given by the easement is attached) will confer the right to continue the discharge of the water upon or to receive the supply through the land of the servient owner: Gale on Easements, 5th ed., p. 296.

But the right to receive a supply of water through an artificial channel from the land of another is a more difficult question, depending on the circumstances of the creation of the channel. "The right to artificial watercourses, as against the party creating them, depends upon the character of the watercourse, whether it be of a permanent or a temporary character, and upon the circumstances under which it was created": Broadbent v. Ramsbotham, 11 Exch. R. 611, per Parke, B.

No action for obstructing

No action lies for the diversion of an artificial watercourse where from the nature of the case it is obvious that the enjoyment of it depends upon temporary circumstances, and is not of a permanent character, and where the interruption is by the party who stands in the situation of the grantor. In other words, long enjoyment does not give a right to the unobstructed use of a sough or stream obviously made for temporary purposes, as to drain a mine, at least as against any one claiming under the makers: Arkwright v. Gell, 5 M. & W. 203; Wood v. Wand, ante, p. 70; and see Mason v. Shrewsbury, &c., Ry., L. R. 6 Q. B. 578, 40 L. J. Q. B. 293, 25 L. T. N. S. 239. So where neighbouring land is benefited by water flowing through artificial drains made by a farmer for draining his own land, it was held that the farmer, for the purposes of cultivation, might deepen the drain, and thereby draw off the water, though the plaintiff had enjoyed it for the full period of fifty years: Greatrex v. Hayward, 8 Exch. R. 291, 22 L. J. Ex. 137; and see Gaved v. Martyn, 19 C. B. N. S. 732, 34 L. J. C. P. 353. But on the other hand, an artificial watercourse may have been originally made under such circumstances, and have been so used, as to give all the rights that the riparian proprietors would have had had it been a natural stream: Sutcliffe v. Booth, 32 L. J. Q. B. 136, at p. 139. See also Jeimey v. Stocker, L. R. 1 Ch. App. 396, 35 L. J. Ch. 467, 14 L. J. N. S. 427, 12 Jur. N. S. 419, 14 W. R. 743; and Rameshur Pershad Narain Singh v. Koonj Behari Pattuk, L. R. 4 App. Cas. 121.

Sec. 51.

artificial watercourse of temporary character as

But there is a difference between diverting or obstructing an artificial stream and polluting it. See the judgment in Wood v. Wand, ante, p. 70. Therefore, where the owners of a brewery had enjoyed for twenty years the use of water issuing out of the mouth of a disused adit made to drain mines, it was held that the mine-owners could not afterwards resume the working of the mines so as to foul the water: Magor v. Chadwick, 11 A. & E. 571; see also Hodgkinson v. Ennor, 4 B. & S. 229, 32 L. J. Q. B. 231, 8 L. T. N. S. 451.

Where, however, the artificial stream is a cut made for the purpose of diverting the water of a natural stream, and returning it to the stream, and this flow of the natural stream through the artificial cut has been enjoyed for twenty years, all the rights of a riparian proprietor are acquired in the artificial stream: Nuttall v. Bracewell, L. R. 2 Ex. 1, 36 L. J. Ex. 1, 15 L. T. N. S. 313; Holker v. Porritt, L. R. 8 Ex. 107, 10 ib. 59, 42 L. J. Ex. 85, 44 ib. 52, 21 W. R. 414, 23 ib. 400, 33 L. T. N. S. 125; Beeston v. Weate, 5 E. & B. 986.

Riparian rights are given where a stream runs underground in a known and defined channel. If the channel or course under ground is known, it cannot be interfered with. Thus, where a stream flows in a defined channel from a spring head, a diversion or detention of the water by pipes and tanks at the head is actionable: Dudden v. Clutton Union, 1 H. & N. 627, 26 L. J. Ex. 146; Holker v. Porritt, supra. But it is otherwise if the water drawn off do not run in a known and defined channel. Hence no action lies against a man, who, by digging wells or cutting drains in his own land, thereby drains his neighbour's land by intercepting the flow of the water percolating through the pores of the soil: Chasemore v. Richards, ante, p. 56; New River Co. v. Johnson, 2 E. & E. 435; 29 L. J. M. C. 93, 8 W. R. 179; R. v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 3 B. & S. 710, 32 L. J. Q. B. 105, 11 W. R. 492, 9 Jur. N. S. 1009; Popplewell v. Hodgkinson, L. R. 4 Ex. 248. But where in drawing off subterranean water, the defendant also draws off water flowing in a defined surface channel, he is liable to an action: Grand Junction Canal Co. v. Shugar, L. R. 6 Ch. 483, 24 L. T. N. S. 402, 19 W. R. 569; and to discharge muddy water through underground passages into the plaintiff's pond is a good cause of action.

B. 515; and as to casting upon neighbouring land subterranean water, which had been intercepted, but if unintercepted would naturally flow on to the neighbouring land, see W. Cumberland Iron Co. v. Kenyon, L. R. 11 Ch. D. 782, 48 L. J. Ch. 793, 40 L. T. N. S. 703, 28 W. R. 24 (C. A.)

Secs. 52-54.

Restriction on construction of waterworks by local authority.

52 ⁽¹⁾. Before commencing to construct waterworks within the limits of supply of any water company empowered by Act of Parliament or any order confirmed by Parliament to supply water, the local authority shall give written notice ⁽²⁾ to every water company within whose limits of supply the local authority are desirous of supplying water, stating the purposes for which and (as far as may be practicable) the extent to which water is required by the local authority.

It shall not be lawful for the local authority to construct any waterworks within such limits, if and so long as any such company are able and willing to supply ⁽³⁾ water proper and sufficient for all reasonable purposes for which it is required by the local authority; and any difference as to whether the water which any such company are able and willing to lay on is proper and sufficient for the purposes for which it is required, or whether the purposes for which it is required are reasonable, or (if and so far as the charges of the company are not regulated by Parliament) as to the terms of supply, shall be settled by arbitration in manner provided by this Act ⁽⁴⁾.

As to con-
reservoirs.

53 ⁽⁵⁾. At least two months ⁽⁶⁾ before commencing to construct under the provisions of this Act any reservoir (other than a service reservoir or tank which will hold not more than one hundred thousand gallons) the local authority shall give notice ⁽⁷⁾ of the intended work by advertisement in one or more of the local newspapers circulated within the district where the reservoir is to be constructed.

If any person who would be affected by the intended work objects to such work, and serves notice ⁽⁷⁾ in writing of such objection on the local authority at any time within the said two months, the intended work shall not be commenced without the sanction of the Local Government Board, after such inquiry as hereinafter mentioned, unless such objection is withdrawn.

The Local Government Board may, on application of the local authority, appoint an inspector to make inquiry on the spot into the propriety of the intended work and into the objections thereto, and to report to the Local Government Board on the matters with respect to which such inquiry was directed; and on receiving the report of such inspector, the Local Government Board may make an order disallowing or allowing with such modifications (if any) as they may deem necessary the intended work ⁽⁸⁾.

54. Where a local authority supply water within their district, they shall have the same powers and be subject to the same restrictions for carrying water mains within or without their district as they have and are subject to for carrying

Notices.

⁽²⁾ As to notices and service thereof, see sections 266, 267, post.

"Able and

⁽³⁾ A company is not "able and willing to supply water, &c.," unless it has both the necessary powers and the requisite supply of water. Where Company R had the necessary powers but no water, and Company S had the requisite water but no powers within the district, and Company R sold its plant to Company S, and certain members of Company S bought all the shares in Company R, with the intention of allowing Company S to exercise the powers of Company R, it was held that the powers could not be so delegated, and that neither company was "able and willing" within the meaning of the Act: Richmond Waterworks Co. v. Richmond Vestry, supra.

55. A local authority shall provide and keep in any waterworks ⁽²⁾ constructed or purchased by them a supply of pure and wholesome water; and where a local authority lay any pipes for the supply of any of the inhabitants of their district, the water may be constantly laid on at such pressure as will carry the same to the top story of the highest dwelling-house within the district or part of the district supplied ⁽³⁾. As to supply of water.

56 ⁽⁴⁾. Where a local authority supply water to any premises they may charge in respect of such supply a water rate to be assessed on the net annual value of the premises ascertained in the manner by this Act prescribed with respect to general district rates ⁽⁵⁾; moreover they may enter into agreements for supplying water on such terms as may be agreed on between them and the persons receiving the supply, and shall have the same powers for recovering water rents or other payments accruing under such agreements as they have for recovering water rates ⁽⁶⁾. Power to charge water rates and rents.

57 ⁽⁷⁾. For the purpose of enabling any local authority to supply water there shall be incorporated with this Act the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1863 ⁽⁸⁾, and the following provisions of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847 ⁽⁹⁾; (namely,) Incorporation of certain provisions of Waterworks Clauses Acts.

“With respect” (where the local authority have not the control of the streets)

“to the breaking up of streets for the purpose of laying pipes;” and

“With respect to waste or misuse of the water supplied by the undertakers;” and

“With respect to the provision for guarding against fouling the water of the undertakers;” and

“With respect to the payment and recovery of the water rates.”

Provided,—

That the provisions with respect to the communication pipes to be laid by the undertakers and the inhabitants respectively shall apply only in districts or parts of districts where the local authority lay any pipes for the supply of any of the inhabitants thereof; and

That any dispute authorised or directed by any of the said incorporated provisions to be settled by an inspector or two justices shall be settled by a Court of Summary Jurisdiction ⁽¹⁰⁾; and Secs. 57-61. That section forty-four of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, shall for the purposes of this Act have effect as if the words "with the consent in writing of the owner or reputed owner of any such house, or of the agent of such owner," were omitted therefrom; and any rent for pipes and works paid by an occupier under that section may be deducted by him from any rent from time to time due from him to such owner ⁽¹⁾.

Power to
by measure.

58 ⁽²⁾. A local authority may agree with any person to supply water by measure, and as to the payment to be made in the form of rent or otherwise for every meter provided by them ⁽³⁾; they shall at all times at their own expense keep all meters and other instruments for measuring water let by them for hire to any person in proper order for correctly registering the supply of water, and in default of their so doing such person shall not be liable to pay rent for the same during such time as such default continues. The local authority shall for the purposes aforesaid have access to and be at liberty at all reasonable times to remove, test, inspect, and replace any such meter or other instrument ⁽⁴⁾.

meter to be evidence.

59 ⁽⁵⁾. Where water is supplied by measure by any local authority, the register of the meter or other instrument for measuring water shall be prima facie evidence of the quantity of water consumed; and if the local authority and the consumer differ with respect to the quantity consumed, the difference shall be determined, on the application of either party, by a Court of Summary Jurisdiction ⁽⁶⁾, and such Court may order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before them shall be paid, and its decision shall be final and binding.

Penalty for
meters.

60 ⁽⁷⁾. If any person wilfully or by culpable negligence injures or suffers to be injured any meter or fittings belonging to a local authority, or fraudulently alters the index to any meter, or prevents any meter from duly registering the quantity of water supplied, or fraudulently abstracts or uses water of the local authority, he shall (without prejudice to any other right or remedy of the local authority) be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings, and the local authority may in addition thereto recover the amount of any damage sustained. The existence of artificial means, under the control of the consumer, for causing any such alteration, prevention, abstraction, or use shall be evidence that the consumer has fraudulently effected the same ⁽⁸⁾.

supply water to authority of adjoining district.

61 ⁽⁹⁾. Any local authority for the time being supplying water within their own district may, with the sanction of the Local Government Board, supply water to the local authority of any adjoining district on such terms as may be agreed on between such authorities, or as, in case of dispute, may be settled by arbitration in manner provided by this Act ⁽¹⁰⁾.

In the case of Mayor, &c., of Halifax v. Soothill Local Board, 30 L. T. N. S. 513, it was held by Bacon, V.-C., that a corporation possessing Parliamentary powers for making waterworks, by which they were under an obligation to supply to a township an amount of water at the option of the latter not less than 25,000 or more than 75,000 gallons per day at a certain rate per gallon, might be forced to supply more than 25,000 per day to the township who were selling part of it at a profit to a neighbouring township.

65 ⁽²⁾. Any local authority may, if they think fit, supply water from any waterworks ⁽³⁾ purchased or constructed by them to any public baths or wash-houses, or for trading or manufacturing purposes, on such terms and conditions as may be agreed on between the local authority and the persons desirous of being so supplied; moreover, any local authority may, if they think fit, construct any works for the gratuitous supply of any public baths or washhouses established otherwise than for private profit, or supported out of any poor or borough rates.

66 ⁽⁴⁾. Every urban authority shall cause fire-plugs and all necessary works, machinery and assistance for securing an efficient supply of water in case of fire, to be provided and maintained, and for this purpose they may enter into an agreement with any water company or person ⁽⁵⁾; and they shall paint or

⁽¹⁾ Under the corresponding provision of the Public Health (Scotland) Act, 1867, 30 & 31 Vict. c. 101, s. 89 ⁽⁴⁾, it has been held that a well, situated on private ground, the water of which has been used for domestic purposes, gratuitously, by the inhabitants for the prescriptive period, is a public well, and the local authority can enter on the land and do all acts for continuing and maintaining it which the inhabitants might have done before. And this, notwithstanding that there may be a company with a vested right to supply the inhabitants with water: Smith v. Archibald, L. R. 5 App. Cas. 489.

But where five wells, situated in private land, suddenly failed by reason of the operations of the landowner, and the local authority, for the purpose of ascertaining the cause of the failure of supply or to recover the water, sent their servant, who commenced to dig holes in the roadway of a public lane passing through the land, on the motion of the landowner an injunction was granted against the local authority from entering the land. It was not suggested that the landowner had done anything more than he was entitled to do. The Act does not authorise the local authority to enter on another's land to help themselves to water: Edwards v. Joliffe, W. Notes, 1877, p. 120.

Unless the cellar is in every part thereof at least seven feet in height, measured from the floor to the ceiling thereof, and is at least three feet of its height above the surface of the street or ground adjoining or nearest to the same; and

Unless there is outside of and adjoining the cellar, and extending along the entire frontage thereof, and upwards from six inches below the level of the floor thereof up to the surface of the said street or ground, an open area of at least two feet and six inches wide in every part; and

(3) Neither the expression "common lodging-house," nor the expression "keeper of a common lodging-house," are defined in the Act. The following opinions of the then law officers of the Crown (the late Lord Chief Justice Cockburn and the late Lord Hatherley) as to the definition of the expression "common lodging-house" under the Common Lodging Houses Act, 1851, were given in 1853, and were published by the general Board of Health in a Circular dated 17 Oct. 1853:—

[First Opinion.]

It may be difficult to give a precise definition of the term common lodging-house, but looking to the preamble and general divisions of the Act, it appears to us to have reference to that class of lodging-houses in which persons of the poorer class are received for short periods, and, though strangers to one another, are allowed to inhabit one common room. We are of opinion that it does not include hotels, inns, publichouses, or lodgings let to the upper and middle classes.

(Signed) A. E. COCKBURN,
W. P. WOOD.

[Second Opinion.]

The points upon which our opinion is desired appear to us to be the following:—

1st. What is the meaning of that part of the definition of a common lodging-house in our former opinion which refers to the parties inhabiting a common room, being strangers to one another.

The observation made would imply that we meant that the parties must be persons previously unacquainted with one another. Our obvious intention was to distinguish lodgers promiscuously brought together from members of one family or household.

2nd. Whether lodging-houses otherwise coming within the definition, but let for a week or longer period, would from the latter circumstance be excluded from the operation of the Act.

We are of opinion that the period of letting is unimportant in determining whether a lodging-house comes under the Act now in question.

3rd. Who is to be considered the keeper of a common lodging-house where the owner letting the lodgings does not himself reside in the house.

We are of opinion that where he neither resides in the house nor exercises any control over its management, but simply receives the rents, he cannot be considered the keeper. It is clear that in such case he would not comply with the requirements of the 11th, 12th, and 13th sections of the Act. But where the owner, though not resident in the house either in person or through an agent, colourably or otherwise exercises control over its management, we have no doubt that he should be considered the keeper. A serious difficulty arises where the owner bonâ fide lets different parts of the house to different individuals, and these lessees take in lodgers of such a description as would in an ordinary case constitute the house a common lodging-house. The question which here arises is—Whether each apartment so used is to be considered a common lodging-house of which the lessee is the keeper.

It seems to us difficult to suppose that the Act which refers to common lodging-houses district of such authority, and the situation of every such house, and the number of lodgers authorised under this Act by such authority to be received therein. Secs. 76-78.

A copy of any entry in such register, certified by the clerk of the local authority to be a true copy, shall be received in all courts and on all occasions as evidence, and shall be sufficient proof of the matter registered, without production of the register or of any document or thing on which the entry is founded; and a certified copy of any such entry shall be supplied gratis by the clerk to any person applying at a reasonable time for the same.

77 (1). A person shall not keep a common lodging-house or receive a lodger therein unless the house is registered in accordance with the provisions of this Act, nor unless his name as the keeper thereof is entered in the register kept under this Act: Provided that when the person so registered dies, his widow or any member of his family may keep the house as a common lodging-house for not more than four weeks after his death without being registered as the keeper thereof.

All common lodging-houses to be registered, and to be kept only by registered keepers.

78 (2). A house shall not be registered as a common lodging-house until it has was intended to apply to single apartments, so that every room in a house might become a separate common lodging-house. On the other hand it is to be observed, that it is by the 2nd section provided that part of a house "if used as a common lodging-house" shall be included in the Act; and it is also true that both under the law relating to burglary, and also with reference to the exercise of franchises, the separate apartments of lodgers, where the landlord did not reside, have been held to be dwelling-houses.

Considering, therefore, that apartments thus let and occupied are especially within the mischief intended to be remedied by the Act, we think that an attempt should be made to treat them as common lodging-houses, and to enforce the provisions of the Act with respect to them against the tenants who thus admit lodgers.

At the same time we feel bound to say we entertain considerable doubt as to the result.

(Signed) A. E. COCKBURN,
W. P. WOOD.

In Langdon v. Broadbent, 37 L. T. N. S. 434, it was held that a lodging-house where hawkers, bone gatherers, chair menders, and persons of that class—of an itinerant character, making no long stay—though one person had stayed for two years and the majority for a few weeks, paying sixpence a night, and all taking their meals in a common room or kitchen, was held to be a common lodging-house. Grove, J., in giving judgment, said it was not necessary to show that the lodgers herded together in one sleeping apartment, and Lindley, J., said, "if one looks to sections 86 and 89 of the Act, it is evident that the kind of house that is meant is one that is open to all comers, and therefore requires supervision in order to insure cleanliness."

The landlord of a house, all the rooms of which were let out in tenements by the week at rents less than three shillings per week, although he did not reside upon the premises, has been held to be the keeper of a common lodging-house within the Dublin Improvement Act, 1864, s. 24: Halligan v. Ganly, 19 L. T. N. S. 268.

Evidence as to family in proceedings.

Conviction for third offence to disqualify persons from keeping common lodging-house.

Interpretation of "common lodging-house."

Local Government Board may empower local authority to make bye-laws as to lodging-houses.

87 ⁽¹⁾. In any proceedings under the provisions of this Act relating to common lodging-houses, if the inmates of any house or part of a house allege that they are members of the same family, the burden of proving such allegation shall lie on the persons making it.

88 ⁽²⁾. Where the keeper of a common lodging-house is convicted of a third offence against any of the provisions of this Act relating to common lodging-houses, the Court before whom the conviction for such third offence takes place may, if it thinks fit, adjudge that he shall not at any time within five years after the conviction, or within such shorter period after the conviction as the Court thinks fit, keep a common lodging-house without the previous license in writing of the local authority, which license the local authority may withhold or grant on such terms and conditions as they think fit.

89 ⁽³⁾. For the purposes of this Act the expression "common lodging-house" includes, in any case in which only part of a house is used as a common lodging-house, the part so used of such house.

Bye-laws as to Houses let in Lodgings.

90 ⁽⁴⁾. The Local Government Board may, if they think fit, by notice published in the London Gazette, declare the following enactment to be in force within the district or any part of the district of any local authority, and from and after the publication of such notice such authority shall be empowered to make bye-laws ⁽⁵⁾ for the following matters; (that is to say,)

- (1.) For fixing and from time to time varying the number of persons who may occupy a house or part of a house which is let in lodgings or occupied by members of more than one family ⁽⁶⁾, and for the separation of the sexes in a house so let or occupied ⁽⁷⁾;
- (2.) For the registration of houses so let or occupied;
- (3.) For the inspection of such houses;
- (4.) For enforcing drainage and the provision of privy accommodation for such houses, and for promoting cleanliness and ventilation in such houses ⁽⁸⁾:

⁽¹⁾ The previous enactment was the Sanitary Act, 1866, 29 & 30 Vict. c. 90, s. 41.

The expression "family" is not defined in the Act. The following remarks were made by Lord Coleridge, C.J., in delivering judgment in Liskeard Union v. Liskeard Waterworks Co., L. R. 7 Q. B. D. 505, at p. 509 (where a question was raised as to the meaning of the expression in the Liskeard Waterworks Act, 1860, 23 Vict. c. XIII. s. 33): "I do not intend to define the expression 'one family.' Every large family is partly made up of persons quite unconnected by ties of blood or marriage, and the number of those so connected may bear a very small proportion to the whole number of persons collected together, as, for instance, in the case of a school, where a number of persons of different families are collected from different places, but under one head and one roof, and are for all practical purposes one family."

⁽²⁾ The previous enactment was the Common Lodging Houses Act, 1853, 16 & 17 Vict. c. 41, s. 12.

See the provision in case of two convictions for overcrowding, section 109, post.

⁽³⁾ The previous enactment was the Common Lodging Houses Act, 1851, 14 & 15 Vict. c. 28, s. 2.

⁽⁵⁾ As to the authentication, confirmation, enforcing, &c., of bye-laws, and generally, see sections 182-188, post.

⁽⁷⁾ As to overcrowding, see further section 91 ⁽⁵⁾ post, p. 89, and section 109, post, p. 99.

As to power to make bye-laws for securing the ventilation of buildings, see section 157 ⁽³⁾ post, p. 129.

- (5.) For the cleansing and lime-washing at stated times of the premises, and for the paving of the courts and courtyards thereof ⁽¹⁾: Secs. 90, 91.
- (6.) For the giving of notices and the taking of precautions in case of any infectious disease ⁽²⁾.

This section shall not apply to common lodging-houses within the provisions of this Act relating to common lodging-houses ⁽³⁾.

NUISANCES ⁽⁵⁾.

⁽⁵⁾ By section 111, post, p. 100, it is enacted that the provisions of this Act relating to nuisances (i.e., sections 91—110) shall be deemed to be in addition to and not to abridge or affect any right, remedy or proceeding under any other provisions of the Act, or under any other Act or at law or in equity. Provisions relating to nuisances not to affect other remedies.

Nuisance (nocumentum or annoyance, fr. nuire, to hurt), signifies anything that worketh hurt, inconvenience or damage. Nuisance is of two kinds; such as is public or common, which affects the public and is an annoyance to all the lieges, which belongs to the class of public wrongs or crimes and may be the subject of an indictment; and such as is private, which may be defined as anything done to the hurt or annoyance of the hereditaments of another whereby he suffers more than the public at large, but which does not amount to a trespass thereon. See Benjamin v. Storr, L. R. 9 C. P. 400. Definition of nuisance. Public. Private.

If a man builds a house so close to mine that his roof overhangs my roof and the water flows off his roof upon mine, this is a nuisance for which an action will lie. FitzH. Nat. Brev. 184. So if the boughs of his tree are allowed to grow so as to overhang my land, which they had not been accustomed to do: Norris v. Baker, 1 Roll. Rep. 393. If a person keeps his hogs or other noisome animals so near the house of another previously built and inhabited that the stench of them incommodes him and makes the air unwholesome, this is a nuisance: Aldred’s case, 9 Rep. 58; R. v. White, 1 Burr. 337. So if any offensive trade be set up and exercised, as a tanner’s, tallow-chandler’s, brick maker’s or the like: Morley v. Pragnel, Cro. Car. 510; and see Stockport Waterworks Co. v. Potter, 7 H. & N. 160, 31 L. J. Ex. 9, 7 Jur. N. S. 880; Crump v. Lambert, L. R. 3 Eq. 409, 15 L. T. N. S. 600, 15 W. R. 417, affirmed on appeal, 17 L. T. N. S. 133. And if one erects a smelting house so near the land of another that the vapour and smoke kill the corn and grass or damage the cattle, it is a nuisance: 1 Roll. Abr. 89. And it may be laid down generally that if one does any act, in itself lawful, which yet being done where it is done necessarily tends to damage the land of another, it is a nuisance; for it is incumbent on him to find some other place to do that act, where it will be less offensive, the rule being sic utere tuo ut alienum non lædas. A nuisance may arise by an omission to perform a legal duty, as where one is bound to scour a ditch, and omits to do so. But depriving one of a mere matter of pleasure, as of a fine prospect by building a wall, or opening a window so as to disturb a neighbour’s privacy, is not an actionable nuisance, for such conduct does not abridge anything really necessary or convenient; it is, therefore, no injury to the sufferer: Aldred’s case, supra; Butt v. Imperial Gas Co., L. R. 2 Ch. App. 158, 16 L. T. N. S. 820. As to vibration consequent upon the use of a railway authorised by Parliament, see Hammer- Private nuisances.

Sec. 91. smith Ry. v. Brand, L. R. 4 H. L. Ca. 171, 38 L. J. Q. B. 265, 21 L. T. N. S. 238, 18 W. R. 12. A private nuisance may also be caused by interfering with the enjoyment of an incorporeal hereditament, as by stopping or diverting the flow of waters: FitzH. Nat. Brev. 184, and see ante, pp. 70—73; or by obstructing or interfering with the use of a right of way or by putting logs across or ploughing over the way: Ibid. 183.

Remedies in case of private nuisance.

The party injured by a nuisance may (1) by action recover a satisfaction in damages for the injury sustained. He has also (2) the right to abate the nuisance by his own act, so as he commits no riot in the doing of it, nor occasions any damage beyond what the abatement necessarily requires: 3 Steph. Com., 8th ed., p. 246. And in certain cases (3) an injunction may be obtained to stay the nuisance or compel its abatement by the wrongdoer.

Public or common nuisances.

A common nuisance is an offence against public convenience and the economical regimen of the State, and it consists in either doing a thing to the annoyance of all the lieges, or neglecting to do some good which the common welfare requires: 4 Steph. Conv., p. 244, 8th ed.; Hawk. P. C. b. 1, c. 32 (4), s. 1. Common nuisances are of the class of misdemeanours, and are distinguished from private nuisances as being a grievance to the community at large and not merely to particular persons. Of the nature of common nuisances are: 1. Annoyances in highways or bridges by actual obstructions or by want of reparations by those upon whom lies an obligation to repair. 2. Carrying on any offensive or dangerous trade or manufacture. To support an indictment for such nuisances it is not necessary to prove that they are offensive to health, if they be manifestly offensive to the senses: R. v. Neil, 2 C. & P. 485. 3. Exposing in a public thoroughfare a person infected with contagious disease: R. v. Vantandillo, 4 M. & S. 73. 4. All disorderly inns or other houses, bawdy houses, gaming houses, unlicensed or improperly conducted playhouses and the like, are either at common law or by statute public nuisances. See as to public nuisances and proceedings to restrain, Soltau v. De Held, 2 Sim. N. S. 133. Further as to nuisances generally, see Stephen's Commentaries, 8th ed., vol. iii., pp. 415 et seq., and vol. iv., pp. 244 et seq., from which the above statement is taken; Gibbons on Nuisances; Addison on Torts, pp. 332 et seq., 5th ed., and Russell on Crimes, vol. i., pp. 418 et seq., 5th ed.

What are nuisances within the Act.

As already stated, the Act does not abridge or affect any of the rights or remedies given by any other statute, or at law or in equity, but makes additional provision for getting rid of the several nuisances specified in section 91. It is not necessary that a nuisance should be absolutely injurious to health in order to constitute a nuisance within the meaning of section 91. It is enough if the nuisance, though not absolutely injurious to health, is one which would interfere with the permanent comfort of those in the neighbourhood, and might probably become injurious to health: Bishop Auckland Local Board v. Bishop Auckland Iron Co., L. R. 10 Q. B. D. 138, 52 L. J. M. C. 38, 48 L. J. N. S. 223, 31 W. R. 288; "I am of the same opinion as I then was (viz. in Malton Board v. Malton Manure Co., post, p. 101), that the words 'nuisance, or injurious to health,' do not mean 'nuisance injurious to health.' That is obviously not their natural meaning, and I object, unless compelled, to give words a meaning which is different from their obvious natural one. The natural sense of the words seems to me the best one to apply in the present case, i.e., a nuisance either interfering with personal comfort or injurious to health:" Ibid., per Stephen, J. In this case it was held that quantities of cinders and ashes accumulated upon the defendant's premises from which were thrown off strong fumes or effluvia so as to be a nuisance to certain of the inhabitants of the district, but which the justices found as a fact were not injurious to health, constituted a nuisance within the meaning of section 91, sub-section 4; and see per Stephen, J. in Malton Board v. Malton Manure Co., post, p. 101, and Banbury Sanitary Authority v. Page, ante, p. 67. In Great Western Ry. (app.) v. Bishop (resp.), L. R. 7 Q. B. 550, 41 L. J. M. C. 120, 26 L. T. N. S. 905, 20 W. R. 969, it was decided under the Nuisances Removal Act, 1855, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 121, s. 8, that the appellants, who were the owners of a railway bridge over a highway upon which water collected and dripped through the planks on to the highway, were not liable for allowing a nuisance to exist on their premises, as the nuisance was not injurious to health. But see this case distinguished as to the present Act, per Stephen, J., in Bishop Auckland Board v. Bishop Auckland Iron Co., supra.

As to the use of headings of different portions of a statute to determine the sense of

1. Any premises ⁽¹⁾ in such a state as to be a nuisance or injurious to health ⁽²⁾: Sec. 91.
 2. Any pool, ditch, gutter, watercourse, privy, urinal, cesspool, drain ⁽³⁾, or ashpit so foul or in such a state as to be a nuisance or injurious to health ⁽⁴⁾:
 3. Any animal so kept as to be a nuisance or injurious to health ⁽⁵⁾:
 4. Any accumulation or deposit which is a nuisance or injurious to health ⁽⁶⁾:
 5. Any house ⁽⁷⁾ or part of a house so overcrowded as to be dangerous or injurious to the health of the inmates, whether or not members of the same family ⁽⁸⁾:

doubtful expressions on sections raised under them, see Hammersmith Ry. v. Brand, ante, p. 48.

Local authorities in performing their statutory duties will not be allowed to create a nuisance, unless it is clear that the Legislature intended to give them that power: Metropolitan Asylum District v. Hill, L. R. 6 App. Cas. 193, 50 L. J. Q. B. 353, 44 L. T. N. S. 653, 29 W. R. 617, and the cases there referred to, and see ante, pp. 53 and 54; see also A.-G. v. Acton Local Board, ante, p. 54. The burthen lies on those who seek to establish that the Legislature intended to take away the private rights of individuals, to show that by express words or by necessary implication, such an intention appears: Met. Asylum Bd. v. Hill, supra, per Lord Blackburn; but a local authority is not liable for merely permitting a nuisance to continue which was previously in existence: see A.-G. Dorking Union, ante, p. 56.

As to ships lying within district or river adjoining district of local authority, see section 110, post, p. 99.

⁽²⁾ See Bishop Auckland Bd. v. Bishop Auckland Iron Co., supra, and Gt. W. Ry. v. Bishop, supra. Where a stableman kept dung accumulating so that the neighbouring inhabitants had to shut their windows, he was held liable to be convicted under a local Act, which imposed a penalty on offensive matter being kept so as to be a nuisance: Smith v. Waghorn, 27 J. P. 744. "The justices seem to have gone on the notion that because the defendant kept a stable, the dung and stench were necessary consequences, and must be tolerated. I cannot agree with that. A dunghill may, or may not, be a nuisance, according to the way in which it is kept. If the dung is kept accumulating so long that a stench arises, and annoyance to the neighbouring inhabitants, then I think the case comes within the enactment:" Per Cockburn, C.J., ibid.

It had been decided under the Sanitary Act, 1866, that it was immaterial whether or not the overcrowding was caused by the same family: Rye Union v. Page, 44 L. J. M. C.

Sec. 91.

6. Any factory, workshop, or workplace (not already under the operation of any general Act for the regulation of factories or bakehouses ⁽¹⁾), not kept in a cleanly state, or not ventilated in such a manner as to render harmless as far as practicable any gases, vapours, dust, or other impurities generated in the course of the work carried on therein that are a nuisance or injurious to health ⁽²⁾, or so overcrowded while work is carried on as to be dangerous or injurious to the health of those employed therein ⁽³⁾:

7. Any fireplace or furnace which does not, as far as practicable, consume the smoke arising from the combustible used therein, and which is used for working engines by steam, or in any mill, factory, dyehouse, brewery, bakehouse, or gaswork, or in any manufacturing or trade process whatsoever; and

Any chimney (not being the chimney of a private dwelling-house) sending forth black smoke in such quantity as to be a nuisance ⁽⁴⁾, shall be deemed to be nuisances liable to be dealt with summarily in manner provided by this Act ⁽⁵⁾: Provided—

First. That a penalty shall not be imposed on any person in respect of any accumulation or deposit necessary for the effectual carrying on any business or manufacture, if it be proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the accumulation or deposit has not been kept longer than is necessary for the purposes of the business or manufacture, and that the best available means have been taken for preventing injury thereby to the public health ⁽⁶⁾:

Secondly. That where a person is summoned before any Court in respect of a nuisance arising from a fireplace or furnace which does not consume the smoke arising from the combustible used in such fireplace or furnace, the Court shall hold that no nuisance is created within the meaning of this

⁽²⁾ As to the meaning of these words, see the note ante, p. 88.

⁽⁴⁾ Under the corresponding provision in section 19 of the Sanitary Act, 1866, it was expressly decided that it need not be shown that the smoke is injurious to health: Gaskell v. Bayley, 30 L. T. N. S. 516, 38 J. P. 805. And see now Bishop Auckland Board v. Bishop Auckland Iron Co., and the note, ante, p. 88.

An order may be made against the occupier of the premises if the person causing the smoke to issue was his servant: Barnes v. Ackroyd, L. R. 7 Q. B. 474, 41 L. J. M. C. 110, 26 L. T. N. S. 692, 20 W. R. 671. See further the note to section 94, post, p. 92.

Where an order for abatement or of prohibition has been made, each daily emission of smoke subsequently is a separate act of disobedience, for which a separate summons may be issued, and separate penalties and sets of costs imposed in respect of each separate conviction: R. v. Waterhouse, L. R. 7 Q. B. 545, 41 L. J. M. C. 115, 26 L. T. N. S. 761, 20 W. R. 712. See also Higgins v. Northwich Union, 22 L. T. N. S. 752. But where, under the previous enactments (see note ante, p. 87), an order for abatement and also an order of prohibition were made, and afterwards black smoke was emitted, it was held that there could not be two convictions in respect of the same emission of smoke, one in respect of each order: Eddleston v. Barnes, L. R. 1 Ex. D. 67, 45 L. J. M. C. 73, 34 L. T. N. S. 497.

See the saving clause in respect of mines, &c., section 334.

⁽⁵⁾ See sections 94 et seq.

⁽⁶⁾ The means taken must be “the best available.” It is not enough to show that the means used are the same as those used by others in the neighbourhood: Scholefield v Schunk, 19 J. P. 84.

Act, and dismiss the complaint, if it is satisfied that such fireplace or furnace is constructed in such manner as to consume as far as practicable, having regard to the nature of the manufacture or trade, all smoke arising therefrom, and that such fireplace or furnace has been carefully attended to by the person having the charge thereof ⁽¹⁾.

Secs. 91-93.

92 ⁽²⁾. It shall be the duty of every local authority to cause to be made from time to time inspection of their district, with a view to ascertain what nuisances exist calling for abatement under the powers of this Act, and to enforce the provisions of this Act in order to abate the same; also to enforce the provisions of any Act in force within their district requiring fireplaces and furnaces to consume their own smoke ⁽³⁾.

Duty of local authority to inspect district for detection of nuisances.

93 ⁽⁴⁾. Information of any nuisance under this Act, in the district of any local authority, may be given to such local authority by any person aggrieved thereby, or by any two inhabitant householders of such district, or by any officer of such authority ⁽⁵⁾, or by the relieving officer, or by any constable or officer of the police force of such district.

Information of nuisances to local authority.

By the Coal Mines Regulation Act, 1872, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 76, s. 41, and the Metalliferous Mines Regulation Act, 1872, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 77, s. 13, it is provided that any shaft or side entrance to an abandoned mine which is not fenced as required by those sections, and is within fifty yards of any highway, road, footpath, or place of public resort, or is in open or unenclosed land, shall be deemed to be a nuisance within the meaning of the Nuisances Removal Act as amended by the Sanitary Act, 1866 (now this section of the present Act). ⁽³⁾ The appellants were possessed of chemical works, and were entitled to discharge refuse by two separate drains into a public sewer. By one drain liquid impregnated with muriatic acid was discharged, and by the other liquid impregnated with sulphur. Upon their combination in the sewer, sulphuretted hydrogen gas was produced, which escaped in sufficient quantities to be injurious to the public health. No nuisance existed in the appellant's drains. The respondents had not properly flushed, cleansed and trapped the sewer, though bound to do so by a local Act. Complaint having been made by the respondents of the escape of the sulphuretted hydrogen gas, an order for the abatement thereof was made by justices upon the appellants. Held, that the escape of sulphuretted hydrogen gas from the sewer was a nuisance within the Nuisances Removal Act, 1855 (see note ⁽⁴⁾, ante, p. 87), and that it arose from the act of the appellants, and that the respondents could lawfully make complaint thereof, though they themselves might have contributed to the existence of the nuisance: *St. Helen's Chemical Co. Sec. 94.

Local authority to serve notice requiring abatement of nuisance.

94 (1). On the receipt of any information respecting the existence of a nuisance, the local authority shall, if satisfied of the existence of a nuisance, serve a notice (2) on the person by whose act, default, or sufferance the nuisance arises or continues (3), or, if such person cannot be found, on the owner (4) or occupier

(1) The previous enactment was the Sanitary Act, 1866, 29 & 30 Vict. c. 90, s. 21.

(2) See the form of notice given in Schedule IV. Form A., post; and as to service, &c., see sections 266, 267, post.

(3) See St. Helen's Chemical Co. (app.) v. Corporation of St. Helen's (resp.), ante, p. 91, where the appellants were held to be persons by whose act, &c., the nuisance arose. See also Barnes v. Ackroyd, ante, p. 90. So the owner of a market, who allowed sheep to be penned there, was held liable to have an order made upon him in respect of a nuisance created by the droppings of the sheep on the part where they were penned, as being the person by whose act, &c., the nuisance arose: Draper (app.) v. Sperring (resp.), 10 C. B. N. S. 113, 30 L. J. M. C. 225, 4 L. T. N. S. 365; and in the case of Margate Pier and Harbour Co. (app.) v. Margate Local Board (resp.), 20 L. T. N. S., it was held that the appellants, in whom was vested the harbour of Margate, were liable to have an order made upon them in respect of a quantity of seaweed, which by the action of the sea drifted into the harbour, and being left there became a nuisance. In Brown (app.) v. Russell (resp.), Francomb (app.) v. Freeman (resp.), L. R. 3 Q. B. 251, 37 L. J. M. C. 65, 18 L. T. N. S. 19, 32 J. P. 196, 9 Best & S. 2, the appellants were respectively held to be liable under the following circumstances:—Brown drained his premises into a barrel-drain which received the sewage of other premises, and passed under a turnpike road for about 300 yards; the sewage was thence conveyed by an open drain through land not Brown's, and ultimately into an open drain about half a mile from Brown's premises by the side of a road on land not Brown's; this open drain was a nuisance, the matter from Brown's premises being sufficient to create a nuisance. An order upon Brown to abate the nuisance by cutting off all communication from his premises to the barrel-drain was held good. In the second case, Francomb was the owner of six houses let to tenants; he had constructed a drain from the houses under land not his own by leave of the owner, by which sewage was conveyed into and along a water-course, and the accumulation at the mouth of the drain was a nuisance. It is immaterial whether the persons causing the nuisance have a legal right to cause their sewage to flow in the given channel: Ibid. Again, in Hendon Union v. Bowles, 20 L. T. N. S. 609, where, in consequence of the overflow of sewage from the premises of the respondent and the premises of other persons, it ran some distance to the premises of a third party, where it accumulated and constituted a nuisance, though it was no nuisance while upon the premises of the respondent and the others, and only became so on those of the third person, it was held that an order might be made upon each party whose sewage contributed to cause the nuisance, and that the justices should ascertain whether the discharge from the respondent's premises was sufficient to cause a nuisance, and make an order accordingly. Where a landowner, under whose land, but without his consent, a sewer had been made and used for two years to carry on the sewage of several houses, stopped up the sewer and thereby caused a nuisance, though not on his own land, he was held to be a person, &c., by whose act, &c., a nuisance arose, and liable to be convicted under sections 94 and 96: Riddell v. Spear, 40 L. T. N. S. 130. See further Mayor of Scarborough v. Scarborough Rural Sanitary Authority, post, p. 94. As to liability of landlord, who lets premises for a definite purpose, for any nuisance that arises naturally and of necessity from the use of such premises, see Harris v. James, 35 L. T. N. S. 240.

(4) Defined ante, p. 45. Where the tenant of a house and shop for twenty-one years at a rack rent occupied the shop himself and sub-let the upper part of the house to a yearly tenant, the upper part being shut off from the shop and the first tenant having no access to it, it was held that the agent, who received the rent from the tenant of the house and shop as agent for his landlord, was not the "owner" in respect of the upper part of the house, where a nuisance existed arising from a defective construction of a structural convenience, inasmuch as the agent did not receive the rent from the sub-tenant who was the occupier of the part where the nuisance arose: Cook v. Montague, L. R. 7 Q. B. 418, 41 L. J. M. C. 149 26 L. T. N. S. 471, 20 W. R. 624.

of the premises on which the nuisance arises ⁽¹⁾ requiring him to abate the same within a time to be specified in the notice, and to execute such works and do such things as may be necessary for that purpose ⁽²⁾: Provided—

First. That where the nuisance arises from the want or defective construction of any structural convenience, or where there is no occupier of the premises, notice under this section shall be served on the owner:

Secondly. That where the person causing the nuisance cannot be found, and it is clear that the nuisance does not arise or continue by the act, default or sufferance of the owner or occupier of the premises, the local authority may themselves abate the same without further order.

95 ⁽³⁾. If the person on whom a notice to abate a nuisance has been served makes default in complying with any of the requisitions thereof within the time specified, or if the nuisance, although abated since the service of the notice is, in the opinion of the local authority, likely to recur on the same premises, the local authority shall cause a complaint relating to such nuisance to be made before a justice, and such justice shall thereupon issue a summons ⁽⁴⁾ requiring the person on whom the notice was served to appear before a Court of Summary Jurisdiction ⁽⁵⁾.

On non-compliance with notice complaint to be made to justice.

Russell, supra.*

⁽²⁾ See Ex parte Whitchurch and Ex parte Saunders, post, p. 94, as to what the notice may require to be done.

As to proceedings where the nuisance appears to be wholly or partially caused by two or more persons, see section 255, post, p. 184. If the nuisance is caused by the joint contribution of different persons in such a way as that the contribution of each would not in itself cause a nuisance, it is doubtful whether, if the amount contributed by each is not in itself sufficient, proceedings can be taken against each person who contributes: Brown v. Russell, supra, and see Hendon Union v. Bowles, ante, p. 92.

Proceedings may be taken under the Act though the persons causing the nuisance have a legal right to do so as against those on whose premises it exists: Brown v. Russell, supra, and see St. Helen's Chemical Co. v. St. Helen's Corporation, supra.

As to duty of local authority to inspect district for detection of nuisances, see section 92, ante.

⁽⁶⁾ The previous enactment was the Nuisances Removal Act, 1855, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 121, s. 13. The power to impose a penalty is new. Under the previous enactment a penalty could only be imposed such as is provided by section 98 of this Act, viz., a penalty for contravention of the order of abatement, &c.

See the form of order in Schedule IV., Form C., post, p. .

Under this section the Court has power merely to order the nuisance to be abated or to prohibit its recurrence, and order the necessary works for these purposes to be done, but they cannot order any particular things to be erected. Therefore, where a privy and ashpit being in such a state as to be a nuisance, a local authority gave notice to the owner to abate the same, and for that purpose to fill up the ashpit, abandon the privy and build a pail closet, and the Court, upon failure to do so by the owner, ordered him to fill up the ashpit, abandon the privy, and construct a proper and sufficient pail closet

Immaterial whether persons causing nuisance have legal right to do so as against persons on whose premises it exists.

Secs. 99, 97. abated it is likely to recur on the same premises, the Court shall make an order on such person requiring him to comply with all or any of the requisitions of the notice, or otherwise to abate the nuisance within a time specified in the order, and to do any works necessary for that purpose; or an order prohibiting the recurrence of the nuisance and directing the execution of any works necessary to prevent the recurrence; or an order both requiring abatement and prohibiting the recurrence of the nuisance.

The Court may by their order impose a penalty not exceeding £5 on the person on whom the order is made, and shall also give directions as to the payment of all costs incurred up to the time of the hearing or making the order for abatement or prohibition of the nuisance.

in lieu thereof, it was held, upon a rule for a certiorari to quash the order, that the order was bad, as the Court had no power under this section to order the erection of the pail closet: Ex parte Whitchurch, L. R. 6 Q. B. D. 545, 50 L. J. M. C. 41, 29 W. R. 507, 45 J. P. 392. But in Ex parte Saunders, L. R. 11 Q. B. D. 191, 52 L. J. M. C. 89, 31 W. R. 918, 47 J. P. 584, where a watercloset in the centre of a house was a nuisance, it was held that the justices had jurisdiction to make an order, in pursuance of a notice by the Local Board to that effect, to remove the closet from the centre of the house and to place the same near an outer wall where there might be efficient ventilation, and to fix the soil-pipe outside the walls; and Ex parte Whitchurch, supra, was distinguished on the ground that that case ordered a particular kind of closet to be erected where none existed before, while in this case the order was for the removal of an already existing closet to a place where it would no longer be a nuisance. If there is any deficiency of construction, proceedings must be taken under section 36, ante. See Ex parte Liverpool Corporation, 8 E. & B. 537, 27 L. J. M. C. 89, 4 Jur. N. S. 333.

made where its performance would

The Court cannot order the person by whose act, &c., a nuisance is caused to exist upon the land of another to abate the nuisance and to execute all necessary works for the purpose, where he is not the occupier of the premises where the nuisance exists and has no power or authority to enter on the premises for any purpose whatsoever, for it prescribes an act the execution of which might involve the committal of a trespass: R. v. Trimble, 36 L. T. N. S. 508; S. C. sub. nom. R. v. Cumberland, 41 J. P. 277; Mayor of Scarborough v. Rural Authority of Scarborough, L. R. 1 Ex. D. 344, 34 L. J. N. S. 768.

But the Court may under these circumstances make an order prohibiting a recurrence of the nuisance: Ibid. But see Riddell v. Spear, supra, and see per Mellor, J., in Brown v. Bussell, supra.

The fact that the local authority aided the perpetration of the nuisance by omitting to perform their own duties does not prevent them from taking proceedings: St. Helen's Chemical Co. v. Corporation of St. Helen's, supra.

Marshall*, L. R. 5 C. P. D. 481 (C. A.), 50 L. J. C. P. 24, 42 L. T. N. S. 793, 29 W. R. 148, 44 J. P. 584; Rawlins v. Briggs, L. R. 3 C. P. D. 368, 47 L. J. C. P. 487, 27 W. nuisance under this Act ⁽¹⁾ may be sold by public auction; and the money arising from the sale may be retained by the local authority, and applied in payment of the expenses incurred by them with reference to such nuisance, and the surplus (if any) shall be paid, on demand, to the owner of such matter or thing ⁽²⁾.

102 ⁽³⁾. The local authority, or any of their officers, shall be admitted into any premises for the purpose of examining as to the existence of any nuisance thereon, or of enforcing the provisions of any Act in force within the district requiring fireplaces and furnaces to consume their own smoke, at any time between the hours of nine in the forenoon and six in the afternoon, or in the case of a nuisance arising in respect of any business, then at any hour when such business is in progress or is usually carried on.

Where under this Act a nuisance has been ascertained to exist, or an order of abatement or prohibition has been made ⁽⁴⁾, the local authority or any of their officers shall be admitted from time to time into the premises between the hours aforesaid, until the nuisance is abated, or the works ordered to be done are completed, as the case may be.

Where an order of abatement or prohibition has not been complied with, or has been infringed, the local authority, or any of their officers, shall be admitted from time to time at all reasonable hours, or at all hours during which business is in progress or is usually carried on, into the premises where the nuisance exists, in order to abate the same.

If admission to premises for any of the purposes of this section is refused, any justice on complaint thereof on oath by any officer of the local authority (made after reasonable notice in writing of the intention to make the same ⁽⁵⁾) has been given to the person having custody of the premises), may, by order under his hand, require the person having custody of the premises to admit the local authority, or their officer, into the premises during the hours aforesaid, and if no person having custody of the premises can be found, the justice shall on oath made before him of that fact, by order under his hand, authorise the local authority or any of their officers to enter such premises during the hours aforesaid ⁽⁶⁾.

Any order made by a justice for admission of the local authority or any of their officers on premises shall continue in force until the nuisance has been abated, or the work for which the entry was necessary has been done.

It will be observed that there are three distinct purposes mentioned in the section for which admission to premises may be required, viz., (1) to examine as to existence of any nuisance, and to enforce provisions of Acts as to consumption by furnaces, &c., of their own smoke; (2) to examine whether nuisance ascertained to exist has been abated, or works ordered have been executed; and (3) for purpose of local authority, &c., themselves abating a nuisance. If admission is refused, an entrance cannot be enforced without obtaining the order of a justice as provided by the section, and an injunction may be obtained in the High Court to restrain the local authority from entering without such previous order of a justice: Tinkler v. Wandsworth District Board, 2 De G. & J. 261, 27 L. J. Ch. 342, 4 Jur. N. S. 293, 22 J. P. 223.

103 (1). Any person who refuses to obey an order of a justice for admission of the local authority or any of their officers on any premises shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds. Secs. 103, 104.

104 (2). All reasonable costs and expenses incurred in making a complaint, or giving notice, or in obtaining any order of the court or any justice in relation to a nuisance under this Act, or in carrying the same into effect, shall be deemed to be money paid for the use and at the request of the person on whom the order is made; or if the order is made on the local authority, or if no order is made, but the nuisance is proved to have existed when the complaint was made or the notice given, then of the person by whose act or default the nuisance was caused; and in case of nuisances caused by the act or default of the owner (3) of premises, such costs and expenses may be recovered from any person who is for the time being owner of such premises (4): Provided that such costs and expenses shall not exceed in the whole one year's rackrent (5) of the premises. Penalty for disobedience of order.
Costs and expenses of execution of provisions relating to nuisances.

Such costs and expenses, and any penalties incurred in relation to any such nuisance, may be recovered in a summary manner, or in any county or superior Court; and the Court shall have power to divide costs, expenses, and penalties between persons by whose acts or defaults a nuisance is caused, as to it may seem just (6).

Any costs and expenses recoverable under this section by a local authority from an owner of premises may be recovered from the occupier for the time being of such premises (4); and the owner shall allow such occupier to deduct any moneys which he pays under this enactment out of the rent from time to time becoming due in respect of the said premises, as if the same had been actually paid to such owner as part of such rent:

Provided, that no such occupier shall be required to pay any further sum than the amount of rent for the time being due from him, or which, after demand of such costs or expenses from such occupier, and after notice not to pay his landlord any rent without first deducting the amount of such costs or expenses, becomes payable by such occupier, unless he refuses, on application to him by the local authority, truly to disclose the amount of his rent and the name and address of

This omission is now supplied by the above words.

Under the 77th and 96th sections of the Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1862, which made certain paving expenses recoverable by the vestry by action from the present or any future owner of premises, or from any person who then or thereafter occupies the premises, it has been held that a judgment recovered against a former owner, and unsatisfied, is no bar to an action against a succeeding owner or person occupying as his tenant: *Vestry of Bermondsey v. Complaint may be made to a justice of the existence of a nuisance under this Act on any premises within the district of any local authority by any person aggrieved thereby, or by any inhabitant of such district, or by any owner ⁽³⁾ of premises within such district, and thereupon the like proceedings shall be had with the like incidents and consequences as to making of orders, penalties for disobedience of orders, appeal, and otherwise, as in the case of a complaint relating to a nuisance made to a justice by the local authority ⁽⁴⁾:

Provided that the Court may, if it thinks fit, adjourn the hearing or further hearing of the summons for an examination of the premises where the nuisance is alleged to exist, and may authorise the entry into such premises of any constable or other person for the purposes of such examination:

Provided also, that the Court may authorise any constable or other person to do all necessary acts for executing an order made under this section, and to recover the expenses from the person on whom the order is made in a summary manner ⁽⁵⁾.

Any constable or other person authorised under this section shall have the like powers and be subject to the like restrictions as if he were an officer of the local authority authorised under the provisions of this Act relating to nuisances to enter any premises and do any acts thereon.

Power of officer of police to proceed in certain cases against nuisances.

106 ⁽⁶⁾. Where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Local Government Board that a local authority have made default in doing their duty in relation to nuisances under this Act, the Local Government Board may authorise any officer of police acting within the district of the defaulting authority to institute any proceeding which the defaulting authority might institute with respect to such nuisances, and such officer may recover in a summary manner, or in any county or superior

But such officer of police shall not be at liberty to enter any house or part of a house used as the dwelling of any person without such person's consent, or without the warrant of a justice, for the purpose of carrying into effect this enactment.

107 ⁽¹⁾. Any local authority may, if in their opinion summary proceedings would afford an inadequate remedy, cause any proceedings to be taken against any person in any superior Court of law or equity ⁽²⁾ to enforce the abatement or prohibition of any nuisance under this Act, or for the recovery of any penalties from or for the punishment of any persons offending against the provisions of this Act relating to nuisances, and may order the expenses of and incident to all such proceedings, to be paid out of the fund or rate applicable by them to the general purposes of this Act ⁽³⁾.

Local authority may take proceedings in superior court for abatement of nuisances.

108 ⁽⁴⁾. Where a nuisance under this Act within the district of a local authority appears to be wholly or partially caused by some act or default committed or taking place without their district, the local authority may take or cause to be taken against any person in respect of such act or default any proceedings in relation to nuisances by this Act authorised, with the same incidents and consequences, as if such act or default were committed or took place wholly within their district; so, however, that summary proceedings shall in no case be taken otherwise than before a Court having jurisdiction in the district where the act or default is alleged to be committed or take place.

Power to proceed where cause of nuisance arises without district.

This section shall extend to the metropolis⁽⁵⁾ so far as to authorise proceedings to be taken under it by any nuisance authority in the metropolis in respect of any nuisance within the area of their jurisdiction caused by an act or default committed or taking place within the district of a local authority under this Act; or, by any such local authority in respect of any nuisance within their district caused by an act or default committed or taking place within the jurisdiction of any such nuisance authority.

In this section "nuisance authority" means the local authority in the metropolis for the execution of the Nuisances Removal Act for England, 1855, and the Acts amending the same ⁽⁶⁾.

109 ⁽⁷⁾. Where two convictions against the provisions of any Act relating to the overcrowding of a house have taken place within a period of three months (whether the persons convicted were or were not the same) a Court of Summary Jurisdiction may, on the application of the local authority of the district in which the house is situated, direct the closing of the house for such period as the Court may deem necessary.

⁽⁶⁾ These Acts are not repealed by this Act "so far as relates to the metropolis." See Schedule V., Part I., post.

⁽⁷⁾ The previous enactment was the Sanitary Act, 1866, 29 & 30 Vict. c. 90, s. 36.

⁽⁸⁾ The first paragraph of this section down to the words "within such district," and the two last paragraphs, correspond with section 32 of the previous enactment, viz., the Sanitary Act, 1866, 29 & 30 Vict. c. 90, and the remaining portion of the first paragraph corresponds with section 30 of that Act. This last section contained the words "or boat" in addition to the words "ship" and "vessel." Section 32 of the previous enact-

Secs. 110—112.—any ship or vessel lying in any river, harbour, or other water within the district of a local authority shall be subject to the jurisdiction of that authority in the same manner as if it were a house within such district; and any ship or vessel lying in any river, harbour or other water not within the district of a local authority shall be deemed to be within the district of such local authority as may be prescribed by the Local Government Board, and where no local authority has been prescribed, then of the local authority whose district nearest adjoins the place where such ship or vessel is lying.

The master or other officer in charge of any such ship or vessel shall be deemed for the purpose of the said provisions to be the occupier of such ship or vessel.

This section shall not apply to any ship or vessel under the command or charge of any officer bearing Her Majesty's commission, or to any ship or vessel belonging to any foreign government.

Provisions of Act relating to nuisances not to affect other remedies.

111. The provisions of this Act relating to nuisances shall be deemed to be in addition to and not to abridge or affect any right, remedy or proceeding under any other provisions of this Act or under any other Act, or at law or in equity:

Provided that no person shall be punished for the same offence both under the provisions of this Act relating to nuisances, and under any other law or enactment ⁽¹⁾.

OFFENSIVE TRADES.

Restriction on establishment of offensive trade in urban district.

112 (2). Any person who, after the passing of this Act, establishes ⁽³⁾ within the district of an urban authority ⁽⁴⁾, without their consent in writing, any offensive trade; that is to say, the trade of—

Bone boiler, or

Fellmonger, or Any other noxious or offensive trade, business, or manufacture ⁽⁵⁾, ment exempted ships, &c., "belonging to Her Majesty." Now the exemption only applies to ships, &c., "under the command or charge of any officer, &c."

As to the meaning of "ship," see The Mac, L. R. 7 P. D. 38.

As to removal of person suffering from infectious disorder on board ship, see section 124, post, p. 105. See also sections 125 and 134, post, pp. 106 and 109. And as to port sanitary authorities, see sections 287 et seq., post.

⁽²⁾ The previous enactment was the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 62, s. 64. That section included in its enumeration of offensive trades that of "slaughterer of cattle, horses, or animals of any description," which is dealt with specially by the present Act, sections 169, 170, post.

⁽⁴⁾ As to rural authorities, see section 276, post.

⁽⁵⁾ The trade must be one analogous to those specifically mentioned so as to come within these general words: Wanstead Board v. Hill, 32 L. J. M. C. 135, 13 C. B. N. S. 479, 7 L. T. N. S. 744, 11 W. R. 368, 9 Jur. N. S. 972. There it was held that brick making is not necessarily "a noxious or offensive trade, &c." It may be carried on so as shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding £50 in respect of the establishment thereof, and any person carrying on a business so established shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding 40s. for every day on which the offence is continued, whether there has or has not been any conviction in respect of the establishment thereof ⁽¹⁾.

113 ⁽²⁾. Any urban authority may from time to time make bye-laws with respect to any offensive trades established with their consent either before or after the passing of this Act, in order to prevent or diminish the noxious or injurious effects thereof.

114 ⁽³⁾. Where any candle-house, melting-house, melting-place, or soap-house, or any slaughter-house, or any building or place for boiling offal or blood, or for boiling, burning, or crushing bones, or any manufactory, building, or place, used for any trade, business, process, or manufacture, causing effluvia, is certified to any urban authority by their medical officer of health, or by any two legally qualified medical practitioners ⁽⁴⁾, or by any ten inhabitants of the district of such urban authority, to be a nuisance or injurious to the health ⁽⁵⁾ of any of the inhabitants of the district, such urban authority shall direct complaint to be made before a to be no annoyance. "As observed by the Lord Chief Justice, all the trades specifically mentioned in the section involve the collection of large quantities of animal matter, which, however the operation may be carried on, must by putrefaction be a nuisance to the neighbourhood. But that is not the case with brick-making, and the general words of the section must be controlled by the specific words which precede them." Per Willes, J., ibid.

The trade of a manure manufacturer is not necessarily or as a matter of law an offensive trade. It is a question of fact for the justices, which must depend on the evidence whether in point of fact it is offensive: Cardell (app.) v. New Quay Board (resp.), 39 J. P. 742.

A rag and bone shop which the justices have found as a matter of fact to be a noxious business is ejusdem generis with the trades specified, and within the section: Passey v. Oxford Board, 43 J. P. 622.

Although a trade or business may not come within the above section, it may yet amount to a private nuisance, for which the person injured may have his remedy. See per Williams, J., Wanstead Board v. Hill, ante, p. 100, and section 114, infra. And see the provisions as to "nuisances," sections 91 et seq., and the notes ante, pp. 87 et seq.

As to alkali works, see 26 & 27 Vict. c. 134, post. As to manufacture, &c., of gunpowder and other explosive substances, see 37 & 38 Vict. c. 17, post. As to storing, &c., petroleum, see 34 & 35 Vict. c. 105, post. And as to bakehouses, see ante, p. 90.

As to recovery of penalty, see sections 251 et seq., post.

⁽²⁾ The previous enactment was the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 64. See the general provisions as to bye-laws, sections 182 et seq., post.

⁽³⁾ The previous enactments were the Nuisances Removal Act, 1855, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 121, ss. 27 and 30, and the Sanitary Act, 1866, 29 & 30 Vict. c. 90, s. 18.

⁽⁴⁾ See the note ⁽²⁾ to section 191, post, p. 152.

⁽⁵⁾ The effluvia caused by a trade, &c., are injurious to health if, though not injurious to persons in sound health, they cause sick persons to become worse: Malton Board v. Malton Manure Co., L. R. 4 Ex. D. 302, 49 L. J. M. C. 90, 40 L. T. N. S. 755, 27 W. R. 802, 44 J. P. 155. In this case the trade was the manufacture of artificial manures (including bone manures and the dissolving of bones and coprolites with sulphuric acid, but not the boiling or burning of bones). But in order to bring a case within this section it is not necessary to prove that the nuisance causes injury to health; it is enough if the nuisance is one diminishing comfort: Per Stephen, J., ibid. See now Bishop Auckland Board v. Bishop Auckland Iron Co., ante, p. 88. As to the meaning of "nuisance," see the note ante, p. 87.

Secs. 114— justice, who may summon the person by or on whose behalf the trade so complained of is carried on to appear before a Court of Summary Jurisdiction ⁽¹⁾.

The Court shall inquire into the complaint, and if it appears to the Court that the business carried on by the person complained of is a nuisance ⁽¹⁾, or causes any effluvia which is a nuisance or injurious to the health of any of the inhabitants of the district, and unless it be shown that such person has used the best practicable means for abating such nuisance, or preventing or counteracting such effluvia, the person so offending (being the owner or occupier of the premises, or being a foreman or other person employed by such owner or occupier) shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds nor less than forty shillings, and on a second and any subsequent conviction to a penalty double the amount of the penalty imposed for the last preceding conviction, but the highest amount of such penalty shall not in any case exceed the sum of two hundred pounds ⁽²⁾:

Provided, that the Court may suspend its final determination on condition that the person complained of undertakes to adopt, within a reasonable time, such means as the Court may deem to be practicable and order to be carried into effect for abating such nuisance, or mitigating or preventing the injurious effects of such effluvia, or if such person gives notice of appeal to the Court of Quarter Sessions in manner provided by this Act ⁽³⁾.

Any urban authority may, if they think fit, on such certificate as is in this section mentioned, cause to be taken any proceedings in any superior Court of law or equity ⁽⁴⁾ against any person in respect of the matters alleged in such certificate.

Power to proceed where nuisance arises from offensive trade carried on without district.

115 ⁽⁵⁾. Where any house, building, manufactory, or place which is certified in pursuance of the last preceding section to be a nuisance or injurious to the health of any of the inhabitants of the district of an urban authority is situated without such district, such urban authority may take or cause to be taken any proceedings by that section authorised in respect of the matters alleged in the certificate, with the same incidents and consequences, as if the house, building, manufactory, or place were situated within such district; so, however, that summary proceedings shall not in any case be had otherwise than before a Court having jurisdiction in the district where the house, building, manufactory, or place is situated.

This section shall extend to the metropolis so as to authorise proceedings to be taken under it by any nuisance authority in the metropolis in respect of any house, building, manufactory, or place which is certified as aforesaid to be a nuisance or injurious to the health of any of the inhabitants within the area of their jurisdiction, and is situated within the district of a local authority under this Act; or by any urban authority in respect of any house, building, manufactory, or place which is certified as aforesaid to be a nuisance or injurious to the health of any of the inhabitants of their district, and is situated within the jurisdiction of any such nuisance authority.

In this section "nuisance authority" means the local authority in the metropolis for the execution of the Nuisances Removal Act for England, 1855, and the Acts amending the same.

Power of justice to order destruction of unsound meat, &c.

⁽¹⁾ There is nothing to qualify the generality of the term "place" in this section. See Young v. Gratridge, L. R. 4 Q. B. 166, 38 L. J. M. C. 67. See also Daly v. Webb, infra.

⁽²⁾ The "animal, carcase, meat, &c.," must be seized by the medical officer of health or inspector of nuisances while exposed or deposited for sale in order to render a person liable to a penalty under the next section. Hence, where a butcher exposed unsound meat for sale, which was purchased and taken away by the purchaser, who three days afterwards gave it up to the inspector of nuisances, by whom it was taken away, and afterwards condemned by a justice, and ordered to be destroyed, it was held that the butcher could not be rightly convicted under the next section, as the meat must be seized while exposed for sale: Vinter v. Hind, L. R. 10 Q. B. D. 63, 52 L. J. M. C. 93, 48 L. T. N. S. 359, 31 W. R. 198, 46 J. P. 756.

The "animal, carcase, meat, &c.," may be taken ex parte by the medical officer or inspector before a justice and condemned without any summons or notice to the person to whom it belongs. The medical officer or inspector must be satisfied that the article is exposed for sale, or deposited, &c., and intended for the food of man, and all the justice has to do is to inspect the article, and if satisfied that it is diseased or unsound, &c., he is to condemn it, and order it to be destroyed. Afterwards, upon a summons taken out in the ordinary way, a conviction may be had under the next section: White v. Redfern, L. R. 5 Q. B. D. 15, 49 L. J. M. C. 19, 41 L. T. N. S. 524, 28 W. R. 168. (Gill v. Bright, 41 L. J. M. C. 22, and Cooper v. Wandsworth Board, 32 L. J. C. P. 185, are distinguishable.) It would seem that if the goods be erroneously condemned and destroyed compensation may be obtained under section 308, post: Ibid.

To expose for sale, or to have possession of with intent to sell, things for human food, meat, &c., unfit for human food, is a nuisance at common law, and a bye-law imposing a penalty upon persons in possession of unsound meat, &c., with intent to sell the same, made in pursuance of a power to make bye-laws for the suppression and prevention of all such nuisances as are not punishable in a summary manner by virtue of any Act in force in a borough, was held good: Shillito v. Thompson, L. R. 1 Q. B. D. 12, 45 L. J. M. C. 18, 33 L. T. N. S. 506, 24 W. R. 57.

In the case of Daly (app.) v. Webb (resp.), 4 Ir. Rep. Com. Law, 309, 18 W. R. 631, it was held that diseased meat placed upon a cart in charge of the servant of the appellant, and seized by an inspector of nuisances while passing along the streets of a city from a slaughterhouse to a place for the preparation of preserved meats, was "exposed for sale," or "deposited for the purposes of sale or preparation for sale," and "intended for the food of man," and that the appellant was properly committed.

119 ⁽⁴⁾. (2) The previous enactment was the Diseases Prevention Act, 1855, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 116, ss. 5, 6, 11.

(3) "Epidemic" is defined to be "a disease which attacks at the same time a number of individuals and which is referred to some particular constitutio aeris, or condition of the atmosphere (influence or constitution) with which we are utterly ignorant. It differs from endemic, the latter being owing to locality; but it is obvious that should a particular epidemic constitution of the air (epidemicity, épidémicité (F.)) exist along with a favouring endemic condition, these combined influences may act in the causation of several of those serious and fatal complaints which at times visit a district and are never afterwards met with, or at least not until after the lapse of a considerable period."—Dunglisson's Dictionary of Medical Science, 1876, sub. verb "épidemy."

"A disease is said to be 'endemic,' endémique (F.), or to arise from endemicity (endémicité (F.)) when it is owing to some peculiarity in a situation or locality. Thus ague is endemic in marshy countries; goitre at the base of lofty mountains, &c. Some authors use the term in the same sense as epidemic. We have no accurate knowledge of the emanations or other circumstances which give occasion to endemic affections. We seem to know that some emanation from marshy lands does produce intermittents; but we are ignorant of the nature of such emanation."—Dunglisson, ut supra, sub. verb "endemic."

Instead of "infectious" the word "contagious" was used in the previous enactment. "Contagion" is "the transmission of a disease from one person to another by direct or indirect contact. . . . Contagious diseases are produced either by a virus, contagium, capable of causing them by inoculation, as in small pox, cow pox, hydrophobia, syphilis, &c., or by miasmata proceeding from a sick individual, as in plague, typhus gravior, and in measles and scarlatina (?). . . . Physicians are, indeed, by no means unanimous in deciding what diseases are contagious and what not. The contagion of plague and typhus, especially of the latter, is denied by many. It seems probable that a disease may be contagious under certain circumstances and not under others. A case of common fever, arising from common causes, as from cold, if the patient be kept in a close, foul situation, may be converted into a disease capable of producing emanations which may excite a similar disease in those exposed to them. Contagion and infection are generally esteemed synonymous. Frequently, however, the former is applied to diseases not produced by contact, as measles, scarlet fever (?), &c., while infection is used for those that require positive contact, as itch, syphilis, &c., and conversely."—Dunglisson, ut supra.

It will be observed that the section is confined to cases of "formidable" epidemic, &c., disease.

Powers of surveyors of highways and of vestries under 5 & 6 W. 4. c. 50, vested in urban authority.

Powers, &c., of Secretary of State transferred to Local Government Board. Rural authorities.

The provisions in this part of the Act (sections 144—172) do not apply to rural authorities. But by sections 271, 272, post, rural districts or parts of rural districts may, in certain cases and under certain conditions, be formed into local government districts; and by 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, s. 41, post, where any parish or part of a parish included in a highway district adopts the Local Government Act, such parish or part shall cease to form part of such district, subject to the payment of contributions due to the Highway Board. But by 26 & 27 Vict. c. 17, s. 6, where any local government district or other place is surrounded by or adjoins a highway district under the Highway Acts, such first mentioned district, &c., shall be within the highway district for the purpose of any highway meetings. 145 ⁽²⁾. The inhabitants within any urban district shall not in respect of any property situated therein be liable to the payment of highway rate or other payment, not being a toll, in respect of making or repairing roads or highways without such district ⁽³⁾: Provided, that any person who, in any place after the passing of this Act, ceases under or by virtue of any provision of this Act, or of Greenhalgh*, L. R. 9 Q. B. 487. It is otherwise where the contractor does part of the work only, as where he does the labour at so much a yard and the surveyor supplies the stones and materials: Pendlebury v. Greenhalgh, L. By 34 & 35 Vict. c. 115, s. 17, it is provided that the "trustees or commissioners of a turnpike trust about to expire shall not sell any toll house, or the site thereof, or any part of the site, or any part of any garden or land belonging thereto, without giving notice in writing not later than two months before the expiration of such trust to the highway authority, on which an order might, under the provisions of the Act of the session of the fourth and fifth years in the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter fifty nine, or the Annual Turnpike Acts Continuance Act, 1863, be made for contribution to the repair of such road where it adjoins the said premises; and such authority, if of opinion that the road would be improved by the addition thereto of such premises or any part thereof, may within one month of such notice require the trustees or commissioners to make such improvement, and it shall be incumbent on such trustees or commissioners to give effect to such requisition; provided that if the trustees or commissioners feel aggrieved at such requisition they may appeal to the general or quarter sessions having jurisdiction in the place wherein such premises are situated at the next Court held not less than fifteen days after the receipt of such requisition; the appellants shall within seven days after receipt of such requisition give a notice in writing to the highway authority of their intention to appeal; the Court may adjourn the appeal, and at the hearing thereof may make such order in the matter, and also such order as to costs to be paid by either party, as the Court thinks just. No order made in pursuance of this section shall be quashed for want of form, or be removed by certiorari or otherwise into any superior Court. And now, by 38 & 39 Vict. c. xciv. s. 9, the above notice "may be given at any time within two years and not later than two months before the expiration of the trust; provided that in case of any such sale it shall be incumbent upon the trustees or commissioners to make such arrangements as may be necessary in order to secure for themselves, their lessees or servants, the occupation of any toll house so sold until the expiration of the trust."

(2) As to the meaning of "street," see the interpretation clause, ante, p. 45.

"The words of this section vest the property in the street; and the street does not include the houses by the side of the street; it includes the space between the houses which is used as the footway and roadway. It comprises a depth which enables the urban authority to do

authority.

The urban authority shall from time to time cause all such streets to be levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, altered and repaired as occasion may require; they may from time to time cause the soil of any such street to be raised, lowered or altered as they may think fit, and may place and keep in repair fences and posts for the safety of foot passengers ⁽³⁾.

that which is done in every street, namely, to raise the street and lay down sewers, for, at the present day, there can be no street in a town without sewers, and also for the purpose of laying down gas and water pipes. 'Street,' therefore, in my opinion includes the surface and so much of the depth as may be not unfairly used as streets are used; it does not include such a depth as would carry with it the right to mines, neither would 'street' include any buildings which happen to be built over the land, because that is not part of the street within the meaning of such an Act as this. If the enactment gives the Local Board that property in so much of the land, it gives them the absolute property in everything growing on the surface of the land. The legislature have, because the right of owners to the soil in a 'street' is of so little value, intentionally taken away that right, and have given it to the extent I have mentioned to the Local Board:" Per Brett, L. J., in Coverdale v. Charlton, infra.

A street which has been dedicated and used, but has not been repairable by the parish as provided by 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 50, may nevertheless still be a highway: Roberts v. Hunt, 15 Q. B. 17; R. v. Dayman, 26 L. J. M. C. 129.

(2) By section 144, ante, p. 113, the powers of surveyors of highways and of vestries, under 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 50, are vested in the urban authority.

Section 149 vests in the urban authority not merely such rights over the surface as are necessarily incidental to the use of the highway, but vests the property in the street, and they can dispose of it to a third person, so as to enable him to maintain trespass: Coverdale v. Charlton, L. R. 4 Q. B. D. 104, 48 L. J. Q. B. 128, 40 L. T. N. S. 88, 27 W. R. 257.

"Vested" means vested sub modo, not necessarily giving a right to the soil: Bagshaw v. Buxton Local Board, L. R. 1 Ch. D. 220, 45 L. J. Ch. 260, 34 L. T. N. S. 112, 24 W. R. 231, per Jessel, M. R.; and see the citation from the judgment of Brett, L. J., supra.

By the Highways and Locomotives Amendment Act, 1878, section 27, post, it is expressly provided that, notwithstanding this section, all mines and minerals shall belong to the person who would otherwise be entitled to them. This provision would seem to be made ex abundante cautela. See per Cotton, L. J., in Rolls v. Vestry of St. George, infra.

It has been decided under a similar section (section 96) in the Metropolis Local Management Act, 1855 (18 & 19 Vict. c. 120), by which the streets are vested in the vestry, that streets are only vested in the vestry so long as they are highways, and that when they cease to be highways, by being legally stopped up or diverted, the interest of the vestry determines: Rolls v. Vestry of St. George, Southwark, L. R. 14 Ch. D. 785, 49 L. J. Ch. 691, 43 L. T. N. S. 140, 28 W. R. 867.

Compare section 13, ante, p. 52, which vests sewers, &c, in the local authority, and see note ⁽⁶⁾ thereto.

Ordinarily the freehold of the highway belongs to the owner of the freehold of the soil, Lade v. Shepherd, 2 Str. 1004, who is entitled to the trees upon it and mines under it, 1 Burr. 143, and may maintain trespass or ejectment: Stevens v. Whistler, 11 East, 51, and has been held entitled to an injunction to restrain a stranger from laying down pipes there: Goodson v. Richardson, L. R. 9 Ch. 221. See further the notes to section 5 of the Highway Act, 1835, post, and see Dovaston v. Pdyne, and the notes thereto, in Smith's Leading Cases, Vol. 2.

As to obstructions of highways, see the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, post.

(3) As to sewerage, levelling, &c., private streets, see the next section.

The local authority are not liable in an action for injuries occasioned by their

Any person who, without the consent of the urban authority, wilfully displaces or takes up, or who injures the pavement, stones, materials, fences or posts of, or the trees in any such street, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and to a further penalty not exceeding five shillings for every square foot of pavement, stones or other materials so displaced, taken up or injured: he shall also be liable in the case of any injury to trees to pay to the local authority such amount of compensation as the Court may award ⁽¹⁾.

Secs. 149,

150 (2). Where any street ⁽³⁾ within any urban district (not being a highway) non-feasance or non-repair of the highway. The remedy for non-repair is by indictment. Power to streets.

As to powers of the local authority to obtain materials for the repair of roads, see the Highway Act, 1835, 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 50, ss. 46—57, and notes thereto, post.

Where a roadway and the houses abutting on it had subsided simultaneously in consequence of mining operations underneath, and the local authority raised the roadway, it being reasonably necessary to do so in order to put the road in a proper state for traffic, it was held that the owners, who were obliged to raise their houses (which had been constructed to allow of their doing so) simultaneously with the raising of the roadway, could not maintain an action of trespass against the local authority, that the owners had no right to have the roadway maintained at the level to which it had subsided, and that they had no claim to compensation under section 308, post, as the works were not done by the local authority "in the exercise of any of the powers" of the Act, but in pursuance of powers transferred to them by the Act, viz, the powers of surveyors of highways: Burgess v. Northwich Local Board, L. R. 6 Q. B. D. 264, 50 L. J. Q. B. 219, 44 L. T. N. S. 154, 29 W. R. 931. But see R. v. Wallasey Local Board, post, p. 122.

Where a Local Board having raised a footpath by the side of a road thereby prevented water which fell upon a space between the plaintiff's warehouse and the road from draining into the road, and caused injury to the plaintiff's goods, a mandatory injunction to prevent the board from allowing the water to remain dammed up so as to injure the plaintiff was granted, the evil being capable of easy remedy, and the case not one for compensation: Milward v. Redditch Board, 21 W. R. 429, Weekly Notes, 1873, p. 39.

The section does not make it obligatory on the authority to place posts or rails by the side of ancient footpaths where none have existed before: Wilson v. Mayor, &c., Halifax, L. R. 3 Ex. 114, 37 L. J. Ex. 44, 17 L. T. N. S. 660, 16 W. R. 707.

(1) As to the summary recovery of penalties, &c., see section 251 et seq., post.

Where the owner and occupier of premises abutting on a highway conveyed heavy goods therefrom across a flagged footway, and crushed the paving stones (he having been prevented by the vestry from conveying the goods by means of rollers and levers, and his application for leave to take up the pavement and make a carriage way having been refused) it was held that he could not be convicted under 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 50, s. 72, post, as the provisions of this latter Act and of the Metropolis Management Act (which gives to vestries similar powers to those given to the urban authority by the present Act) so far as they apply to roads and streets are subordinate to the paramount rights reserved by the owner, who may enjoy all rights consistent with the dedication: Vestry of St. Mary, Newington v. Jacobs, L. R. 7 Q. B. 47, 41 L. J. M. C. 72, 25 L. T. N. S. 800, 20 W. R. 249.

It is an indictable offence to dig trenches in a highway without Parliamentary powers: R. v. Langton Gas Co., 2 E. & E. 651, R. v. Train, 2 B. & S. 640, R. v. Electric Telegraph Co., 31 L. J. M. C. 166.

As to powers of urban authority with regard to obstructions in streets, see s. 160 (2), post.

(2) The previous enactments were the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 69, the Local Government Act, 1858, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 38, the Local Government Act (1858) Amendment Act, 1861, 24 & 25 Vict. c. 16, ss. 16 and 17.

(3) As to the meaning of the word "street," see the interpretation clause ante, p. 45, and note (2) to section 149 ante, p. 117, and see Mackett v. Herne Bay Commissioners, ante, p. 115.

Whether or not a road is a street is a question of fact for the justices, and they are not way repairable by the inhabitants at large ⁽¹⁾) or the carriageway, footway, or any other part of such street is not sewered, levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and made good, or is not lighted to the satisfaction of the urban authority, such authority may, by notice ⁽²⁾ addressed to the respective bound to find that it is so by the terms of the definition in the interpretation clause: Maude v. Baildon Board, L. R. 10 Q. B. D. 394, 48 L. T. N. S. 874.

⁽¹⁾ As to what is a highway "repairable by the inhabitants at large," see the notes to section 5 of the Highway Act, 1835, post. By the Common Law the duty of repairing highways is cast upon the inhabitants; the parish is bound to repair any highways within it, whether ancient or modern, and an owner of land in the suburb of a town who allows the public to pass over his land, but who does not make a road at his own expense, nor propose to dedicate a highway to the public by notice under the 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 50, ss. 23, 62, post, nor undertake to keep the road in repair for twelve months, with a view of throwing the future care and expense of the highway on the surveyor and the general rate, is not liable to be compelled to sewer, level, pave, &c., the road: Healey v. Corporation of Batley, L. R. 19 Eq. 375, 44 L. J. Ch. 642. On the other hand, the mere setting out of an intended road, and allowing the public to traverse and use it, is not such an irrevocable act as that it will be held dedicated to the public; and the urban authority has no right to cast upon the lessee of the adjoining premises the expense of sewerage, &c., it; and they will be restrained from executing such works: Hall v. Bootle, 44 L. T. N. S. 873, 29 W. R. 862. But see Illingworth v. Montgomery, 2 L. T. N. S. 726; Thomas v. Williams, 24 J. P. 821.

The section does not apply to streets repairable or partly repairable by the parish, but only to those in no part repairable by the parish: Kingston-upon-Hull Local Board v. Jones, 1 H. & N. 489, 26 L. J. Ex. 33, 2 Jur. N. S. 1193. It does not give power to make new streets: Ibid.

An adjudication by justices, upon a summons by an urban authority, to recover from an adjoining owner his proportion of expenses incurred by them under this section, that the street is a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, and, therefore, that the owner is not liable, is not conclusive between the parties, so as to preclude the same justices from entertaining the question whether the street is a highway, &c., or not, as between the same parties in respect of similar expenses subsequently incurred: R. v. Hutchins, L. R. 6 Q. B. D. 300, 50 L. J. M. C. 35, 44 L. T. N. S. 364, 29 W. R. 724, 45 J. P. 504. But the owners are not required by the Act to raise any question as to their liability until their proportion of the cost of improving the street is settled. The proper time for doing so is when each owner is called upon for his share. If, when they are so called upon, they can prove that the street is a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, they ought not to be liable: Hesketh v. Atherton Local Board, L. R. 9 Q. B. 4, 43 L. J. M. C. 37, 29 L. T. N. S. 530. See R. v. Livesey, 22 L. T. N. S. 470, 34 J. P. 645; this case, however, turned upon the words of 26 & 27 Vict. c. 70, s. 10. But where an owner of premises upon whom a notice was served under this section, indorsed on the notice an authority to the urban authority to do the works, and an undertaking to pay the costs on completion, he was held to have thereby admitted the right of the authority to issue the notice, and to have waived all proof by them of the preliminaries to the notice, and made it incumbent on himself to disprove their original authority if he wished to do so: Lewis v. Cardiff Urban Authority, 47 L. J. M. C. 101.

⁽²⁾ See the form of notice Schedule IV., Form G., post; and as to notices and service thereof, see sections 266, 267, post.

Though the urban authority have executed the works they cannot recover from the owners their proportion of the expenses, unless this preliminary notice is proved to have been given: Jarrow Local Board v. Kennedy, L. R. 6 Q. B. 128, 19 W. R. 275.

Under the previous enactments (note ⁽²⁾ ante p. 119) a notice not specifying the particulars of the work required, but containing a statement at the foot of it that particulars of the necessary works might be obtained at the surveyor's office, was held good: Bayley v. Wilkinson, 16 C. B. N. S. 161, 33 L. J. M. C. 161, 10 L. T. N. S. 543, 10 Jur. N. S. 726.

A notice is not vitiated by reason that a portion of it is ultra vires—for instance, in requiring narrow strips of land, not forming part of the street, to be paved, &c., Hall v. Potter, 39 L. J. M. C. 1, 21 L. T. N. S. 454, 34 J. P. 515.

owners⁽¹⁾ or occupiers of the premises fronting, adjoining, or abutting on such parts thereof⁽²⁾ as may require to be sewered, levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, or channelled, or to be lighted, require them to sewer, level, pave, metal, flag,

(1) As to the meaning of "owner," see ante, p. 45.

The London School Board were held to be "owners" in respect of one of their school houses under a similar definition in the Metropolis Local Management Act, 1855: London School Board v. Vestry of St. Mary, L. R. 1 Q. B. D. 65, 45 L. J. M. C. 1, 33 L. T. N. S. 504, 24 W. R. 137. So, the trustees of a charity school were held the owners under the corresponding section in the previous enactments (note⁽²⁾ ante, p. 119): Bowditch v. Wakefield Local Board, L. R. 6 Q. B. 567, 40 L. J. M. C. 214, 25 L. T. N. S. 88; and see Lord Northbrook v. Plumstead Board, and Plumstead Board v. British Land Co., infra.

But the expenses of sewerage, &c., by the urban authority cannot be recovered summarily from a person who is not the owner when the works are completed, see R. v. Swindon in note to section 257, post.

As to the exemption of the incumbent or minister of a church or chapel, see section 151, post.

(2) Houses fronting a street called York Place and adjoining or abutting at the rear upon a footpath at the end of a street called St. Julian Street, which formed a cul-de-sac, the ground at the back of the houses being five feet above the level of St. Julian Street and the wall being about twelve feet high on the outside, were held to "adjoin or abut," &c., on St. Julian Street, though there was no access from them to St. Julian Street: Newport Urban Authority v. Graham, L. R. 9 Q. B. D. 183, 47 L. T. N. S. 98, 31 W. R. 121.

In Great Eastern Ry. v. Hackney Board, L. R. 8 App. Cas. 687, 52 L. J. M. C. 105, 31 W. R. 769, it was held, reversing the decision of the Court of Appeal that the plaintiffs were not the owners of "premises fronting, adjoining, &c.," a road, which was carried over their line at a deep cutting upon a bridge supported on stone piers erected upon the slope of the cutting, in respect of the parapet walls on either side of the bridge. It would seem that the line and the slopes of the cuttings do not "front, adjoin, &c.," the road: London, Brighton and S. Coast Ry. v. Vestry St. Giles, L. R. 4 Ex. D. 239, 48 L. J. M. C. 186, 41 L. T. N. S. 162; and Great Eastern Ry. v. Hackney Board, supra, per Lords Blackburn and Watson. But see as to this, Hackney Board v. Vestry of St. Mary, supra. And where a railway was carried across a street by an arch, and on one side of the street, where the railway was carried forward on arches, there was a strip of land, ten feet wide, left open for the purpose of repairing the arches, which strip abutted for ten feet on the street and on the other side of the street, where the railway was carried forward on an embankment, the sloping part or buttress of the embankment abutted on the street about thirty-six feet, and at the foot of the embankment there was an open space about thirty-six feet wide also abutting on the street, it was held that the above pieces of land were "land bounding or abutting on the street:" Higgins v. Harding, L. R. 8 Q. B. 7, 42 L. J. M. C. 31, 27 L. T. N. S. 483, 21 W. R. 181.

Where the premises were divided from the street by a narrow stream, but, by two bridges over the stream, were connected with it, and by means of gates all communication could be effectually closed, the principal outlet from the premises being into another street, they were held (per Grove and Field, JJ.) to front and abut upon the first street, and by Cleasby, B., hesitating, to adjoin it, and, consequently, the owners to be liable to contribute to the expense of paving, &c., it: Wakefield Board v. Lee, L. R. 1 Ex. D. 336, 35 L. T. 481; see also the London School Board v. Vestry of St. Mary, ut supra, and Baddeley v. Gingell, 1 Ex. 319, 17 L. J. Ex. 63. The soil of private roads leading out of a street is land abutting, &c., upon the street and the "owner" is liable to contribute to the expenses of paving the street: Lord Northbrook v. Plumstead Board, L. R. 7 Q. B. 183, 41 L. J. M. C. 51. But it is otherwise where the roads have been irrevocably dedicated to the public: Plumstead Board v. British Land Co., L. R. 10 Q. B. 203; see Angell v. Vestry of Paddington, post, p. 125.

"The section does not impose the liability on the owners of premises fronting

Sec. 150. channel, or make good or to provide proper means for lighting the same within a time to be specified in such notice ⁽¹⁾.

Before giving such notice the urban authority shall cause plans and sections of any structural works intended to be executed under this section, and an estimate of the probable cost thereof, to be made under the direction of their surveyor, such plans and sections to be on a scale of not less than one inch for eighty-eight feet for a horizontal plan, and on a scale of not less than one inch for ten feet for a vertical section, and, in the case of a sewer, showing the depth of such sewer below the surface of the ground: such plans, sections and estimate shall be deposited in the office of the urban authority, and shall be open at all reasonable hours for the inspection of all persons interested therein, during the time specified in such notice; and a reference to such plans and sections in such notice shall be sufficient without requiring any copy of such plans and sections to be annexed to such notice ⁽²⁾.

If such notice is not complied with, the urban authority may, if they think fit, execute the works mentioned or referred to therein ⁽³⁾; and may recover in a summary manner the expenses incurred by them in so doing from the owners in default, according to the frontage of their respective premises, and in such proportion as is settled by the surveyor of the urban authority ⁽⁴⁾; or (in case of adjoining or abutting on 'such street' but on 'such parts thereof as require' repair. The meaning of this expression is to make the premises adjoining the part repaired liable." So where the footway on the one side only of a street was repaired, the whole cost was held to have been rightly apportioned among the owners and occupiers of premises on that side only: Wakefield Urban Authority v. Mander, L. R. 5 C. P. D. 248, 28 W. R. 922, 44 J. P. 522; Vestry of Mile End v. Whitechapel Union, L. R. 1 Q. B. D. 680, 45 L. J. M. C. 75, 34 L. T. N. S. 178, 24 W. R. 364 is distinguishable.

⁽¹⁾ Owners cannot be required under this section to raise the street to the level of other streets: Caley or Cary v. Kingston-upon-Hull Board, 5 B. & S. 815, 34 L. J. M. C. 7, 11 Jur. N. S. 171, 11 L. T. N. S. 339, 13 W. R. 143. See Brown v. Clegg, 16 Q. B. 681.

As to the powers of the urban authority for lighting their district, see ss. 161 et seq., post.

The Metropolis Local Management Act, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 112, contains an interpretation of the word "pave" for the purposes of that Act.

⁽²⁾ The provision requiring an estimate to be made is new. Under the previous enactments it was held to be unnecessary to do so: Cunningham v. Wolverhampton, 7 E. & B. 107, 26 L. J. M. C. 33.

See Bayley v. Wilkinson, ante, p. 120.

⁽³⁾ Where the urban authority, having served a notice upon the owners of premises fronting, &c., the street, in default of the owners doing so, proceed to execute the works, they are liable to make compensation under section 308, post, for any injury done by the execution of the works, even to an owner upon whom notice has been served; for instance, where access to his house is rendered more difficult: R. v. Wallasey Board, L. R. 4 Q. B. 351, 10 B. & S. 428, 38 L. J. Q. B. 217, 21 L. T. N. S. 90, 17 W. R. 766. As to non-liability of urban authority for injury done in repairing a highway repairable by the inhabitants, see ante, p. 114.

⁽⁴⁾ The expenses must be apportioned among the owners or occupiers of all premises fronting, adjoining, or abutting on the parts of the street repaired, whether the premises have direct access to the street or not, and in proportion to the linear frontage of the premises to the street irrespective of the width of the street: R. v. Newport Board, 3 B. & S. 341, 32 L. J. M. C. 97, 11 W. R. 263, 9 Jur. N. S. 746; and see Wakefield Urban Authority v. Mander, supra.

It has been decided under the Metropolitan Management Acts that where it has been resolved to repair the whole of a road, there must be but one apportionment on all the owners along the entire road, and that where the surveyor divided the road into four sections, and apportioned the cost of repairing each section amongst the owners in each section respectively, such apportionments were invalid, and could not be enforced: Whitchurch v. Board of Fulham District, L. R. 1 Q. B. 233, 35 L. J. M. C. 145, 12 Jur. N. S. 353, 14 W. R. 277. But where the one apportionment has been made upon a wrong principle, the surveyor may make a fresh apportionment: Cook v. Ipswich Board, L. R. 6 Q. B. 451, 40 L. J. M. C. 169, 24 L. T. N. S. 579, 19 W. R. 1079. Sec. 150.

Neither the justices nor the arbitrators in settling the apportionments can inquire whether the amount alleged to have been expended has been actually so expended by the surveyor: Ibid, and see Hesketh v. Atherton Board, L. R. 9 Q. B. 4, 43 L. J. M. C. 37, 29 L. T. N. S. 530.

The apportionment is binding and conclusive unless it be disputed within three months from the service of the notice of the amount, section 257, post. The apportionment is not a decision of the local authority within the meaning of section 268, post. The demand of payment by the urban authority from the owner is the only decision within that section: R. v. Local Government Board, L. R. 10 Q. B. D. 309, 52 L. J. M. C. 4. If the owner disputes the apportionment, then the urban authority are to appoint an arbitrator to settle it.

Where the notice of apportionment is met by a counter notice disputing the amount only, such demand may be the subject of arbitration, but where the counter notice disputes the liability to pay, such demand must be tried by justices, who, if the counter notice also disputes the amount, may exercise their jurisdiction as to the amount also: West v. Downman (V.-C. Bacon), infra. But query as to last proposition.

As to recovery of expenses in a summary manner, see sections 251 et seq. and section 257, post.

Where the expenses incurred by the board are partly in respect of work executed upon lands belonging to private owners which was shown upon the plans of the work intended to be executed, it was held that a certiorari would not lie to quash an order for payment made upon a frontager by a magistrate, who found, contrary to the fact, that the land belonging to the private owners formed part of the street: Semble, per Cave, J., the remedy was by appeal under section 268, post. Ex parte Wake, L. R. 11 Q. B. D. 291.

Where the urban authority have declared their intention to treat the expenses incurred by them as private improvement expenses they cannot afterwards proceed summarily: Gould v. Bacup Local Board, 50 L. J. M. C. 44, 44 L. T. N. S. 103, 29 W. R. 471, 45 J. P. 325.

After the three months allowed for disputing the apportionment have elapsed there must be a real demand made by the urban authority for payment of the owner's proportion, and the six months limited by section 252, post, run from this last demand: Simcox v. Handsworth Board, L. R. 8 Q. B. D. 39, 51 L. J. Q. B. 168, 30 W. R. 273. Gree v. Hunt, L. R. 2 Q. B. D. 389, 46 L. J. M. C. 202. See Jacomb v. Dodgson, 3 B. & S. 461, 32 L. J. M. C. 113, 7 L. T. N. S. 674, 11 W. R. 30, 9 Jur. N. S. 848.

In Wilson v. Mayor, &c., of Bolton, L. R. 7 Q. B. 105, 41 L. J. M. C. 4, 25 L. T. N. S. 597, it was held, under the previous enactments (note (?) ante, p. 119), that an account delivered on the day on which the apportionment was made to the owner, containing a notice that unless the amount of the account were paid within fourteen days after delivery interest would be charged thereon until fully liquidated, and then setting out the proportion of the expenses payable by the owner, this being the first notice of apportionment, was a demand upon the appellant, and that summary proceedings should be taken within nine months from the service of such notice. But now see Simcox v. Handsworth Board, supra.

Where the six months have elapsed and no proceedings have been taken before justices, the claim of the urban authority is barred, and they cannot prove in an administration of the owner's estate: West v. Downman, L. R. 14 Ch. D. 111, 42 L. T. N. S. 340, 29 W. R. 6 (C. A.).

But the limit of six months from service of notice of demand does not apply to enforcing instalments charged upon the land under section 257, post: Tottenham Board v. Rowell, L. R. 15 Ch. D. 378, 50 L. J. Ch. 99, 43 L. T. N. S. 615, 29 W. R. 36.

Neither the justices nor an arbitrator have power to inquire whether the amount alleged to have been expended has been actually expended. The only remedy is by appeal under section 268, post: Cook v. Ipswich Board, supra, and see Bayley v. Wilkinson, ante, p. 120. Nor can the justices inquire into the correctness of the apportionment: Hesketh v. Atherton, infra; and see Nesbitt v. Greenwich District Board, L. R. 10 Q. B. 465, 44 L. J. M. C. 119, 32 L. T. N. S. 762, 39 J. P. 582.

Secs. 150, 151. dispute) by arbitration in manner provided by this Act ⁽¹⁾; or the urban authority may by order declare the expenses so incurred to be private improvement expenses ⁽²⁾.

The same proceedings may be taken, and the same powers may be exercised, in respect of any street or road of which a part is or may be a public footpath or repairable by the inhabitants at large, as fully as if the whole of such street or road was a highway not repairable by the inhabitants at large.

church, &c.

151 ⁽³⁾. The incumbent or minister of any church, chapel or place appropriated to public religious worship, which is now by law exempt from rates for the relief of the poor ⁽⁴⁾, shall not be liable to any expenses under the last preceding section,

But the justices may inquire whether the street is a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large or not: Hesketh v. Atherton Board, L. R. 9 Q. B. 4, 43 L. J. M. C. 37, 29 L. T. N. S. 530.

As to the effect of an indorsement by the owner upon the original notice of an authority to the urban authority to do the work in proceedings before justices, see Lewis v. Cardiff Urban Authority, ante, p. 120.

As to restraining the urban authority from enforcing an order obtained from justices where an understanding had been come to that the order was to abide the result of a case stated for the opinion of the Queen's Bench Division in similar proceedings against a second owner of premises, but which case had not been in fact stated, see Ashworth v. Hebden Board, 47 L. Ch. 195, 37 L. N. S. 496.

As to agreements between landlord and tenant of premises, see section 226, post. Expenses incurred by an urban authority in 'sewerage, &c., a street under this section are a "charge upon the premises" or "upon a person in respect thereof" within the meaning of these phrases in a covenant by a tenant in a lease to pay rates, taxes and charges: Hartley v. Hudson, L. R. 4 C. P. D. 367, 48 L. J. C. P. 751.

As to appeal to Local Government Board, see section 268, and to Quarter Sessions, see section 269.

The arbitration is as to the proportion to be borne by the owner complaining only, and not as to whether the expenses are reasonable or properly incurred: Bayley v. Wilkinson, ante, p. 120.

⁽²⁾ As to private improvement expenses, see sections 213 et seq., post.

Where the original notice requiring the owners of premises to execute certain works to the street and stating that if not executed within a time fixed, the urban authority would proceed to execute the same, concluded thus—"And the said urban authority will thereupon also proceed to declare all costs, charges and expenses paid, expended or incurred by them in consequence of such neglect or default to be private improvement expenses and to enforce payment according to law," it was held that after this declaration of intention to treat the expenses as private improvement expenses, the urban authority could not proceed summarily: Gould v. Bacup Board, ante, p. 123. So, on the other hand, if the expenses be treated as a debt recoverable summarily, they cannot afterwards be treated as private improvement expenses: Wilson v. Mayor, &c., of Bolton, ante, p. 123. But under the previous enactments (note ⁽²⁾ p. 119) it was held that the election to treat expenses as private improvement expenses did not preclude the urban authority from enforcing the charge on the land (section 257, post) as by action against the executors of the owner of the premises: Tottenham Board v. Rowell, ante, p. 123. But the charge can only be enforced in respect of instalments in arrear: Ibid.

As to appeal to Local Government Board from decision of local authority, see section 268, post.

⁽³⁾ The previous enactment was the Local Government Act, 1858, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 38.

⁽⁴⁾ By 3 & 4 Will. IV. c. 30, "an Act to exempt from poor and church rates all churches, chapels and other places of religious worship," it is provided: Section 1—"That. . . no person or persons shall be rated or shall be liable to be rated or to pay to any church or poor rates or cesses for or in respect of any churches, district churches, chapels, meeting as the owner or occupier of such church, chapel or place or of any churchyard or burial ground attached thereto, nor shall any such expenses be deemed to be a charge on such church, chapel or other place, or on such churchyard or burial ground, or to subject the same to distress, execution or other legal process; and the urban authority may, if they think fit, undertake any works, from the expenses of which any such incumbent or minister is hereby exempted.

Secs. 151—153.

152 ⁽¹⁾. When any street ⁽²⁾ within any urban district, not being a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large ⁽²⁾, has been sewered, levelled, paved, flagged, metalled, channelled and made good, and provided with proper means of lighting to the satisfaction of the urban authority, such authority may, if they think fit, by notice in writing put up in any part of the street, declare the same to be a highway, and thereupon the same shall become a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large ⁽²⁾; and every such notice shall be entered among the proceedings of the urban authority.

Power to declare private streets when sewered, &c., to be highways.

Provided that no such street shall become a highway so repairable, if within one month after such notice has been put up the proprietor ⁽³⁾ or the majority in number of proprietors ⁽³⁾ of such street, by notice in writing to the urban authority, object thereto, and in ascertaining such majority joint proprietors shall be reckoned as one proprietor.

Provided always that no person or persons shall be hereby exempted from any such rates or cesses for or in respect of any parts of such churches, district churches, chapels, meeting houses or other premises which are not so exclusively appropriated and from which parts not so exclusively appropriated such person or persons shall receive any rent or rents or shall derive profit or advantage." Section 2—"Provided always and be it enacted that no person or persons shall be liable to any such rates or cesses because the said churches, district churches, chapels, meeting houses or other premises or any vestry rooms belonging thereto or any part thereof may be used for Sunday or infant schools or for the charitable education of the poor."

As to the dedication of a road as a highway, see the Highway Act, 1835, section 5, and notes thereto, and section 23, post.

Where a landowner gave notice to a local board of health, under the previous enactments, of his intention to dedicate a road as a highway, to which the board replied that they would not adopt the road, as it had not been sewered, levelled, &c., to their satisfaction, and the landowner then obtained and enrolled the certificate of two justices, under 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 50, s. 23, post, and the road was used by the public and kept in repair by the landowner for twelve months; after which, being out of repair, an indictment was preferred against the inhabitants of the parish, it was held that the inhabitants were not liable, as the road had not become a highway, for, assuming 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 50, s. 23, to apply to the case, the road had not been made to the satisfaction of the board, who were the surveyors (section 144, ante): R. v. Inhabitants of Dukinfield, 4 B. & S. 158, 32 L. J. M. C. 230.

That where under any local Act of Parliament the expenses of or connected with the raising, sinking, or otherwise altering the situation of any water or gas pipes, mains, plugs or other waterworks or gasworks, are directed to be borne by the owner of such pipes or works, his liability in that respect shall continue in the same manner and under the same conditions in all respects as if this Act had not been passed.

Power to purchase premises for improvement of streets.

Power to regulate line of buildings.

The urban authority shall pay or tender compensation to the owner or other person immediately interested in such house or building for any loss or damage he may sustain in consequence of his house or building being set back or forward, the

S. 747, it was held, under a local Act giving compulsory powers of taking lands for the purpose of forming a street, that the word "street" did not mean the mere roadway, but a thoroughfare with houses on both sides.

As to the powers of the authority to purchase lands, &c., see sections 175, 176, post.

The General Turnpike Act, 65 Geo. III. c. 51, which authorised the trustees of roads to "make, divert, shorten, vary, alter and improve the course or path" of the roads under their management, was held to thereby authorise them to lower hills and raise hollows: *Boulton v. 156 ⁽²⁾. It shall not be lawful in any urban district, without the written consent ⁽³⁾ of the urban authority, to bring forward any house ⁽⁴⁾ or building ⁽⁵⁾ forming part of any street ⁽⁶⁾, or any part thereof, beyond the front wall of the house or building on either side thereof, nor to build any addition thereto beyond the front of the house or building on either side of the same ⁽⁷⁾. Buildings not to be brought forward.

As to the power of the urban authority with regard to the line, &c., of new streets, see section 157, post.

Where the owner of a house deposited a plan of an intended new building on the site thereof, in accordance with a bye-law of the Local Government Board, and the local authority passed a resolution approving of the plan, and offering £40 for certain land thrown into the street by the owner, but he refused to accept the compensation and proceeded with the works, and pulled down the front of the house, it was held that the local authority, having approved of the plans, could not afterwards avail themselves of their powers under this section when the front was pulled down: Masters v. Pontypool Board, L. R. 9 Ch. D. 677, 47 L. J. Ch. 797.

The urban authority must prescribe the line in which the building must be erected, and must pay or tender compensation for the ground required by them, otherwise they cannot proceed against the owner, &c.: Brown v. Holyhead Board, 32 L. J. Ex. 25, 7 L. T. N. S. 332.

Where a committee to whom a Local Board had delegated their powers for the regulation of buildings, &c., had approved of plans for rebuilding a factory, it was held that the Local Board could not afterwards interfere with the erection of the factory according to the approved plans: *Slee v. ⁽³⁾ The consent must be in writing. Mere acquiescence on the part of the urban authority is not enough, and will not preclude them from proceeding against the person infringing the section: Kerr v. Corporation of Preston, L. R. 6 Ch. D. 463, 46 L. J. Ch. 409, 25 W. R. 265.

C. 453, it was held under the previous enactment (note ⁽²⁾ supra) that it is a question of fact whether the houses, &c., form a street or not, and that in order to constitute a street there must be a row of houses sufficiently continuous and sufficiently proximate to one another. "I think that a house or building forming part of any street within the meaning of section 156, must be a house or building forming part of a continuous, I do not mean necessarily physically continuous in every part, but a continuous line of building": Robinson v. Barton Board, L. R. 21 Ch. D. 621, 51 L. J. Ch. 467, per Fry, J. Seemle, a set of detached houses not being in a continuous line, but some facing one way and some another, and having no appearance of uniformity, is not a street within the meaning of the section: *R. v. Any person offending against this enactment shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for every day during which the offence is continued after written notice in this behalf from the urban authority.

157 (1). Every urban authority may make bye-laws with respect to the following matters ⁽²⁾; (that is to say,)

- (1.) With respect to the level, width, and construction of new streets, and the provisions for the sewerage thereof ⁽³⁾;
- (2.) With respect to the structure of walls, foundations, roofs, and chimneys of new buildings for securing stability and the prevention of fires, and for purposes of health ⁽⁴⁾.

penalty is applicable continues so long as the addition to the house is maintained after written notice from the urban authority, notwithstanding that the addition is completed before the notice is given, and a conviction may be had for continuing the offence, though more than six months has elapsed since the notice was given: Rumball v. Schmidt, L. R. 8 Q. B. D. 603, 46 L. T. N. S. 661, 30 W. R. 949, 46 J. P. 567; Marshall v. Smith, post, p. 129, is distinguishable. But a penalty cannot be incurred after the expiration of one year from the day when the offence was committed or the bye-law broken, in respect of any work begun or executed in contravention of any bye-law. See section 158, post.

(1) The previous enactments were the Local Government Act, 1858, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 34, and the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, 37 & 38 Vict. c. 89, s. 44.

(2) See the general provisions as to the making of bye-laws under the Act, ss. 182 et seq. And see the bye-laws under this section issued by the Local Government Board, post.

(3) Generally as to scope of this sub-section, see Robinson v. Barton-Eccles Board, L. R. 8 App. Cas. 798, 32 W. R. 249. "New streets" here is not confined to streets constructed for first time, but applies to an old highway, which has long been a street within section 4, ante, p. 45, but which by building of houses has recently become a new street in the popular sense: Ibid. But see Williams v. Powning, 48 L. T. N. S. 672. The sub-section applies to the buildings on the side of the street as well as to the roadway: Baker v. Mayor, &c., of Portsmouth, L. R. 3 Ex. D. 4 and 157 (C. A.), 47 L. J. Ex. 223, 289, 37 L. T. N. S. 822.

"Street" means something more than the roadway, that is to say the street with the houses: Ibid., per Huddleston, B. See the interpretation clause ante, p. 46.

"Width" means width of roadway, not width between houses on each side of the street: Robinson v. Barton-Eccles Board, supra.

Where a bye-law requiring every new street to be of a certain width is imperative, the urban authority cannot permit any deviation from the bye-law: A.-G. v. Folkestone, Weekly Notes, 1873, p. 127.

(4) The word "chimneys" is new.

By 3 & 4 Vict. c. 85, s. 6, it is "enacted that all withs and partitions between any chimney or flue which at any time after the passing of this Act shall be built or rebuilt shall be of brick or stone, and at least equal to half a brick in thickness, and every breast-back and with or partition of any chimney or flue hereafter to be built or rebuilt shall be built of sound materials, and the joints of the work well filled in with good mortar or cement, and rendered or stuccoed within; and also that every chimney or flue hereafter to be built or rebuilt in any wall, or of greater length than four feet out of the wall not being a circular chimney or flue twelve inches in diameter, shall in every section of the same be not less than fourteen inches by nine inches, and no chimney or flue shall be constructed with any angle therein which shall be less obtuse than an angle of one hundred and twenty degrees, except as hereinafter excepted, and every salient or projecting angle in any chimney or flue shall be rounded off four inches at the least, upon pain of forfeiture by every master builder or other master workman who shall make or cause to be made such chimney or flue of any sum not less than £10, not exceeding £50. Provided, nevertheless, that, notwithstanding this Act, chimneys or flues may be built at angles with each other of ninety degrees and more, such chimneys or flues having therein proper doors or openings not less than six inches square"; and in Hill v. Hall, L. R. 1 Ex. D. 411, 45 L. J. M. C. 150, 35 L. T. N. S. 860, it was decided that this provision was not impliedly repealed by the fact that a subsequent local Act made other provisions as to the construction of chimneys within the locality to which the Act applied.

As to "new buildings," see section 159, post.

In Hobbs v. Dance, L. R. 9 C. P. 30, 43 L. J. M. C. 21, 29 L. T. N. S. 687, 22 W. R. New building. 90, it was held under the previous enactment (note ⁽¹⁾, ante, p. 128) that a small building erected against the wall of the yard of a house, which was removed to another side of the yard, and erected against other parts of the wall of the yard, the same materials being substantially used in its re-erection, was a "new building" within the meaning of a bye-law which required notice to be given before the erection of a new building. But in Shiel v. Mayor, &c., of Sunderland, 6 H. & N. 769, 30 L. J. M. C. 215, it was held that the proprietor of a house, yard, and coach-house and stables, who had pulled down the coach-house and stable below the ground floor, and erected a building, partly upon their site and partly upon the yard, with rooms over, the ground floor opening into the yard, but the access to the rooms above being by a covered way from the old house, the object of the new building being to increase the accommodation of the old house, which had been converted into an hotel, had not erected a new building within the previous enactment (note ⁽¹⁾, post, p. 131), but only an addition to the old building.

As to whether a wall is or is not a building, see Brown v. Holyhead Board, ante, p. 126, and Child v. Douglas, Kay. 560, 5 De G. M. & G.; Weston v. Arnold, L. R. 8 Ch. App. 1084; Arnell v. Regent's Canal Co., 12 C. B. 697, 14 C. B. 564; Bowes v. Law, L. R. 9 Eq. 636.

A structure of wood of considerable size (16 feet by 13), and intended to be permanently used as a shop, is a building within the Metropolitan Building Act, 1855, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 122, although not let into the ground, but merely laid upon timbers upon the surface: Stevens v. Gourley, 7 C. B. N. S. 99, 1 F. & F. 498, 29 L. J. C. P. 1, 1 L. T. N. S. 33.

In Bowes v. Law, supra, a vinery attached to a wall was held a building.

A bye-law providing that every person intending to erect any new building should give a week's notice in writing to the surveyor, and also leave at the office details, plans, and sections of every floor, &c., and imposing a penalty of £5 for non-compliance with this requirement, is unreasonable and void, if meant to apply to merely temporary structures: Fielding v. Rhyl Improvement Commissioners, L. R. 3 C. P. D. 272, 38 L. T. N. S. 223, 26 W. R. 881. See also Hattersley v. Burr, post, p. 130.

Where a person has been convicted under a bye-law requiring the party wall of a house to be built of a certain thickness, he cannot be convicted under a bye-law imposing a penalty de die in diem in case of a continuing offence, for having neglected to comply with a notice requiring him to make the wall of the requisite thickness, for the latter bye-law cannot apply to an offence of this description. The proper remedy is the removal of the structure by the urban authority: Marshall v. Smith, L. R. 8 C. P. 416, 42 L. J. M. C. 108, 28 L. T. N. S. 538. See Rumball v. Schmidt, ante, p. 128.

A person who, in accordance with his contract with a building owner, simply builds along the line of a street already laid out by such owner, is not a "person who lays out a new street" within the meaning of a bye-law, which provides that "every person who lays out a new street shall, as regards the minimum width of such street, comply with the requirements hereinafter mentioned," &c.: Mayor, &c., of Sunderland v. Brown, 43 L. T. N. S. 478, 44 J. P. 831.

Where a person contracted with the owner of land to erect seventy-six houses thereon, and accordingly lodged plans with the urban authority, and afterwards when fifty-nine houses were erected agreed with another person to erect the rest of the houses, and the latter in erecting the houses made the walls of insufficient thickness, it was held that the first contractor was not "the person erecting the buildings" within the meaning of these words in a bye-law, which imposed a penalty for violation of rules as to thickness: Brown v. Edmonton Board, 45 J. P. 553.

⁽¹⁾ Under the corresponding provision of the previous enactment (note ⁽¹⁾, ante, p. 128), it was held that a bye-law made in pursuance of this power, whereby it was provided

And they may further provide for the observance of such bye-laws by enacting therein such provisions as they think necessary as to the giving of notices, as to the deposit of plans and sections by persons intending to lay out streets or to construct buildings, as to inspection by the urban authority, and as to the power of such authority (subject to the provisions of this Act) to remove, alter, or pull down any work begun or done in contravention of such bye-laws ⁽²⁾: Provided that no bye-law made under this section shall affect any building erected in any place (which at the time of the passing of this Act is included in an urban sanitary district) before the Local Government Acts ⁽³⁾ came into force in such place, or any building erected in any place (which at the time of the passing of this Act is not included in an urban sanitary district) before such place becomes constituted or included in an urban district, or by virtue of any order of the Local Government Board subject to this enactment ⁽⁴⁾.

The provisions of this section and of the two last preceding sections shall not apply to buildings belonging to any railway company and used for the purposes of such railway under any Act of Parliament.

that wherever any open space had been left belonging to any building, such space should never afterwards be built upon without the consent of the local authority, was unreasonable and void: Tucker v. Rees, 7 Jur. N. S. 629.

(1) A bye-law that no dwelling-house should be erected without having at the rear or side a roadway at least twelve feet wide communicating with some adjoining public highway, in such situation as should be approved by the local authority, for the purpose of affording access to the privy or ashpit of the house, is invalid, as being in excess of the powers conveyed by this section: Waite v. Garston Board, L. R. 3 Q. B. 5, 37 L. J. M. C. 19, 17 L. T. N. S. 201, 16 W. R. 78.

Further as to the drainage of houses, see the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, 10 & 11 Vict. c. 34, ss. 35—46, and sections 23, 24 and 25, ante. As to waterclosets, &c., see sections 35—41, ante. As to closing buildings unfit for habitation, see section 97, ante; and see 31 & 32 Vict. c. 130, post.

(2) The power to make provision as to removing, altering, or pulling down work, is not confined to bye-laws relating to structure, but may be extended to and incorporated in bye-laws as to notice and deposit of plans: Baker v. Mayor, &c., of Portsmouth, ante, p. 128; and see Hall v. Nixon, L. R. 10 Q. B. 152, 44 L. J. M. C. 51, 32 L. T. N. S. 87, 23 W. R. 612, where Hattersley v. Burr, 4 H. & C. 523, 14 L. T. N. S. 565, 14 W. R. 864, and Young v. Edwards, 33 L. J. M. C. 227, are discussed. In the latter case a bye-law imposing continuing penalties upon any person who should construct any work, or do or omit to do any act, or to comply with any requirements of the local authority, or make any alteration or deviation in any plan approved by them, whether in new or existing buildings, or should do any act, matter, or thing contrary to the bye-laws, or should omit, neglect, or fail to perform any of the works, matters, or things required by such bye-laws, and empowering the authority to pull down or otherwise deal with such work as the case might require, was held invalid as exceeding the powers given by the previous enactment (note ⁽¹⁾, ante, p. 128). See also Brown v. Holyhead Board, 1 H. & C. 601, 32 L. J. Ex. 25, 7 L. T. N. S. 332, and Pearson v. Kingston-upon-Hull Board, 3 H. & C. 921, 35 L. J. M. C. 36. bye-law made by an urban authority to be laid before that authority, the urban authority shall, within one month after the same has been delivered or sent to their surveyor or clerk, signify in writing their approval or disapproval of the intended work to the person proposing to execute the same; and if the work is commenced after such notice of disapproval, or before the expiration of such month without such approval, and is in any respect not in conformity with any bye-law of the urban authority, the urban authority may cause so much of the work as has been executed to be pulled down or removed ⁽¹⁾.

Where an urban authority incur expenses in or about the removal of any work executed contrary to any bye-law, such authority may recover in a summary manner the amount of such expenses either from the person executing the works removed or from the person causing the works to be executed at their discretion ⁽²⁾.

Where an urban authority may under this section pull down or remove any work begun or executed in contravention of any bye-law, or where the beginning or the execution of the work is an offence in respect whereof the offender is liable in respect of any bye-law to a penalty, the existence of the work during its continuance in such a form and state as to be in contravention of the bye-law shall be deemed to be a continuing offence, but a penalty shall not be incurred in respect thereof after the expiration of one year from the day when the offence was committed, or the bye-law was broken ⁽³⁾.

For the purposes of this Act the re-erecting of any building pulled down to or below the ground floor, or of any frame building of which only the framework is left down to the ground floor, or the conversion into a dwelling-house of any building not originally constructed for human habitation, or the conversion into more than one dwelling-house of a building originally constructed as one dwelling-house only, shall be considered the erection of a new building.

The urban authority cannot under this section pull down a building without giving the owner an opportunity of showing cause why it should not be pulled down: Ibid.; and see *Cooper v. Notices for alterations under the sixty-ninth, seventieth, and seventy-first sections, directions under the seventy-third section, and orders under the seventy-fourth section of the said Towns Improvement Clauses Act, may, at the option of the urban authority, be served on owners instead of occupiers, or on owners as well as occupiers, and the cost of works done under any of these sections may, when notices have been so served on owners, be recovered from owners instead of occupiers ⁽³⁾; and when such cost is recovered from occupiers so much thereof may be deducted from the rent of the premises where the work is done as is allowed in the case of private improvement rates under this Act ⁽⁴⁾.

Any urban authority may contract with any person ⁽⁶⁾ for the supply of gas, or other means of lighting the streets, markets and public buildings in their district, and may provide such lamps, lamp posts and other materials and apparatus as they may think necessary for lighting the same ⁽⁷⁾.

Where there is not any company or person ⁽⁸⁾ (other than the urban authority) authorised by or in pursuance of any Act of Parliament, or any order confirmed by Parliament, to supply gas for public and private purposes, supplying gas within any part of the district of such authority, such authority may themselves undertake to supply gas for such purposes or any of them throughout the whole or any part of their district; and if there is any such company or person so supplying gas, but the limits of supply of such company or person include part only of the district, then the urban authority may themselves undertake to supply gas throughout any part of the district not included within such limits of supply.

Where an urban authority may under this Act themselves undertake to supply gas for the whole or any part of their district, a provisional order authorising a gas undertaking may be obtained by such authority under and subject to the provisions of the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870, and any Act amending the same ⁽⁸⁾; and in the construction of the said Act the term "the undertakers" shall be deemed to include any such urban authority: Provided that for the purposes of this Act the Local Government Board shall throughout the said Act be deemed to be substituted for the Board of Trade.

⁽⁷⁾ A corporation being lords of a market and owners of the soil, is entitled at common law to remove the market; but where the corporation acting as an urban authority takes steps under the statute to set up a market in a new place, it can only act under the powers and subject to the provisions of the statute, and is not entitled to fall back upon its common law right: Ellis v. Bridgnorth Corporation, 2 Johns. & H. 67, 4 L. T. N. S. 112, 9 W. R. 331.

The corporation of Bridgnorth were owners of an ancient market, and also lords of the manor in which the borough of Bridgnorth was situated. The market had from time immemorial been held in and near the High Street. The plaintiff had a house in that street, and he and the previous owners and occupiers of the house in which he lived, as well as several other occupiers of houses in the same street, had from time immemorial erected on market days stalls opposite their houses, and either used the stalls themselves or let them to others. No tolls were ever taken in respect of the goods sold at these stalls, though they were formerly taken for similar produce exposed in the market elsewhere. In an action against the corporation of Bridgnorth for removing the market to another place within the borough, held that the right to the stalls was a right 167⁽¹⁾. For the purpose of enabling any urban authority to establish or to regulate markets, there shall be incorporated with this Act the provisions of the Markets and Fairs Clauses Act, 1847⁽²⁾, in so far as the same relate to markets ; that is to say,

With respect to the holding of the market or fair, and the protection thereof ; and

With respect to the weighing goods and carts ; and

With respect to the stallages, rents, and tolls :

Provided that all tolls leviable by an urban authority in pursuance of this section shall be approved by the Local Government Board.

An urban authority may with respect to any market belonging to them make bye-laws for any of the purposes mentioned in section forty-two of the Markets and Fairs Clauses Act, 1847, so far as those purposes relate to markets, and printed copies of any bye-laws so made shall be conspicuously exhibited in the market⁽³⁾.

168⁽⁴⁾. Any urban authority may purchase, and the directors of any market company, in pursuance, in the case of a company registered under the Companies Act, 1862, of a special resolution of the members passed in manner provided by that Act, and in the case of any other company, of a resolution passed by a majority of three-fourths in number and value of the members present, either personally or by proxy, at a meeting specially convened with notice of the business to be transacted, may sell and transfer to any urban authority, on such terms as may be agreed on between the company and the urban authority, all the rights, powers, and privileges, and all or any of the markets, premises, and things which at the time of such purchase are the property of the company, but subject to all liabilities attached to the same at the time of such purchase.

which might reasonably be supposed to have been granted by the owners of the market to the owners and occupiers of the houses, and that it was sufficiently connected with the enjoyment of the houses to be claimed an appurtenant thereto. Held also, that if the original grant were presumably to hold the market at any place within the borough, still the corporation could not now remove it, as to do so would be in derogation of their own grant of the right now claimed : Ellis v. Corporation of Bridgnorth, 15 C. B. N. S. 52, 32 L. J. C. P. 273, 8 L. J. N. S. 668, 9 Jur. N. S. 1078.

In Fearon v. Mitchell, L. R. 7 Q. B. 690, 41 L. J. M. C. 170, it was held that a person who under the approval of the local authority had established a large building, where he was in the habit of advertising and holding large sales by public auction of cattle the property of farmers and others, he charging a commission and guaranteeing payment of the sales, had not acquired any right, power, or privilege within the meaning of the previous enactment (note⁽³⁾, ante, p. 134).

Where power was given by an Act to a corporation to "enlarge" as well as improve the market of their borough, it was held that the meaning of the word was not restricted to merely extending the market to streets theretofore forming parts of its sides, but authorised them to extend the market to other streets in the immediate neighbourhood : A.-G. v. Mayor of Cambridge, L. R. 6 H. L. 303.

It would seem that the getting up of a new market under the statute at a short distance from and in lieu of an ancient market is an establishment of a market within the previous enactment (note⁽³⁾, ante, p. 134), and not a mere removal : Ellis v. Corporation of Bridgnorth, ante, p. 134.

The extension of the bye-laws to the qualification of the drivers, boatmen, &c., to the numbering and naming of the boats, and to the number of persons to be carried therein, and to the mooring places is also new.

(2) As to bye-laws, see sections 182 et seq., post.

The driver of an hotel cab when plying for hire and standing in a square in front of the hotel which was not enclosed and where the public could freely pass, was held liable to a penalty under a bye-law which required every driver of a hackney carriage when plying for hire to station his carriage on one of the appointed stands: Marks v. Ford, 45 J. P. 157.

Where the fishermen of a sea village had been immemorially accustomed to beach their boats in winter on ground adjoining the harbour, and where the proprietor had subsequently obtained a local Act authorising him to levy five shillings yearly for each boat beached, the fishermen's rights were enforced against him, and it was held that he could not exclude the fishermen from the ground used for beaching without assigning to them other ground equally well adapted to the purpose: Aiton v. Stephen, L. R. 1 App. Cas. 456.

(3) The previous enactment was the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 85.

(4) "The general rule of law is that a corporation contracts under its common seal; as a general rule it is only in that way that a corporation can express its will or do any act. That general rule, however, has from the earliest traceable periods been subject to exceptions, the decisions as to which furnish the principle on which they have been established, and are instances illustrating its application, but are not to be taken as so prescribing in terms the exact limit that a merely circumstantial difference is to exclude from the exception. This principle appears to be convenience amounting almost to necessity. Wherever to hold the rule applicable would occasion very great inconvenience, or tend to defeat the very object for which the corporation was created, the exception

Sec. 173. has prevailed: hence the retainer by parol of an inferior servant, the doing of acts very frequently recurring, or too insignificant to be worth the trouble of affixing the common seal, are established exceptions. On the same principle stands the powers of accepting bills of exchange and issuing promissory notes by companies incorporated for the purposes of trade, with the rights and liabilities consequent thereon": Church v. Imperial Gas Co., 6 A. & E. 846, 861; "to every word of this we entirely subscribe," per cur. Mayor of Ludlow v. Charlton, 6 M. & W. 815, 822; and see Beverley v. Lincoln Gas Co., 6 A. & E. 829, 844; Cope v. Thames Haven Co., 3 Ex. 841, 844; and Comyns' Digest, tit. "Franchise" (F), 12, 13. These exceptions have been classed under two heads. "First, when the acts done are such as the corporation by its very constitution is appointed to do, as in the case of trading corporations, whose duty, by their very appointments, being to draw bills of exchange, they may do it without affixing the common seal. Secondly, when the acts are required for convenience, as where either the acts are trivial in their nature and of frequent occurrence, so that the doing them in the usual way would be inconvenient or absurd, or such that an overruling necessity requires them to be done at once, in that case also the corporation may proceed by parol instead of affixing the seal according to the proper and regular course:" Per Alderson, B., Diggle v. London & Blackwall Ry. Co., 5 Ex. 442, 450; and see Mayor of Ludlow v. Charlton, 6 M. & W. 815, 821; East London Waterworks Co. v. Bailey, 4 Bing. 283, 287; Henderson v. Australian Steam Navigation Co., 5 E. & B. 409, 24 L. J. Q. B. 322, 1 Jur. N. S. 830; London Dock Co. v. Sinnott, 8 E. & B. 347, 27 L. J. Q. B. 129; South of Ireland Colliery Co. v. Waddle, L. R. 4 C. P. 617 (Ex. Ch.), 17 W. R. 896, 38 L. J. C. P. 338, 18 L. T. N. S. 405 (affirmed on appeal). Query whether this last case does not overrule Diggle v. London, &c., Ry., E. London Waterworks Co. v. Bailey, and London Dock Co. v. Sinnott, supra. See Pollock on Contracts, 3rd ed., p. 161.

The guardians of a poor law union have power to contract for ordinary and trifling services, as for the supply of goods and for the work necessary for the union workhouse: Clarke v. Cuckfield Union, 21 L. J. Q. B. 349, 16 Jur. 686; Sanders v. St. Neot's Union, 8 Q. B. 810, 10 Jur. 566; Nicholson v. Bradfield Union, L. R. 1 Q. B. 620, 35 L. J. Q. B. 176; Haigh v. Brierley Union, E. B. & E. 873, 28 L. J. Q. B. 62; and see Hunt v. Wimbledon Local Board, L. R. 4 C. P. D. 48, 48 L. J. C. P. 207, 40 L. T. N. S. 115, 27 W. R. 123 (approved in Young v. Corporation of Leamington, post, p. 140), where these cases are discussed. But the guardians of a union have been held not liable for work done in building the workhouse under a contract not under seal: Lamprell v. Billericay Union, 3 Ex. 283, 18 L. J. Ex. 282, 12 L. T. 533. And the guardians of a union cannot bind themselves by an order not under seal for making a survey and map of a particular parish, where such map is not incident to the general purposes of the union: Paine v. Strand Union, 8 Q. B. 326. So a contract for the engagement of a clerk to the master of a workhouse by a board of guardians must to bind them be under their common seal: Austin v. Bethnal Green Guardians, L. R. 9 C. P. 91, 43 L. J. C. P. 100, 29 L. T. N. S. 807, 22 W. R. 406, 38 J. P. 248. And an appointment by poor law guardians of a person to be their medical officer for any fixed and definite time ought to be under seal: Dyte v. St. Pancras Board, 27 L. T. N. S. 342.

Further, where work has been done for a corporation under a contract not under seal, and the corporation have had the benefit of it, the person who has done the work may recover. But this is limited to cases where the benefit has been actually received, and to cases in which it could be said that the work is such as was necessary. And it would seem that the doctrine is also limited to contracts of small amount. See per Bramwell, L.J., in Hunt v. Wimbledon Local Board, supra. But see Crook v. Corporation of Seaford, 6 L. R. Ch. 551, 25 L. T. 1, 19 W. R. 938, where a corporation having passed a resolution agreeing to let for 300 years part of a sea-beach at a nominal rent, and a wall and terrace were built by the intended lessee, it was held that after the lapse of four years the corporation were bound by acquiescence, and must perform the agreement to grant a lease, though it was not under seal.

A corporation may maintain an action to recover a reasonable compensation for the use and occupation of land held and occupied by the permission of the corporation without a demise under seal: Dean of Rochester v. Pierce, 1 Camp. 466; Mayor of Stafford v. Till, 4 Bing. 75, 12 Moo. 260. And a corporation is also liable to pay such reasonable satisfaction for the use and occupation of land actually held and occupied by the corporation: Beverley v. Lincoln Gas Co., 6 A. & E. 829, 841; Lowe v. London & North Western Ry., 18 Q. B. 632, 21 L. J. Q. B. 361. But the occupation of the land, or the payment or acceptance of rent by a corporation, does not operate as evidence of a demise, as in the case of an individual: Finlay v. Bristol & Exeter Ry., 7 Ex. 409, 21 L. J. Ex. 117.

174 ⁽¹⁾. With respect to contracts made by an urban authority under this Act, Sec. 174. the following regulations shall be observed; (namely.)

Further, where a corporation is created by an Act of Parliament for particular purposes, with special powers, another question arises; their deed, though under their corporate seal and that regularly affixed, does not bind them, if it appear by the express provisions of the statute creating the corporation, or by reasonable or necessary inference from its enactments, that the deed was ultra vires, that is, that the Legislature meant that such a deed should not be made. "When the Legislature constitutes a corporation it gives to that body primâ facie an absolute right of contracting. But this primâ facie right does not exist in any case where the contract is one which, from the nature and object of incorporation, the corporate body is expressly or impliedly prohibited from making; such a contract is said to be ultra vires:" Per Lord Cranworth, L.C., Shrewsbury & Birmingham Ry. v. London & North Western Ry., 26 L. J. Ch. 482, 493, 3 Jur. N. S. 781; per Lord Wensleydale, Scottish North Eastern Ry. v. Stewart, 3 Macq. 382, 415. See Ashbury Ry. Carriage Co. v. Riche, L. R. 7 H. L. 653, 44 L. J. Ex. 185; Bateman v. Ashton-under-Lyne, 3 H. & N. 323, 27 L. J. Ex. 458; Clemenshaw v. Dublin Corporation, 10 Ir. R. C. L. 1. Contracts ultra vires.

Contracts of a local authority must be taken as being made subject to the provisions of the existing law, and may be overridden by a subsequent Act of Parliament. Thus, by an agreement between the Newington Board and the Cottingham Board, it was agreed that the former should make a sewer and allow the sewers of the latter to drain into it, but the sewage of any other districts or places was not to be permitted by the latter board to pass into their sewers so as to discharge into the sewer made by the Newington Board. Under the then existing Acts the owner of premises beyond the limits of a district had power to make a sewer to communicate with the sewers of the district, and similar powers are given by section 22 of this Act. Held that the Newington Board, notwithstanding the agreement, could not restrain the Cottingham Board and the owners of premises beyond their district from making sewers which would discharge into the sewer of the Newington district: Newington Board v. Cottingham Board, L. R. 12 Ch. D. 725, 48 L. J. Ch. 226, 40 L. T. N. S. 58.

As to contracts by urban authorities, see the next section.

The Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, by section 151, exempted from Stamp duty. stamp duty deeds, contracts, agreements, &c., made by a Local Board, but this section was repealed by section 42 of the Public Health Act, 1872, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 79, and has not since been restored.

Officers of a local authority are forbidden to contract with such authority for any of the purposes of the Act. See section 193, post.

The previous enactment required in addition that the contract should be signed by five or more members of the authority. See Circular of 30th Sept., 1875, ante, p. 13.

This provision is imperative and not directory merely. Thus, an urban authority directed their surveyor to employ an architect to prepare plans for offices, which he accordingly did, and the authority thereupon advertised for tenders for building offices in accordance with the plans, but it was found that the plans were upon too expensive a scale and the offices were not built. At the trial of an action brought by the architect against the urban authority, it was found by the jury that the offices were necessary for the purposes of the urban authority, and the plans necessary for the erection of the buildings, and the cost of the plans was found to be £94, yet it was held,

Sec 174.

- (2.) Every such contract shall specify the work, materials, matters or things to be furnished, had or done, the price to be paid, and the time or times within which the contract is to be performed, and shall specify some pecuniary penalty to be paid in case the terms of the contract are not duly performed ⁽¹⁾:
- (3.) Before contracting for the execution of any works under the provisions of this Act, an urban authority shall obtain from their surveyor an estimate in writing, as well of the probable expense of executing the work in a substantial manner as of the annual expense of repairing the same; also a report as to the most advantageous mode of contracting, that is to say, whether by contracting only for the execution of the work, or for executing and also maintaining the same in repair during a term of years or otherwise ⁽²⁾:

even assuming that there was a contract and the consideration was performed, that the architect could not recover, there being no contract under seal: Hunt v. Wimbledon Local Board, L. R. 4 C. P. D. 48, 48 L. J. C. P. 207, 40 L. T. N. S. 115, 27 W. R. 123; Frend v. Dennett, 4 C. B. N. S. 576, 27 L. J. C. P. 314, 4 Jur. N. S. 897; Ibid. (in Chancery), 5 L. T. N. S. 73.

The provision applies not only to an executory, but to an executed contract. The fact that the urban authority have had the benefit of the contract does not prevent them from setting up the defence that the contract is not under seal: Young v. Corporation of Leamington, L. R. 8 App. Cas. 517, 52 L. J. Q. B. 713, 49 L. T. N. S. 1, 31 W. R. 925, 47 J. P. 660. The fact that the contract is entered into with an agent of the urban authority duly appointed under seal make no difference: Ibid. And formerly it was held that the Court of Chancery would not entertain a suit for specific performance of a contract on the ground that through want of formality there was no remedy at law, even though the contract was part performed by the party seeking to enforce it: Crampton v. Varna Railway Co., L. R. 7 Ch. 562, 41 L. J. Ch. 817, 20 W. R. 713; Frend v. Dennett, 5 L. T. N. S. 73, supra; and see Mayor, &c., of Kidderminster v. Hardwick, L. R. 9 Ex. 13, 43 L. J. Ex. 9, 29 L. T. N. S. 612, 22 W. R. 160.

But this provision applies only to a contract of which the parties at the time of entering into it contemplate that the value or amount shall exceed £50. Therefore, where scarlet fever having broken out, an urban authority appointed a committee under section 200, post, and a medical man agreed verbally with the committee on behalf of the urban authority to attend the patients at the rate of 5s. 3d. per tent per day, and attended until the amount was £100, it was held that this was not a contract whereof the value or amount exceeded £50 within the meaning of the provision: Eaton v. Basker, L. R. 7 Q. B. D. 529, 50 L. J. Q. B. 444, 44 L. T. N. S. 703, 29 W. R. 597, 45 J. P. 616. And an agreement by an urban authority compromising an action does not fall within the provision, and is not void by reason of not being under seal: A.-G. v. Gaskill, L. R. 22 Ch. D. 537, 52 L. J. Ch. 163, 47 L. T. N. S. 566, 31 W. R. 135.

Where a committee appointed under sections 200 and 201, post, enter into a contract as such, which is avoided by reason of not being under seal, the members of the committee cannot be made liable personally: Eaton v. Basker, supra.

Though a corporation, which is an urban authority (section 6, ante) in making contracts uses the name and style of the corporation "acting as the local board," yet the corporation is the essential body and contracting party, and may be sued as such on the contracts: Andrews v. Mayor, &c., of Ryde, L. R. 9 Ex. 302, 43 L. J. Ex. 174, 23 W. R. 58.

⁽¹⁾ In a contract for the performance of certain building work according to plans and specifications, there is no implied warranty that the work can be successfully executed in the manner described by the plans, &c.: Thorn v. Mayor, &c., of London, L. R. 1 App. Cas. 120, 45 L. J. Ex. 487, 34 L. T. N. S. 545, 24 W. R. 932.

The urban authority cannot be made liable for "extras" unless there is a contract in respect of them under seal: Lamprell v. Billericay Union, 3 Ex. 283, 18 L. J. Ex. 282, 12 L. T. 533; Rutledge v. Farnham, 2 F. & F. 406.

⁽²⁾ This provision is directory merely and not imperative, and, therefore, an urban

- (4.) Before any contract of the value or amount of one hundred pounds or upwards is entered into by an urban authority ten days public notice at the least shall be given, expressing the nature and purpose thereof, and inviting tenders for the execution of the same; and such authority shall require and take sufficient security for the due performance of the same⁽¹⁾:
- (5.) Every contract entered into by an urban authority in conformity with the provisions of this section, and duly executed by the other parties thereto, shall be binding on the authority by whom the same is executed and their successors, and on all other parties thereto and their executors, administrators, successors, or assigns to all intents and purposes: Provided that an urban authority may compound with any contractor or other person in respect of any penalty incurred by reason of the non-performance of any contract entered into as aforesaid, whether such penalty is mentioned in any such contract, or in any bond or otherwise, for such sums of money or other recompense as to such authority may seem proper⁽²⁾.

PURCHASE OF LANDS.

175 ⁽³⁾. Any local authority may for the purposes and subject to the provisions of this Act purchase or take on lease, sell or exchange any lands⁽⁴⁾, whether situated within or without their district; they may also buy up any water-mill, dam, or weir which interferes with the proper drainage of or the supply of water to their district⁽⁵⁾.

authority will be liable upon their contract, though these requirements have not been performed. But the non-observance of the provisions may effect the right of the urban authority to levy a rate for the purposes of the contract: Nowell v. Mayor, &c., of Worcester, 9 Ex. Rep. 457, 23 L. J. Ex. 139; Cunningham v. Wolverhampton Board, 7 E. & B. 107, 26 L. J. M. C. 33.

⁽¹⁾ Where the authority withheld the fact that the works were to be executed subject to the supervision of another surveyor besides their own, the contractor's surety was held to be discharged: Stiff v. Eastbourne Board, 19 L. T. N. S. 408, 17 W. R. 68.

⁽²⁾ There is an implied undertaking on the part of the authority that they are in a position to collect the funds for the purposes of the contract, and to pay the contractor who has done work for them: Worthington v. Sudlow, 2 B. & S. 509, 31 L. J. Q. B. 131, 6 L. T. N. S. 283, 8 Jur. N. S. 668.

⁽³⁾ The previous enactments were the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 84; the Local Government Act (1858) Amendment Act, 1861, 24 & 25 Vict. c. 16, s. 22; the Sanitary Act, 1866, 29 & 30 Vict. c. 90, s. 47; the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, 37 & 38 Vict. c. 89, ss. 31 and 33.

⁽⁴⁾ See the interpretation clause, ante, p. 44, and the note.

⁽⁵⁾ See also section 51 ⁽²⁾, ante, and the opinion of the law officers in note ⁽¹⁾ thereto.

A local authority who require lands for the purposes of the Act are not confined in exercising their compulsory powers of purchase (see the next section) to the narrow limits of the property strictly required for the purposes specified, as the cases deciding that railway companies cannot take compulsorily more land than is actually required for their works do not apply to a corporation taking lands for public improvements and not for gain: Quinton v. Corporation of Bristol, L. R. 17 Eq. 524, 43 L. J. Ch. 783, 38 J. P. 516; Galloway v. Mayor, &c., of London, L. R. 1 H. L. 34, 35 L. J. Ch. 477, 12 Jur. N. S. 747.

In the case of Re Corporation of Dudley, ante, p. 55, it was held that where a local authority, under section 16, ante, run a sewer through the land of a landowner, there is no obligation on them to purchase the right to subjacent support, though this is an easement included in the meaning of the word "lands," but the landowner is under an obligation to afford such support, and must obtain compensation under section 308, post. But now see section 4 of the Public Health Act, 1875 (Support of Sewers) Amendment Act, 1883, post.

So manholes for the purpose of entering a sewer may be made without purchasing the land for the purpose: Swanston v. Twickenham Board, ante, p. 54.

176.

Any lands acquired by a local authority in pursuance of any powers in this Act contained and not required for the purpose for which they were acquired shall (unless the Local Government Board otherwise direct) be sold at the best price that can be gotten for the same, and the proceeds of such sale shall be applied towards discharge, by means of a sinking fund or otherwise, of any principal moneys which have been borrowed by such authority on the security of the fund or rate applicable by them for the general purposes of this Act, or if no such principal moneys are outstanding shall be carried to the account of such fund or rate ⁽¹⁾.

Regulations as to purchase of land.

176 ⁽²⁾. With respect to the purchase of lands ⁽³⁾ by a local authority for the purposes of this Act, the following regulations shall be observed; (that is to say,)

(1.) The Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts, 1845, 1860, and 1869, shall be incorporated with this Act, except the provisions relating to access to the special Act, and except section one hundred and twenty-seven of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 ⁽⁴⁾:

(2.) The local authority, before putting in force any of the powers of the said Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts with respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement, shall

Publish once at the least in each of three consecutive weeks in the month of November, in some local newspaper circulated in their district, an advertisement describing shortly the nature of the undertaking in respect of which the lands are proposed to be taken, naming a place where a plan of the proposed undertaking may be seen at all reasonable hours, and stating the quantity of lands that they require; and shall further

Serve a notice in the month of December on every owner or reputed owner, lessee or reputed lessee, and occupier of such lands, defining in each case the particular lands intended to be taken, and requiring an answer stating whether the person so served assents, dissents, or is neuter in respect of taking such lands ⁽⁵⁾.

(3.) On compliance with the provisions of this section with respect to advertisements and notices, the local authority may, if they think fit, present a petition under their seal to the Local Government Board. The petition shall state the lands intended to be taken, and the purposes for which they are required, and the names of the owners, lessees and occupiers of lands who have assented, dissented, or are neuter in respect of the taking such lands, or who have returned no answer to the notice; it shall pray that the local authority may, with reference to such lands, be allowed to put in force the powers of the said Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts with respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement, and such prayer shall be supported by such evidence as the Local Government Board requires ⁽⁶⁾:

(4.) On the receipt of such petition and on due proof of the proper advertise-

- (5.) After the completion of such inquiry the Local Government Board may, by provisional order, empower the local authority to put in force, with reference to the lands referred to in such order, the powers of the said Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts with respect to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement, or any of them, and either absolutely or with such conditions and modifications as the Board may think fit, and it shall be the duty of the local authority to serve a copy of any order so made in the manner and on the person in which and on whom notices in respect of such lands are required to be served ⁽²⁾:

Provided that the notices by this section required to be given in the months of November and December may be given in the months of September and October or of October and November, but in either of such last-mentioned cases an inquiry preliminary to the provisional order to which such notices refer shall not be held until the expiration of one month from the last day of the second of the two months in which the notices are given; and any notices or orders by this section required to be served on a number of persons having any right in, over, or on lands in common may be served on any three or more of such persons on behalf of all such persons ⁽³⁾.

A provisional order empowering a local authority to put in force the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts with respect to the purchase of land has no validity until it has been confirmed by Act of Parliament, and cannot be brought up by certiorari in order to be quashed: *Frewen v. ARBITRATION.

Mode of
arbitration.

179 ⁽²⁾. In case of dispute as to the amount of any compensation to be made under the provisions of this Act (except where the mode of determining the same is specially provided for), and in case of any matter which by this Act is authorised or directed to be settled by arbitration, then, unless both parties concur in the appointment of a single arbitrator, each party shall appoint an arbitrator to whom the matter shall be referred ⁽³⁾.

Generally as to the submission to arbitration, proceedings before an arbitrator, making an award, referring back, setting aside and enforcing the award, see Russell on Awards, 6th ed., Redman on Awards, and the chapter on "Arbitration" in Archibald's Country Solicitor's Practice, pp. 399—477. The general rules are subject to the special provisions of the next section.

It is not a condition precedent to the settlement of the amount of compensation by arbitration under this section that there should be no dispute as to liability or that such dispute, if any, should have been determined: Pearsall v. Brierley Hill Board, L. R. 11 Q. B. D. 735, 52 L. J. Q. B. 529, 32 W. R. 141 (C. A.), 49 L. T. N. S. 486.

It would seem that a special case may be stated by the arbitrator or umpire under the Common Law Procedure Act, 1854, section 5: Re Corporation of Dudley, ante, p. 55; Rhodes v. Airedale Drainage Commissioners, L. R. 1 C. P. D. 402, 45 L. J. Q. B. 861, 35 L. T. N. S. 46, 24 W. R. 1053; but see Bexley Board v. W. Kent Sewerage Board, L. R. 9 Q. B. D. 518, 51 L. J. Q. B. 456, and section 180, sub-sections (2) and (15), post.

Under the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 144 (which corresponded with section 308 of the present Act), it was held that a mandamus lay to a local board to compel them to make compensation, where they had denied their liability to do so, although the person seeking compensation had claimed no specific sum and had taken no steps to have the amount settled by arbitration: R. v. Burslem Board, 1 El. & El. 1077, 29 L. J. Q. B. 242, 8 W. R. 584, 31 L. T. N. S. 445, 6 Jur. N. S. 696.

As to resisting an award on the ground that the arbitrator has taken into consideration matters which he ought not properly to have considered, see Uttley v. Todmorden Board, 44 L. J. C. P. 19, and Duke of Buccleugh v. Metropolitan Board, post, p. 147.

It would seem that in an action on an award when the defendants plead that the compensation awarded is in respect of matters not the subject of compensation, the award is not evidence that the compensation awarded is in respect of matters the subject of compensation: Rhodes v. Airedale Drainage Commissioners, supra.

Where a claim is made for compensation under section 308, post, and the local authority refuse to acknowledge any liability or to appoint an arbitrator, and the reference proceeds before the arbitrator appointed by the claimant without the local authority becoming in any way a party to the proceedings, and an award is made against them, it is not enough, on a motion to set aside the award for want of jurisdiction, to simply deny any liability to make compensation, but some ground for asserting non-180 ⁽¹⁾. With respect to arbitrations under this Act, the following regulations shall be observed; (that is to say,) Sec. 180.

- (1.) Every appointment of an arbitrator under this Act when made on behalf of the local authority shall be under their common seal, and on behalf of any other party under his hand, or if such party be a corporation aggregate under their common seal: Regulations as to arbitration.
- (2.) Every such appointment shall be delivered to the arbitrators, and shall be deemed a submission to arbitration by the parties making the same:
- (3.) After the making of any such appointment the same shall not be revoked without the consent of both parties, nor shall the death of either party operate as a revocation:
- (4.) If for the space of fourteen days after any matter by this Act authorised or directed to be settled by arbitration has arisen, and notice in writing by one party who has duly appointed an arbitrator has been given to the other party, stating the matter to be referred, and accompanied by a copy of such appointment, the party to whom notice is given fails to appoint an arbitrator, the arbitrator appointed by the party giving the notice shall be deemed to be appointed by and shall act on behalf of both parties ⁽²⁾:
- (5.) If before the determination of any matter so referred any arbitrator dies or refuses or becomes incapable to act, the party by whom such arbitrator was appointed may appoint in writing another person in his stead; and if such party fails so to do for the space of seven days after notice in writing from the other party in that behalf, the remaining arbitrator may proceed ex parte; and every arbitrator so appointed shall have the same powers and authorities as were vested in the arbitrator in whose stead the appointment is made:
- (6.) If a single arbitrator dies or becomes incapable to act before the making of his award, or fails to make his award within twenty-one days after his appointment, or within such extended time, if any, as may have been duly appointed by him for that purpose, the matters referred to him shall be again referred to arbitration under the provisions of this Act, as if no former reference had been made ⁽³⁾:
- (7.) Where there is more than one arbitrator, the arbitrators shall, before they enter on the reference, appoint by writing under their hands an umpire, and if the person appointed to be umpire dies or becomes incapable to act, the arbitrators shall forthwith appoint another person in his stead; and if the arbitrators neglect or refuse to appoint an umpire for seven days after being requested so to do by any party to the arbitration, the Local Government Board shall, on the application of any such party, appoint an umpire ⁽⁴⁾:

liability must be shown: Burgess v. Northwich Local Board, 37 L. T. N. S. 355, 26 W. R. 19.

See section 181, post, as to cases where the amount claimed is less than £20.

See also section 308 and the notes thereto, post, and sections 25—37 of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (which by section 176 (1), ante, is incorporated with this Act), post. But as to arbitrations under the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts, see Ex parte Rayner, ante, p. 143.

As to notices and service thereof, see sections 266, 267, post.

Sec. 180.

- (8.) If the arbitrators fail to make their award within twenty-one days after the day on which the last of them was appointed, or within such extended time (if any) as may have been duly appointed by them for that purpose, the matters referred shall be determined by the umpire ⁽¹⁾:
- (9.) The time for making an award by arbitrators under this Act shall not in any case be extended beyond the period of two months from the date of the submission, and the time for making an award by an umpire under this Act shall not in any case be extended beyond the period of two months from the date of the reference of the matters to him ⁽²⁾:
- (10.) Before any arbitrator or umpire enters on a reference under this Act he shall make and subscribe the following declaration before a justice of the peace; (that is to say, “I, A. B., do solemnly and sincerely declare that I will faithfully and honestly, and to the best of my skill and ability, hear and determine the matters referred to me under the Public Health Act, 1875.

- (11.) Such declaration shall be annexed to the award when made; and any arbitrator or umpire who wilfully acts contrary to such declaration shall be guilty of a misdemeanour:
- (12.) Any arbitrator, arbitrators, or umpire appointed by virtue of this Act may require the production of such documents in the possession or power of either party as they or he may think necessary for determining the matters referred, and may examine the parties or their witnesses on oath:
- (13.) The costs of and consequent upon the reference shall be in the discretion of the arbitrator or arbitrators, or (in case the matters referred are determined by an umpire) of the umpire ⁽³⁾:
- (14.) Any submission to arbitration under the provisions of this Act may be made a rule of any of the Superior Courts, on the application of any party thereto:

(1) See Kellett v. Tranmere, ante, p. 145. Where the arbitrator determines to proceed, though the time is expired, contrary to the protest on that ground of one of the parties, the fact that the party continues to attend and contest the case does not give the arbitrator power to make an award: Ringland v. Lowndes, 17 C. B. N. S. 514, 33 L. J. C. P. 337, 12 W. R. 1010, 10 Jur. N. S. 850.

(2) See the Circular of the Local Government Board of 30th September, 1875, ante, p. 14.

(3) The arbitrator or umpire need not fix the amount of the costs, and an action may be brought on the award without first having the costs taxed: Holdsworth v. Wilson, supra. As to costs, where the arbitration to ascertain the value of land taken under sections 175, 176, ante, see Ex parte Rayner, ante, p. 143.

An order of course to tax costs under sections 37 and 38 of the Attorneys' Act cannot be obtained in respect of costs which a local authority are ordered to pay in an arbitration under this Act: Re Cowdell, 52 L. J. Ch. 246, 31 W. R. 335, Weekly Notes, 1883, p. 18.

(4) As to power of arbitrator to state a special case, see Re Corporation of Dudley, ante, p. 55.

An award made in an arbitration between one of several frontagers called on to pay the expenses of paving a street under section 150, ante, and the urban authority, whereby the arbitrators alter the assessment in regard to all the frontagers, is not binding upon frontagers not a party to the arbitration: Tunbridge Wells Board v. Ackroyd, L. R. 5 Ex. D. 199, 49 L. J. Ex. 403, 42 L. T. N. S. 640, 28 W. R. 450, 44 J. P. 504.

An arbitrator may be called as a witness in proceedings to enforce his award, and may

BYE-LAWS⁽³⁾.

182 (4). All bye-laws made by a local authority under and for the purposes of be asked as to what matters were presented to him for consideration, but not as to what passed in his own mind in exercising his discretion upon them: Duke of Buccleuch v. Metropolitan Board of Works, L. R. 5 H. L. 418, 41 L. J. Ex. 137.

Authentication and

An arbitrator who has executed an instrument as and for his award is functus officio, and cannot of his own authority remedy any mistake which he may have made in executing it: Mordue v. Palmer, L. R. 6 Ch. 22, 40 L. J. Ch. 8, 23 L. T. N. S. 752, 19 W. R. 86.

(1) The previous enactment was the Local Government Act, 1858, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 64.

(2) See the interpretation clause, ante, p. 47.

(3) The previous enactment was the Public Health Act, 1875, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 115. It required that the bye-laws should have the signature of five or more of the members of the Local Board of Health. This requirement is omitted from the present Act.

(3) Bye-law (from Scandinavian by, a town, the termination in Whitby and other names, and law, Danish bylov, Swed. bylag, or it may be a law made obiter or by the by) means a local or private law, a law made by an incorporated body for the regulation of its own affairs or the affairs intrusted to its care. Town councils, river trustees, railway companies, &c., enact bye-laws, which are binding upon all coming within the sphere of the operation of such bodies. See Imperial Dictionary, sub verb.

For full information as to the qualities which a bye-law should have in order to be valid, see Case of the City of London, 8 Co. Rep. p. 121; Comyns' Digest, Br Law (A), (B 1), and (C), and Lumley on Bye-laws. The following short statement, however, may be useful:—

requisites to validity of bye-law.

(1) A bye-law must be consistent with and not repugnant to the general law: 5 Co. 63. But "a bye-law cannot be said to be inconsistent with the laws of this kingdom merely because it forbids the doing of something which might lawfully have been done before, or requires something to be done which there was no previous obligation to do:" Edmonds v. Waterman's Company, 24 L. J. M. C. 124, 1 Jur. N. S. 727, per Lord Campbell, C.J.

(1) Must not be repugnant to law of the land.

(2) The bye-law must provide something in addition to the general law, and therefore must not re-enact it: R. v. Saddlers' Company, 3 E. & E. 80; Harrison v. Evans, 6 Bro. P. C. 181. But this rule does not render a bye-law void where, though the matter is already prohibited by law, the bye-law superadds a penalty to meet the injury caused to the particular body affected by the offence or default: City of London v. Vanacre, 1 Salk. 142, 1 Ld. Raym. 500, Carth. 483.

(2) Must not merely re-enact general law of the land.

(3) The bye-law must not make a provision in respect of a matter already provided for by law other than the general law has prescribed. Thus, in Calder and Hebble Navigation Co. v. Pilling, 14 M. & W. 76, a company having power to make bye-laws for the good and orderly use of the navigation and the well governing of the bargemen, &c., made a bye-law to close the navigation on Sunday, and imposing a penalty of £5, this was held an illegal bye-law.

(3) Must not make a provision other than that made by the general law of the land.

(4) The bye-law must be certain, definite, and free from ambiguity, and the penalty must be certain.

(4) Must be certain.

The power to impose a reasonable penalty is incident to the power to make a bye-law: Tall v. Nixon, ante, p. 130.

(5) The bye-law must be general and obligatory on all persons equally and indiscriminately. See Waite v. Garston Board, post, p. 148.

(5) Must be equally binding.

(6) The bye-law must be reasonable. See for example, Hattersley v. Burr, ante,

(6) Must be reasonable.

this Act shall be under their common seal; and any such bye-law may be altered or repealed by a subsequent bye-law made pursuant to the provisions of this Act: provided that no bye-law made under this Act by a local authority shall be of any effect if repugnant to the laws of England or to the provisions of this Act.

183 (1). Any local authority may, by any bye-laws made by them under this Act, impose on offenders against the same such reasonable penalties as they think fit, not exceeding the sum of five pounds for each offence, and in the case of a

p. 130, and Young v. Edwards, ante, p. 130, and Hall v. Nixon, ante, p. 130, where these cases were not followed. See also Marshall v. Smith, ante, p. 129; Tucker v. Rees, ante, p. 130; and Elwood v. Bullock, 13 L. J. M. C. 330. So where, under the powers of the Local Government Act, 1858, section 34 (which corresponded with section 157 of the present Act, ante, p. 128) a local board made a bye-law that "No dwelling-house shall be hereafter erected without having at the rear or side thereof a good and sufficient street or roadway at least twelve feet wide, communicating with some adjoining public street or highway, in such situation as shall be approved by the Local Board, for the purpose of affording efficient means of access to the privy or ashpit belonging to such house: provided always that it shall be lawful for the Local Board, at their discretion, in special cases to modify the requirement hereinbefore contained, and to dispense with strict compliance with the terms of this bye-law on such conditions as they may deem fit and reasonable," it was held the bye-law was unreasonable, as it imposed a general and unnecessary restriction on the erection of all houses: Waite v. Garston Board, L. R. 3 Q. B. 5, 37 L. J. M. C. 19, 17 L. T. N. S. 201, 16 W. R. 78. See also Fielding v. Rhyl Improvement Commissioners, ante, p. 129, and Wortley v. Nottingham Board, 21 L. T. N. S. 582, 33 J. P. 806. So it seems that a bye-law that no resolution of a local board should be altered or rescinded unless as many members are present at the meeting as were present at the meeting when the resolution was adopted, is unreasonable and bad: Mayer v. Burslem Board, 39 J. P. 437.

(7.) The bye-law must be positive.

(8.) It must not be ultra vires. Thus a bye-law requiring all occupiers within the district to remove "all snow and other obstructions" from the footpaths before their premises, made in pursuance of section 55 of the Public Health Act, 1848, which authorised the making of bye-laws with respect to the removal by occupiers of "dust, ashes, rubbish, filth, manure, dung, and soil," was held bad, although it had been allowed by a Secretary of State, inasmuch as it was not warranted by the statute: R. v. Wood, 5 El. & B. 49, 3 C. L. R. 1134, S. C. nom. R. v. Rose, 24 L. J. M. C. 130, 1 Jur. N. S. 802; see also Slee v. Bradford, 4 Giff. 262, 9 Jur. N. S. 815, 8 L. T. N. S. 491; Brown v. Holyhead Board, ante, p. 126; Tucker v. Rees, ante, p. 130.

Bye-laws are divisible, and a bye-law may be good in part and bad in part: Gunmakers' Co. v. Fell, Willes. 390; Fazakerley v. Wiltshire, 1 Stra. 469; R. v. Lundie, 31 L. J. M. C. 137, 5 L. T. N. S. 831, 8 Jur. N. S. 640; R. v. Saddlers' Co., 32 L. J. Q. B. 345, Mayer v. Burslem Board, supra. Provided the two parts be entire and distinct: Blackpool Board v. Bennett, 4 H. & N. 138; and see per Lush, J., in Hall v. Nixon, ante, p. 130.

The confirmation of a bye-law by the Local Government Board, as provided by section 184, post, cannot give the bye-law validity, if it is bad in other respects: R. v. Wood or Rose, supra.

A bye-law has the same effect within its limits, and with respect to the persons upon whom it lawfully operates, as an Act of Parliament has upon the subjects at large: Hopkins v. Mayor, &c. of Swansea, 4 M. & W. 621, per Lord Abinger, at p. 640.

Bye-laws made by any sanitary authority under the Sanitary Acts, if inconsistent with this Act, are deemed to be repealed. See section 315, post.

The various sets of bye-laws issued by the Local Government Board will be found post.

It seems that the resolution of a local board dismissing an officer is not a resolution rescinding the resolution by which he was appointed within the meaning of a bye-law with respect to the rescission of resolutions of the local board: Ex parte Richards, L. R. 3 Q. B. D. 368; 47 L. J. Q. B. 498; 38 L. T. N. S. 684; 26 W. R. 695.

(1) The previous enactment was the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 11:

continuing offence a further penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each day after written notice ⁽¹⁾ of the offence from the local authority; but all such bye-laws imposing any penalty shall be so framed as to allow of the recovery of any sum less than the full amount of the penalty ⁽²⁾. Secs. 183—187.

Nothing in the provisions of any Act incorporated herewith shall authorise the imposition or recovery under any bye-laws made in pursuance of such provisions of any greater penalty than the penalties in this section specified.

184 ⁽³⁾. Bye-laws made by a local authority under this Act shall not take effect unless and until they have been submitted to and confirmed by the Local Government Board, which Board is hereby empowered to allow or disallow the same as it may think proper ⁽⁴⁾; nor shall any such bye-laws be confirmed— Confirmation of bye-laws.

Unless notice of intention to apply for confirmation of the same has been given in one or more of the local newspapers circulated within the district to which such bye-laws relate, one month at least before the making of such application; and

Unless for one month at least before any such application a copy of the proposed bye-laws has been kept at the office of the local authority, and has been open during office hours thereat to the inspection of the ratepayers of the district to which such bye-laws relate, without fee or reward.

The clerk of the local authority shall, on the application of any such ratepayer, furnish him with a copy of such proposed bye-laws or any part thereof, on payment of sixpence for every hundred words contained in such copy.

A bye-law required to be confirmed by the Local Government Board shall not require confirmation, allowance, or approval by any other authority.

185 ⁽⁵⁾. All bye-laws made by a local authority under this Act, or for purposes the same as or similar to those of this Act under any local Act, shall be printed and hung up in the office of such authority; and a copy thereof shall be delivered to any ratepayer of the district to which such bye-laws relate, on his application for the same; ⁽⁶⁾ a copy of any bye-laws made by a rural authority shall also be transmitted to the overseers of every parish to which such bye-laws relate, to be deposited with the public documents of the parish, and to be open to the inspection of any ratepayer of the parish at all reasonable hours. Bye-laws to be printed, &c.

186 ⁽⁷⁾. A copy of any bye-laws made under this Act by a local authority (not being the council of a borough), signed and certified by the clerk of such authority to be a true copy and to have been duly confirmed, shall be evidence until the contrary is proved in all legal proceedings of the due making, confirmation, and existence of such bye-laws without further or other proof. Evidence of bye-laws.

187 ⁽⁸⁾. Bye-laws made by the council of any borough under the provisions of Bye-laws made under

⁽²⁾ As to recovery of penalties, see sections 251 et seq., post.

See Hall v. Nixon, ante, p. 130, in which case it was held that a bye-law requiring every person intending to erect any new buildings to give notice of his intention to do so, and deposit plans and sections, and imposing a penalty on any one erecting any new building without giving such notice and depositing plans and sections, was not inconsistent with another bye-law, which empowered the urban authority to alter and pull down work done contrary to any bye-law.

⁽³⁾ The previous enactments in the case of this and the next section were the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 115, and the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, 37 & 38 Vict. c. 89, s. 48.

⁽⁵⁾ See note ⁽³⁾ to section 184, supra.

⁽⁶⁾ By section 306, post, a penalty is imposed upon any person destroying, &c., any board on which any bye-law, &c., is inscribed.

⁽⁸⁾ The previous enactment was the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, 37 & 38 Vict. c. 89, s. 46.

Secs. 187—189. section ninety of the Act of the sixth year of King William the Fourth, chapter seventy-six, for the prevention and suppression of certain nuisances, shall not be required to be sent to a Secretary of State, nor shall they be subject to the disallowance in that section mentioned; but all the provisions of this Act relating to bye-laws shall apply to the bye-laws so made as if they were made under this Act.

c. 76, to be submitted to Local Government Board
As to regulations of local authority.

188. The provisions of this Act relating to bye-laws shall not apply to any regulations which a local authority is by this Act authorised to make ⁽¹⁾; nevertheless, any local authority may cause any regulations made by them under this Act to be published in such manner as they see fit.

OFFICERS AND CONDUCT OF BUSINESS OF LOCAL AUTHORITIES.

Officers of Local Authorities.

Appointment of officers of urban authority.

189 ⁽²⁾. Every urban authority shall from time to time appoint fit and proper persons to be medical officer of health ⁽³⁾, surveyor, inspector of nuisances ⁽⁴⁾, clerk ⁽⁵⁾, and treasurer ⁽⁶⁾: Provided that if any such authority is empowered by any other Act in force within their district to appoint any such officer, this enactment shall be deemed to be satisfied by the employment under this Act of the officer so appointed, with such additional remuneration as they think fit, and no second appointment shall be made under this Act. Every urban authority shall also appoint or employ such assistants, collectors, and other officers and servants as may be necessary and proper for the efficient execution of this Act, and may make regulations with respect to the duties and conduct of the officers and servants so appointed or employed ⁽⁶⁾.

By 36 & 37 Vict. c. 33, s. 2, it is provided that "the production of a written or printed copy of any bye-laws made by the council of a borough, either under the Municipal Corporations Act of the fifth and sixth of William the Fourth, chapter seventy-three, or under any present or future general or local Act of Parliament, authenticated by the common seal of the borough shall be evidence until the contrary is proved of the due making and existence of such bye-laws, and if so stated in such copy, of the same bye-laws having been approved and confirmed by the authority whose approval or confirmation is or shall be required to the making or enforcing of such bye-laws in all legal proceedings without further proof of the making of such bye-laws, or of such approval or confirmation, or of the said common seal."

⁽²⁾ The previous enactments were the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 37, and the Public Health Act, 1872, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 79, s. 10.

⁽³⁾ As to the medical officer of health, see section 191, post; and see section 136, ante, as to appointment of medical and other officers in case of epidemic diseases.

⁽⁴⁾ As to the appointment, tenure of office, duties and remuneration of the inspector of nuisances, see the regulations of the Local Government Board, post.

⁽⁶⁾ As to what offices are tenable by the same person, see section 192, post.

As to the giving of security by officers intrusted with money, see section 194, post.

Formerly the duties and conduct of officers, &c., were settled by bye-laws, but this is now unnecessary. The regulations which have now taken the place of bye-laws need not be confirmed by the Local Government Board. See section 188, supra.

In order to bind the urban authority, the appointment must be under seal: Austin v. Bethnal Green Vestry, ante, p. 138; and see section 173 and notes thereto, ante, and per Brett, L.J., Newington Local Board v. Eldridge, post, p. 151.

But it is not competent to third parties to raise the question that the appointment is not under seal. It is sufficient that the officer is de facto in office and acting under it:

Subject, in the case of officers any portion of whose salary is paid out of moneys voted by Parliament, to the powers of the Local Government Board under this Act, the urban authority may pay to the officers and servants so appointed or employed such reasonable salaries, wages, or allowances as the urban authority may think proper; and, subject as aforesaid, every such officer and servant appointed under this Act shall be removable by the urban authority at their pleasure ⁽¹⁾.

190 ⁽²⁾. Every rural authority shall from time to time appoint fit and proper persons to be medical officer or officers of health, and inspector or inspectors of nuisances; they shall also appoint such assistants and other officers and servants as may be necessary and proper for the efficient execution of this Act ⁽³⁾.

The legality of the appointment of the superior officers may perhaps be questioned by means of quo warranto information: R. v. Guardians of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, 17 Q. B. 149; but see Darley v. R., 12 Cl. & F. 520.

As to compensation to officers removed from office or deprived of the whole or part of their emoluments by this Act or the Public Health Act, 1872, or any provisional order made in pursuance of these Acts, see section 309, post.

By rule 64 of Schedule II. (1), post, any member of a local board who accepts or holds any office or place of profit under the board shall cease to be a member.

An action lies for a salary which is authorised to be paid out of rates leviable by the defendants: Hall v. Taylor, 1 E. B. & E. 107, 27 L. J. Q. B. 311, 22 Jur. N. S. 877. Otherwise, except where there is a contract under seal, no action lies, but the remedy is by mandamus: Bogg v. Pearce, 10 C. B. 534, 20 L. J. C. P. 99. See also Edwards v. Lowndes, 1 E. & B. 81, 22 L. J. Q. B. 104, 17 Jur. N. S. 412; Kendall v. King, 25 L. J. C. P. 132; and Cane v. Chapman, 1 N. & P. 104.

As to power to award extra remuneration to officer for performance of work not falling within the scope of his ordinary duties, see R. v. Gloucester Board, 33 L. T. 145. And as to giving gratuities to officers out of the rates beyond their salaries, see Ex parte Mellish, 8 L. T. N. S. 47.

As to employment of solicitor, see Hall v. Taylor, supra. It would seem that if a person were appointed solicitor to a corporation, and were to bring an action against them for employing some one else, he would have to show his appointment under seal. But if he were to conduct a suit for them and to bring an action for his costs, it would not be necessary to show an appointment under seal: Newington Local Board v. Eldridge, L. R. 12 Ch. D. 349, per Brett, L.J., at p. 360. It would seem that where the clerk of an urban authority performs professional services for them as a solicitor, he has a lien upon the papers for his costs: Newington Local Board v. Eldridge, supra. In Bush v. Martin, 2 H. & C. 311, 33 L. J. Ex. 17, 10 Jur. N. S. 347, 8 L. T. N. S. 509, it was held that the clerk (who was an attorney) of town improvement commissioners at a fixed salary, need not deliver a signed bill as an attorney in respect of his salary.

⁽¹⁾ The officer may be removed though no charge has been made, nor any notice given to him, nor opportunity afforded for making a defence, and without any statement of the grounds of removal: R. v. Governors of Darlington School, 6 Q. B. 682, 14 L. J. Q. B. 67; Teather v. Poor Law Commissioners, 19 L. J. M. C. 70, 15 J. P. 36.

It seems that a resolution dismissing an officer, is not a resolution rescinding the resolution by which he was appointed within the meaning of a bye-law with respect to the rescission of resolutions by a local board: Ex parte Richards, ante, p. 148.

As to protection of officers of local authorities from personal liability, see section 265, post.

Secs. 190—192. There may be awarded to the clerk and treasurer of the guardians of any union, in respect of the additional duties of such officers under this Act, such remuneration as the rural authority may, with the approval of the Local Government Board, determine. If the clerk of the union is unable or unwilling to undertake such additional duties, the assistant clerk of the union shall be appointed to discharge the same, with such remuneration as aforesaid.

As to medical officer of health, &c.

191 ⁽¹⁾. A person shall not be appointed medical officer of health under this Act unless he is a legally qualified medical practitioner ⁽²⁾; and the Local Government Board shall have the same powers as it has in the case of a district medical officer of a union with regard to the qualification, appointment, duties, salary and tenure of office of a medical officer of health or other officer of a local authority any portion of whose salary is paid out of moneys voted by Parliament, and may by order prescribe the qualification and duties of other medical officers of health appointed under this Act ⁽³⁾.

The same person may, with the sanction of the Local Government Board, be appointed medical officer of health or inspector of nuisances for two or more districts, by the local authorities of such districts; and the Local Government Board shall by order prescribe the mode of such appointment, and the proportions in which the expenses of such appointment and the salary and charges of such officer shall be borne by such authorities ⁽⁴⁾.

Any district medical officer of a union may, with the sanction of the Local Government Board and subject to such conditions as the said Board may prescribe, be appointed a medical officer of health; and a medical officer of health may exercise any of the powers with which an inspector of nuisances is invested by this Act.

In case of illness or incapacity of the medical officer of health a local authority may appoint and pay a deputy medical officer, subject to the approval of the Local Government Board.

Offices tenable by same persons.

192 ⁽⁵⁾. The same person may be both surveyor and inspector of nuisances; but neither the person holding the office of treasurer, nor his partner, nor any person in the service or employ of them or either of them, shall be eligible to hold or shall in any manner assist or officiate in the office of clerk; and neither the person holding the office of clerk, nor his partner, or any person in the service or employ of them or either of them, shall be eligible to hold or shall in any manner assist or officiate in the office of treasurer.

Any person offending against this enactment shall forfeit and pay the sum of one hundred pounds, which may be recovered by any person, with full costs of suit, by action of debt ⁽⁶⁾.

Amendment Act, 1876, 39 & 40 Vict. c. 61, s. 17, it is provided that "if any officer seek a superannuation allowance from the guardians of any union or parish or from the overseers of any such parish under any statute applicable to such allowance, his service as a registrar of marriages or under any of the provisions of the Sanitary Acts as defined by the 'Public Health Act, 1875,' or of that Act shall not operate to prevent him from obtaining the same." 193 (1). Officers or servants appointed or employed under this Act by the local authority shall not in anywise be concerned or interested in any bargain or contract made with such authority for any of the purposes of this Act (2). Secs. 193—196.

If any such officer or servant is so concerned or interested, or, under colour of his office or employment, exacts or accepts any fee or reward whatsoever other than his proper salary, wages and allowances, he shall be incapable of afterwards holding or continuing in any office or employment under this Act, and shall forfeit and pay the sum of fifty pounds, which may be recovered by any person, with full costs of suit, by action of debt (3). Officers not to contract with local authority.

194 (4). Before any officer or servant of a local authority enters on any office or employment under this Act by reason whereof he will or may be intrusted with the custody or control of money, the local authority by whom he is appointed shall take from him sufficient security for the faithful execution of such office or employment, and for duly accounting for all moneys which may be intrusted to him by reason thereof (5). Officers intrusted with money to give security.

195 (6). Every officer and servant appointed or employed under this Act by a local authority shall, when and in such manner as may be required by such authority, make out and deliver to them a true and perfect account in writing of all moneys received by him for the purposes of this Act, stating how and to whom and for what purpose such moneys have been disposed of, and shall, together with such accounts, deliver the vouchers or receipts for all payments made by him, and pay over to the treasurer all moneys owing by him on the balance of accounts. Officers to account.

And every such officer or servant employed in the collection of any rate made under this Act shall, within seven days after he has received any moneys on account of any such rate, pay over the same to the treasurer, and shall, as and when the local authority may direct, deliver a list signed by him and containing the names of all persons who have neglected or refused to pay any such rate, and the sums respectively due from them (7).

Power of urban authority to appoint committees.

Power of rural authority to delegate their powers and duties to a committee.

Power of rural authority to form parochial committees.

200 (1). Every urban authority may from time to time appoint out of their own number so many persons as they may think fit, for any purposes of this Act which in the opinion of such authority would be better regulated and managed by means of a committee: Provided that a committee so appointed shall in no case be authorised to borrow any money, to make any rate, or to enter into any contract, and shall be subject to any regulations and restrictions which may be imposed by the authority that formed it (2).

201 (3). A rural authority may, at any meeting specially convened for the purpose, delegate for the current year of their office all their powers to a committee consisting wholly of their own members; provided that one third at least of such committee shall consist of ex-officio guardians, but in case an adequate number of such ex-officio guardians does not exist, then the number deficient shall be made up of elected guardians; and any such committee shall have the powers by this Act vested in the rural authority by which it was formed, and shall be deemed to be during such year of office as aforesaid the rural authority of the district (4).

202 (5). A rural authority (including any committee so formed as aforesaid) (6) may, at any meeting specially convened for the purpose, form for any contributory place (7) within their district a parochial committee consisting wholly of members of such authority or committee, or partly of such members and partly of such other persons liable to contribute to the rate levied for the relief of the poor in such contributory place, and qualified in such other manner (if any) as the authority forming such parochial committee may determine.

A rural authority (including any committee so formed as aforesaid) (6) may from time to time add to or diminish the number of the members, or otherwise alter the constitution of any parochial committee formed by it, or dissolve any parochial committee.

A parochial committee shall be subject to any regulations (8) and restrictions which may be imposed by the authority which formed it: Provided that no jurisdiction shall be given to a parochial committee beyond the limits of the contributory place for which it is formed, and that no powers shall be delegated to a parochial committee except powers which the rural authority could exercise within such contributory place (9).

From this it follows, the Board say, that the appointment of officers cannot be delegated to a parochial committee, and it would also seem that the power to issue precepts for contributions cannot be so delegated, as it is a matter connected with the general administration of the affairs of the whole district, and because the board of guardians bear the liabilities for the whole of their district. A parochial committee shall be deemed to be the agents of the authority which formed it, and the appointment of such committee shall not relieve that authority from any obligation imposed on it by Act of Parliament or otherwise.

A parochial committee may be empowered by the authority which formed it to incur expenses to an amount not exceeding such amount as may be prescribed by such authority; it shall report its expenditure to such authority as and when directed by such authority, and the amount so reported, if legally incurred, shall be discharged by such authority.

(3) To consider complaints of any nuisances, and the action of the medical officer of health or inspector of nuisances thereon, and to inform these officers of any nuisances requiring their attention, and to give such directions for abatement of the same, in cases of urgency, as the circumstances may seem to require. RATING AND BORROWING POWERS, &c.

EXPENSES OF URBAN AUTHORITY AND URBAN RATES.

207 ⁽²⁾. All expenses incurred or payable by an urban authority in the execution of this Act, and not otherwise provided for, shall be charged on and defrayed out of the district fund ⁽³⁾ and a general district rate ⁽³⁾ leviable by them under this Act, subject to the following exceptions; (namely,)

Mode of defraying expenses of urban authority.

That if in any district the expenses incurred by an urban authority (being the Council of a borough) in the execution of the Sanitary Acts were at the time of the passing of this Act payable out of the borough fund or borough rate ⁽⁴⁾, then the expenses incurred by that authority in the execution of this Act shall be charged on and defrayed out of the borough fund or borough rate ⁽⁵⁾; and

By Circular of Local Government Board, dated 20th January, 1873, the following directions were given as to correspondence with the Board:—

“1. That no document, except returns signed by the clerk, be transmitted to the office without a covering letter from him authenticating it.

“2. That every distinct subject of communication form a distinct letter on a separate sheet of foolscap paper.

“3. That where previous communications have taken place on the same subject, the official number and the date of the last communication be quoted.

“4. That the name of the sanitary authority, and the date of the meeting next following the communication, and the address of the clerk, be placed at the head of all communications from the sanitary authority to the Board.

“5. That all communications and packages from the country which are directed to the office be, as far the arrangements of the post office will permit, transmitted through the post, and be directed under cover ‘To the Local Government Board, Whitehall, London.’”

⁽⁵⁾ It is a rule of construction that when a person or class of persons are entitled to a benefit, it is to be presumed that the vested interest is respected; it is not to be taken away by a subsequent statute by general words, or unless the intention so to do clearly appears. By a local Act passed in 1848, commissioners were appointed for sanitary purposes over a district lying partly within and partly without the borough of Walsall; they had power to levy an improvement rate, in which railways were to be assessed at one-fourth of their value. A railway company whose line ran through the district were assessed according to the provisions of the local Act up to the year 1872. By the Public Health Act, 1872, urban sanitary authorities were formed, and the Council of the borough became the urban authority, and the jurisdiction of the commissioners over the part of their district lying within the borough was transferred to the Council. By section 16, if the Local Government Acts were not then in force in a borough, sanitary

That if in any district the expenses incurred by an urban authority (being improvement commissioners) in the execution of the Sanitary Acts were at the time of the passing of this Act payable out of any rate in the nature of a general district rate leviable by them as such commissioners throughout the whole of their district, then the expenses incurred by that authority in the execution of this Act shall be charged on and defrayed out of such rate; and for the purposes of this section the Council of the borough of Folkestone shall be deemed to be improvement commissioners; and

That where at the time of the passing of this Act the expenses incurred by an urban authority in the execution of certain purposes of the Sanitary Acts were payable out of the borough fund and borough rate, and the expenses incurred by such authority in the execution of the other purposes of the said Acts were payable out of a rate or rates leviable by that authority throughout the whole of their district for paving, sewerage, or other sanitary purposes, then the expenses incurred by that authority in the execution of the same or similar purposes respectively under this Act shall respectively be charged on and defrayed out of the borough fund and borough rate, and out of the rate or rates leviable as aforesaid.

Power in certain cases by provisional order to alter mode.

208 (1). Where at the time of the passing of this Act the expenses incurred by an urban authority for sanitary purposes are payable otherwise than in the manner provided by the Local Government Acts (2), the Local Government Board may, on the application of such authority, or of any ten persons rated to the relief of the poor within the district, declare by provisional order (3) that the expenses of such authority incurred in the execution of this Act shall be defrayed out of a district fund (4) and general district rate (4) to be levied by them under this Act, subject to the provisions of this Act with respect to the mode of defraying in certain cases the expenses of the repair of highways (5).

General District Rate.

District fund account.

209 (6). In the district of every urban authority whose expenses under this Act are directed to be defrayed out of the district fund and general district rate there shall be continued or established a fund called the district fund (7): a expenses were to be defrayed out of the borough rate, provided that where an urban authority had, before 1872, power to levy rates for sanitary purposes, the expenses thereof should be defrayed out of those rates. A borough rate has no limitation in favour of railways. By the Public Health Act, 1875, s. 207, the expenses of an urban authority under the Act were to be defrayed by a general district rate, but if in any district the expenses incurred by an urban authority being the Council of a borough were in 1875 payable out of the borough rate, they should continue to be so charged. By section 211, in making a general district rate railways were to be assessed at only one-fourth of their value. A borough rate was made for Walsall in December, 1876, in order to defray amongst others sanitary expenses, in which the railway company were assessed at the full value of their line.

Held, that the rate was bad, and that a general district rate under the Public Health Act, 1875, s. 207, should have been made assessing the railway company at one-fourth of the value of their line: Overseers of Walsall v. London & N. W. Ry., L. R. 4 App. Cas. 467, 48 L. J. M. C. 166, 41 L. T. N. S. 106, 28 W. R. 52.

S. 440, where a Local Board having misapplied rates towards defraying the expenses of a bill in Parliament, the Court granted an injunction to restrain the further prosecution of the bill, which, however, had been abandoned before the hearing. But a member of the Board, who proved that he had opposed the scheme embodied in the bill, was held not to be personally liable, and the information was dismissed with costs as against him.

Sec. 210.

Making
district rate.

210 (1). For the purpose of defraying any expenses chargeable on the district fund which that fund is insufficient to meet, the urban authority shall from time to time, as occasion may require, make by writing under their common seal, and levy in addition to any other rate leviable by them under this Act, a rate or rates to be called "General District Rates."

Any such rate may be made and levied either prospectively in order to raise money for the payment of future charges and expenses, or retrospectively in order to raise money for the payment of charges and expenses incurred at any time within six months before the making of the rate: in calculating the period of six months during which the rate may be made retrospectively, the time during which any appeal or other proceeding relating to such rate is pending shall be excluded (2).

(1) The previous enactments were the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 87, and the Local Government Act, 1858, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 54 (4).

(2) Past and future expenses may, it seems, be provided for in the same rate, so long as the different items are sufficiently specified in the estimate: R. v. Workshop Board, 5 B. & S. 951, 34 L. J. M. C. 220. As to levying a rate retrospectively to defray a debt incurred by improvement commissioners whose powers had been transferred to the urban authority, though more than six months had elapsed, see Ward v. Lowndes, 1 El. & El. 340, 29 L. J. Q. B. 40, 8 W. R. 81, 1 L. T. N. S. 268, 6 Jur. N. S. 247.

Mandatory proceedings to compel the

In Worthington v. Moss Side Board or Hulton, L. R. 1 Q. B. 63, 6 B. & S. 943, 35 L. J. Q. B. 61, 13 L. T. N. S. 463, 14 W. R. 632, 12 Jur. N. S. 73, it was held that a mandamus might be granted to make a rate in order to satisfy a judgment obtained within six months before the claim for the writ, though the action in which the judgment was obtained was commenced more than six months after the right of action accrued, provided the delay is excused and shown not to have been undue. But see Burland v. Kingston-upon-Hull Board, 3 B. & S. 271, 32 L. J. Q. B. 17, 7 L. T. N. S. 316, 9 Jur. N. S. 275, 11 W. R. 33. Where in an action against them a Local Board consented to a judge's order under which judgment was signed with a stay of execution for several months, and afterwards a mandamus to the Board to make a rate was issued more than six months after judgment had been signed, but within six months of the time to which execution had been stayed, it was held under the previous enactment (note (1), supra), that it was not beyond the authority of the Board to agree that execution should be stayed for a time, and that this having been done, the period within which the rate might be made was six months from the time when execution might first have been issued: R. v. Rotherham Board, 8 El. & Bl. 906, 27 L. J. Q. B. 156, 4 Jur. N. S. 261. So under the previous enactment (note (1), supra) it was held that a mandamus might be obtained to compel a Local Board to levy a rate to pay an amount awarded upon a claim for compensation, though the damage in respect of which compensation was claimed occurred more than six months before the application for the mandamus, but the award was made within six months, for the time must be reckoned from the making of the award: Ringland v. Lowndes, 15 C. B. N. S. 189, 33 L. J. C. P. 25, 12 W. R. 168, 9 L. T. N. S. 479, 10 Jur. N. S. 48.

The remedy by mandamus is applicable only where the amount of the claim is payable out of the rates. If there is a personal remedy against the members of the Board the remedy is by action. See Bush v. Beavan, 1 H. & C. 500, 32 L. J. Ex. 54, 7 L. T. N. S. 106, 8 Jur. N. S. 1015.

Prior to the Judicature Acts the rule was that application for the costs of mandamus must be made within two terms of the obeying of the writ: Reg.-Gen., T. T. 1867; and as to preservation of terms as a measure of time, see Governors of Christ's Hospital v. Martin, L. R. 3 Q. B. D. 16, 46 L. J. Q. B. 591, 36 L. T. N. S. 537, 25 W. R. 637. Now as to the practice as regards actions of, and prerogative writs of, mandamus, see Rules of the Supreme Court, 1883, Order LIII. and Order XLII. rr. 30, 31; and as to the application of certain other orders and rules, see Order LIII. r. 15. As to costs in case of delay in enforcing demand, see R. v. Burleigh, 1 L. T. N. S. 92.

Any judgment or order against a corporation wilfully disobeyed may, by leave of the Court or judge, be enforced by sequestration against the corporate property or against Public notice of intention to make any such rate, and of the time when it is intended to make the same, and of the place where a statement of the proposed rate is deposited for inspection, shall be given by the urban authority in the week immediately before the day on which the rate is intended to be made, and at least seven days previously thereto; but in case of proceedings to levy or recover any rate it shall not be necessary to prove that such notice was given.

Secs. 210,
211.

211 (1). With respect to the assessment and levying of general district rates under this Act the following provisions shall have effect (2); (namely,)

Assessment,
&c., of general
district rate.

(1.) General district rates shall be made and levied on the occupier of all kinds of property for the time being by law assessable to any rate for the relief of the poor, and shall be assessed on the full net annual value of such property, ascertained by the valuation list for the time being in force, or, if there is none, by the rate for the relief of the poor made next before the making of the assessment under this Act, subject to the following exceptions, regulations, and conditions (3); (namely,)

(a.) The owner, instead of the occupier, may at the option of the urban authority be rated in cases—

Where the rateable value of any premises liable to assessment under this Act does not exceed the sum of ten pounds; or

Where any premises so liable are let to weekly or monthly tenants; or

Where any premises so liable are let in separate apartments, or where the rents become payable or are collected at any shorter period than quarterly:

Provided that in cases where the owner is rated instead of the occupier he shall be assessed on such reduced estimate as the urban authority the officers thereof, or by writ of sequestration against their property. Order XLIII. r. 31, supra.

As to the "burial rate," see section 310, post, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 49, re-enacted in Schedule V. (III.), post, p. 256, and 23 & 24 Vict. c. 64, ss. 1 and 2, post.

Burial rate.

Oxford Local Board.

(1) The previous enactments were the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 89, and the Local Government Act, 1858, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 55.

(2) In S. Wales Ry. v. Swansea Board, 7 El. & Bl. 193, speaking of the previous enactment, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 89, Erle, J., said, "The general scheme of the enactment is that the occupiers of the classes of property most benefited by the expenditure of the district rates shall be liable to be rated at a higher rate, the occupiers of the classes less benefited at a lower rate; and the class of property most benefited is that which is occupied immediately for the purpose of residence; and the kinds of property not so occupied are not to be rated so highly."

(3) As to the making of a general district rate, see the preceding section.

The valuation list for the time being in force is now conclusive. The power which was given by section 56 of the previous enactment, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, of making a special valuation has not been re-enacted in the present Act.

As to the power to inspect, take copies of, and make extracts from the valuation list, see section 212, post.

As to the power to amend rates, see section 221, post.

As to the recovery of rates, &c., see sections 256 et seq., post.

Under the previous enactment, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 55, it was held that the guardians of a workhouse of a poor law union partly within and partly without the district of a local board were liable to be rated. The words, "all kinds of property for the time being," &c., refer to the description of the property, and not to the nature of the occupation: Guardians of Toxteth Park v. Toxteth Park Board, 1 B. & S. 167, 30 L. J. C. 154, 4 L. T. N. S. 283, 7 Jur. N. S. 860, 9 W. R. 691. In Hodgson v. Carlisle Board, 8 El. & Bl. 116, 4 Jur. N. S. 160, it was held that property cannot be assessed to a general district rate unless there is some person having such an occupation as would make him liable to the poor rate in respect thereof.

Sec. 211.

deem reasonable of the net annual value, not being less than two-thirds nor more than four-fifths of the net annual value; and where such reduced estimate is in respect of tenements whether occupied or unoccupied, then such assessment may be made on one-half of the amount at which such tenements would be liable to be rated if the same were occupied and the rate were levied on the occupiers⁽¹⁾.

(b.) The owner of any tithes⁽²⁾, or of any tithe commutation rent-charge, or the occupier of any land used as arable, meadow, or pasture ground only, or as woodlands, market gardens, or nursery grounds, and the occupier of any land covered with water⁽³⁾, or used only as a canal or towing-path for the same, or as a railway constructed under the powers of any Act of Parliament for public conveyance⁽⁴⁾, shall be assessed in respect of the same in the proportion of one-fourth part only of such net annual value thereof:

(c.) If within any urban district or part of such district any kind of property is exempted from rating by any local Act in respect of all or any of the purposes for which general district rates may be made under this Act, the same kind of property shall, in respect of the same purposes, and to the same extent within the parts to which the exemption applies (but not further or otherwise), be exempt from assessment to any general district rates under this Act unless the Local Government Board by provisional order otherwise direct⁽⁵⁾.

(1) It is discretionary with the urban authority to rate the owner in respect of premises whether occupied or not, but when they have decided to rate him, then the assessment must be upon one-half the rateable value: R. v. Barclay, L. R. 8 Q. B. D. 486, 51 L. J. M. C. 47, 46 L. T. N. S. 335, 30 W. R. 672, 46 J. P. 693.

(2) See R. v. Sherford, L. R. 2 Q. B. 503, 36 L. J. M. C. 113, 16 L. T. N. S. 663, 15 W. R. 1035, 31 J. P. 629, and Lawrence v. Tolleshunt Knights, 31 L. J. M. C. 148, 10 W. R. 620, 26 J. P. 422.

(3) A wet dock comes within the description of land covered with water, and a dock railway open to the public on payment of tolls is within this proviso, but the land adjacent, including landing places, coal hoists, machinery, &c., is not part of the dock: R. v. Newport Dock Co., 2 B. & S. 708, 31 L. J. M. C. 266, 6 L. T. N. S. 456, 9 Jur. N. S. 73. So filter beds or reservoirs are land covered with water, but not so land occupied by pipes, mains, &c., used for supply of water: East London Waterworks Co. v. Leyton Sewer Authority, L. R. 6 Q. B. 669, 40 L. J. M. C. 190; R. v. Birmingham Waterworks Co., 1 B. & S. 84, 4 L. T. N. S. 242, 25 J. P. 308.

(4) "Railway" includes platforms, sidings, turntables, &c., but not the stations, offices and warehouses, which are auxiliary to the working of the railway: S. Wales Ry. v. Swansea Board, 4 E. & B. 189, 24 L. J. M. C. 30, 1 Jur. N. S. 326; Midland Ry. v. Birmingham Corporation, 13 L. T. N. S. 404, 30 J. P. 197; N. E. Ry. v. Scarborough, 33 J. P. 244. So a piece of land between the line and rails and a river and in respect of which wharfage dues are received, is not within the proviso, not being land used as a railway: R. v. Taff Vale Ry., 22 J. P. 21.

A railway constructed without parliamentary powers, though afterwards sold to a parliamentary railway company and enlarged and used for public traffic, is not within the exception: N. E. Ry. v. Leadgate Board, L. R. 5 Q. B. 157, 39 L. J. M. C. 65, 22 L. T. N. S. 62, 18 W. R. 691, 34 J. P. 598. See further R. v. Neath Overseers, L. R. 6 Q. B. 707, 40 L. J. M. C. 193, and Peto v. W. Ham, 2 El. & El. 144, 28 L. J. M. C. 240, 5 Jur. N. S. 1209.

See also Overseers of Walsall v. London & N. W. Ry., ante, p. 158.

(5) This proviso only applies to property exempted in respect of its kind and not in respect of its locality: Luscombe and others v. Plymouth Board, E. B. & E. 691, 27 L. J. M. C. 299, 31 L. T. 314, 6 W. R. 34, 4 Jur. N. S. 1234; Tait v. Carlisle Board, 2 El. & Bl. 492, 18 Jur. 374; and see Guardians of Toxteth Park v. Toxteth Board, ante, p. 161, and Coates v. Kingston-upon-Hull Board, 2 Jur. N. S. 1086.

See, further, Overseers of Walsall v. London & N. W. Ry., ante, p. 158.

- (2.) If at the time of making any general district rate any premises in respect of which the rate may be made are unoccupied, such premises shall be included in the rate, but the rate shall not be charged on any person in respect of the same while they continue to be unoccupied; and if any such premises are afterwards occupied during any part of the period for which the rate was made and before the same has been fully paid, the name of the incoming tenant shall be inserted in the rate, and thereupon so much of the rate as at the commencement of his tenancy may be in proportion to the remainder of the said period shall be collected, recovered and paid in the same manner in all respects as if the premises had been occupied at the time when the rate was made:
- (3.) If any owner or occupier assessed or liable to any such rate ceases to be owner or occupier of the premises in respect whereof he is so assessed or liable, before the end of the period for which the rate was made, and before the same is fully paid off, he shall be liable to pay only such part of the rate as may be in proportion to the time during which he continues to be such owner or occupier; and in every such case if any person afterwards become owner or occupier of the premises during part of the said period, he shall pay such part of the rate as may be in proportion to the time during which he continues to be such owner or occupier, and the same shall be recovered from him in the same manner as if he had been originally assessed or liable:
- (4.) The urban authority may divide their district or any street therein into parts for all or any of the purposes of this Act, and from time to time abolish or alter any such divisions, and may make a separate assessment on any such part for all or any of the purposes for which the same is formed ⁽¹⁾; and every such part so far as relates to the purposes in respect of which such separate assessment is made, shall be exempt from any other assessment under this Act: Provided that if any expenses are incurred or to be incurred in respect of two or more parts in common the same shall be apportioned between them in a fair and equitable manner.

213.

⁽¹⁾ The power to divide their district and make a separate assessment is a discretionary power. If the authority do not divide their district and a rate is made, it will be laid upon the whole district, although premises rated receive no direct or immediate improvement from the works in respect of which the rate is made. It is enough if any part of the district is benefited: Dorling v. Epsom Board, 5 El. & Bl. 471, 24 L. J. M. C. 152, 1 Jur. N. S. 936.

The express power to abolish the division is new.

⁽³⁾ As to the recovery of penalties, see sections 251 et seq., post.

⁽⁴⁾ The previous enactment was the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. 63, s. 90.

⁽⁵⁾ Local authorities are empowered to declare expenses to be private improvement expenses under the following sections, viz., sections 23, 36, 41, 62, 150.

Secs. 213— the occupier of the premises in respect of which the expenses have been incurred, in addition to all other rates, a rate or rates to be called private improvement rates, of such amount as will be sufficient to discharge such expenses, together with interest thereon at a rate not exceeding five pounds per centum per annum, in such period not exceeding thirty years as the urban authority may in each case determine.

Provided that whenever any premises in respect of which any private improvement rate is made become unoccupied before the expiration of the period for which the rate was made, or before the same is fully paid off, such rate shall become a charge on and be paid by the owner for the time being of the premises so long as the same continue to be unoccupied.

Proportion of private improvement rate may be deducted from rent.

214 (1). Where the occupier by whom any private improvement rate is paid holds the premises in respect of which the rate is made at a rent not less than the rack rent, he shall be entitled to deduct three-fourths of the amount paid by him on account of such rate from the rent payable by him to his landlord, and if he hold at a rent less than the rack rent he shall be entitled to deduct from the rent so payable by him such proportion of three-fourths of the rate as his rent bears to the rack rent; and if the landlord from whose rent any deduction is so made is himself liable to the payment of rent for the premises in respect of which the deduction is made, and holds the same for a term of which less than twenty years is unexpired (but not otherwise), he may deduct from the rent so payable by him such proportion of the sum deducted from the rent payable to him as the rent payable by him bears to the rent payable to him, and so in succession with respect to every landlord (holding for a term of which less than twenty years is unexpired) of the same premises both receiving and liable to pay rent in respect thereof (2).

Provided that nothing in this section shall be construed to entitle any person to deduct from the rent payable by him more than the whole sum deducted from the rent payable to him.

Redemption of private improvement rates.

215 (3). At any time before the expiration of the period for which any private improvement rate is made, the owner or occupier of the premises assessed thereto may redeem the same, by paying to the urban authority the expenses in respect of which the rate was made, or such part thereof as may not have been defrayed by sums already levied in respect of the same:

Provided that money paid in redemption of any private improvement rate shall not be applied by the urban authority otherwise than in defraying expenses incurred by them in works of private improvement or in discharging the principal of any moneys borrowed by them to meet those expenses, whether by means of a sinking fund or otherwise.

Publication of private improvement rate is not required. See the proviso to section 222, post.

Where an urban authority have declared expenses to be private improvement expenses, they cannot afterwards proceed summarily in respect of them. See Gould v. Bacup Board, ante, p. 123.

Highway Rate ⁽¹⁾.

Sec. 216.

216 ⁽²⁾. In any urban district where the expenses under this Act of the urban authority are charged on and defrayed out of the district fund and general district rates, and no other mode of providing for repair of highways is directed by any local Act, the cost of repair of highways shall be defrayed as follows; (that is to say,)

Costs of repairs of highways.

(1.) Where the whole of the district is rated for works of paving, water supply, and sewerage, or for works for such of these purposes as are provided for in the district, the cost of repair of highways shall be defrayed out of the general district rate ⁽³⁾;

(2.) Where parts of the district are not rated for works of paving, water supply, and sewerage, or for such of these purposes as are provided for in the district, the cost of repair of highways in those parts shall be defrayed out of a highway rate to be separately assessed and levied in those parts by the urban authority as surveyor of highways, and the cost of such repair in the residue of the district shall be defrayed out of the general district rate ⁽⁴⁾:

(3.) Where no public works of paving, water supply, and sewerage are established in the district, the cost of repair of highways in the district shall be defrayed out of a highway rate, to be levied throughout the whole district by the urban authority as surveyor of highways ⁽⁵⁾:

Provided that where part of a parish is included within an urban district, and the excluded part was, before the constitution of that district, liable to contribute to the highway rates for such parish, such excluded part shall (unless in the case of an urban district constituted before the passing of this Act a resolution deciding that such excluded part should be formed into a separate highway district has been passed in pursuance of the Local Government Act, 1858, Amendment Act, 1861, or unless such excluded part has been included in a highway district under the Highway Acts ⁽⁶⁾), for all purposes connected with the repairs of highways and the payment of highway rates, be considered to be and be treated as forming part of such district ⁽⁷⁾.

Provided also, that in the case of an urban district constituted after the passing

⁽²⁾ The previous enactment was the Local Government Act, 1858, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 37. As to the proviso, see note ⁽⁶⁾, infra.

⁽³⁾ As to the general district rate, see sections 209 et seq., ante.

⁽⁴⁾ A district was formed in 1869, consisting of one hamlet and part of two others, each hamlet repairing its own highways. A highway rate having been made for the whole district including the excluded parts of the two hamlets, it was held that this was right, for the excluded parts were for all purposes of the highway rates to be treated as forming part of the district: R. v. Nield, W. Notes, 1871, p. 121.

By 26 & 27 Vict. c. 17, s. 6, post, for the purposes of meetings of a highway board, local government districts or places surrounded by or adjoining a highway district are deemed within such highway district.

As to the assessment for the highway rate, see the Highway Acts, post.

⁽⁵⁾ Where a curbing was laid down to a footpath 300 yards in length, but no other works of paving were done within the district, it was held that the curbing did not constitute "a public work of paving established within the district": Oxenhope Board v. Mayor of Bradford, 47 L. T. N. S. 344, 31 W. R. 322.

Under the previous enactment, note ⁽²⁾, supra, it was held that the local authority had no power to divide their district for the purposes of the highway rate (see section 211, sub-section 4, ante, p. 163): Re Broughton Board, 12 L. T. N. S. 310.

⁽⁶⁾ By 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, s. 1, "The Highway Acts" includes "all the above-mentioned Acts (i.e., 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 50, and 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61) and any Act passed or to be passed amending the same."

Secs. 216— of this Act a meeting of owners and ratepayers of the excluded part (to be 219. convened and conducted in the manner provided by Schedule III. to this Act) may decide that such excluded part shall be a highway parish, and thereupon the excluded part shall for all purposes connected with highways, surveyors of highways, and highway rates, be considered and treated as a parish maintaining its own highways; but the requisition for holding any such meeting shall be made within six months after the constitution of the urban district.

The Court of Quarter Sessions may by order direct that for any such excluded part a waywarden or waywardens shall be elected, and may invest any waywarden elected in pursuance of any such order with all or any of the powers of waywardens under the Highway Acts ⁽¹⁾.

Certain acts not required to be done in case of highway rate made by urban authority.

217 ⁽²⁾. It shall not be necessary for the urban authority, in the case of any highway rate made by them, to do the following acts or any of them ⁽³⁾; (that is to say,)

To lay such rate before any justices, or obtain their allowance;

To annex thereto the signature of such urban authority;

To lay the same before the parishioners assembled in vestry;

To verify before any justices any accounts kept by them of such highway rates; and all such accounts shall be audited in all respects in the same way as the other accounts of the urban authority.

General Provisions as to Urban Rates.

Estimate to be prepared before making rates.

218 ⁽⁴⁾. Every urban authority, before proceeding to make a general district rate or private improvement rate under this Act ⁽⁵⁾, shall cause an estimate to be prepared of the money required for the purposes in respect of which the rate is to be made, showing—

The several sums required for each of such purposes; and

The rateable value of the property assessable; and

The amount of rate which for those purposes it is necessary to make on each pound of such value; and the estimate so made shall forthwith, after being approved of by the urban authority, be entered in the rate book, and be kept at their office, open to public inspection during office hours thereat; but it shall not be deemed part of the rate, nor in any respect affect the validity of the same ⁽⁶⁾.

Rates to be open to inspection.

219 ⁽⁷⁾. Any person interested in or assessed to any rate made under this Act may inspect the same, and any estimate made previously thereto ⁽⁸⁾, and may take copies of or extracts therefrom without fee or reward; any person who, having the custody of any such estimate or rate, refuses to allow or does not permit such inspection, or such copies or extracts to be taken, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds ⁽⁹⁾.

220 (1). Where the name of any owner or occupier liable to be rated under this Act is not known to the urban authority it shall be sufficient to assess and designate him in the rate as "the owner" or "the occupier" of the premises in respect of which the assessment is made, without further description.

Secs. 220—223.

221 (2). An urban authority may from time to time amend any rate made in pursuance of this Act, by inserting therein the name of any person claiming and entitled to have his name inserted, or by inserting the name of any person who ought to have been assessed, or by striking out the name of any person who ought not to have been assessed, or by raising or reducing the sum at which any person has been assessed, if it appears to the urban authority that he has been under-rated or over-rated, or by making any other alteration which will make the rate conformable to the provisions of this Act; and no such amendment shall be held to avoid the rate.

Description of owner or occupier in rates.
Rates may be amended.

Provided, that any person who may feel himself aggrieved by any such amendment shall have the same right of appeal (3) therefrom as he would have had if the matter of amendment had appeared on the rate originally made, and with respect to him an amended rate shall be considered to have been made at the time when he first received notice of the amendment (4); and an amended rate shall not be payable by any person the amount of whose rate is increased by the amendment, or whose name is thereby newly inserted, until seven days after such notice has been given to him.

222 (5). All rates made or collected under this Act shall be published in the same manner as poor rates (6), and shall commence and be payable at such time or times, and shall be made in such manner and form, and be collected by such persons, and either together or separately, or with any other rate or tax, as the urban authority may from time to time appoint: Provided that no publication shall be required of any private improvement rate.

Publication and collection of rates.

223 (7). The production of the books purporting to contain any rate or assessment made under this Act shall, without any other evidence whatever, be received as prima facie evidence of the making and validity of the rates mentioned therein (8).

(6) The manner of publishing poor rates is directed by 17 Geo. II. c. 3, s. 1, post; and see 7 Will. IV. & 1 Vict. c. 45, s. 2, post.

A publication on the doors of all the churches and chapels of the Church of England in the district is enough: Ormerod v. Chadwick, 16 M. & W. 367, 16 L. J. M. C. 143; R. v. Whipp, 4 Q. B. 141, 12 L. J. M. C. 64; Ex parte Warblington, 18 Jur. 494.

P. 436, it was held that non-publication did not make a rate void, unless the Legislature expressly directs that it shall do so, and accordingly it was held that on a summons to enforce a rate which had not been published, but had not been appealed against, the justices were right in disregarding the non-publication, and that their warrant was a protection to the officer distraining under it.

The mere production of the book containing the rate is no evidence of the due publication of a highway rate, where proceedings are taken before justices for non-payment: Bird v. Adcock, 47 L. J. M. C. 123, 26 W. R. 634.

R. 560), it was held that the proportion of the expenses of sewerage and paving a street incurred by a town council in executing these works upon the neglect of the owners of the adjoining premises to do so when called upon, were not a rate, assessment, or imposition payable in respect of demised premises within the meaning of these words in a covenant by a tenant in a lease to "pay and discharge all taxes, rates, assessments, and impositions whatsoever (except property tax), which during the term should become payable in respect of the demised premises." But in Thompson v. Lapworth, L. R. 3 C. P. 149, 37 L. J. C. P. 74, 17 L. T. N. S. 507, 16 W. R. 312, 32 J. And in Rawlins v. Briggs, L. R. 3 C. P. D. 368, 47 L. J. C. P. 487, 27 W. R. 138, 42 J. P. 791, it was held upon the authority of Tidswell v. Whitworth, and distinguishing Thompson v. Lapworth, that the expense of abating a nuisance by a lessor, who had received a notice under section 94, ante, was not a "rate, charge, assessment, or imposition assessed or imposed on the demised premises or in respect thereof," within the meaning of those words in a covenant in a lease, but was a payment made in the performance of a duty imposed by statute. But in Budd v. Marshall, L. R. 5 C. P. D. 481, 50 L. J. C. P. 24, 42 L. T. N. S. 793, 29 W. R. 148, 44 J. In Allum v. Dickinson, L. R. 9 Q. B. D. 632, 52 L. J. Q. B. 190, 30 W. R. 930, the expense of paving a new street assessed under the Metropolis Management Act, 1862, 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 96, was held not a rate payable by the tenant within the meaning of a covenant by him in a lease to pay all rates and assessments taxed, rated, charged, assessed, or imposed upon the demised premises or upon or payable by the occupier or tenant thereof, for upon the true construction of the statute the cost is imposed not on the premises but upon the landlord, although power is given to recover it against the occupier. EXPENSES OF RURAL AUTHORITY.

229 ⁽³⁾. The expenses incurred by a rural authority in the execution of this Act shall be divided into general expenses and special expenses. Expenses of rural authority.

part of a parish the overseers of such parish shall for the like purposes be deemed to be the overseers of such part of such contributory place. Sec 230.

The overseers shall comply with the requisitions of such precept by paying the contribution required in respect of general expenses out of the poor rate of their respective parishes, and with respect to special expenses by raising the contribution required by the levy (in the case of an entire parish on the whole of such parish, and in the case of a contributory place or part of a contributory place forming part of a parish, by the levy on such place, or such part thereof, exclusive of the rest of the parish) of a separate rate in the same manner as if it were a rate for the relief of the poor, with this exception; (namely,)

That the owner of any tithes, or of any tithe commutation rent-charge, or the occupier of any land used as arable meadow or pasture ground only, or as woodlands, market gardens, or nursery grounds, and the occupier of any land covered with water, or used as a canal or towing-path for the same, or as a railway constructed under the powers of any Act of Parliament for public conveyance, shall, where a special assessment is made for the purpose of such rate, be assessed in respect of one-fourth part only of the rateable value thereof, or where no special assessment is made, shall pay in respect of the said property one-fourth part only of the rate in the pound payable in respect of houses and other property ⁽¹⁾:

Provided that where the amount required by any precept or precepts from a contributory place in respect of special expenses is less than ten pounds, or is so small that a rate less than one penny in the pound would be required to raise the same, the overseers shall not assess and levy any special rate for the same, but

(1) See the notes to section 211 (I) (b), ante, p. 162.

By 32 & 33 Vict. c. 41, it is provided:

Section 3. In case the rateable value of any hereditament does not exceed twenty pounds if the hereditament is situate in the metropolis, or thirteen pounds if situate in any parish wholly or partly within the borough of Liverpool, or ten pounds if situate in any parish wholly or partly within the city of Manchester or the borough of Birmingham, or eight pounds if situate elsewhere, and the owner of such hereditament is willing to enter into an agreement in writing with the overseers to become liable to them for the poor rates assessed in respect of such hereditament for any term not being less than one year from the date of such agreement, and to pay the poor rates whether the hereditament is occupied or not, the overseers may, subject nevertheless to the control of the vestry, agree with the owner to receive the rates from him, and to allow him a commission not exceeding twenty-five per cent. on the amount thereof.

Section 4. The vestry of any parish may from time to time order that the owners of all rateable hereditaments to which section three of this Act extends situate within such parish shall be rated to the poor rate in respect of such rateable hereditaments, instead of the occupiers, on all rates made after the date of such order, and thereupon and so long as such order shall be in force the following enactments shall have effect:—

1. The overseers shall rate the owners instead of the occupiers, and shall allow to them an abatement or deduction of fifteen per centum from the amount of the rate.
2. If the owner of one or more such rateable hereditaments shall give notice to the overseers in writing that he is willing to be rated for any term not being less than one year in respect of all such rateable hereditaments of which he is the owner, whether the same be occupied or not, the overseers shall rate such owner accordingly, and allow him a further abatement or deduction not exceeding fifteen per centum from the amount of the rate during the time he is so rated.
3. The vestry may by resolution rescind any such order after a day to be fixed by them, such day being not less than six months after the passing of such resolution, but the order shall continue in force with respect to all rates made before the date on which the resolution takes effect:

Provided that this clause shall not be applicable to any rateable hereditament in which a dwelling house shall not be included.

Secs. 230—232.—shall pay the amount as if it formed part of the contribution required from them in respect of general expenses ⁽¹⁾.

A separate rate under this section shall, as respects the powers of the overseers in relation to making, assessing, and levying such rate, and as respects the appeal against such rate, and all other incidents thereof except the purposes to which it is applicable, and such exemption as aforesaid, and except the allowance of justices, which shall not be required, be subject to the same provisions as apply in law to a rate levied for the relief of the poor; and the overseers of a parish shall have the same powers of levying such separate rate in a contributory place or part of a contributory place forming part of their parish, as they would have if such contributory place or such part thereof formed the whole of their parish.

Where a contribution for general expenses is required from a contributory place or part of a contributory place which is part of a parish, the overseers shall from time to time levy such increase of rate from the contributory place or such part thereof as may be sufficient to recoup the parish for the sum it has paid on account of the contributory place or such part thereof in respect of general expenses under this Act, and carry the same to the general account of the parish, and such increase of rate shall be raised in such contributory place or part of a contributory place by an addition to the poor rate, or by a separate rate to be assessed, made, allowed, published, collected, and levied in the same manner as a poor rate. The officers ordinarily employed in the collection of the poor rate shall, if required by the overseers, collect any separate rate made under this section, and receive out of such separate rate such remuneration for the additional duty as the overseers with the consent of the vestry may determine.

The overseers shall at the expiration of their term of office pay any surplus in their hands arising from any separate rate levied in pursuance of this Act, above the amount for which the rate was made, to the rural authority or to such person as they may appoint, to the credit of the contributory place within which or within part of which such rate was made, and such surplus shall go in reduction of the next call that may be made on such contributory place or such part thereof for the purpose of defraying the expenses incurred by the rural authority.

Remedy for non-payment by overseers of amount required by precept of rural authority.

231 ⁽²⁾. If the amount required by any precept of a rural authority to be paid by the overseers of any parish is not paid in manner directed by such precept, and within the time therein specified for that purpose, the rural authority shall have the like remedy for recovery from the overseers of such amount as is not paid as guardians have for the time being for recovery from overseers of contributions of parishes, and for that purpose the precept of the rural authority requiring the payment shall be conclusive evidence of the amount thereof ⁽³⁾.

As to private improvement expenses.

232 ⁽⁴⁾. Whenever a rural authority have incurred or become liable to any expenses which by this Act are, or by such authority may be declared to be private improvement expenses, such authority may make and levy a private improvement rate in the same manner as private improvement rates may be made and levied by an urban authority; and all the provisions of this Act applicable to private improvement rates leviable by an urban authority shall apply accordingly to any private improvement rate leviable by a rural authority ⁽⁵⁾.

- (1.) The accounts of the receipts and expenditure under this Act of such authority shall be audited and examined once in every year, as soon as can be after the twenty-fifth day of March, by the auditor of accounts relating to the relief of the poor (for the union in which the district of such authority or the greater part thereof is situate, unless such auditor is a member of the authority whose accounts he is appointed to audit, in which case such accounts shall be audited by such auditor of any adjoining union as may from time to time be appointed by the Local Government Board);
- (2.) There shall be paid to such auditor in respect of each audit under this Act, such reasonable remuneration, not being less than two guineas for every day in which he is employed in such audit, as such authority from time to time appoint, together with his expenses of travelling to and from the place of audit ⁽¹⁾) : Sec. 247.

- (3.) Before each audit such authority shall, after receiving from the auditor the requisite appointment, give at least fourteen days' notice ⁽²⁾ of the time and place at which the same will be made, and of the deposit of accounts required by this section, by advertisement in some one or more of the local newspapers circulated in the district; and the production of the newspaper containing such notice shall be deemed to be sufficient proof of such notice on any proceeding whatsoever:
- (4.) A copy of the accounts duly made up and balanced, together with all rate books, account books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, and receipts mentioned or referred to in such accounts, shall be deposited in the office of such authority, and be open, during office hours thereat, to the inspection of all persons interested for seven clear days before the audit, and all such persons shall be at liberty to take copies of or extracts from the same, without fee or reward; and any officer of such authority duly appointed in that behalf neglecting to make up such accounts and books, or altering such accounts and books, or allowing them to be altered when so made up, or refusing to allow inspection thereof, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds:
- (5.) For the purpose of any audit under this Act, every auditor may, by summons in writing, require the production before him of all books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, receipts and other documents and papers which he may deem necessary, and may require any person holding or accountable for any such books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, receipts, documents or papers to appear before him at any such audit or any adjournment thereof, and to make and sign a declaration as to the correctness of the same; and if any such person neglects or refuses so to do, or to produce any such books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, receipts, documents or papers, or to make or sign such declaration, he shall incur for every neglect or refusal a penalty not exceeding forty shillings; and if he falsely or corruptly makes or signs any such declaration, knowing the same to be untrue in any material particular, he shall be liable to the penalties inflicted on persons guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury:
- (6.) Any ratepayer or owner of property in the district may be present at the audit, and may make any objection to such accounts before the auditor; and such ratepayers and owners shall have the same right of appeal against allowances by an auditor as they have by law against disallowances:
- (7.) Any auditor acting in pursuance of this section shall disallow every item of account contrary to law, and surcharge the same on the person making or authorising the making of the illegal payment ⁽³⁾, and shall charge against any person accounting the amount of any deficiency or loss incurred by the negligence or misconduct of that person, or of any sum which ought to have been, but is not brought into account by that person, and shall in every such case certify the amount due from such person, and on application by any party aggrieved shall state in writing the reasons for his decision in respect of such disallowance or surcharge, and also of any allowance which he may have made:

⁽²⁾ This length of notice was fixed by the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874, 37 & 38 Vict. c. 89, s. 38. The notice required by the previous enactment (note ⁽⁶⁾ ante, p. 178) was twenty days. The fourteen days must be reckoned exclusively of the day in which the notice is given and the day on which the audit is held: R. v. Justices of Hampshire, 8 A. & E. 173.

- (8) Any person aggrieved by disallowance made may apply to the Court of Queen's Bench for a writ of certiorari to remove the disallowance into the said Court, in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as are provided in the case of disallowances by auditors under the laws for the time being in force with regard to the relief of the poor; and the said Court shall have the same powers with respect to allowances, disallowances, and surcharges under this Act, as it has with respect to disallowances or allowances by the said auditors; or in lieu of such application any person so aggrieved may appeal to the Local Government Board, which Board shall have the same powers in the case of the appeal as it possesses in the case of appeals against allowances, disallowances, and surcharges by the said poor law auditors ⁽¹⁾:
- (9.) Every sum certified to be due from any person by an auditor under this Act shall be paid by such person to the treasurer of such authority within fourteen days after the same has been so certified, unless there is an appeal against the decision ⁽²⁾; and if such sum is not so paid, and there is no such appeal, the auditor shall recover the same from the person against whom the same has been certified to be due by the like process and with the like powers as in the case of sums certified on the audit of the poor rate accounts, and shall be paid by such authority all such costs and expenses, including a reasonable compensation for loss of time incurred by him in such proceedings, as are not recovered by him from such person ⁽³⁾:
- (10.) Within fourteen days after the completion of the audit, the auditor shall report on the accounts audited and examined, and shall deliver such report to the clerk of such authority, who shall cause the same to be deposited in their office, and shall publish an abstract of such accounts in some one or more of the local newspapers circulated in the district.

Where the provisions as to audit of any local Act constituting a board of improvement commissioners are repugnant to or inconsistent with those of this Act, the audit of the accounts of such improvement commissioners shall be conducted in all respects in accordance with the provisions of this Act ⁽⁴⁾.

Audit of accounts of rural
authority.

248 ⁽⁵⁾. The accounts under this Act of every rural authority shall be audited by the same persons and in every respect in the same manner as the accounts of guardians are audited under the Acts for the relief of the poor for the time being in force.

The accounts of the overseers collecting or paying any money for the purposes of this Act shall be audited in the same manner as the accounts of overseers collecting or paying any money for the purposes of the Acts relating to the relief of the poor for the time being in force ⁽⁶⁾.

An auditor shall, with respect to the accounts audited under this section, have the like powers and be subject to the like obligations in every respect as in the ⁽¹⁾ As to poor law audit, auditors, disallowances, &c., see 7 & 8 Vict. c. 101, ss. 32, 33, 35 and 36, post; 11 & 12 Vict. c. 91, ss. 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, post; 12 & 13 Vict. c. 103, ss. 8, 9, 11; 29 & 30 Vict. c. 113, s. 5, post; 31 & 32 Vict. c. 122, s. 24, post; 39 & 40 Vict. c. 61, s. 38, post; and 42 & 43 Vict. c. 6, post.

⁽²⁾ See 7 & 8 Vict. c. 101, s. 32, post, and 12 & 13 Vict. c. 103, s. 9, post.

⁽³⁾ If there has been no appeal, the certificate of the auditor is final, and the justices have no discretion, but must enforce it: R. v. Finnis, 1 El. & El. 935, 28 L. J. M. C. 201, 33 L. T. 146, 23 J. P. 692; R. v. Linford, 7 El. & Bl. 950; R. v. Justices of Denbighshire, 33 L. T. 145. But in R. v. Fordham, L. R. 8 Q. B. 501, 42 L. J. M. C. 153, 38 J. P. 87, it was held that the certificate of the auditor was only prima facie evidence of non-payment, and it was open to the person surcharged to show that he had paid, if he could do so without contradicting the certificate.

⁽⁴⁾ This is new, and is in accordance with the decision in Gibson v. Bell, 39 J. P. 421.

⁽⁵⁾ The previous enactment was the Public Health Act, 1872, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 79, s. 49.

249 (1). On the application of any local authority whose accounts are required by this Act to be audited to the clerk of the peace of the county in which the district of such authority is wholly or in part situated, the said clerk or his deputy shall tax any bill due to any solicitor or attorney in respect of legal business performed on behalf of such authority; and the allowance of any sum on such taxation shall be prima facie evidence of the reasonableness of the amount, but not of the legality of the charge. Taxation of bill of solicitor or attorney.

The clerk of the peace shall be allowed for such taxation a remuneration after the rate to be fixed by the master of the Crown Office, and declared by an order of the Local Government Board (2).

If any such bill is not taxed by the clerk of the peace, or some other duly authorised taxing officer, before being presented to the auditors or auditor, the decision of the auditors or auditor upon the reasonableness and the legality of the charge shall be final (3).

250 (4). The accounts under this Act of officers or assistants of any local authority who are required to receive moneys or goods on behalf of such authority shall be audited by the auditors or auditor of the accounts of such authority, with the same powers, incidents, and consequences as in the case of such last-mentioned accounts (5). Auditor to audit accounts of officers.

PART VII.

LEGAL PROCEEDINGS.

Prosecution of Offences and Recovery of Penalties, &c.

251 (6). All offences under this Act, and all penalties, forfeitures, costs, and expenses under this Act directed to be recovered in a summary manner, or the recovery of which is not otherwise provided for, may be prosecuted and recovered in manner directed by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts (7) before a Court of Summary Jurisdiction (8). The Court of Summary Jurisdiction, when hearing and determining an information or complaint under this Act, shall be constituted of two or more justices of the peace in petty sessions, sitting at a place appointed for holding petty sessions, or of some magistrate or officer for the time being empowered by law to do alone any act authorised to be done by more than one justice of the peace sitting at some court or other place appointed for the administration of justice (9). Summary proceedings for offences, penalties, &c.

(2) The Local Government Board have ordered that the clerk of the peace of every county or place in England and Wales shall be allowed after the rate of 4d. per sheet or folio of seventy-two words for the taxation of every bill due to any solicitor in respect of legal business performed on behalf of any local authority whose accounts are required by (this) Act to be audited.—London Gazette, 24th April, 1877.

(3) A certiorari to remove the allowance or disallowance by the auditor of a law bill is confined to cases in which the bill has been previously taxed. See R. v. Hunt or Napton, 6 El. & Bl. 408, 25 L. J. Q. B. 296, 27 L. T. 124, 2 Jur. N. S. 1138, 20 J. P. 581.

General provisions as to summary proceedings.

Restriction on recovery of penalties.

252 ⁽¹⁾. Any complaint or information made or laid in pursuance of this Act shall be made or laid within six months from the time when the matter of such complaint or information respectively arose ⁽²⁾.

The description of any offence under this Act in the words of this Act shall be sufficient in law.

Any exception, exemption, proviso, excuse or qualification whether it does or does not accompany the description of the offence in this Act, may be proved by the defendant, but need not be specified or negatived in the information; and, if so specified or negatived, no proof in relation to the matters so specified or negatived shall be required on the part of the informant.

253 ⁽³⁾. Proceedings for the recovery of any penalty under this Act shall not, except as in this Act is expressly provided, be had or taken by any person other than by a party aggrieved, or by the local authority of the district in which the offence is committed, without the consent in writing of the Attorney-General ⁽⁴⁾: Provided that such consent shall not be required to proceedings

L. R. 7 Q. B. 416; 41 L. J. M. C. 132, 26 L. T. N. S. 691, 20 W. R. 701; R. v. Walker, L. R. 10 Q. B. 355, 33 L. T. N. S. 167, 40 J. P. 230.

The statute having given a particular remedy, an action will not lie for the recovery of penalties, &c., except where such remedy is specially given: Vestry St. Pancras v. Batterbury, 2 C. B. N. S. 477, 26 L. J. C. P. 243, 3 Jur. N. S. 1106; Mayor, &c., Blackburn v. Parkinson, 1 El. & El. 71, 28 L. J. M. C. 7, 32 L. T. 91.

By 30 & 31 Vict. c. 106, s. 27, "Where a union extends into several distinct jurisdictions, every matter, act, charge or complaint by which the guardians thereof are affected or in which they have any interest, shall for the purpose of jurisdiction be deemed to arise or exist equally throughout the union."

By section 258, post, justices may act, though as members of the local authority, &c., they are liable to contribute to the expenses, &c. In R. v. Gibbon, L. R. 6 Q. B. D. 168, it was held that a justice, who was an alderman of a corporation, which was the authority for the execution of a local improvement Act, could not issue a summons upon the information of an officer on behalf of the corporation, for the justice was virtually a prosecutor, and that the hearing of such summons could not be proceeded with even before justices who were not connected with the corporation. But this case was disapproved in R. v. Handsley, L. R. 8 Q. B. D. 383, 51 L. J. M. C. 137, 30 W. R. 368, 46 J. P. 119.

By section 262, post, proceedings are not to be quashed for want of form, or removed into the Superior Court, except by special case.

As to appeals to Quarter Sessions, see section 269, post.

As to recovery of demands below £50 in the County Court, see section 261, post.

⁽²⁾ As to when the six months begin to run, see Eddleston v. Francis, 7 C. B. N. S. 568, and cases cited ante, p. 123; and see Brutton v. Vestry of St. George, L. R. 13 Eq. 339, 41 L. J. Ch. 134, 25 L. T. N. S. 552, 20 W. R. 84. In Morant v. Taylor, L. R. 1 Ex. D. 188, 45 L. J. M. C. 78, 34 L. T. N. S. 139, 40 J. P. 501, it was held that justices could not under the powers given by a local Act order the demolition of a building erected contrary to the requirements of a corporation, the complaint having been made more than six months after the completion of the building.

The limitation of six months does not apply to enforcing a charge created under section 257: Tottenham Board v. Rowell, L. R. 15 Ch. D. 378, 50 L. J. Ch. 99, 43 L. T. N. S. 616, 29 W. R. 36.

As to when the six months begins to run in the case of expenses under section 150, see Simcox v. Handsworth Board, and cases cited ante, p. 123.

As to continuing offences, see Higgins v. Northwich Union, ante, p. 90.

⁽³⁾ The previous enactment was the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 133.

which are by the provisions of this Act relating to nuisances or offensive trades authorised to be taken by a local authority in respect of any act or default committed or taking place without their district, or in respect of any house, building, manufactory or place situated without their district. Secs. 253, 254.

254 (1). Where the application of a penalty under this Act is not otherwise provided for, one half thereof shall go to the informer, and the remainder to the local authority of the district in which the offence was committed: Provided, that if the local authority are the informer they shall be entitled to the whole of the penalty recovered; and all penalties or sums recovered by them on account of any penalty shall be paid over to their treasurer, and shall by him be carried to the account of the fund applicable by such authority to the general purposes of this Act (2). Application of penalties.

Under the previous enactment (note (4), supra) it was held that a ratepayer and inhabitant entitled to vote for members of a local board and as one of the public accustomed to use a certain pier was not a party aggrieved so as to sue a proprietor and director of the pier company, who, as a member of the local board, had voted on a resolution affecting the pier company: Boyce v. Higgins, 14 C. B. 1, 23 L. J. C. P. 5, 18 Jur. 333; and in Hollis v. Marshall, 2 H. & N. 755, 27 L. J. Ex. 235, 30 L. T. N. S. 334, 6 W. R. 365, it was held that a defeated candidate or a ratepayer in the district is not a party aggrieved where a disqualified person is returned at the election and takes part in a meeting of the local board. So, where the clerk to a board, fearing that he would be dismissed by reason of a complaint made to the board by a person acting as chairman of the board after disqualification, resigned his office and sued the chairman for acting without qualification, it was held that he was not a party aggrieved: Rochford v. Atherley, L. R. 1 Ex. D. 511; Smith v. Fieldhouse, 35 L. T. N. S. 602. But in Verdin v. Wray, L. R. 2 Q. B. D. 608, 46 L. J. M. C. 170, 35 L. T. N. S. 942, 25 W. R. 274, it was held that a candidate at an election is a party aggrieved by the fabrication of a voting paper. See Schedule II. r. 69, post, p. 240.

(1) The previous enactments were the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 133, and the Local Government Act, 1858, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 47.

(2) See sections 207, &c., and 229, ante.

The Crown has power, under 22 Vict. c. 32, to remit in whole or in part any penalty, although the same may be in whole or in part payable to some party other than the Crown. Remission of penalties by Crown.

Justices or other Courts having cognizance of the matter cannot, in pursuance of any power of mitigating penalties conferred by any local or private Act, mitigate a penalty imposed by a public Act below the minimum penalty mentioned in the Act. Justices, &c., cannot mitigate below limit fixed by Act.

By the Small Penalties Act, 1865, 28 & 29 Vict. c. 127, it is provided as follows:—

Section 4. Where upon summary conviction any offender may be adjudged to pay a penalty not exceeding £5, such offender, in case of non-payment thereof, may, without any warrant of distress, be committed to prison for any term not exceeding the period specified in the following scale, unless the penalty shall be sooner paid: "Small Penalties Act, 1865."

For any penalty—	The imprisonment not to exceed—
Not exceeding 10s.	Seven days.
Exceeding 10s. and not exceeding £1	Fourteen days.
Exceeding £1 but not exceeding £2	One month.
Exceeding £2 but not exceeding £5... ..	Two months.

Section 5. Nothing in this Act contained shall affect the power of imposing hard labour, in addition to imprisonment, in cases where hard labour might, on non-payment of the penalty, have been so imposed if this Act had not passed.

Section 6. This Act shall apply to penalties including costs recoverable in a summary manner in pursuance of any Act of Parliament, whether passed before or after the commencement of this Act, and all provisions of any Act of Parliament authorising in the case of non-payment of a penalty not exceeding £5 a longer term of imprisonment than is provided by this Act, shall be repealed.

And by section 3 it is provided that the word "penalty" in this Act shall include any sum of money recoverable in a summary manner.

Secs. 255, 256.

Proceedings in certain cases against nuisances.

255 ⁽¹⁾. Where any nuisance under this Act appears to be wholly or partially caused by the acts or defaults of two or more persons, it shall be lawful for the local authority or other complainant to institute proceedings against any one of such persons, or to include all or any two or more of such persons in one proceeding; and any one or more of such persons may be ordered to abate such nuisance, so far as the same appears to the Court having cognizance of the case to be caused by his or their acts or defaults, or may be prohibited from continuing any acts or defaults which, in the opinion of such Court, contribute to such nuisance, or may be fined or otherwise punished, notwithstanding that the acts or defaults of any one of such persons would not separately have caused a nuisance; and the costs may be distributed as to such Court may appear fair and reasonable ⁽²⁾.

Proceedings against several persons included in one complaint shall not abate by reason of the death of any among the persons so included, but all such proceedings may be carried on as if the deceased person had not been originally so included.

Whenever in any proceeding under the provisions of this Act relating to nuisances, whether written or otherwise, it becomes necessary to mention or refer to the owner or occupier of any premises, it shall be sufficient to designate him as the "owner" or "occupier" of such premises, without name or further description ⁽³⁾.

Nothing in this section shall prevent persons proceeded against from recovering contribution in any case in which they would now be entitled to contribution by law ⁽⁴⁾.

Summary
proceedings
of rates.

256 ⁽⁵⁾. If any person assessed to any rate made under this Act by any urban authority ⁽⁶⁾ fail to pay the same when due, and for the space of fourteen days after the same has been lawfully demanded in writing ⁽⁷⁾, or if any person quits or is about to quit any premises without payment of any such rate then due from him in respect of such premises, and refuses to pay the same after lawful demand thereof in writing, any justice may summon the defaulter to appear before a Court of Summary Jurisdiction ⁽⁸⁾ to show cause why the rate in arrear should not be paid; and if the defaulter fails to appear, or if no sufficient cause for non-payment is shown, the Court may make an order for payment of the same, and, in default of compliance with such order, may by warrant cause the same to be levied by distress of the goods and chattels of the defaulter ⁽⁹⁾.

The costs of the levy of arrears of any rate may be included in the warrant for such levy.

⁽³⁾ As to notices and service thereof, see sections 266, 267, post.

⁽⁴⁾ As a general rule there is no contribution between wrongdoers. See Merryweather v. Nixan, 2 Smith's Leading Cases, and the notes.

⁽⁵⁾ The previous enactments were the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 103, and the Local Government Act, 1858, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 54 ⁽³⁾.

⁽⁸⁾ Defined ante, p. 47.

⁽⁹⁾ The provision that an order must be made for payment of the rate before a distress can issue is new. In Sweetman v. Guest, L. R. 3 Q. B. 262, 37 L. J. M. C. 59, 18 L. T. N. S. 52, it was held that the limitation of six months fixed by 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, s. 11, did not apply to the case of a distress warrant, which was distinct from an order for payment. It would seem, therefore, that now the complaint or information to obtain an order for payment must be laid within six months. See section 252, and notes thereto, ante.

Where the rate is good upon its face, the justices have no power to decide as to the validity of the rate, which must be the subject of an appeal to the Sessions: R. v. Newman, 29 L. J. M. C. 117, 6 Jur. N. S. 293; Luton v. Davis, 2 El. & El. 678, 29 L. J. M. C. 173, 2 L. T. N. S. 172, 6 Jur. N. S. 580, 8 W. R. 411. See also R. v. Justices of Essex, 36 L. T. N. S. 554; Hutchins v. Chambers, 1 Burr. 580. As to appeal to Sessions, see section 257 ⁽¹⁾. Where any local authority have incurred expenses for the repayment whereof the owner ⁽²⁾ of the premises for or in respect of which the same are incurred is made liable under this Act or by any agreement with the local authority, such expenses may be recovered, together with interest at a rate not exceeding five pounds per centum per annum, from the date of service of a demand for the same till payment thereof, from any person who is the owner ⁽²⁾ of such premises when the works are completed ⁽³⁾ for which such expenses have been incurred, and until recovery of such expenses and interest the same shall be a charge on the premises in respect of which they were incurred ⁽⁴⁾. Sec. 257.

Recovery of expenses by local authority from owners.

269, post. And justices cannot be required to state a special case where an appeal lies to Sessions: R. v. Newman, ante, p. 184.

As to restraining a local board from levying where, through an error, the time had gone by for appealing, unless the board would give an opportunity of stating a case, see Ashworth v. Hebden Board, ante, p. 124.

As to the recovery of the rate in the County Court, see section 261, post.

In bankruptcy or liquidation, rates due at the date of the order of adjudication, and which became due and payable within twelve months before such time, are paid in priority to all other debts: 32 & 33 Vict. c. 71, ss. 32, 125 (7).

In Re W. Hartlepool Iron Co. (Limited), Ex parte W. Hartlepool Improvement Commissioners, 34 L. T. N. S. 568, it was held that the liquidators of a limited company, which had been assessed to an improvement rate in respect of premises in its occupation, were not bound to pay the rate in full, though they had entered into possession of the premises for the purposes of the winding-up, but that the commissioners must prove in the winding-up for such sum as they might be entitled to.

By 25 & 26 Vict. c. 82, s. 1, it is provided that, "Where any number of local rates and taxes, whether of the same or of different kinds, are due from the same person, the rates and taxes so due may be included in the same information, complaint, summons, order, warrant or other document required by law to be laid before justices or to be issued by justices; and every such document as aforesaid shall, as respects each rate or tax comprised in it, be construed as a separate document, and its invalidity as respects any one rate or tax shall not affect its validity as respects any other rate or tax comprised in it. No costs shall be allowed in respect of several informations, complaints, summonses, orders, warrants, or other such documents as aforesaid in cases where, in the opinion of the said justices or Court having jurisdiction over the said costs, one information, complaint, summons, order, warrant, or other document as aforesaid, might have sufficed, regard being had to the provisions of this Act.

⁽¹⁾ The previous enactments were the Local Government Act, 1858, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, ss. 62, 63, and the Local Government Act (1858) Amendment Act, 1861, 24 & 25 Vict. c. 61, s. 23. See the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 146.

⁽²⁾ See the interpretation clause, ante, p. 45. Under the previous enactment (note ⁽¹⁾, supra), it was held that service of demand upon the person de facto receiving the rent was service on the "owner": Peek v. Waterloo, &c., Board, ante, p. 45.

⁽³⁾ Expenses of paving, &c., a street, under section 150, ante, cannot be recovered from anyone who, though the owner of premises when notice was first given under that section by the urban authority, has ceased to be owner before the completion of the works: R. v. Swindon Board, L. R. 4 Q. B. D. 305, 48 L. J. M. C. 119, 40 L. T. N. S. 424, 27 W. R. 732. See Corporation of Sunderland v. Alcock, infra.

⁽⁴⁾ Under the previous enactment (note ⁽¹⁾, supra), it was held that this remedy for recovery of expenses of paving, &c., a street (see section 150, ante) is in addition to the summary remedy before justices or in the County Court, and not an alternative remedy, and that the limitation of six months did not apply; nor were a local board precluded by their election to treat the expenses as private improvement expenses from enforcing a charge, but it is enforceable only in respect of instalments in arrear for the time being: Tottenham Board v. Rowell, L. R. 15 Ch. D. 378, 50 L. J. Ch. 99, 43 L. T. N. S. 416, 29 W. R. 36; and see Corporation of Sunderland v. Alcock, 51 L. J. Ch. 546, 46 L. T. N. S. 377, 30 W. R. 655. See the concluding clause of the section, post, p. 186.

The charge is a charge not on the interest of any particular owner, but on the "pre-

Where such expenses have been settled and apportioned by the surveyor of the local authority as payable by such owner, such apportionment shall be binding and conclusive on such owner, unless within three months from service of notice on him by the local authority or their surveyor of the amount settled by the surveyor to be due from such owner, he shall by written notice dispute the same ⁽²⁾.

The local authority may, by order, declare any such expenses to be payable by annual instalments within a period not exceeding thirty years, with interest at a rate not exceeding five pounds per centum per annum, until the whole amount is paid; and any such instalments and interest, or any part thereof, may be recovered in a summary manner from the owner or occupier for the time being of such premises, and may be deducted from the rent of such premises, in the same proportions as are allowed in the case of private improvement rates under this Act ⁽³⁾.

Justices may act though members of local authority or liable to contribute.

258 ⁽⁴⁾. No justice of the peace shall be deemed incapable of acting in cases arising under this Act by reason of his being a member of any local authority, or by reason of his being as one of several ratepayers, or as one of any other class of persons liable in common with the others to contribute to, or to be benefited by any rate or fund, out of which any expenses incurred by such authority are under this Act to be defrayed ⁽⁵⁾.

misers" or the total ownership, that is, on the respective interests of the owner when the works are completed, and every subsequent owner for the time being, and in proportion to the value of their interests: Corporation of Sunderland v. Alcock, supra; Birmingham Corporation v. Baker, L. R. 17 Ch. D. 782, 46 J. P. 52.

As to service of notices, see section 267, post.

⁽²⁾ See R. v. Local Government Board, post, p. 192, and Shanklin Board v. Miller, L. R. 5 C. P. D. 272, 49 L. J. C. P. 512, 42 L. T. N. S. 738, 29 W. R. 63, 44 J. P. 635. But though the apportionment cannot be disputed, it is still open to the person sought to be charged to dispute his liability, as, under section 150, ante, by showing that the street is a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large: Hesketh v. Atherton Board, ante, p. 124.

If the matter is disputed, it must be settled by arbitration. See section 150, ante. And as to arbitration, see sections 179—181, ante. The award of the arbitrator is not binding upon persons not parties to the arbitration: Tunbridge Board v. Ackroyd, ante, p. 146.

⁽³⁾ See Tottenham Board v. Rowell, ante, p. 185, and Birmingham Corporation v. Baker, supra.

As to recovery in a summary manner, see sections 251 et seq., ante.

As to proportion of improvement expenses to be deducted, see section 214, ante.

⁽⁶⁾ The previous enactment was the Sanitary Act, 1866, 29 & 30 Vict. c. 90, s. 48.

or any officer or member so authorised, shall be at liberty to institute and carry on any proceeding which the local authority is authorised to institute and carry on under this Act ⁽¹⁾. Secs. 259—262.

260 ⁽²⁾. In any proceeding instituted by or against a local authority under this Act it shall not be necessary for the plaintiff to prove the corporate name of the local authority or the constitution or limits of their district: Provided that this section shall not abridge or prejudice the right of any defendant to take or avail himself of any objection which he might have taken or availed himself of if this Act had not been passed. Name of local authority need not be proved.

261 ⁽³⁾. Proceedings for the recovery of demands below fifty pounds, which local authorities are empowered to recover in a summary manner, may, at the option of the local authority, be taken in the County Court as if such demands were debts within the cognizance of such Courts ⁽⁴⁾. Demands below £50 may be recovered in County Courts.

262 ⁽⁵⁾. No rate, order, conviction, or thing made or done or relating to the execution of this Act shall be vacated, quashed, or set aside for want of form, or (unless otherwise expressly provided by this Act) be removed or removable by certiorari, or any other writ or process whatsoever, into any of the superior Courts ⁽⁶⁾: Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent the removal of any case stated for the opinion of a superior Court, or of any rate, order, conviction, or thing to which such special case relates ⁽⁷⁾. Proceedings not to be quashed for want of form.

(1) In Ex parte Leamington Board, 5 L. T. N. S. 637, 26 J. P. 84, a rule calling upon justices to show cause why they should not hear certain informations laid by the board, they having refused to hear the inspector of police and required the attendance of the clerk to the board, was refused; but Cockburn, C.J., said he saw no reason why the justices should not hear the police inspector if they thought fit to do so.

(2) This section is new.

(3) The previous enactment was the Local Government Act (1858) Amendment Act, 1861, 24 & 25 Vict. c. 61, s. 24. The limit in point of amount fixed by that Act was £20.

(4) Under the previous enactment (note (3), supra), it was held that the limitation of six months mentioned in section 11 of 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43 (see now section 252, ante) applied as well to proceedings in County Courts as to proceedings before justices: Tottenham Board v. Rowell, L. R. 1 Ex. D. 514 (C. A.), 46 L. J. Ex. 432, 35 L. T. N. S. 387, 25 W. R. 135; West Ham Board v. Maddams, L. R. 1 Ex. D. 516 n., 33 L. T. N. S. 309.

(5) The previous enactments were the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 137, and the Nuisances Removal Act, 1855, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 121, s. 39.

(6) But this will not prevent a conviction by a justice under disqualification from being removed by certiorari to be quashed. See R. v. Lee, ante, p. 186, also R. v. Wood, 5 El. & Bl. 49, S. C. nom. R. v. Rose, 24 L. J. M. C. 130, 1 Jur. N. S. 802, and R. v. Gosse, 30 L. J. M. C. 41, 6 Jur. N. S. 1369.

There is no appeal from the decision of the Queen's Bench Division upon a rule for a certiorari to bring up a summary conviction: R. v. Fletcher, L. R. 2 Q. B. D. 43 (C. A.), 6 L. J. M. C. 4, 35 L. T. N. S. 538, 25 W. R. 149.

(7) As to this proviso, see the Circular of the Local Government Board, dated 30th September, 1875, ante, p. 17.

As to the procedure upon the statement of a special case by justices, see 20 & 21 Vict. c. 43.

The application for a rule requiring justices to state a special case, must be made to the Queen's Bench Division: Re Justices of Leeds, Ex parte Longbottom, L. R. 1 Q. B. D. 51.

Where the conditions required by 20 & 21 Vict. c. 43, have not been complied with, the Queen's Bench Division have no jurisdiction to hear the case, and the respondent may apply to strike the case out of the paper. The respondent may be granted the costs of his application: Great Northern Committee v. Inett, L. R. 2 Q. B. D. 284, 46 L. J. M. C. 237, 25 W. R. 584, 41 J. P. 710.

Justices have no power to state a case on refusing to make an order authorising a local authority to enter premises under section 305, post, as this is not a determination

264 ⁽³⁾. A writ or process shall not be sued out against or served on any local authority, or any member thereof, or any officer of a local authority, or person acting in his aid, for anything done, or intended to be done, or omitted to be done under the provisions of this Act, until the expiration of one month after notice in writing has been served on such local authority, member, officer, or person, clearly stating the cause of action, and the name and place of abode of the intended plaintiff, and of his attorney or agent in the cause ⁽⁴⁾; and on the trial of a complaint within 20 & 21 Vict. c. 43, s. 2: Diss Urban Authority v. Aldrich, L. R. 2 Q. B. D. 179, 46 L. J. M. C. 182, 36 L. T. N. S. 663, 41 J. P. 549.

The respondent who appears to a case stated which there is no jurisdiction to hear, may be granted the costs of so doing: Great Northern Committee v. Inett, ante, p. 187.

As to power of arbitrator to state a special case, see ante, p. 144.

As to appeals to the Local Government Board and to Quarter Sessions, see sections 268, 269, post.

⁽³⁾ The previous enactment was the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 139. But see Stringer v. Barker, infra.

⁽⁴⁾ It is not in general necessary to give notice of action before suing on a specific contract. Where, for example, a local board of health contracted by a deed for the execution of certain works, it was held that in an action on the contract notice of action was not necessary under the previous enactment (note ⁽³⁾, supra): Davies v. Mayor of Swansea, 8 Ex. 808, 22 L. J. Ex. 297. Again, where a local Act directed that the guardians, &c., of a parish should be sued in the name of their vestry clerk, and required notice to be given of any action for anything done in pursuance of the Act, it was held that notice was not necessary in an action for work and labour: Fletcher v. Greenwell, 4 Dowl. 166. On the other hand, the necessity for giving notice is not confined to actions of tort. Thus, where the owners of land abutting on a lane had paid a local board the expenses of paving, &c., pursuant to section 150, ante, under a mistake of fact common to themselves and the board (viz., that the lane was not a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large), it was held in an action to recover back the moneys so paid by mistake that notice of action was necessary, and that the action must be brought within six months from the time of payment, as the cause of action was something done or omitted under the Act: Midland Ry. v. Withington Board, L. R. 11 Q. B. D. 788, 52 L. J. Q. B. 689, 47 J. P. 789; and so notice of action must be given to a collector of turnpike tolls before an action ex contractu can be brought against him to recover back money illegally but bonâ fide received: Waterhouse v. Keen, 4 B. & C. 200. So in an action against surveyors of highways to recover back the money paid under an invalid rate: Selmes v. Judge, L. R. 6 Q. B. 724, 24 L. T. N. S. 904, 19 W. R. 110; or in an action for money had and received brought against a railway company to recover the amount of excessive charges: Kent v. Gt. Western Ry. Co., 3 C. B. 714. The question must turn on the construction of the words which require notice of action to be given, so that where this is made necessary "in an action for anything done in pursuance of the Act, or in the execution of the powers or authorities given by it," notice of action is generally only necessary where the matter in respect of which the action is brought is something "done in pursuance of the Act, &c." Therefore, though a Railway Act contained a protection clause in the above words, this does not make notice necessary where the company are sued for negligence as carriers; Carpue v. London & Brighton Ry. Co., 5 Q. B. 747; Palmer v. Grand Junction Ry. Co., 4 M. & W. 749. And a contractor under a contract with the local authority under this Act is not entitled to notice of action in an action for negligence in constructing a sewer and filling in a drain, though he would have been so entitled under the previous enactment (note ⁽³⁾, supra), for the words of the present Act have been purposely restricted so as to exclude contractors: Stringer v. Barker, W. Notes, 1879, p. 127. A person employed by a building owner to erect a building adjoining the house of another is not within the meaning of the 108th section of the of any such action the plaintiff shall not be permitted to go into evidence of any cause of action which is not stated in the notice so served; and unless such notice is proved the jury shall find for the defendant.

Metropolitan Building Act, 1855 (18 & 19 Vict. c. 122), which requires a month's notice of action to be given before suit or process is sued out against any district surveyor, or other person, for anything done under the provisions of the Act: Williams v. Golding, L. R. 1 C. P. 69, 35 L. J. C. P. 1, 14 L. T. N. S. 403, 14 W. R. 60. And where an action was brought against a contractor who was engaged under a district board in constructing a sewer, and employed men with horses and carts, and one of the men went home to his dinner leaving his horse unattended in the street before his door, and an injury was caused by the horse running away, it was held that the contractor was not entitled to notice under 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 106, as the injury was not a thing done, or intended to be done, under the powers of the Act, but was something collateral: Whatman v. Pearson, L. R. 3 C. P. 422. Omission to do something that ought to be done in order to the complete performance of a duty imposed, or the continuing to leave such duty unperformed, amounts to an act "done or intended to be done" within the meaning of such a clause: Wilson v. Mayor and Corporation of Halifax, ante, p. 119. In an action against a local board claiming an injunction and damages, the claim for damages being merely subsidiary to the injunction, no notice of action is necessary under this section: Flower v. Leyton Local Board, L. R. 5 Ch. D. 347, 46 L. J. Ch. 621, 36 L. T. N. S. 760, 25 W. R. 545, 41 J. P. 548. It seems that notice is not required in the case of proceedings to obtain compensation for damage done by a local authority in the exercise of their powers under the Act. See Delany v. Metropolitan Board of Works, L. R. 2 C. P. 532, 3 C. P. 111, 37 L. J. C. P. 59, 17 L. T. N. S. 262, 16 W. R. 137.

Notice of action is not necessary in an action for the recovery of land: Foat v. Mayor of Margate, L. R. 11 Q. B. D. 299, 47 J. P. 535, S. C. 52 L. J. Q. B. 711, sub. nom. Holder v. Mayor of Margate.

In order to entitle a party to notice of action for anything done in pursuance of a statute, he must have acted under a bonâ fide belief in the existence of circumstances which if they really had existed would have amounted to a justification. The question is, "Did the defendant honestly believe in the existence of those facts which if they had existed would have afforded a justification for the act done under the statute?" Roberts v. Orchard, 2 H. & C. 769, 33 L. J. Ex. 65; Griffiths v. Taylor, L. R. 2 C. P. 194, 46 L. J. C. L. 152. But the supposed state of facts must be such as, if true, would, according to the true construction of the statute, entitle the person acting under it to notice; a misapprehension of the law (that is, of what the statute enables him to do) will not so entitle him: Griffiths v. Taylor, supra. But when a party acts under a reasonable and bonâ fide belief that he is acting in pursuance of a statute according to which he is entitled to notice, he may still have that right, although the specific act was not authorised by the statute: Hughes v. Buckland, 15 M. & W. 346; Allen v. Preece, 10 Ex. 43; Hardwick v. Moss, 7 H. & N. 136, 31 L. J. Ex. 205. Improvement commissioners under a local Act sued for the negligence of their servants are entitled to notice of action: Mason v. Birkenhead Improvement Commissioners, 6 H. & N. 72, L. J. 29 Ex. 407. Where the bailiff of a County Court under a warrant against the goods of A. takes those of B., he is entitled to notice of action: Burling v. Harley, 3 H. & N. 271, L. J. 7 Ex. 258; and it is not necessary that a person should be aware of the existence of the statute entitling him to notice: Read v. Coker, 13 C. B. 850; see further on the subject, O'Byrne v. Hartington, I. R. 11 C. L. 445. It will be gathered from a perusal of the cases cited that the rule may be shortly expressed as follows, namely: where a person acting in pursuance of a statute does an act not authorised by the statute through mistake of fact, he is entitled to notice, if he bonâ fide believed in the existence of such facts as would have justified him in the act; but where the mistake is one of law as to the construction of the statute, he is not so entitled, even though the mistake be bonâ fide. See Agnew v. Jobson, 47 L. J. M. C. 67. The notice should be a formal one, and not a mere letter: Lewis v. Smith, Holt N. P. 27. It must not be conditional, but should distinctly state that an action is to be brought. Therefore, a letter from a solicitor, stating that his instructions are to commence legal proceedings if no satisfactory

Sec. 264.

Every such action shall be commenced within six months next after the accruing of the cause of action, and not afterwards, and shall be tried in the county or place where the cause of action occurred, and not elsewhere ⁽¹⁾.

Any person to whom any such notice of action is given as aforesaid may tender amends to the plaintiff, his attorney or agent, at any time within one month after service of such notice, and, in case the same be not accepted, may plead such tender in bar; and in case amends have not been tendered as aforesaid, or in case the amends tendered are insufficient, the defendant may, by leave of the Court, at any time before trial, pay into court under plea such sum of money as he may think proper; and if upon issue joined, or upon any plea pleaded for the whole action, the jury find generally for the defendant, or if the plaintiff be nonsuited or judgment be given for the defendant, then the defendant shall be entitled to full costs of suit, and have judgment accordingly.

arrangement is made is not sufficient. The notice must be plain and intelligible, setting forth the substantial cause of action intended to be relied upon with sufficient clearness, as well as the time and place of the act complained of, so that the intended defendant may not be misled: Freeman v. Line, 2 Chitt. 673; Gimbert v. Coyney, McL. & Y. 469. The object of the notice being to give an opportunity of tendering amends, the notice ought to state fully the extent of the claim intended to be made by the action. See, for instance, Stringer v. Martyr, 6 Esp. 134. In Smith v. West Derby Local Board, L. R. 3 C. P. D. 423, 47 L. J. C. P. 607, 38 L. T. N. S. 716, 27 W. R. 137, 42 J. P. 615, where the defendants were both the highway and sewer authorities for their district, and a notice of action stated that it was intended to "enter a plaint against them for injury and damage caused through the defendants by matters or things done or omitted by them and their labourers and servants, to wit, that they did by themselves, their labourers and servants, negligently, carelessly, and improperly leave a certain portion of the highway in an insufficient and improper state of repair, whereby, &c., it was held that this was a sufficient intimation to the defendants that they were to be charged with an act of misfeasance, and not merely with a neglect of duty to repair the road. See ante, p. 53.

The notice must state that the action will be commenced at the expiration of the period of time limited by the Act: Norris v. Smith, 10 Ad. & El. 188.

For the general law relating to the liability of a public body for damages caused by negligence in the exercise of their powers, see Mersey Docks Trustees v. Gibbs, L. R. 1 H. L. 93, 35 L. J. Ex. 225, 14 L. T. N. S. 677, 14 W. R. 872, 12 Jur. N. S. 571; and as to the liability of contractors, see Daniel v. Metropolitan Ry., L. R. 5 H. L. 45, 40 L. J. C. P. 121, 24 L. T. N. S. 815, 20 W. R. 37; Hyams v. Webster, 8 B. & S. 272, L. R. 2 Q. B. 264, 36 L. J. Q. B. 166, 16 L. T. N. S. 118, 15 W. R. 619; and see also Hammond v. St. Pancras Vestry, L. R. 9 C. P. 316, 43 L. J. C. P. 157, 30 L. T. N. S. 296, 22 W. R. 826; Bolingbroke v. Swindon Board, L. R. 9 C. P. 575, 43 L. J. C. P. 287, 30 L. T. N. S. 723, 23 W. R. 47; and cases cited ante, pp. 53, 78, 114.

⁽¹⁾ It was decided that the previous enactment (note ⁽³⁾, ante, p. 188, did not deprive the Court of their common law power to change the venue where in their judgments the ends of justice required it: Itchin Bridge Co. v. Southampton Board, 8 El. & Bl. 801, 27 L. J. Q. B. 128, 3 Jur. N. S. 1261, 30 L. T. 151, 6 W. R. 75.

But an action brought against a local board as surveyors of highways for an act done by them under the Highway Acts must be commenced within three months; Burton v. Corporation of Salford, ante, p. 114.

By the Rules of the Supreme Court, Order 36, r. 1, it is provided: "There shall be no local venue for the trial of any action, except where otherwise provided by statute. Every action in every division shall, unless the Court or a judge otherwise orders, be tried in the county or place named on the statement of claim, or (where no statement of claim has been delivered or required) by a notice in writing to be served on the defendant or his solicitor, within six days after appearance. Where no place of trial is named, the place of trial shall, unless the Court or a judge shall otherwise order, be the county of Middlesex."

This rule derives its authority from section 16 of the Judicature Act of 1875, 38 & 39 Vict. c. 77, which received the Royal assent on the 11th August, 1875.

265 ⁽¹⁾. No matter or thing done, and no contract entered into by any local authority, or joint board, or port sanitary authority, and no matter or thing done by any member of any such authority, or by any officer of such authority, or other person whomsoever acting under the direction of such authority, shall, if the matter or thing were done, or the contract were entered into bonâ fide for the purpose of executing this Act, subject them or any of them personally to any action, liability, claim, or demand whatsoever ⁽²⁾; and any expense incurred by any such authority, member, officer, or other person acting as last aforesaid, shall be borne and repaid out of the fund or rate applicable by such authority to the general purposes of this Act ⁽³⁾.

266 ⁽⁵⁾. Notices, orders, and other such documents under this Act may be in writing or print, or partly in writing and partly in print; and if the same require authentication by the local authority, the signature thereof by the clerk to the local authority or their surveyor or inspector of nuisances shall be sufficient authentication.

⁽²⁾ But the local authority will be liable for damages arising from their negligence or the negligence of their servants: Southampton Bridge Co. v. Southampton Board, 8 El. & Bl. 801, 28 L. J. Q. B. 41, 4 Jur. N. S. 1298; Cowley v. Mayor of Sunderland, 6 H. & N. 65, 30 L. J. Ex. 127; Ruck v. Williams, 3 H. & N. 308, 27 L. J. Ex. 357; and see *Jersey Docks Trustees v. But the local authority is not liable for the negligence of an independent person employed by them to do a work not dangerous in itself: Daniel v. Metropolitan Ry., and the cases cited ante, p. 190. Nor is a local authority liable for the act of their officer done beyond the scope of his authority and without their knowledge: Lord Colingbroke v. Swindon Board, ante, p. 190. But if the damage arises out of the works themselves, or if the works are really being executed by the local authority, they are liable: Scott v. Corporation of Manchester, 2 H. & N. 204; *Hole v. Any notice by this Act required to be given to the owner or occupier of any premises may be addressed by the description of the "owner" or "occupier" of the premises (naming them) in respect of which the notice is given, without further name or description⁽⁴⁾.

268⁽⁵⁾. Where any person deems himself aggrieved by the decision of the local authority in any case in which the local authority are empowered to recover in a summary manner any expenses incurred by them, or to declare such expenses to be private improvement expenses⁽⁶⁾, he may, within twenty-one days after notice of such decision, address a memorial to the Local Government Board, stating the grounds of his complaint, and shall deliver a copy thereof to the local authority; the Local Government Board may make such order in the matter as to the said Board may seem equitable, and the order so made shall be binding and conclusive on all parties⁽⁷⁾.

(1) The previous enactments were the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 163, s. 150, the Local Government Act, 1858, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 61, and the Nuisances Removal Act, 1855, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 121, s. 31.

(2) Defined ante, p. 45.

(3) Defined ante, p. 44.

(4) See further sections 220 and 255, ante.

The section is not imperative, and a service made in any other manner which the law will recognise as effectual for any purpose is sufficient. A notice addressed to and served upon a merchant at his place of business by delivering it and reading and explaining it to his clerk is a good notice: Mason v. Bibby, 2 H. & C. 881, 33 L. J. Ex. 105, 9 L. T. N. S. 692, 10 Jur. N. S. 519, 12 W. R. 382; Peek v. Waterloo Board, 2 H. & C. 709, 33 L. J. M. C. 11, 9 L. T. N. S. 338, 9 Jur. N. S. 1344, 12 W. R. 252.

(5) The previous enactment was the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 120. The previous enactment made the decision of the Local Government Board binding on the local authority only, and the time for appeal was within seven instead of twenty-one days. The provision requiring the delivery of a copy to the local authority is also new.

(6) As to summary recovery of expenses, see section 251, ante. As to private improvement expenses, see sections 213, 214, and 257, ante.

(7) As to whether prohibition will lie to the Local Government Board, see R. v. Local Government Board, L. R. 10 Q. B. D. 309, 52 L. J. M. C. 4, 48 L. T. N. S. 173, 31 W. R. 72, 47 J. P. 228.

This section, although the word "appeal" is not used in it, does in fact, as the heading indicates, give an appeal, and the decision of the Local Government Board is a judicial decision. It would seem that they are not bound to hear the parties orally, but they are bound to let the party who presented the memorial know what is the answer of the local authority against whom he has complained, and give him an opportunity of answering their answer. See the judgment of Brett, L.J., in R. v. Local Government Board, supra. See Ex parte Wake, ante, p. 123.

There is no decision under section 150, ante, against which an appeal can be made until the local authority have made the demand referred to in section 257, ante. And the Local Government Board may, upon the appeal being made, inquire not only into whether the expenses incurred by them should be recovered summarily or

Secs. 268,

Quarter Sessions.

Any proceedings that may have been commenced for the recovery of such expenses by the local authority shall, on the delivery to them of such copy as aforesaid, be stayed; and the Local Government Board may, if it thinks fit, by its order, direct the local authority to pay to the person so proceeded against such sum as the said Board may consider to be a just compensation for the loss, damage, or grievance thereby sustained by him ⁽¹⁾.

269 ⁽²⁾. Where any person deems himself aggrieved by any rate made under the provisions of this Act, or by any order, conviction, judgment, or determination of or by any matter or thing done by any Court of Summary Jurisdiction, such person may appeal therefrom ⁽³⁾, subject to the conditions and regulations following:—

- (1.) The appeal shall be made to the next Court of Quarter Sessions for the county, division, or place in which the cause of appeal has arisen, holden not less than twenty-one days after the demand of the rate or the decision of the Court from which the appeal is made:
- (2.) The appellant shall, within fourteen days after the cause of appeal has arisen, give notice to the other party and to the authority or Court of Summary Jurisdiction by whose act he deems himself aggrieved, of his intention to appeal, and of the ground thereof ⁽⁴⁾:
- (3.) The appellant shall, immediately after such notice, enter into a recognizance before a justice of the peace, with two sufficient sureties, conditioned personally to try such appeal, and to abide the judgment of the Court thereon, and to pay such costs as may be awarded by the Court, or give such other security by deposit of money or otherwise as the justice may allow ⁽⁵⁾:

be declared private improvement expenses, but also whether the work was unnecessary, and whether the total cost was unreasonable, and into every circumstance which can reasonably determine the question whether it is inequitable or not that a particular sum should be paid. Ibid.

It would seem that the Local Government Board, if they think it right or equitable, may inquire into other grounds of complaint beyond those mentioned in the memorial. Ibid.

The decision of the Local Government Board is final and conclusive. See Wallingford v. Willes, 33 L. J. M. C. 233, 10 L. T. N. S. 784, 10 Jur. N. S. 906.

As to appeal by the overseers of a contributory place, see section 229, ante; against auditor's allowances and surcharges, see section 247, ante; against resolution for constitution of local government district, see section 274, ante.

As to complaint to the Board of the default of a local authority in performing their duties, see section 299, post.

(1) The order may be enforced by mandamus, and it would seem that disobedience to the order might be the subject of an indictment. See R. v. Walker, L. R. 10 Q. B. 355, 4 L. J. M. C. 169, 33 L. T. N. S. 167, 40 J. P. 230.

(2) The previous enactments were the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 135, 136, and the Nuisances Removal Act, 1855, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 121, s. 40. See the Circular of the Local Government Board, dated 30th September, 1875, ante, p. 17.

(3) In R. v. Newman, 29 L. J. M. C. 117, it was held under the previous enactment (note ⁽²⁾, supra) that where magistrates ordered a rate to be paid they had no jurisdiction to state a case under 20 & 21 Vict. c. 43, but the proper course for the party dissatisfied with the decision to pursue was to appeal to Quarter Session. See also Luton Board v. Davis, 2 El. & El. 678, 29 L. J. M. C. 173, 2 L. T. N. S. 172, 8 W. R. 411, 6 Jur. N. S. 580.

Where the rate itself has not been appealed against it is doubtful whether an appeal lies against an order of the Court of Summary Jurisdiction for payment of the rate: See Cardo v. Maidenhead Board, 2 H. & N. 257.

(4) The time runs from the date of the decision, and not from the service of the order on justices: R. v. Barnet Sanitary Authority, L. R. 1 Q. B. D. 558, 45 L. J. M. C. 105, 3 L. T. N. S. 362, 41 J. P. 6.

(5) As to the liability of the solicitor to the clerk of the peace for fees for entering, &c., the appeal, see Langridge v. Lynch, 34 L. T. N. S. 695.

Sec. 269.

- (4.) Where the appellant is in custody the justice may, on the appellant entering into such recognizance or giving such other security as aforesaid, release him from custody ⁽¹⁾:
- (5.) On appeals under this Act against any rate the Court of Appeal shall have the same power to amend or quash any rate or assessment, and to award costs between the parties to the appeal, as is or may by law be vested in any Court of Quarter Sessions with respect to amending or quashing any rate or assessment, or awarding costs, on appeals with respect to rates for the relief of the poor; and the costs awarded by the said Court under this Act may be recovered in the same manner in all respects as costs awarded on the last mentioned appeals: Provided that, notwithstanding the quashing of any rate appealed against, all moneys charged by such rate shall, if the Court of Appeal think fit so to order, be levied as if no appeal had been made, and such moneys, when paid, shall be taken as payment on account of the next effective rate for the purposes in respect of which the quashed rate was made ⁽²⁾:
- (6.) In the case of other appeals the Court of Appeal may, if it thinks fit, adjourn the appeal, and on the hearing thereof may confirm, reverse, or modify the decision of the Court of Summary Jurisdiction, or remit the matter to the Court of Summary Jurisdiction with the opinion of the Court of Appeal thereon, or make such other order in the matter as the Court thinks just. The Court of Appeal may also make such order as to costs to be paid by either party as the Court thinks just ⁽³⁾:
- (7.) The decision of the Court of Appeal shall be binding on all parties: Provided that the Court of Appeal may, if such Court thinks fit, state the facts specially for the determination of a superior Court ⁽⁴⁾.

(2) As to the power of justices to amend a poor rate upon appeal, see 17 Geo. II. c. 38, s. 6, and 41 Geo. III. c. 23, ss. 1, 6. As to the power to award costs, see 17 Geo. II. c. 38, s. 4, and 41 Geo. III. c. 23, s. 8.

(3) See the Circular dated 30th September, 1875, ante, p. 17.

Where the Sessions give the appellant his costs, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, s. 27, and 12 & 13 Vict. c. 45, s. 5, must be followed: Ex parte Austin, 13 L. T. N. S. 443, 29 J. P. 760.

(4) Further, by 12 & 13 Vict. c. 45, s. 11, it is enacted "that at any time after notice given of appeal to any Court of General or Quarter Sessions of the Peace against any judgment, order, rate, or other matter (except an order of bastardy or a proceeding under or by virtue of any of the statutes relating to Her Majesty's Revenue of Excise or Customs, Stamps, Taxes, or Post Office), for which the remedy is by such appeal, it shall be lawful for the parties by consent, and by order of any judge of one of the superior Courts of Common Law at Westminster, to state the facts of the case in the form of a special case for the opinion of such superior Court, and to agree that a judgment in conformity with the decision of such Court, and for such costs as such Court shall adjudge may be entered on motion by either party at the Sessions next, or next but one, after such decision shall have been given, and such judgment shall and may be entered accordingly, and shall be of the same effect in all respects as if the same had been given by the Court of General or Quarter Sessions upon an appeal duly entered and continued."

Where the Sessions reserve a case for the opinion of a superior Court under this subsection, it falls within the provisions of section 45 of the Judicature Act, 1873, as an appeal from an inferior Court, and no appeal can be brought from the decision of the Divisional Court upon it unless special leave to appeal is granted: R. v. Swindon Board, 49 L. J. Q. B. 522, 42 L. T. N. S. 614, 28 W. R. 804, 44 J. P. 505. But it is otherwise where the Court of Queen's Bench, in the exercise of its original common law jurisdiction, affirms or quashes an order of Sessions, for there an appeal lies to the Court of Appeal, although no leave to appeal be given: R. v. Savin, L. R. 6 Q. B. D. 309, 29 W. R. 638; and see Overseers of Walsall v. London & N. W. Ry., L. R. 4 App. Cas. 30, 48 L. J. Q. B. 65, 39 L. T. N. S. 433, 27 W. R. 189, 43 J. P. 108.

PART VIII.

ALTERATION OF AREAS AND UNION OF DISTRICTS.

Alteration of Areas.

270 ⁽¹⁾. The following enactments shall be made as to alteration of areas:—

Powers of Local Government Board in relation to alteration of areas.

(1.) The Local Government Board, by provisional order ⁽²⁾, may dissolve any local government district ⁽³⁾, and may merge any such district in some other urban or rural district or districts; or it may by provisional order declare the whole or any portion of a local government or a rural district immediately adjoining a local government district to be included in such last mentioned district; or it may by provisional order declare any portion of a local government district immediately adjoining a rural district to be included in such rural district; and thereupon the included area shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to form part of the district in which it is included by such order; and the remaining part (if any) of the local government district or rural district affected by such order shall continue subject to the like jurisdiction as it would have been subject to if such order had not been made unless and until the Local Government Board by provisional order otherwise directs ⁽⁴⁾:

(2.) In the case of a borough comprising within its area the whole of an Improvement Act district, or having an area co-extensive with such district, the Local Government Board by provisional order may dissolve such district and transfer to the council of the borough all or any of the jurisdiction and powers of the improvement commissioners of such district remaining vested in them at the time of the passing of this Act ⁽⁵⁾.

(3.) The Local Government Board may, by order, dissolve any special drainage district constituted either before or after the passing of this Act in which a loan for the execution of works has not been raised, and merge it in the parish or parishes in which it is situated, and the Local Government Board may, by provisional order, dissolve any such district in which a loan has been raised for the execution of works, and merge it in the parish or parishes in which it is situated ⁽⁶⁾.

271 ⁽⁷⁾. The Local Government Board may, by provisional order ⁽⁸⁾, declare any rural district ⁽⁹⁾, or any portion of any rural district or districts, to be a local government district ⁽¹⁰⁾; and from and after the commencement of the order ⁽¹¹⁾, the district or portion of the district or districts therein referred to shall become a local government district, and shall be subject to the jurisdiction of a local board, to be elected in manner provided by Schedule II. to this Act ⁽¹⁾.

The Local Government Board may, by any order constituting a local government district under this section, divide such districts into wards for the election of members of the local board.

272 ⁽²⁾. The owners ⁽³⁾ and ratepayers of any place situated in any rural district ⁽⁴⁾ or districts, and having a known and defined boundary ⁽⁵⁾, may by a resolution passed in manner provided by Schedule III. to this Act ⁽⁶⁾, declare that it is expedient that such place should be constituted a local government district ⁽⁷⁾; and the Local Government Board may, if it thinks fit, by order made not less than six weeks after the receipt of a copy of such resolution by the said Board, declare such place to be a local government district, and from and after the commencement of such order ⁽⁸⁾ such place shall become a local government district, and be subject to the jurisdiction of a local board to be elected in manner provided by Schedule II. to this Act ⁽⁹⁾.

A petition may be presented to the Local Government Board from any place ⁽¹⁰⁾ so situated as aforesaid, and not having a known and defined boundary, to settle its boundary for the purposes of this Act; the petition shall state the proposed boundaries of the place, shall be signed by one-tenth of the persons rated to the relief of the poor and resident within such boundaries, and shall be supported by such evidence as the Local Government Board may require. The Local Government Board may, after local inquiry as to the genuineness of the petition, and as to the propriety of the proposed boundaries, either dismiss the petition altogether or make order as to the boundaries of the place, and may also make order as to the costs of the proceedings in relation thereto, and the persons by whom such costs are to be borne ⁽¹¹⁾.

⁽⁴⁾ Described by section 9, ante.

⁽⁵⁾ It is not necessary that the district should be a legal district having a legal boundary of the whole enclosed area; it is sufficient if the place has an actual known and defined boundary, or one that is physical, visible and notorious, so that there may be no mistake as to the limits within which the Act is to apply: R. v. Local Government Board, L. R. 8 Q. B. 227, 21 W. R. 445, sub. nom. R. v. Grasmere Local Board, 42 L. J. Q. B. 131.

A district formed for ecclesiastical purposes under 6 & 7 Vict. c. 37, consisting of parts of two townships, each separately maintaining its own poor and highways, is "a place having a known and defined boundary": R. v. Northowram and Clayton Ratepayers, L. R. 1 Q. B. 110, 35 L. J. Q. B. 90, 7 B. & S. 110, 30 J. P. 181.

A parish including within its area a corporate borough is a place which may be constituted a local government district; but a parliamentary borough, which includes the parish and part of another parish, may not: R. v. Hardy, L. R. 4 Q. B. 117, 38 L. J. Q. B. 9, 19 L. T. N. S. 352, 17 W. R. 173, 9 B. & S. 926.

As to enforcing the order, see section 294, post.

foregoing provisions shall thenceforth, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be a place with a known and defined boundary ⁽¹⁾. Secs. 272—275.

273 ⁽²⁾. Where not less than one-twentieth of the owners ⁽³⁾ and ratepayers of any place (such twentieth to be one-twentieth in number of the owners and ratepayers of the place taken together, or the owners and ratepayers in respect of one-twentieth of the rateable property in the place ⁽⁴⁾) in which a resolution has been passed declaring that it is expedient that such place should be constituted a local government district, are desirous that such district should not be constituted, or that any part of such place should be excluded therefrom, they may present a petition to the Local Government Board objecting to such resolution, and specifying the grounds of their objection.

Objection to resolution.

Such petition shall be subscribed by the owners and ratepayers presenting the same, and shall be presented within six weeks from the date of the passing of the resolution objected to, and shall where the exclusion of part of the place is prayed for, state the part of the place proposed to be excluded, accompanied with an explanatory plan ⁽⁵⁾.

The Local Government Board may after local inquiry make order with respect to the matter in question, and such order shall be binding on the place in respect of which it is made ⁽⁶⁾.

274 ⁽⁷⁾. Any owner ⁽⁸⁾ or ratepayer who disputes the validity of the vote for the adoption of the resolution may appeal, within six weeks from the declaration of the decision of the meeting ⁽⁹⁾, to the Local Government Board, setting forth the grounds on which he disputes the validity of the vote; and the Local Government Board may, on such appeal, after local inquiry ⁽¹⁰⁾, make such order as to the said Board seems fit as to the validity or invalidity of the vote, and any other questions arising on the appeal ⁽¹¹⁾.

Appeal to Local Government Board in case of alleged invalidity of vote.

united district.

281 ⁽¹⁾. The provisional order forming a united district under this Act ⁽²⁾ shall define the purposes for which such united district is formed, and the powers ⁽³⁾, rights, duties, capacities, liabilities, and obligations under this Act which the joint board is authorised to exercise or perform, or is made subject to, and shall contain regulations as to the qualification and mode of election of elective members of the joint board, as to their continuance in office, as to casual vacancies in the joint board, as to their meetings and officers, and any other matter or thing, including the adjustment of present and future liabilities and property with respect to which the Local Government Board may think fit to make any regulations for the better carrying into effect the provisions of this Act with respect to united districts.

Upon the constitution of a joint board the local authorities having jurisdiction in the component districts or contributory places shall cease to exercise therein any powers, or to perform any duties, or to be subject to any liabilities or obligations, which the joint board is authorised to exercise or perform or is made subject to; nevertheless, the joint board may delegate to the local authority of any component district the exercise of any of its powers or the performance of any of its duties ⁽⁴⁾.

Meetings and proceedings of joint boards.

282 ⁽⁵⁾. Meetings of any joint board shall be held, and the proceedings thereat shall be conducted (so far as such meetings and proceedings are not regulated by the order forming the joint board) in accordance with the rules as to meetings and proceedings contained in Schedule I. to this Act ⁽⁶⁾.

Expenses of joint board.

283 ⁽⁷⁾. Any expenses incurred by a joint board in pursuance of this Act, unless otherwise determined by the provisional order, shall be defrayed out of a common fund, to be contributed by the component districts or contributory places in proportion to the rateable value of the property in each district or contributory place, such value to be ascertained according to the valuation list in force for the time being ⁽⁸⁾.

Payment of
to joint board.

284 ⁽⁹⁾. For the purpose of obtaining payment from component districts of the sums to be contributed by them, the joint board shall issue their precept to the local authority of each component district, stating the sum to be contributed by such authority, and requiring such authority, within a time limited by the precept, to pay the sums therein mentioned to the joint board, or to such person as the joint board may direct.

Any sum mentioned in a precept addressed by a joint board to a local authority as aforesaid shall be a debt due from that authority, and may be recovered accordingly, such contribution in the case of a rural authority being deemed to be general expenses.

If any local authority makes default in complying with the precept addressed to it, the joint board may, instead of instituting proceedings for the recovery of a debt, or in addition to such proceedings as to any part of a debt which may for the time being be unpaid, proceed in a summary manner as in this Act mentioned ⁽¹⁰⁾ to raise within the district of the defaulting authority such sum as may be sufficient to pay the sum due.

Provided that no urban district containing a population of twenty-five thousand and upwards, or (in the case of a borough) having a separate Court of Quarter Sessions, shall be included in any union of districts formed under this section without the consent of the local authority of such district or borough.

Not less than twenty-eight days' notice that it is proposed to make an order under this section shall be given by the Local Government Board to the local authority of any district proposed to be included in the union, and if within twenty-one days after such notice has been given to any such authority they give notice to the Local Government Board that they object to the proposal, the Local Government Board may include their district in the union by a provisional order ⁽⁸⁾, but not otherwise.

There may be assigned by the Local Government Board to the district medical officer of any union comprising or coincident with any constituent district such duties in rendering local assistance to the medical officer of health appointed for the united districts as the said Board may think fit; and such district medical officer shall receive, in respect of any duties so assigned to him, such additional

Sec. 297.

- (2.) Before making any such provisional order, the Local Government Board shall consider any objections which may be made thereto by any persons affected thereby, and in cases where the subject matter is one to which a local inquiry is applicable ⁽¹⁾, shall cause to be made a local inquiry, of which public notice shall be given in manner aforesaid ⁽²⁾, and at which all persons interested shall be permitted to attend and make objections:
- (3.) The Local Government Board may submit to Parliament for confirmation any provisional order made by it in pursuance of this Act, but any such order shall be of no force whatever unless and until it is confirmed by Parliament:
- (4.) If while the Bill confirming any such order is pending in either House of Parliament, a petition is presented against any order comprised therein, the Bill, so far as it relates to such order, may be referred to a select committee, and the petitioner shall be allowed to appear and oppose as in the case of private bills ⁽³⁾:
- (5.) Any Act confirming any provisional order made in pursuance of any of the

(1) As to local inquiries, see section 293, ante.

(2) See sub-section (1), supra. Under the previous enactment the kind of public notice required was not specified.

(3) By 34 & 35 Vict. c. 3, s. 2, a select committee on bills confirming provisional orders is empowered to award costs in like manner and under the same conditions as 28 & 29 Vict. c. 27.

This latter Act provides as follows:—

“Section 1. When the committee on a private bill shall decide that the preamble is not proved, or shall insert in such bill any provision for the protection of any petitioner, or strike out or alter any provision of such bill for the protection of any petitioner, and further unanimously report with respect to any or all of the petitioners against the bill that such petitioner or petitioners has or have been unreasonably or vexatiously subjected to expense in defending his or their rights proposed to be interfered with by the bill, such petitioner or petitioners shall be entitled to recover from the promoters of such bill his or their costs in relation thereto, or such portion thereof as the committee may think fit, such costs to be taxed by the taxing officer of the House as hereinafter mentioned, or the committee may award such a sum for costs as they shall think fit with the consent of the parties affected.

“Section 2. When the committee on a private bill shall decide that the preamble is proved, and further unanimously report that the promoters of the bill have been vexatiously subjected to expense in the promotion of the said bill by the opposition of any petitioner or petitioners against the same, then the promoters shall be entitled to recover from the petitioners, or such of them as the committee shall think fit, such portion of their costs of the promotion of the bill as the committee may think fit, such costs to be taxed by the taxing officer of the House; the committee shall state what portion of the costs, or what sum for costs, they shall so think fit to award, together with the names of the parties liable to pay the same, and the names of the parties entitled to recover the same: Provided always that no landowner who bonâ fide, at his own sole risk and charge, opposes a bill which proposes to take any portion of the said petitioner's property for the purposes of the said bill, shall be liable to any costs in respect of his opposition to such bill.”

Sections 3 and 7 of the same Act provide for the taxation and recovery of the costs, and section 8 for payment of such costs out of the deposit made by the promoters; and by section 10 the expression “private bill” shall extend to and include any bill for a local and personal Act.

By 34 & 35 Vict. c. 83, s. 1, any committee of the House of Commons may administer an oath to the witness examined before such committee, or an affirmation may be made by any witness who conscientiously objects to take an oath.

As to the costs of any local authority in promoting or opposing a provisional order, see the next section.

Sanitary Acts ⁽¹⁾ or of this Act, and any Order in Council ⁽²⁾ made in pursuance of any of the Sanitary Acts may be repealed, altered, or amended by any provisional order made by the Local Government Board and confirmed by Parliament: Secs. 297—299.

(6.) The Local Government Board may revoke, either wholly or partially, any provisional order made by them before the same is confirmed by Parliament, but such revocation shall not be made whilst the Bill confirming the order is pending in either House of Parliament:

(7.) The making of a provisional order shall be prima facie evidence that all the requirements of this Act in respect of proceedings required to be taken previously to the making of such provisional order have been complied with ⁽³⁾:

(8.) Every Act confirming any such provisional order shall be deemed to be a public general Act.

298 ⁽⁴⁾. The reasonable costs of any local authority in respect of provisional orders made in pursuance of this Act, and of the inquiry preliminary thereto, as sanctioned by the Local Government Board, whether in promoting or opposing the same, shall be deemed to be expenses properly incurred for purposes of this Act by the local authority interested in or affected by such provisional orders, and such costs shall be paid accordingly ⁽⁵⁾; and if thought expedient by the Local Government Board, the local authority may contract a loan for the purpose of defraying such costs ⁽⁶⁾. If such duty is not performed by the time limited in the order, such order may be enforced by writ of mandamus, or the Local Government Board may appoint some person to perform such duty, and shall by order ⁽¹⁾ direct that the expenses ⁽²⁾ of performing the same, together with a reasonable remuneration to the person appointed for superintending such performance, and amounting to a sum specified in the order, together with the costs of the proceedings, shall be paid by the authority in default; and any order made for the payment of such expenses and costs may be removed into the Court of Queen's Bench, and be enforced in the same manner as if the same were an order of such Court ⁽³⁾.

Further provision for recovery of expenses.

Any person appointed under this section to perform the duty of a defaulting local authority shall, in the performance and for the purposes of such duty, be invested with all the powers of such authority other than (save as hereinafter provided) the powers of levying rates; and the Local Government Board may from time to time by order change any person so appointed.

300 ⁽⁴⁾. Any sum specified in an order ⁽¹⁾ of the Local Government Board for payment of the expenses ⁽²⁾ of performing the duty of a defaulting local authority, together with the costs of the proceedings, shall be deemed to be expenses properly incurred by such authority, and to be a debt due from such authority, and payable out of any moneys in the hands of such authority or of their officers, or out of any rate applicable to the payment of any expenses properly incurred by such authority, which rate is in this part of this Act referred to as "the local rate." If the defaulting authority refuses to pay any such sum, with costs, as aforesaid, for a period of fourteen days after demand, the Local Government Board may by order ⁽¹⁾ empower any person to levy, by and out of the local rate, such sum (the amount to be specified in the order) as may, in the opinion of the Local Government Board, be sufficient to defray the debt so due from the defaulting authority, and all expenses incurred in consequence of the non-payment of such debt.

Any person or persons so empowered shall have the same powers of levying the local rate, and requiring all officers of the defaulting authority to pay over any moneys in their hands, as the defaulting authority would have in the case of expenses legally payable out of a local rate to be raised by such authority ⁽⁶⁾; and the said person or persons, after repaying all sums of money so due in respect of the order, shall pay the surplus, if any, (the amount to be ascertained by the Local Government Board,) to or to the order of the defaulting authority.

Whenever the Local Government Board so certifies a loan to be required, the Public Works Loan Commissioners may advance to the Local Government Board, or to any person appointed as aforesaid, the amount of the loan so certified to be required on the security of the local rate, without requiring any other security; and the Local Government Board, or the person so appointed, may, by an instrument duly executed, charge the local rate with the repayment of the principal and interest due in respect of such loan, and every such charge shall have the same effect as if the defaulting local authority were empowered to raise such loan on the security of the local rate, and had duly executed an instrument charging the same on the local rate.

302 (2). Any principal money or interest for the time being due in respect of any loan under this Act made for payment of the expenses incurred or to be incurred in the performance of the duty of a defaulting local authority shall be taken to be a debt due from such authority, and, in addition to any other remedies, may be recovered in the manner in which a debt due from a defaulting authority may be recovered in pursuance of the provisions of this part of this Act ⁽³⁾.

303 (4). The Local Government Board may, on the application of the local authority of any district, by provisional order ⁽⁵⁾, wholly or partially repeal, alter or amend any local Act, other than an Act for the conservancy of rivers, which is in force in any area comprising the whole or part of any such district, and not conferring powers or privileges on any persons or person for their or his own pecuniary benefit, which relates to the same subject matters as this Act.

Any such provisional order may provide for the extension of the provisions of the local Act referred to therein beyond the district or districts within the limits of such Act, or for the exclusion of the whole or a portion of any such district from the application of such Act; and may provide what local authority shall have jurisdiction for the purposes of this Act in any area which is by such order included in or excluded from such district ⁽⁶⁾.

Aeerington Board*, ante, p. 46.

Compensation cannot be obtained under this section, unless the injury is such as, had the acts which caused the injury not been authorised by the statute, would have given the claimant a right of action: Ricket v. Metropolitan Ry., L. R. 2 Eng. & Ir. App. 175, 36 L. J. Q. B. 205, 16 L. T. N. S. 542, 15 W. R. 937; New River Co. v. Johnson, 2 El. & El. 435, 29 L. J. M. C. 93; R. v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 3 B. & S. 710, 32 L. J. Q. B. 105; Hall v. Mayor, &c. Bristol, L. R. 2 C. P. 322, 36 L. J. C. P. 110, 15 L. T. N. S. 572, 15 W. R. 404. But where the injury is caused by acts not authorised by the statute, it is not the subject of compensation, but is ground of action: R. v. Darlington Board, 6 B. & S. 562, 35 L. J. Q. B. 45, 10 L. T. N. S. 603, 13 W. R. 789, 10 Jur. N. S. 1196. Or, in a proper case, an injunction may be obtained to restrain the commission of the wrong, as where a local board are interfering with a water-course in a way not authorised by Parliament they will be restrained from so doing: Grand Junction Canal Co. v. Shugar, ante, p. 73. So, where the damage is caused by reason of the works, though authorised by statute, being negligently done, the remedy is by action. See Brine v. Great W. Ry., 2 B. & S. 402, per Crompton, J., adopted in Mersey Docks' Trustees v. Gibbs, L. R. 1 Eng. & Ir. App. 112, per Lord Hatherley, in Grand Junction Canal Co. v. Shugar, supra; and see Hall v. Mayor of Battley, ante, p. 58. See also Clothier v. Webster, 31 L. J. C. P. 316, 6 L. T. N. S. 461; Coe v. Wise, L. R. 1 Q. B. 711 (negligence of agents).

What the subject of compensation.

Compensation must be for prospective as well as actual injury: Re Corporation of Dudley, ante, p. 55; Stone v. Mayor of Yeovil, L. R. 2 C. P. D. 99, 46 L. J. C. P. 137, 36 L. T. N. S. 279, 25 W. R. 240; Uttley v. Todmorden Board, 44 L. J. C. P. 19, 31 L. T. N. S. 445.

In ascertaining the compensation by reason of the construction of a sewer through the claimant's land, it was held that the arbitrator might consider that the claimant would be prevented from building on the land over the sewer, that the sewer was insufficiently built, and the annoyance arising from opening of manholes and from stench proceeding from the sewer: Uttley v. Todmorden Board, supra. The owner of a house adjoining a street is entitled to compensation, where his entrance to it is obstructed by reason of works performed by a local board under section 150, ante: R. v. Wallasey, ante, p. 122; and see Beckett v. Midland Ry., L. R. 3 C. P. 82, 37 L. J. C. P. 11, 17 L. T. N. S. 499, 16 W. R. 221. But claims for remote and consequential damage, as for inconvenience, loss of trade by the temporary obstruction of access to premises by the erection of a hoarding to allow of the reconstruction of a sewer, is not the subject of compensation. See Herring v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 19 C. B. N. S. 510, 34 L. J. M. C. 224 (decided under Metropolis Local Management Act, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, ss. 135, 225); and see Ricket v. Metropolitan Ry., supra, and Bigg v. Corporation of London, L. R. 15 Eq. 376. The removal by a riparian proprietor of shoals which are merely casual obstructions is not actionable, and is not the subject of compensation within the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, post: Rhodes v. Airedale Drainage Commissioners, ante, p. 144. But the injury caused by the permanent loss of access to a river or public highway is the subject of compensation: Metropolitan Board of Works v. McCarthy, L. R. 7 Eng. & Ir. App. 243; Ricket v. Metropolitan Ry., supra. See also Caledonian Ry. v. Walker's Trustees, L. R. 7 App. Cas. 259. The obstruction of a public right has been held not to be within section 68 of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, post: R. v. Metropolitan Board of Works, 38 L. J. Q. B. 201.

As to the principles of valuing land for compensation, see Mordue v. Dean, &c. of Durham, L. R. 8 C. P. 343; as to mines, see Jacob v. Corporation of Huddersfield, L. pounds, the same may at the option of either party be ascertained by and recovered before a Court of Summary Jurisdiction ⁽¹⁾. Secs. 308, 309.

309 ⁽²⁾. If any officer of any trustees, commissioners, or other body of persons intrusted with the execution of any local Act, whether acting exclusively under the local Act, or partly under the local Act and partly under the Local Government Acts ⁽³⁾, or any officer of any sanitary authority under the Sanitary Acts ⁽⁴⁾ by this Act repealed, or of any local authority under this Act, is, by or in pursuance of the Public Health Act, 1872, or of this Act, or of any provisional order made in pursuance of either of those Acts, removed from his office, or deprived of the whole or part of the emoluments of his office, and does not afterwards receive remuneration to an equal amount in respect of some office or employment under or by the authority of any district under this Act, the Local Government Board may by order award to such officer such compensation as the said Board may think just; and such compensation may be by way of annuity or otherwise, and shall be paid by the local authority of the district in which such officer held his office out of any rates applicable to the general purposes of this Act within that district ⁽⁵⁾.

Compensation in certain cases to officers.

As to whether property injuriously affected should be purchased, or compensation merely made for the injury done, see Bush v. Trowbridge Waterworks Co., L. R. 10 Ch. 459, 44 L. J. Ch. 645, 33 L. T. As to protection of members and officers of local authority from personal liability, see section 265 and notes thereto, ante.

⁽¹⁾ Under the previous enactment, note ⁽⁶⁾, ante, p. 211, only the amount of compensation, and not the fact of damage was to be referred. See Bradley v. Southampton Board, 4 El. & Bl. 1014, 24 L. J. Q. B. 239.

Where the local authority dispute their liability, the remedy is by mandamus: R. v. Burslem Board, 1 El. & Bl. 1077, 28 L. J. Q. B. 345, 29 ib. 242, 5 Jur. N. S. 1394, 6 ib. 696, 2 L. T. N. S. 667; R. v. Wallasey Board, ante, p. 122. But where a claim was made for compensation, and arbitration notices given, but the local authority refused to acknowledge any liability or to appoint an arbitrator, and the reference proceeded before the arbitrator appointed by the claimant without the local authority becoming in any way party to the proceeding, it was held on a motion to set aside the award for want of jurisdiction in the arbitrator, that it was not sufficient, in order to oust the jurisdiction of the arbitrator, to simply deny liability, but some prima facie ground for asserting non-liability should be shown: Burgess v. Northwich Board, ante, p. 145. And it has now been decided that a person claiming compensation is entitled to have the amount determined by compensation under this section, though there may be a dispute as to the liability of the local authority: Pearsall v. Brierley Board, ante, p. 144, affirmed on appeal to House of Lords, W. Notes, 1884, p. 73.

As to arbitrations under the Act, see sections 179—181, and notes thereto, ante; and as to power of arbitrator to state a special case, see further Rhodes v. Aire-dale Drainage Commissioners, ante, p. 144.

As to summary proceedings, see sections 251 et seq., ante. "Court of Summary Jurisdiction" is defined ante, p. 47.

A mandamus will lie to compel a local authority to levy a rate to satisfy damages: Rowell v. Hartlepool, 34 L. T. 232. The lands held by a local authority may be taken under an elegit: Worrall Waterworks Co. v. Lloyd, L. R. 1 C. P. 719. As to levying execution against goods, see Saunders v. Slack, 11 L. T. N. 310 (1). Where after the passing of this Act a district or part of a district under the jurisdiction of improvement commissioners (2), or a district or part of a district under the jurisdiction of a local board, is constituted or included in a borough, all the powers, rights, duties, capacities, liabilities, obligations, and property exercisable by, attaching to, or vested in such improvement commissioners or local board (as the case may be) under this Act, or under any local Act for purposes the same as or similar to those of this Act, or under any general Act of Parliament, within or for the benefit of such district or part of a district, shall pass to and be exercisable by and vested in the council of such borough (3).

The transfer by virtue of the Public Health Act, 1872, of the powers, rights, duties, capacities, liabilities, obligations, and property of any local board or improvement commissioners to an urban sanitary authority, shall be deemed to have included all powers, rights, duties, capacities, liabilities, obligations, and property exercisable by, attaching to, or vested in such local board or improvement commissioners as a burial board under any general Act of Parliament (4).

Power of local
change name.

311 (5). Any local board constituted either before or after the passing of this Act may, with the sanction of the Local Government Board, change their name. Every such change of name shall be published in such manner as the Local Government Board may direct. No such change of name shall affect any rights or obligations of the local board, or render defective any legal proceedings instituted by or against the local board; and any legal proceedings may be continued or commenced against the local board by their new name which might have been continued or commenced against the local board by their former name (6).

The last paragraph is new.

(2) Defined ante, p. 214.

(3) "Council of such borough" means the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses acting by the council, and the effect of the section is to vest all the property of the board (including property acquired by them by purchase after the passing of the Act) at once in the corporation without the necessity of any conveyance, &c. Accordingly the Bank of England are bound, without requiring any transfer, to register in the name of the corporation stock previously standing in the bank's books in the name of the local board: *Corporation of Hyde v. "The overseers in making out the poor rate shall in every case, whether the rate is collected from the owner or occupier, or the owner is liable to the payment of the rate instead of the occupier, enter in the occupier's column of the rate book the name of the occupier of every rateable hereditament, and such occupier shall be deemed to be duly rated for any qualification or franchise as aforesaid, and if any overseer negligently or wilfully, and without reasonable cause, omits the name of the occupier of any rateable hereditament from the rate, or negligently or wilfully mis-states any name therein, such overseer shall for every such omission or mis-statement be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding two pounds, provided that any occupier whose name has been omitted shall notwithstanding such omission, and that no claim to be rated has been made by him, be entitled to every qualification and franchise depending upon rating in the same manner as if his name had not been so omitted."

It is also provided in section 7, "Every payment of a rate by the occupier, notwithstanding the amount thereof, may be deducted from his rent as herein provided, and every payment of a rate by the owner, whether he is himself rated instead of the occupier, or as agreed with the occupier, or with the overseers, to pay such rate, and notwithstanding any allowance or deduction which the overseers are empowered to make from the rate, shall be deemed a payment of the full rate by the occupier for the purpose of any qualification or franchise, which, as regards rating, depends upon the payment of the poor rate."

It is provided in section 15: "The overseers who make the poor rate for a period exceeding three months may declare that the same shall be paid by instalments at such times as they shall specify, and thereupon each instalment only shall be enforceable as and when it falls due, and the payment of any such instalment shall as respects any qualification or franchise depending upon the payment of the poor rate, be deemed a payment of such rate in respect of the period to which such instalment applies."

It would seem that the chairman, when he is himself a candidate, cannot act as returning officer: R. v. White, L. R. 2 Q. B. 557, 36 L. J. Q. B. 267, 16 L. T. N. S. 828, 15

32. If the office of chairman is vacant at the time when any such power or duty must be exercised or performed, or if the chairman or such other person as aforesaid, from illness or other sufficient cause, is unable to exercise or perform such powers or duties, or is absent, or refuses to act, some other person shall be appointed (in case of the first election) by the Local Government Board, and (in any other case) by the local board, to exercise or perform such powers and duties ⁽¹⁾.

34. The local board, or (in case of the first election) the returning officer, shall, before or during the election, appoint a competent number of persons to assist the returning officer in conducting and completing the same ⁽²⁾.

35. If any returning officer appointed by the Local Government Board dies, refuses or becomes incapable to act, the Local Government Board may appoint another person to act in his stead.

Election ⁽³⁾.

36. The returning officer shall after the close of the revision of the register, but not less than fourteen days ⁽⁴⁾ before the last day appointed for delivery to him of nomination papers, publish a notice ⁽⁵⁾, signed by him, and specifying—

The number and qualification of the persons to be elected ⁽⁶⁾;

The place where the nomination papers ⁽⁷⁾ hereinafter mentioned are to be delivered or sent to him;

The last day on which they are to be delivered or sent in;

The mode of voting in case of a contest ⁽⁸⁾;

The day or days on which the voting papers will be delivered ⁽⁹⁾ and the day on which they will be collected ⁽¹⁰⁾; and

The place for the examination and for the casting up of the votes ⁽¹¹⁾; and shall also cause copies of such notice to be affixed at the places where parochial notices are usually affixed ⁽¹²⁾.

37. The returning officer may, if he thinks fit, cause to be made an alphabetical list of the persons entitled to vote at the election.

R. 363, where four members of a local board under the Public Health Act, 1848, having gone out of office, three at the expiration of their term of office and one by resignation before the end of the term, four new members were elected at one election without distinction, no distinction being made in the notice of election or the voting papers between the regular vacancies and the casual vacancy, the election was held valid.

Sched. II.

38. The clerk of the board of guardians of any union, and the overseers or other officers of every parish wholly or in part within the parts for which the election is held, and having the custody of any books or papers relating to the election of guardians of the poor, or of the poor rate books relating to any such parish, shall permit the same to be inspected and copies or extracts to be taken therefrom by the returning officer. Any person having the custody of any such books or papers who refuses to permit the same to be inspected, or copies or extracts to be taken therefrom, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds ⁽¹⁾.

39. Any person entitled to vote may nominate for the office of member of the local board himself (if qualified to be elected), or any other person or persons so qualified (not exceeding the number of persons to be elected) ⁽²⁾.

40. Every such nomination shall be in writing, and shall state the names ⁽³⁾ and residence ⁽⁴⁾ and calling or quality ⁽⁵⁾ of the person or persons nominated, and shall be signed by the person nominating, and be delivered or sent to the returning officer ⁽⁶⁾.

41. Any person nominated may withdraw from his candidature by giving notice to that effect, signed by him, to the returning officer.

42. If the number of persons nominated and not withdrawn is the same as or less than the number of persons to be elected, such persons (if duly qualified) shall be deemed and shall be certified by the returning officer under his hand to be elected ⁽⁷⁾.

43. If the number nominated and not withdrawn exceeds the number to be elected, the returning officer shall cause voting papers, in the Form N. contained in Schedule IV. ⁽⁸⁾ to this Act, to be prepared and filled up, and shall insert therein the names and residence and the calling or quality of each of the persons nominated and not withdrawn, in the alphabetical order of the surnames of such persons, but it shall not be necessary to insert more than once the name of any person nominated ⁽⁹⁾.

⁽²⁾ It would seem that where the district is divided into wards (rules 6—9, ante) no person can nominate for a ward who is not qualified to vote in such ward. It has been so held under section 6 of 22 Vict. c. 35, which contains a like provision to the above in reference to the election of town councillors in a municipal borough: R. v. Parkinson, L. R. 3 Q. B. 11, 37 L. J. Q. B. 52, 17 L. T. N. S. 169, 8 B. & S. 769.

R. 736, decided in reference to an election for town councillors of a borough under 38 & 39 Vict. c. 40, it was held that the name of a candidate, which was Robert Vicars Mather, inserted as "Robert V. Mather," did not satisfy the requirements of section 1 and the form in Schedule II. of the statute, which required a statement of "the surname and other names of the person nominated."

⁽⁴⁾ In R. v. Hammond, 17 Q. B. 772, 21 L. J. Q. B. 153, decided under 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 76, s. 32, which required that the election of committees should be by voting papers "containing the christian names and surnames of the persons voted for, with their respective places of abode and descriptions," it was held that "place of abode" meant place of residence, and that voting papers which gave only the place of business were void, even though the candidate was as well known by that description as by his place of residence. See also R. v. Deighton, 5 Q. B. 896, 13 L. J. Q. B. 241, 8 Jur. 686; Luckett v. Knowles, 2 C. B. 187; Allen v. Greensill, 4 C. B. 100; Soper v. Mayor, &c., of Basingstoke, L. R. 2 C. P. 44. The returning officer shall, three days at least ⁽¹⁾ before the day of collection of the voting papers, cause one of such voting papers to be delivered, by persons appointed by him for that purpose, at the address stated in the register or claim of each owner and proxy, and at the residence within the district of each ratepayer entitled to vote therein ⁽²⁾.

45. Each voter shall write his initials in the voting paper delivered to him against the name or names of the person or persons (not exceeding the number of persons to be elected) for whom he intends to vote, and shall sign such voting paper ⁽³⁾.

46. Any person voting as a proxy shall in like manner write his own initials and sign his own name, and state also in writing the name of the person or body of persons for whom he is proxy.

47. Any voter unable to write shall affix his mark at the foot of the voting paper in the presence of a witness, who shall attest and write the name of the voter against the mark, as well as the initials of such voter against the name of every candidate for whom the voter intends to vote.

48. The returning officer shall cause the voting papers to be collected on the day of collection (which shall not be later than the 7th of April) by such persons as he may appoint ⁽⁴⁾.

49. No voting paper shall be received or admitted unless the same has been delivered at the address or residence as aforesaid of the voter, nor unless the same is collected by the persons appointed for that purpose: Provided—

(a.) That if any person entitled to receive a voting paper has not received a voting paper as aforesaid, he shall, on personal ⁽⁵⁾ application before the day of collection to the returning officer, be entitled to receive a voting paper from him, and to fill up the same in his presence, and then and there to deliver the same to him:

(b.) That if any voting paper duly delivered has not been collected, through the default of the returning officer or the persons appointed to collect the same, the voter in person may deliver the same to the returning officer before twelve o'clock at noon on the day or on the first day (as the case may be) appointed for the examination and casting up of the votes.

50. If any person nominated, or any person on his behalf, gives at least one clear day's notice in writing to the returning officer, before the delivery or collection of the voting papers, of an intention to send some agent to accompany the deliverer or collector of the papers, the returning officer shall make his arrangements so as to enable the person appointed by him to be so accompanied, but no such agent shall interfere in any respect in the delivery or collection of the voting papers.

Counting of Votes ⁽⁶⁾.

51. The returning officer shall on the day immediately following the day of collection of the voting papers, and on as many days immediately succeeding turning officer to fill up the column with the number of votes, but his omission to do so, although it might expose him to a prosecution for a penalty, did not render the election void.

⁽³⁾ Under similar provisions in the repealed Municipal Corporations Act, 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 76, s. 32, it has been held that a voting paper not signed is invalid: R. v. Hart, 28 L. J. Q. B. 173, 5 Jur. N. S. 679. But the initials of the Christian names are sufficient: R. v. Avery, 18 Q. B. 576, 21 L. J. Q. B. 429, 17 Jur. 272.

As to fabrication of voting papers, personation, &c., see rule 69, post.

⁽⁴⁾ See the provision in rule 66, post, as to the day falling on a Sunday, &c.

⁽⁶⁾ The previous enactment on this subject was the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 27.

Sched. II. as may be necessary, attend at the place appointed for the examination and casting up of the votes, and ascertain the validity of the votes, by an examination of the rate books and such other books and documents as he may think necessary, and by examining such persons as he may see fit; he shall cast up such of the votes as he finds to be valid, and to have been duly given, collected, or received, and shall ascertain the number of such votes for each candidate ⁽¹⁾.

Any candidate may himself attend or may appoint any agent to attend the examination and casting up of the votes; any candidate or agent so attending who obstructs or in any way interferes with the examination and casting up of the votes may, by order of the returning officer, be forthwith removed from the place appointed for that purpose, and if so removed shall not be permitted to return ⁽²⁾.

52. The candidates to the number to be elected who, being duly qualified ⁽³⁾, have obtained the greatest number of votes, shall be deemed and shall be certified by the returning officer under his hand to be elected, and to each person so elected the returning officer shall forthwith send or deliver notice of his election ⁽⁴⁾.

53. The returning officer shall also cause to be made a list containing the names of the candidates, together with (in case of a contest) the number of votes given for each, and the names of the persons elected, and shall sign and certify such list, and shall deliver the same, together with the nomination and voting papers which he has received, to the local board at their first or next meeting (as the case may be), who shall cause the same to be deposited in their office.

54. Such list shall during office hours be open to public inspection, together with all other documents relating to the election, for six months after the election, without fee or reward; and the returning officer shall, as soon as may be after the completion of the election, cause such list to be printed, and copies thereof to be affixed at the usual places for affixing parochial notices ⁽⁵⁾ within the parts for which the election has taken place.

55. The returning officer shall make all his arrangements for the conduct of the election so as to ensure its completion, and the ascertainment of the result, on or before the fifteenth of April in each year; and on that day the candidates elected shall come into office, and until that day the members in whose room they are elected shall continue to hold office.

Provided that the first election of a local board for a district constituted after

(1) The duties of the returning officer as to casting up the votes are ministerial merely, and therefore if he makes a mistake by putting down to one candidate votes which the voting papers show have been given for another, or has omitted to reckon votes, his decision may be questioned by quo warranto proceedings; but his duties in ascertaining the validity of the votes are judicial, and his decision as to the validity or invalidity of votes cannot be questioned: R. v. Collins, L. R. 2 Q. B. D. 30, 46 L. J. Q. B. 257, 36 L. T. N. S. 192, 24 W. R. 732. See also R. v. Ward and R. v. Ellis, infra.

The returning officer (i.e., the chairman or his duly appointed deputy) must personally attend and examine the votes: R. v. Backhouse, ante, p. 232.

(2) This provision enabling a candidate or his agent to attend the counting of the votes is new.

(3) See rules 1-5, ante.

(4) As to when the decision of the returning officer may be questioned, and when not, see R. v. Collins, supra. But the Court will not allow an information in the nature of a quo warranto to be filed to try the title to an office merely because there has been an irregularity in the election, in the absence of bad faith, and where the result has not been affected: R. v. Ward, L. R. 8 Q. B. 210, 42 L. J. Q. B. 126, 28 L. T. N. S. 118, 21 W. R. 632, 37 J. P. 453. So, where E. and R. were candidates for a place in a local board, and the votes for R. were 57 and for E. 52, but the returning officer decided that R. was disqualified as his name was omitted from the rate book, and his son-in-law was rated instead of him, it was held that the officer was justified in disqualifying R., or at least R. had led to the mistake, and a rule for quo warranto against E. was discharged: R. v. Ellis, 44 J. P. 748.

(5) See note (8) to rule 25, ante, p. 231.

the passing of this Act ⁽¹⁾ may be held at any time mentioned in the order constituting the district, and the members shall come into office on the day appointed for their first meeting ⁽²⁾, but shall for the purposes of retirement be deemed to have come into office on the fifteenth of April next following the commencement of the order ⁽³⁾.

Sched. II.Declaration to be made by Members.

56. A person shall not act ⁽⁴⁾ as a member of a local board (except in administering the following declaration) until he has made and signed before two or more other members of such board a declaration in writing to the effect following; (that is to say,)

"I A. B. do solemnly declare, that I am seised or possessed of real or personal [or real and personal] estate to the value or amount of ⁽⁵⁾ [or that I am rated to the relief of the poor of _____ on the annual value of ⁽⁵⁾].

"(Signed) A. B.

"Made before us, C. D. and E. F., members of the Local Board for the District of _____, his _____ day of _____."

57. Such declaration shall be signed by the person making the same, and shall be filed and kept by the clerk of the local board; and any person who falsely or corruptly makes and subscribes such declaration, knowing the same to be untrue in any material particular, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanour.

58. Any person who neglects to make and subscribe the declaration required by this Act for the space of three months next after he has become a member of the local board shall be deemed to have refused to act, and shall cease to be a member of such local board, and his office as such shall thereupon become vacant ⁽⁶⁾.

Retirement of Members ⁽⁷⁾.

59. Subject as hereinafter mentioned ⁽⁸⁾, one-third of the number of members elected for the district, or if the district is divided into wards, one-third of the number elected for each ward (being those who have been longest in office), shall go out of office on the fifteenth of April in each year ⁽⁹⁾.

60. The order in which the persons elected at the first election of a local board for a district constituted after the passing of this Act shall go out of office shall be regulated by the local board, and if the number of persons to be elected is not divisible by three, the proportion to go out of office in each year shall be regulated by the local board so that as nearly as may be one-third shall go out of office in each year ⁽¹⁰⁾.

61. No person elected shall in any case continuously remain in office (without re-election) for more than three years: Provided that if the number of persons to

⁽¹⁰⁾ It is no objection that the members selected to go out of office have ceased to be members of the board before the 15th April, by reason of non-attendance, &c. See Britt v. Manfull, 6 El. & Bl. 736, 25 L. J. Q. B. 411, 2 Jur. N. S. 883, 4 W. R. 612 decided upon the previous Public Health Act, 1848, (see note ⁽⁷⁾, supra.)

⁽¹¹⁾ See the preceding note.

Sched II. be elected for any ward is less than three, the persons elected shall go out of office on the fifteenth of April in such year or years as the local board may with the sanction of the Local Government Board determine.

62. Before the fifteenth of April in each year a number of persons equal to the number of retiring members shall be elected in manner provided by this schedule, and so many others as may be necessary to complete the full number of the local board in respect of which the election is held ⁽¹⁾.

63. Any person who has ceased to be a member is re-eligible (if qualified).

Disqualification of Members ⁽²⁾.

64. Any member who ceases to hold his qualification, or becomes bankrupt, or submits his affairs to liquidation by arrangement, or compounds with his creditors, or is absent from meetings of the local board for more than six months ⁽³⁾ consecutively (unless in case of illness), or accepts or holds any office or place of profit under the local board of which he is member, or in any manner is concerned in any bargain or contract entered into by such board, or participates in the profit thereof ⁽⁴⁾, or of any work done under the authority of this Act in or for the district, shall, except in the cases next hereinafter provided, cease to be such member, and his office as such shall thereupon become vacant:

P. 132 (decided under Metropolis Management Act, 1855, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, ss. 54 and 60), where a member of a vestry had lent money to his brother in order to enable the latter to carry out a contract made with the vestry before the election of the member, and had taken an assignment of the contract as security for repayment of the loan, it was held that the member was "interested" in the contract, and was liable to penalties for having acted after he had "ceased" to be a member. The prohibition applies only to contracts for the supply of a series of things, or in other words, to a continuing contract, and where the member would have to decide on the quality of the article produced, and does not apply to a single act of asking a price for an article and selling it there and then. See Woolley v. Kay, 1 H. & N. 307, 25 L. J. Ex. 351; Le Feuvre v. Lankester, 3 El. & Bl. 530, 23 L. J. Q. B. 254, 18 Jur. N. S. 894, 2 C. L. R. 1426. But in Nicholson v. Fields, 7 H. & N. 810, 31 L. J. Ex. 233, an invoice addressed to town commissioners by one of the commissioners for lime supplied at four different times was held evidence against the commissioner of being concerned in a contract with the town commissioners. See also Lewis v. Carr, L. R. 1 Ex. D. 484, 46 L. J. Ex. 314, 36 L. T. N. S. 44, 24 W. R. 940, 40 J. P. 279, and Royse v. Birley, L. R. 4 C. P. 296, 38 L. J. C. P. 203, 20 L. T. N. S. 786, 17 W. R. 827. In Townsey v. White, 5 B. & C. 125, where one of the trustees of a turnpike road let horses to a contractor to perform certain works on the road, and the horses were so used, the trustee was held liable to a penalty under a similar clause to the above in 3 Geo. IV. c. 126, s. 65.

As to whether the contract remains in force, though the contractor be disqualified, see Barton v. Piggott, L. R. 10 Q. B. 86, 44 L. J. M. C. 5, 31 L. T. N. S. 404, 23 W. R. 233, 39 J. A member of a board who under this rule ceases to be a member of the board is a person disabled from acting as a member by a provision of the Act within the meaning of rule 70, post, and liable to the penalty if he afterwards does so act: Fletcher v. Hudson, L. R. 7 Q. B. D. 611, 51 L. J. Q. B. 48.

Provided that no member shall vacate his office—

By reason of his being interested in the sale or lease of any lands ⁽¹⁾ or in any loan of money to the local board; or

By reason of his being interested in any contract with the local board as a shareholder in any joint stock company, but he shall not vote at any meeting of the local board on any question in which such company are interested, save that in the case of a water company, or other company established for the carrying on of works of a like public nature, this prohibition may be dispensed with by the Local Government Board.

Casual Vacancies ⁽²⁾.

65. Any casual vacancy occurring by death, resignation, disqualification, failure duly to elect members, or otherwise, in a local board shall be filled up by the local board out of qualified persons within six weeks, or within such further period as the Local Government Board may by order allow; but the member so chosen shall retain his office so long only as the vacating member would have retained the same if no vacancy had occurred.

In the event of a casual vacancy, or of an ordinary vacancy which ought to have been filled up at a previous election, being filled up at an annual election, if there is a poll, the member who has been elected by the fewest votes shall be deemed elected to fill such vacancy; if there is no poll, the member to be deemed to be elected to fill such vacancy shall be determined by lot ⁽³⁾.

General Provisions.

66 ⁽⁴⁾. Whenever the day appointed for the performance of any act in relation to any election is a Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday, a bank holiday ⁽⁵⁾, or any day appointed for public fast or thanksgiving, such act shall be performed on the day next following, unless it is one of the days excluded as aforesaid; and in that case on the day following such excluded day.

67 ⁽⁶⁾. The necessary expenses attendant on any election, and such reasonable remuneration to the returning officer and other persons for services performed or expenses incurred by them in relation thereto as may be allowed by the local board, shall be paid out of the general district rates levied under this Act ⁽⁷⁾.

⁽¹⁾ These words cover a lease of a farm for agricultural or sewage purposes whether made by or to the local board. Therefore, a person is not disqualified by reason of a lease to him of a sewage farm containing covenants on the part of the board to supply, and on his part to use on the premises the sewage of the district: R. v. Gaskarth, L. R. 5 Q. B. D. 321, 49 L. J. Q. B. 509, 42 L. T. N. S. 688, 28 W. R. 596, 44 J. P. 507.

Sched. II.

68 (1). If the returning officer refuses or neglects to comply with any of the provisions of this schedule relating to elections, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds; and any person employed for the purposes of any such election by or under the returning officer who is guilty of any such neglect or refusal shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds (2).

69 (3). Any person who—

Fabricates in whole or in part, or alters, defaces, destroys, abstracts, or purloins any voting paper (4), or

Personates any person entitled to vote at any election (5), or

Falsely assumes to act in the name or on the behalf of any person so entitled to vote, or Interferes with the delivery or collection of any voting papers, or Delivers any voting paper under a false pretence of being lawfully authorised so to do, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, or, in the discretion of the Court, to imprisonment with or without hard labour for any period not exceeding three months (6).

(1) The previous enactment was the Public Health Act, 1848, 11 & 12 Vict. c. 63, s. 28.

(2) Under the previous enactment (see the preceding note) it was held that the penalty was not incurred by reason that the officer made a mistake in construing the Act, though it might be different if he neglected a mere ministerial duty about which there could be no mistake: Summerhill v. Coley, 32 J. P. 821. It has been held under the Ballot Act, 1872, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 33, that the returning officer at a municipal election is liable for neglect of ministerial duties, but that he is not responsible for the acts of his clerk, the relationship of master and servant not existing between them: Pickering v. James, L. R. 8 C. P. 489, 42 L. J. C. P. 217, 21 W. R. 786, S. C. nom. Jones v. Pickering, 29 L. T. N. S. 210. See also King v. Burrell, and Hunt v. Hibbs, post, p. 288.

If the officer, knowing a voter to be qualified, maliciously refuse to receive his voting paper, he is liable to an action by the voter; but it is otherwise if he acts bonâ fide: Tozer v. Child, 6 El. & Bl. 289, 27 L. T. 100, 4 W. R. 513.

As to the recovery of penalties, and as to the persons by whom proceedings may be taken, see sections 251, 253, and the notes thereto, ante.

A member of a local board who is not a candidate at an election, cannot, without the consent of the Attorney-General or the local board, prosecute the returning officer for neglecting to deliver the voting papers to the local board, the persons returned at the election having been properly elected: R. v. Blanshard, 30 J. P. 280, and see Verdin v. Wray, post, p. 241.

(3) The previous enactment was the Local Government Act, 1858, 21 & 22 Vict. c. 98, s. 13 (5).

(4) Where a wife having her husband's authority, but being unable to write, put a cross at the bottom of a voting paper, and a canvasser for one of the candidates put the voter's initials in the margin opposite the name of the candidate for whom the vote was intended, and signed his name as witness to the mark of the voter, this was held to be no fabrication within the meaning of the enactment, as the canvasser had no guilty intention, and bonâ fide believed (as the fact was) that the wife had authority to put her husband's name to the paper: Aberdare Board v. Hammett, L. R. 10 Q. B. 162, 44 L. J. M. C. 49, 32 L. T. N. S. 20, 39 J. P. 598.

(5) A person is not guilty of personation unless the person personated is entitled to vote at the time of the election: Whiteley v. Chappell, L. R. 4 Q. B. 147, 38 L. J. M. C. 51, 19 L. T. N. S. 355.

(6) As to the persons by whom proceedings may be taken, see section 253, ante.

An unsuccessful candidate at an election is "a party aggrieved" in respect of the fabrication of a voting paper which, if given in his favour, would have secured him the election; and per Lush, J., a candidate is aggrieved by the mere fabrication of a voting 70 (1). Any person who, not being duly qualified (2) to act as member of the local board, or not having made and subscribed the declaration required of him by this Act (3), or being disabled from acting by any provision of this Act (4), acts as such member, shall be liable to a penalty of fifty pounds, which may be recovered by any person, with full costs of suit, by action of debt; in such action it shall be sufficient for the plaintiff to prove in the first instance that the defendant at the time when the offence is alleged to have been committed acted as such member (5); and the burden of proving qualification, and the making and subscription of the declaration, or of negating disqualification by reason of non-residence, or not being seised or possessed of the requisite real or personal estate, or both, shall be on the defendant.

But all acts and proceedings of any person disqualified, disabled, or not duly qualified, or who has not made and subscribed the declaration required by this Act, shall, if done previously to the recovery of the penalty mentioned in this Act, be valid and effectual to all intents and purposes (6).

As to Local Boards established before the passing of the Local Government Act, 1858.

71. Where the district of a local board established under the Public Health Act, 1848, before the passing of the Local Government Act, 1858, comprises the whole or any part of a borough or boroughs, and also parts not within the boundaries of any such borough, the following provisions shall have effect; (namely,)

- (a.) Each person selected by the council of any such borough out of their own number shall be a member of the local board with which he is selected to act, so long as he continues without re-election to be member of the council from whom he was selected, and no longer; and a declaration shall not be required to be made by any person so selected:
- (b.) Each person selected by any such council otherwise than out of their own number shall be a member of the local board with which he is selected to act, for one year from the date of his selection, and no longer:
- (c.) In case of any vacancy in the number selected, some other qualified person shall be selected by the council by whom the person causing the vacancy was selected, within one month after the occurrence of the vacancy:
- (d.) The meeting of any council at which any selection as aforesaid is made in pursuance of this Act shall to all intents and purposes be deemed to be a meeting held in pursuance of the Act of the session of the fifth and sixth years of the reign of King William the Fourth, intituled, "An Act for the Regulation of Municipal Corporations in England and Wales," and any Act amending the same:

Williamson*, ante, p. 238.

(6) See Schedule I., Part I., r. 9, and Part II., r. 7, of the same schedule, ante, p. 226, 227.

Sched. II. (e.) If any person is both selected and elected to be a member of any such local board, he shall, within three days after notice thereof from the clerk ⁽¹⁾, choose, or, in default of such choice, the local board of which he is so selected and elected to be member shall determine, the title in respect of which he shall serve; and immediately on such choice or determination the person so selected and elected shall be deemed to be member only in respect of the title so chosen or determined, and his office as member in respect of any other title shall thereupon become vacant ⁽²⁾.

72. Elective members of any local board established under the Public Health Act, 1848, before the passing of the Local Government Act, 1858, shall be elected by such owners of property and ratepayers, and in such manner as in this schedule mentioned; and the provisions of this schedule (with the exception of the provisions relating to the number and qualification of members) ⁽³⁾ shall apply accordingly.

Temporary Provisions.

73. All members of local boards existing at the time of the passing of this Act shall, notwithstanding any provision of any Act or order confirmed by Parliament, continue to hold office till the fifteenth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six; and the next election of members of such local boards shall be held in accordance with the provisions of this schedule.

74. The provisions of section twenty-six of the Sanitary Law Amendment Act, 1874 ⁽⁴⁾, shall be deemed not to have been compulsory in the case of the first election of members of any local board elected after the passing of that Act, and before the passing of this Act; and all elections held or purporting to have been held in accordance with such provisions before the passing of this Act, shall be deemed to have been duly held, and to be valid for all purposes.

Oxford.

Where any local board lapses through its members ceasing to hold office, and failure to elect new members in manner by this Act provided, any mortgagee or other person entitled to any principal or interest on any mortgage of rates made by such local board may, without prejudice to any other mode of recovery, apply for the appointment of a receiver to a Court of Summary Jurisdiction. The said Court may, by writing under their hands, appoint a person to make, levy, and collect the whole or a competent part of the rates liable to the payment of the principal and interest in respect of which the application is made, and to recover all arrears of such rates until such principal and interest, together with the costs of the application and of collection, are paid; and on such appointment being made, all such rates, competent part thereof, and arrears, shall be paid to the 2 ⁽²⁾. In the case of any lapse of a local board, the owners and ratepayers of the district may, by resolution passed in manner provided by Schedule III. ⁽³⁾ to this Act, determine to elect, and may accordingly proceed to the election of a new local board in manner provided by this schedule, and the result of such election shall be signified to the Local Government Board by the returning officer; and all the powers, rights, duties, property, and liabilities of the lapsed board shall attach to the new board as if there had been no lapse before the election thereof, and from the date of the completion of such election all powers of any receiver to make rates under this schedule shall determine.

If no election takes place in pursuance of this provision within three months from the date of the lapse of the board, the Local Government Board may by order ⁽⁴⁾ dissolve the district, and declare it to be a rural district, or to be included in any adjoining rural district; and from and after a day named in such order all such powers, rights, duties, property, and liabilities of the lapsed board as the Local Government Board may direct shall with respect to the dissolved district attach to the rural authority named in the order, and such property shall be held by the rural authority for the benefit of the dissolved district.

(8.) If by reason of any division or alteration under this section any doubt arises as to which councillor should go out of office, the doubt may be determined by the council.

(9.) The division of a borough into a greater number of wards shall not affect the qualification of aldermen or councillors.

(10.) The number of councillors assigned to each ward shall be a number divisible by three; and in fixing their number the commissioner shall, as far as he deems it practicable, have regard as well to the number of persons rated in the ward as to the aggregate rating of the ward.

(11.) The commissioner shall make the scheme in duplicate, and shall deliver one of the duplicates to the town clerk, and shall send the other to the Secretary of State, to be submitted by him to Her Majesty in Council for approval.

(12.) The scheme shall be published in the London Gazette, and shall come into operation at the date of that publication, and thenceforth the boundaries of wards and apportionment of councillors determined and made by the scheme shall be observed and be in force.

(13.) If Her Majesty in Council does not approve the scheme, as originally prepared by the commissioner, it shall nevertheless be published in the London Gazette, and shall be in force for the purposes of any municipal election until Her Majesty in Council, on further information and report from the commissioner, definitively approves a scheme in that behalf.

(14.) The commissioner may administer oaths, and may require any person having the custody of any book containing a poor rate made for a parish to produce the book for his inspection; and every person required by the commissioner to answer any question put to him for the purposes of this section shall answer it.

(15.) The commissioner shall have remuneration as appearing by the Fourth and Fifth Schedules ⁽¹⁾.

(5.) Where the borough has wards, the burgess roll shall be made in separate rolls, called ward rolls, one for each ward, containing the names of the persons entitled to vote in that ward, and the ward rolls collectively shall constitute the burgess roll.

(6.) A burgess shall not be enrolled in more than one ward roll ⁽⁷⁾.

(7.) Where a duplicate of a burgess list is made under section thirty-one of the Parliamentary and Municipal Registration Act, 1878 ⁽⁸⁾, it shall have the same effect as the original, and may be delivered instead thereof.

(9.) No stamp duty shall be payable in respect of the enrolment of a burgess.

46.—(1.) If and as far as the council so direct, the parish burgess lists, and the burgess roll, and the ward rolls (if any), and the lists of claimants and respondents, or any of those documents, shall be arranged in the same order in which the qualifying properties appear in the rate book for the parish in which they are situate, or otherwise in such order as will cause those lists and rolls to record the qualifying properties in successive order in the street or other place in which they are situate. Arrangement of lists and rolls.

(2.) Subject to any such direction, and to the provisions of this Act as to polling districts ⁽¹⁾, the arrangement of the lists and rolls shall be alphabetical.

47.—(1.) Where the parish burgess lists are revised under the Parliamentary and Municipal Registration Act, 1878, the burgess roll is subject to alteration or correction in manner provided by section thirty-five of that Act ⁽²⁾. Correction of burgess roll.

(2.) Where the parish burgess lists are revised under this Act, any person whose claim has been rejected or name expunged at the revision of the lists may apply, within two months after the last sitting of the revision court, to the High Court in the Queen's Bench Division for a mandamus to the mayor to insert his name in the burgess roll; and thereupon the Court shall inquire into the title of the applicant to be enrolled ⁽³⁾.

(3.) If the Court grants a mandamus, the mayor shall insert the name in the burgess roll, and shall add thereto the words "by order of Her Majesty's High Court of Justice," and shall subscribe his name to those words.

49.—(1.) The overseers of each parish shall at the same time that they make the parish burgess list make a list of the persons entitled in respect of the occupation of property in that parish to be elected councillors, as being resident within fifteen miles although beyond seven miles from the borough ⁽⁶⁾. Separate list of persons qualified to be councillors but not to be burgesses.

(2.) The provisions of this Act as to the parish burgess lists, and claims and objections relating thereto, and the revision of those lists shall, as nearly as circumstances admit, apply to the lists made under this section.

(3.) The town clerk shall arrange the names entered in these lists, when revised, in alphabetical order as a separate list (in this Act called the separate non-resident list), with an appropriate heading, at the end of the burgess roll ⁽⁷⁾.

Election of Councillors.

50.—(1.) Where a borough has no wards, there shall be one election of councillors for the whole borough. Borough and ward elections.

(2.) Where a borough has wards, there shall be a separate election of councillors for each ward ⁽⁸⁾.

51.—(1.) At an election of councillors a person shall be entitled to subscribe a nomination paper, and to demand and receive a voting paper, and to vote, if he is enrolled in the burgess roll, or, in the case of a ward election, the ward roll, and not otherwise ⁽⁹⁾. Title to vote.

58.—(1.) If an election of councillors is contested, the poll shall, as far as Secs. 58-60 circumstances admit, be conducted as the poll at a contested parliamentary election is by the Ballot Act, 1872 ⁽¹⁾, directed to be conducted, and, subject to the modifications expressed in Part III. of the Third Schedule, and to the other provisions of this Act, the provisions of the Ballot Act, 1872, relating to a poll at a parliamentary election (including the provisions relating to the duties of the returning officer after the close of the poll), shall apply to a poll at an election of councillors. Mode of conducting poll at contested election. 35 & 36 Vict. c. 33.

(2.) Every person entitled to vote may vote for any number of candidates not exceeding the number of vacancies.

(3.) The poll shall commence at nine o'clock in the forenoon and close at four o'clock in the afternoon of the same day ⁽²⁾.

(4.) But if one hour elapses during which no vote is tendered, and the returning officer has not received notice that any person has within that hour been prevented from coming to the poll by any riot, violence or other unlawful means, the returning officer may, if he thinks fit, close the poll at any time before four o'clock ⁽¹⁾.

(5.) Where an equality of votes is found to exist between any candidates, and the addition of a vote would entitle any of those candidates to be declared elected, the returning officer, whether entitled or not to vote in the first instance, may give such additional vote by word of mouth or in writing.

(6.) Nothing in the Ballot Act, 1872, as applied by this Act, shall be deemed to authorise the appointment of any agents of a candidate at a municipal election; but if, in the case of a municipal election, an agent of a candidate is appointed, and notice in writing of the appointment is given to the returning officer, one clear day before the polling day, then the provisions of the Ballot Act, 1872, with respect to agents of candidates, shall, as far as regards that agent, apply in the case of that election ⁽³⁾.

59.—(1.) At an election of councillors, the presiding officer shall, if required by two burgesses, or by a candidate or his agent, put to any person offering to vote, at the time of his presenting himself to vote, but not afterwards, the following questions or either of them: Questions which may be put to voters.

(a.) Are you the person enrolled in the burgess [or ward] roll now in force for this borough [or ward] as follows [read the whole entry from the roll]?

(b.) Have you already voted at the present election [add, in case of an election for several wards], in this or any other ward?

(2.) The vote of a person required to answer either of these questions shall not be received until he has answered it.

(3.) If any person wilfully makes a false answer thereto he shall be guilty of a misdemeanour.

(4.) Save as by this Act authorised, no inquiry shall be permitted at an election as to the right of any person to vote.

60.—(1.) The ordinary day of election of aldermen shall be the ninth of November, and the election shall be held at the quarterly meeting of the Council ⁽¹⁾. Time and mode of election of aldermen.

(6.) In case of equality of votes the chairman, although as an outgoing alderman or otherwise not entitled to vote in the first instance, shall have the casting vote.

(7.) The persons, not exceeding the number of vacancies, who have the greatest number of votes, shall be declared by the chairman to be, and thereupon shall be, elected.

Election of Mayor.

Time and mode of election of mayor.

61.—(1.) The ordinary day of election of mayor shall be the ninth of November ⁽³⁾.

(2.) The election of mayor shall be the first business transacted at the quarterly meeting of the council on the day of election.

(4.) In case of equality of votes, the chairman ⁽⁴⁾, although not entitled to vote in the first instance, shall have the casting vote.

Election of Auditors and Assessors.

Time and mode of election of auditors and assessors.

62.—(1.) The ordinary day of election of elective auditors shall be the first of March, or such other day as the council, with the approval of the Local Government Board, from time to time appoint ⁽⁵⁾.

(2.) The ordinary day of election of revising assessors shall be the first of March ⁽⁵⁾.

(3.) If the election of elective auditors and that of revising assessors are held at the same time, then at the poll one voting paper only shall be used by any person voting ⁽⁶⁾. The names of the candidates for the respective offices shall be therein separate, and distinguished so as to show the office for which each is a candidate, and the provisions of the Ballot Act, 1872, shall be varied accordingly; but in the counting of the votes every voting paper shall be deemed to be a separate voting paper in respect of each office, and any objections thereto shall be considered and dealt with accordingly.

(1) These voting papers do not require a stamp: R. v. Strachan, L. R. 7 Q. B. 463, 41 L. J. Q. B. 210, 26 L. T. N. S. 835, 20 W. R. 629. In Mather v. Brown, L. R. 1 C. P. D. 596, 45 L. J. C. P. 547, 34 L. T. N. S. 869, 24 W. R. 736 (decided under 38 & 39 Vict. c. 40, s. 1 (2)), it was held that the description of the name of a candidate, whose name was Robert Vicars Mather, as "Robert V. Mather," was not a statement of "the surname and other names of the person nominated." But see Henry v. Armitage, 32 W. R. 192 (C.A.), "Wm." for "William," held good under 38 & 39 Vict. c. 40, s. 1 (2), and Schedule I, Form 2, now repealed; R. v. Plenty, L. R. 4 Q. B. 346, 38 L. J. Q. B. 205, 20 L. T. N. B. 241, 8 Jur. 686 (place of business given instead of place of abode); and as to misnomer, &c., in voting paper, see section 241, post.

(2) See Second Schedule, r. 9, post.

(3) See note (4) to the preceding section. As to qualification, term of office, &c., of mayor, see section 15, ante.

The election of mayor must precede that of aldermen: R. v. McGowan, 11 A. & E. 869, 4 Jur. 913.

- (4.) An elector shall not vote for more than one person to be elective auditor or revising assessor. Secs. 62–70.
- (5.) Elections of elective auditors and of revising assessors shall be held at the town hall or some one other convenient place appointed by the mayor ⁽¹⁾.
- (6.) Save as in this section provided, all the provisions of this Act with respect to the nomination and election of councillors for a borough not having wards shall apply to the nomination and election of elective auditors and revising assessors ⁽²⁾.

Supplemental and Exceptional Provisions.

63. For all purposes connected with and having reference to the right to vote in municipal elections words in this Act importing the masculine gender include women ⁽³⁾. Right to women to vote.

65. Any notice required to be given in connexion with a municipal election may, as to elective auditors and revising assessors, be comprised in one notice ⁽⁵⁾, and as to ward elections, comprise matter necessary for several wards ⁽⁶⁾. Notices as to elections.
- 66.—(1.) On a casual vacancy in a corporate office ⁽⁷⁾, the election shall be held within fourteen days after notice in writing of the vacancy has been given to the mayor or town clerk by two burgesses ⁽⁸⁾. Time for filling casual vacancies.
- (2.) Where the office vacant is that of mayor, the notice of the meeting for the election shall be signed by the town clerk.
- (3.) In other cases the day of election shall be fixed by the mayor.
- 67.—(1.) If the mayor is dead, or is absent or otherwise incapable of acting ⁽⁹⁾ in the execution of his powers and duties as to elections under this Act, the council shall forthwith choose an alderman to execute those powers and duties in the place of the mayor ⁽¹⁰⁾. Illness, &c., of mayor or returning officer.
- (2.) In case of the illness, absence, or incapacity to act of the alderman assigned as the returning officer at a ward election ⁽¹¹⁾, the mayor may appoint to act in his stead another alderman, or, if the number of aldermen does not exceed the number of wards, a councillor not being a councillor for that ward, and not being enrolled in the ward roll for that ward.
68. If a person is elected councillor in more than one ward, he shall, within three days after notice thereof, choose, by writing signed by him and delivered to the town clerk, or in his default the mayor shall, within three days after the time for choice has expired, declare, for which of those wards he shall serve, and the choice or declaration shall be conclusive ⁽¹²⁾. Election of councillor in more than one ward.
69. A municipal election shall not be held in any church, chapel, or other place of public worship. Elections not in churches.
- 70.—(1.) If a municipal election is not held on the appointed day or within the appointed time, it may be held on the day next after that day or the expiration of the time ⁽¹³⁾. Omission to hold election, or election void.
- (2.) If a municipal election is not held on the appointed day or within the appointed time, or on the day next after that day or the expiration of that time, it becomes void, the municipal corporation shall not thereby be dissolved or be disabled from electing, but the High Court may, on motion, grant a mandamus for the election to be held on a day appointed by the Court ⁽¹³⁾.

Burgess roll to be in operation until revision of new burgess roll.

71.—(1.) If a parish burgess list is not made or revised in due time, the corresponding part of the burgess roll in operation before the time appointed for the revision shall be the parish burgess list until a burgess list for the parish has been revised and become part of the burgess roll ⁽³⁾.

(2.) If a burgess roll is not made in due time, the burgess roll in force before the time appointed for the revision shall continue in force until the new burgess roll is made.

Non-compliance with rules.

72. An election shall not be invalidated by non-compliance with the rules in the Third Schedule, or mistake in the use of the forms in the Eighth Schedule, if it appears to the Court having cognizance of the question that the election was conducted in accordance with the principles laid down in the body of this Act ⁽⁴⁾.

Election valid unless questioned within twelve months.

73. Every municipal election not called in question within twelve months after the election, either by election petition ⁽⁵⁾ or by information in the nature of a quo warranto ⁽⁶⁾, shall be deemed to have been to all intents a good and valid election ⁽⁷⁾.

Offences in relation to nomination papers.

(4) This reproduces Ballot Act, 1872, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 33, s. 13, omitting the words "and that such non-compliance or mistake did not affect the result of the election." Under this latter Act it has been held that a double nomination of a candidate does not invalidate his election: Northcote v. Pulsford, L. R. 10 C. P. 476, 44 L. J. C. P. 217, 32 L. T. N. S. 602, 23 W. R. 700. See also Woodward v. Sarsons, L. R. 10 C. P. 733, 44 L. J. C. P. 293, 32 L. T. N. S. 867. Where a returning officer allowed an objection to a nomination paper on the ground that the number on the burgess roll of the burgess nominating the candidate was incorrectly stated, the number "704" being given instead of "695," it was held that the objection was rightly allowed, and that section 13 of the Ballot Act, 1872, did not apply: Gothard v. Clarke, L. R. 5 C. P. D. 253, 49 L. J. C. P. 474, 42 L. T. N. S. 776.

(5) See section 88 (4), post.

(6) See section 225, post.

(7) But a party, if he acts while disqualified, may still run the risk of penalties: Ex parte Birkbeck, L. R. 9 Q. B. 256, per Blackburn, J., 22 W. R. 299.

(8) See also section 235, post.

(9) Under the previous enactment (5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 76, s. 48, which was substantially the same as the present) it was held that the liability attached, although the neglect was not wilful or corrupt: King v. Burrell, 12 A. & E. 460, 4 P. & D. 207, 4 Jur. 1109. See also Hunt v. Hibbs, 5 H. & N. 123, 29 L. J. Ex. 222, 6 Jur. N. S. 78.

(10) See Third Schedule, Part I., post. In King v. Share, 3 Q. B. 31, 2 G. & D. 453, 6 Jur. 730, it was held that the overseers of a parish divided into nine districts, each of whom had made out, &c., a list of his own district, but no other list was made out, &c., were liable to the penalty.

(b.) A town clerk neglects or refuses to receive, print, and publish, a parish Burgess list or list of claimants or respondents, as required by this Act ⁽¹⁾; or Secs. 75-77.

(c.) An overseer or town clerk refuses to allow any such list to be inspected by a person having a right thereto ⁽²⁾;

he shall for every such neglect or refusal be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds, recoverable by action.

(3.) An action under this section shall not lie after three months from the neglect or refusal. A moiety of any fine recovered therein shall, after payment of the costs of action, be paid to the plaintiff ⁽³⁾.

76.—(1.) If the Ballot Act, 1872, ceases to be in force ⁽⁴⁾ so much of this Act as directs that the poll at a contested election of councillors shall be conducted as the poll at a contested parliamentary election is by the Ballot Act, 1872, directed to be conducted, and as applies provisions of the Ballot Act, 1872, to a poll at a contested election of councillors, shall forthwith cease to be in force, and thereupon the enactments in Part IV. of the Third Schedule shall revive and be in force. Revival of former law on expiration of Ballot Act.

(2.) But this cesser and revivor shall not affect any act done, right acquired, or liability or fine incurred, or the institution or prosecution to its termination of any proceeding in respect of any such right, liability, or fine.

PART IV.

CORRUPT PRACTICES AND ELECTION PETITIONS.

Corrupt Practices.

77. In this Part—

Definitions

“Bribery,” “treating” ⁽⁵⁾, “undue influence,” and “personation,” include respectively anything done before, at, after, or with respect to a municipal election which if done before, at, after, or with respect to a parliamentary election would make the person doing the same liable to any penalty, punishment, or disqualification for bribery, treating, undue influence, or personation, as the case may be, under any Act for the time being in force with respect to parliamentary elections ⁽⁶⁾:

“Corrupt practice” means bribery, treating, undue influence, or personation:

“Candidate” means a person elected, or having been nominated, or having declared himself a candidate for election, to a corporate office ⁽⁷⁾:

“Canvasser” ⁽⁸⁾ means any person who solicits or persuades, or attempts to persuade, any person to vote or to abstain from voting at a municipal election, or to vote or to abstain from voting for a candidate at a municipal election ⁽⁹⁾:

“Voter” means a Burgess or a person who votes or claims to vote at a municipal election ⁽⁹⁾:

“Election court” means a court constituted under this Part for the trial of an election petition ⁽¹⁰⁾:

“Municipal election petition” or “election petition” means a petition under this part complaining of an undue municipal election ⁽⁹⁾:

⁽¹⁾ See Third Schedule, Part I., rr. 3, 7.

⁽²⁾ It would seem that no liability can attach under this sub-section, if, as a fact, no list exists: Gregory v. Fell, 6 Jur. 422.

⁽³⁾ As to the recovery of the moiety by the corporation from a successful plaintiff, see Mayor of Harwich v. Gant, 5 El. & Bl. 182, 1 Jur. N. S. 708.

⁽⁶⁾ See the provisions of the Corrupt Practices Prevention Acts, 1854, 1863, and 1883, 17 & 18 Vict. c. 102, 26 & 27 Vict. c. 29, and 46 & 47 Vict. c. 51, post.

Secs. 77-82. "Parliamentary election petition" means a petition under the Parliamentary Elections Act, 1868:

31 & 32 Vict. "Prescribed" means prescribed by general rules made under this Part (1):

c. 125.

"Borough" and "election" when used with reference to a petition mean the borough and election to which the petition relates.

General penalties for corrupt practices.

Disqualifications and avoidance of election for corrupt practices by candidates.

78. A person guilty of a corrupt practice at a municipal election shall be liable to the like actions, prosecutions, penalties, forfeitures, and punishments as if the corrupt practice had been committed at a parliamentary election (2).

79.—(1.) Where it is found by the report of an election court (3) that a corrupt practice (3) has been committed by or with the knowledge and consent of a candidate (3) at a municipal election, that candidate shall be deemed to have been personally guilty of a corrupt practice at the election, and his election, if he has been elected, shall be void; and he shall (whether elected or not) during seven years from the date of the report be subject to the following disqualifications (4):

He shall be incapable of—

(a.) Holding or exercising any corporate office or municipal franchise, or being enrolled or voting as a burgess:

(b.) Acting as a justice or holding any judicial office:

(c.) Being elected to or sitting or voting in Parliament:

(d.) Being registered or voting as a parliamentary voter:

(e.) Being employed by a candidate in a parliamentary or municipal election:

(f.) Acting as overseer or as guardian of the poor.

(2.) If any person is on indictment or information found guilty of a corrupt practice at a municipal election, or is in any action or proceeding adjudged to pay a penalty or forfeiture for a corrupt practice at a municipal election, he shall, whether he was a candidate at the election or not, be subject during seven years from the date of the conviction or judgment to all the disqualifications mentioned in this section.

(3.) If after a person has become disqualified under this part any witness on whose testimony he has become disqualified is, on his prosecution, convicted of perjury in respect of that testimony, the High Court may, on motion, and on proof that the disqualification was procured by means of that perjury, order that the disqualification shall cease.

Disqualifications and avoidance of election for corrupt practices by agents, and for offences against this Part.

Avoidance of election for general corruption.

Paid agents and canvassers.

80. If it is found by an election court (5) that a candidate (5) has by an agent been guilty of a corrupt practice (5) at a municipal election (6), or that any offence against this Part has been committed at a municipal election by a candidate, or by an agent for a candidate with the candidate's knowledge and consent, the candidate shall during the period for which he was elected to serve, or for which, if elected, he might have served, be disqualified for being elected to and for holding any corporate office in the borough, and if he was elected his election shall be void.

81. A municipal election (6) shall be wholly avoided by such general corruption, bribery, treating, or intimidation at the election as would by the common law of Parliament avoid a parliamentary election.

82.—(1.) A burgess of a borough shall not be retained or employed for payment

(1) See section 100, post; and see the rules, post, pp. 371—379.

(2) Where a person has been guilty of several acts of bribery at a municipal election, he is liable to a penalty in respect of each such act of bribery: Milnes v. Bale, L. R. 10 C. P. 591, 44 L. J. C. P. 336, 33 L. T. N. S. 174, 23 W. R. 660.

(3) See section 77, ante.

(4) The disqualification does not attach until after the finding of the Court: Drinkwater v. Deakin, L. R. 9 C. P. 626, 43 L. J. C. P. 355, 30 L. T. N. S. 832; and in order to disqualify, it is not enough that the report states facts from which the commission of a corrupt practice might be inferred, but the candidate must be found by the report to have been guilty of a corrupt practice: Grant v. Pagham, L. R. 3 C. P. D. 80, 47 L. J. C. P. 59, 37 L. T. N. S. 404, 26 W. R. 169, 2 Hopw. & C. 358.

(5) For definition, see section 77, ante.

(6) See the interpretation clause, ante, p. 270.

or reward by or on behalf of a candidate ⁽¹⁾ at a municipal election ⁽²⁾ for that borough or any ward thereof as a canvasser for the purposes of the election ⁽³⁾. Secs. 82—88.

(2.) If any person is retained or employed in contravention of this prohibition, that person and also the person by whom he is retained or employed shall be guilty of an offence against this Part, and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

(3.) An agent or canvasser ⁽¹⁾ retained or employed for payment or reward for any of the purposes of a municipal election ⁽²⁾ shall not vote at the election, and if he votes he shall be guilty of an offence against this Part, and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

83. If a candidate ⁽¹⁾ or an agent for a candidate pays or agrees to pay any money on account of the conveyance of a voter to or from the poll, he shall be guilty of an offence against this Part, and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds. Payment for conveyance of voters.

84.—(1.) The costs and expenses of a prosecutor and his witnesses in the prosecution of any person for bribery, undue influence, or personation at a municipal election ⁽²⁾, with compensation for trouble and loss of time, shall, unless the court otherwise directs, be allowed, paid, and borne as in cases of felony ⁽⁴⁾. Prosecutions for corrupt practices.

(2.) The clerk of the peace of the borough, or, if there is none, of the county in which the borough is situate, shall, if so directed by an election court, prosecute any person for bribery, undue influence, or personation at the election in respect of which the court acts, or sue or proceed against any person for penalties for bribery, treating, undue influence, or any offence against this Part at the election.

85. The votes of persons in respect of whom any corrupt practice ⁽¹⁾ is proved to have been committed at a municipal election ⁽²⁾ shall be struck off on a scrutiny. Striking off votes.

86. The enactments for the time being in force for the detection of personation and for the apprehension of persons charged with personation at a parliamentary election shall apply in the case of a municipal election ⁽³⁾. Personation.

Election Petitions.

87.—(1.) A municipal election ⁽³⁾ may be questioned by an election petition on the ground— Power to question municipal election by petition.

(a.) That the election was as to the borough or ward wholly avoided by general bribery, treating, undue influence, or personation; or

(b.) That the election was avoided by corrupt practices ⁽¹⁾ or offences against this Part committed at the election; or

(c.) That the person whose election is questioned was at the time of the election disqualified ⁽⁶⁾; or (d.) That he was not duly elected by a majority of lawful votes.

(2.) A municipal election ⁽⁵⁾ shall not be questioned on any of those grounds except by an election petition.

88.—(1.) An election petition may be presented either by four or more persons who voted or had a right to vote at the election or by a person alleging himself to have been a candidate ⁽¹⁾ at the election ⁽⁷⁾. Presentation of petition.

⁽⁵⁾ See the interpretation clause, ante, p. 270. See 6 & 7 Vict. c. 15, ss. 85—89, post, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 33, s. 24, post.

⁽⁶⁾ Under this sub-section an election petition may be presented where a returning officer has improperly allowed an objection to a nomination paper: Budge v. Andrews, L. R. 3 C. P. D. 510, 47 L. J. C. P. 586, 39 L. T. N. S. 166; or having no power to do so has decided as to an objection as to the time of delivery of a nomination paper: Hces v. Turner, ante, p. 284. See also Burgoyne v. Collins, L. R. 8 Q. B. D. 450, 51 L. Q. B. 335, 30 W. R. 923.

⁽⁷⁾ A petition cannot, after the expiration of the twenty-one days limited by sub-

Secs. 88, 89. (2.) Any person whose election is questioned by the petition, and any returning officer of whose conduct a petition complains, may be made a respondent to the petition ⁽¹⁾.

(3.) The petition shall be in the prescribed form ⁽²⁾ and shall be signed by the petitioner, and shall be presented in the prescribed manner ⁽³⁾ to the High Court in the Queen's Bench Division, and the prescribed officer shall send a copy thereof to the town clerk, who shall forthwith publish it in the borough ⁽⁴⁾.

(4.) It shall be presented within twenty-one days ⁽⁵⁾ after the day on which the election was held, except that if it complains of the election on the ground of corrupt practices, and specifically alleges that a payment of money or other reward has been made or promised since the election by a person elected at the election, or on his account or with his privity, in pursuance or furtherance of such corrupt practices, it may be presented at any time within twenty-eight days after the date of the alleged payment or promise, whether or not any other petition against that person has been previously presented or tried.

Security for costs.

89.—(1.) At the time of presenting an election petition ⁽⁶⁾, or within three days ⁽⁷⁾ afterwards, the petitioner shall give security for all costs, charges, and expenses, which may become payable by him to any witness summoned on his behalf, or to any respondent.

(2.) The security shall be to such amount ⁽⁸⁾, not exceeding five hundred pounds, as the High Court, or a judge thereof, on summons, directs, and shall be given in the prescribed manner, either by a deposit of money ⁽⁹⁾, or by recognisance ⁽¹⁰⁾ entered into by not more than four sureties, or partly in one way and partly in the other.

(3.) Within five days after the presentation of the petition the petitioner shall in the prescribed manner ⁽¹¹⁾ serve on the respondent a notice of the presentation of the petition, and of the nature of the proposed security, and a copy of the petition ⁽¹²⁾.

(4.) Within five days ⁽⁷⁾ after service of the notice the respondent may object in writing to any recognisance ⁽¹³⁾ on the ground that any surety is insuffi-

(1) A person claiming to be, though not in fact, elected may be made respondent: Yates v. Leach, L. R. 9 C. P. 605, 43 L. J. C. P. 377, 30 L. T. N. S. 790. But not an unsuccessful candidate: Lovering v. Dawson, L. R. 10 C. P. 711, 44 L. J. C. P. 321, 32 L. T. N. S. 819.

Complaint of the conduct of a returning officer means complaint of his misconduct, and it seems the misconduct must be such as would render him liable to an action before the act. Therefore, a returning officer who has given a bond fide though erroneous decision at an election, cannot be made a respondent: Harmon v. Park, L. R. 6 Q. B. D. 323, 50 L. J. Q. B. 227, 44 L. T. ⁽⁴⁾ See rules 1, 12, post, pp. 371—373. See Harmon v. Park, supra.

⁽⁵⁾ In Maude v. Lowley, ante, p. 291, it was held, under 35 & 36 Vict. c. 60, s. 13 ⁽²⁾, that an amendment in the petition introducing substantially a new charge could not be made after twenty-one days. See also Neild v. Batty, L. R. 9 C. P. 104, 43 L. J. C. P. 73, 29 L. T. N. S. 747, 22 W. R. 407. But see Pickering v. Startin, 28 L. T. N. S. 11.

cient or is dead, or cannot be found or ascertained for want of a sufficient description in the recognisance, or that a person named in the recognisance has not duly acknowledged the same. Secs. 89-92.

(5.) An objection to recognisance shall be decided in the prescribed manner ⁽¹⁾.

(6.) If the objection is allowed, the petitioner may, within a further prescribed time not exceeding five days ⁽²⁾, remove it by a deposit in the prescribed manner of such sum of money as will, in the opinion of the court or officer having cognizance of the matter, make the security sufficient ⁽³⁾.

(7.) If no security is given, as prescribed, or any objection is allowed and is not removed, as aforesaid, no further proceedings shall be had on the petition.

90. On the expiration of the time limited for making objections, or, after objection made, on the objection being disallowed or removed, whichever last happens, the petition shall be at issue. Petition at issue.

91.—(1.) The prescribed officer ⁽⁴⁾ shall as soon as may be make a list, in this Act referred to as the municipal election list, of all election petitions at issue, placing them in the order in which they were presented, and shall keep at his office a copy of this list, open to inspection in the prescribed manner ⁽⁵⁾. Municipal election list.

(2.) The petitions shall, as far as conveniently may be, be tried in the order in which they stand in the list.

(3.) Two or more candidates ⁽⁶⁾ may be made respondents to the same petition ⁽⁶⁾, and their cases may be tried at the same time, but for the purposes of this part the petition shall be deemed to be a separate petition against each respondent.

(4.) Where more petitions ⁽⁶⁾ than one are presented relating to the same election, or to elections held at the same time for different wards of the same borough, they shall be bracketed together in the list as one petition, but shall, unless the High Court otherwise directs, stand in the list in the place where the last of them could have stood if it had been the only petition relating to that election.

92.—(1.) An election petition ⁽⁶⁾ shall be tried by an election court ⁽⁶⁾ consisting of a barrister qualified and appointed as in this section provided, without a jury ⁽⁷⁾. Constitution of election court.

(2.) A barrister shall not be qualified to constitute an election court ⁽⁶⁾ if he is less than fifteen years standing, or is a member of the Commons House of Parliament, or holds any office or place of profit under the Crown, other than that of recorder.

(3.) A barrister shall not be qualified to constitute an election court for trial of an election petition relating to any borough for which he is recorder, or in which he resides, or which is included in a circuit of Her Majesty's judges on which he practices as a barrister.

(4.) As soon as may be after a municipal election list is made out the prescribed officer shall send a copy thereof to each of the judges for the time being on the bench for the trial of parliamentary election petitions; and those judges or two of them shall forthwith determine the number of barristers, not exceeding five at any one time, necessary to be appointed for the trial of the election petitions at issue, and shall appoint that number accordingly as commissioners under this Part, and shall assign the petitions to be tried by each.

(5.) If a commissioner to whom the trial of a petition is assigned dies, or declines or becomes incapable to act, the said judges or two of them may assign the trial to be conducted or continued by any other of the commissioners appointed under this section.

(7) Under the previous enactment, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 60, s. 14, it was held that an election court is a court of record: R. v. Maidenhead, L. R. 9 Q. B. D. 494, 51 L. J. Q. B. 444, 47 L. T. N. S. 529, 46 J. P. 724.

Trial of

(6.) The election court ⁽¹⁾ shall for the purposes of the trial have the same powers and privileges as a judge on the trial of a parliamentary election petition, except that any fine or order of committal by the court may on motion by the person aggrieved be discharged or varied by the High Court, or in vacation by a judge thereof, on such terms, if any, as the High Court or judge thinks fit.

93.—(1.) An election petition ⁽¹⁾ shall be tried in open court, and notice of the time and place of trial shall be given in the prescribed manner not less than seven days before the day of trial ⁽²⁾.

(2.) The place of trial shall be within the borough, except that the High Court may, on being satisfied that special circumstances exist rendering it desirable that the petition should be tried elsewhere, appoint some other convenient place for the trial.

(3.) The election court may in its discretion adjourn the trial from time to time, and from any one place to any other place within the borough or place where it is held ⁽³⁾.

(4.) At the conclusion of the trial the election court shall determine whether the person whose election is complained of, or any and what other person, was duly elected, or whether the election was void ⁽⁴⁾, and shall forthwith certify in writing the determination to the High Court, and the determination so certified shall be final to all intents as to the matters at issue on the petition.

(5.) Where a charge is made in a petition of any corrupt practice or offence against this part having been committed at the election the court shall, in addition to the certificate, and at the same time, report in writing to the High Court as follows:

(a.) Whether any corrupt practice or offence against this Part has or has not been proved to have been committed by or with the knowledge and consent of any candidate at the election, and the nature of the corrupt practice or offence;

(b.) The names of all persons (if any) proved at the trial to have been guilty of any corrupt practice or offence against this Part;

(c.) Whether any corrupt practices have, or whether there is reason to believe that any corrupt practices have, extensively prevailed at the election in the borough or in any ward thereof.

(6.) The election court may at the same time make a special report to the High Court as to any matters arising in the course of the trial, an account of which ought, in the judgment of the election court, to be submitted to the High Court.

(7.) If, on the application of any party to a petition ⁽¹⁾ made in the prescribed manner to the High Court ⁽⁵⁾, it appears to the High Court that the case raised by the petition can be conveniently stated as a special case, the High Court may direct the same to be stated accordingly, and any such special case shall be heard before the High Court, and the decision of the High Court shall be final ⁽⁶⁾.

(8.) If it appears to the election court on the trial of a petition that any question of law as to the admissibility of evidence, or otherwise, requires further consideration by the High Court, the election court may postpone the granting of a certificate until the question has been determined by the High Court, and for this purpose may reserve any such question, as questions may be reserved by a judge on a trial at nisi prius.

(9.) On the trial of a petition, unless the election court otherwise directs, any charge of a corrupt practice or offence against this Part may be gone into, and evidence in relation thereto received before any proof has been given of agency on behalf of any candidate in respect of the corrupt practice or offence.

(10.) On the trial of a petition complaining of an undue election and claiming the office for some person, the respondent may give evidence to prove that that (11.) The trial of a petition shall be proceeded with notwithstanding that the respondent has ceased to hold the office his election to which is questioned by the petition ⁽²⁾.

(12.) A copy of any certificate or report made to the High Court on the trial of a petition, and, in the case of a decision by the High Court on a special case, a statement of the decision shall be sent by the High Court to the Secretary of State.

(13.) A copy of any such certificate and a statement of any such decision shall also be certified by the High Court, under the hands of two or more judges thereof, to the town clerk of the borough.

(2.) On the trial the election court may, by order in writing ⁽³⁾, require any person who appears to the court to have been concerned in the election to attend as a witness, and any person refusing to obey the order shall be guilty of contempt of court.

(3.) The court ⁽⁴⁾ may examine any person so required to attend or being in court although he is not called and examined by any party to the petition.

(4.) A witness may, after his examination by the court, be cross-examined by or on behalf of the petitioner and respondent or either of them.

(5.) A witness on an election petition shall not be excused from answering any question relating to a corrupt practice or offence against this Part committed at or connected with the election on the ground that the answer thereto may criminate or tend to criminate him; but if he answers it he shall be entitled to receive from the court a certificate stating that he was on his examination required by the court to answer questions the answers whereof criminated or tended to criminate him, and that he answered all such questions.

(6.) If any information, indictment, or action is at any time thereafter pending against the witness in any court for any corrupt practice or offence against this Part committed at or in relation to the election before the time of his giving his evidence, that court shall, on production and proof of the certificate, stay the proceedings, and may, in its discretion, award to him such costs as he has been put to therein ⁽⁵⁾.

(7.) The giving of or refusal to give any such certificate by the election court shall be final and conclusive ⁽⁶⁾.

(8.) A statement made by any person in answer to a question put to him by or before an election court shall not, except in cases of indictment for perjury ⁽⁷⁾, be admissible in evidence in any proceeding, civil or criminal.

Withdrawal of petition.

95.—(1.) A petitioner shall not withdraw an election petition ⁽¹⁾ without the leave of the election court ⁽¹⁾ or High Court on special application, made in the prescribed manner, and at the prescribed time and place ⁽²⁾.

(2.) The application shall not be made until the prescribed notice of the intention to make it has been given in the borough ⁽³⁾.

(3.) On the hearing of the application any person who might have been a petitioner in respect of the election may apply to the court to be substituted as a petitioner ⁽⁴⁾, and the court may, if it thinks fit, substitute him accordingly.

(4.) If the proposed withdrawal is in the opinion of the court ⁽¹⁾ induced by any corrupt bargain or consideration, the court may by order direct that the security given on behalf of the original petitioner shall remain as security for any costs that may be incurred by the substituted petitioner, and that to the extent of the sum named in the security, the original petitioner and his sureties shall be liable to pay the costs of the substituted petitioner.

(5.) If the court does not so direct, then security to the same amount as would be required in the case of a new petition, and subject to the like conditions, shall be given on behalf of the substituted petitioner before he proceeds with his petition and within the prescribed time after the order of substitution.

(6.) Subject as aforesaid, a substituted petitioner shall, as nearly as may be, stand in the same position and be subject to the same liabilities as the original petitioner.

(7.) If a petition is withdrawn, the petitioner shall be liable to pay the costs of the respondent.

(8.) Where there are more petitioners than one, an application to withdraw a petition shall not be made except with the consent of all the petitioners.

Abatement of petition.

96.—(1.) An election petition ⁽³⁾ shall be abated by the death of a sole petitioner or of the survivor of several petitioners ⁽⁵⁾.

(2.) The abatement of a petition shall not affect the liability of the petitioner or of any other person to the payment of costs previously incurred.

(3.) On the abatement of a petition the prescribed notice thereof shall be given in the borough, and, within the prescribed time after the notice is given, any person who might have been a petitioner in respect of the election may apply to the election court or High Court in the prescribed manner and at the prescribed time and place to be substituted as a petitioner; and the Court may, if it thinks fit, substitute him accordingly.

(4.) Security shall be given on behalf of a petitioner so substituted, as in the case of a new petition.

Withdrawal

respondents.

97.—(1.) If before the trial of an election petition ⁽¹⁾ a respondent other than a returning officer—

(a.) Dies ⁽⁶⁾, resigns, or otherwise ceases to hold the office to which the petition relates; or

(b.) Gives the prescribed notice that he does not intend to oppose the petition ⁽⁷⁾; the prescribed notice thereof shall be given in the borough, and within the prescribed time ⁽⁸⁾ after the notice is given any person who might have been a petitioner in respect of the election may apply to the election court or High Court to be admitted as a respondent to oppose the petition, and shall be admitted accordingly, except that the number of persons so admitted shall not exceed three.

98.—(1.) All costs, charges, and expenses of and incidental to the presentation of an election petition, and the proceedings consequent thereon, except such as are by this Act otherwise provided for, shall be defrayed by the parties to the petition in such manner and proportions as the election court determines ⁽²⁾; and in particular any costs, charges, or expenses which in the opinion of the court have been caused by vexatious conduct, unfounded allegations, or unfounded objections on the part either of the petitioner or of the respondent, and any needless expense incurred or caused on the part of petitioner or respondent, may be ordered to be defrayed by the parties by whom it has been incurred or caused, whether they are or are not on the whole successful.

(2.) The costs may be taxed in the prescribed manner ⁽³⁾, but according to the same principles as costs between solicitor and client in an action in the High Court, and may be recovered as the costs of such an action, or as otherwise prescribed ⁽⁴⁾.

(3.) If a petitioner neglects or refuses for three months after demand to pay to any person summoned as a witness on his behalf, or to the respondent, any sum certified to be due to him for his costs, charges, and expenses, and the neglect or refusal is, within one year after the demand, proved to the satisfaction of the High Court, every person who has under this Act entered into a recognisance relating to the petition shall be held to have made default in the recognisance, and the prescribed officer shall thereon certify the recognisance to be forfeited, and it shall be dealt with as a forfeited recognisance relating to a parliamentary election petition.

(2.) (3.) The election court may employ officers and clerks as prescribed.

(4.) A shorthand writer ⁽⁷⁾ shall attend at the trial of an election petition, and shall be sworn by the election court faithfully and truly to take down the evidence given at the trial. He shall take down the evidence at length. A transcript of the notes of the evidence taken by him shall, if the election court so directs, accompany the certificate of the election court. His expenses, according to a prescribed scale, shall be treated as part of the expenses incurred in receiving evidence at the court.

(2.) All such rules shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament within three weeks after they are made, if Parliament is then sitting, and if not, within three weeks after the beginning of the then next session of Parliament, and shall, while in force, have effect as if enacted in this Act.

(3.) Subject to the provisions of this Act, and of the rules made under it, the principles, practice, and rules for the time being observed in the case of parliamentary election petitions, and in particular the principles and rules with regard to agency and evidence, and to a scrutiny, and to the declaring any person elected in the room of any other person declared to have been not duly elected, shall be observed, as far as may be, in the case of a municipal election petition.

The remuneration and allowances shall be paid in the first instance by the Treasury, and shall be repaid to the Treasury, on their certificate, out of the borough fund or borough rate ⁽⁵⁾.

(2.) But the election court may in its discretion order that such remuneration and allowances, or the expenses incurred by a town clerk for receiving the election court, shall be repaid wholly or in part, to the Treasury or the town clerk, as the case may be, in the cases, by the the persons, and in the manner following (namely) ⁽⁶⁾:

Power to dispose of land with approval of Treasury.
Council may renew leases, &c.

107.—(1.) Where a municipal corporation has not power to purchase or acquire land, or to hold land in mortmain, the council may, with the approval of the Treasury, purchase or acquire any land in such manner and on such terms and conditions as the Treasury approve, and the same may be conveyed to and held by the corporation accordingly.

(2.) The provisions of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts, 1845, 1860, and 1869 ⁽¹⁾, relating to the purchase of land by agreement, and to agreements for sale, and conveyances, sales, and releases of any lands or hereditaments, or any estate or interest therein by persons under disability, shall extend to all purchases of land under this section.

108.—(1.) The council shall not, unless authorised by Act of Parliament, sell, mortgage, or alienate any corporate land without the approval of the Treasury ⁽²⁾.

(2.) The council shall not, unless authorised by Act of Parliament, lease or agree to lease any corporate land without the approval of the Treasury, except as follows:

- (a.) They may make a lease or agreement for a lease for a term not exceeding thirty-one years from the date of the lease or agreement, so that there be reserved and made payable during the whole of the term such clear yearly rent as to the council appears reasonable, without any fine.
- (b.) They may make a lease or agreement for a lease for a term not exceeding seventy-five years from the date of the lease or agreement, and either at a reserved rent or on a fine, or both, as the council think fit,—
- (i.) Of tenements or hereditaments, the greater part of the yearly value of which, at the date of the lease or agreement, consists of any building or buildings; or
- (ii.) Of land proper for the erection of any houses or other buildings thereon, with or without gardens, yards, curtilages, or other appurtenances to be used therewith; or

Where the lessee or intended lessee agrees to erect a building or buildings thereon of greater yearly value than the land—of land proper for gardens, yards, curtilages or other appurtenances to be used with any other house or other building erected or to be erected on any such land, belonging either to the corporation or to any other proprietor, or proper for any other purpose calculated to afford convenience or accommodation to the occupiers of any such house or building.

109. The council may, with the approval of the Treasury ⁽³⁾, dispose of any corporate land either by way of absolute sale, or by way of exchange, mortgage, charge, demise, lease, or otherwise, in such manner and on such terms and conditions as the Treasury approve ⁽⁴⁾.

110. In the following cases,—

- (a.) Where a body corporate of a borough was on the fifth of June, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, bound or engaged by any covenant or agreement, expressed or implied, or was enjoined by any deed, will, or other document, or was sanctioned or warranted by ancient usage or by custom or practice, to make any renewal of any lease for years, or for life or lives, or for years determinable with any life or lives at any fixed or determinate or known or accustomed period, or after the lapse of any number of years, or on the dropping of any life or lives, and years determinable after the lapse of any number of years, at a fine certain, or under any special or specific terms or conditions;

Secs. 110—113.

Working Men's Dwellings.

111.—(1.) If a municipal corporation determines to convert any corporate land to sites for working men's dwellings, and obtains the approval of the Treasury ⁽²⁾ for so doing, the corporation may, for that purpose, make grants or leases for terms not exceeding ninety-nine years, or any shorter term, of any parts of the corporate land ⁽³⁾.

Sites for working men's dwellings.

(2.) The corporation may make on the land any roads, drains, walls, fences, or other works requisite for converting the same into building land, at an expense not exceeding such sum as the Treasury approve ⁽²⁾.

(3.) The corporation may insert in any grant or lease of any part of the land in this section referred to as the site) provisions binding the grantee or lessee to build thereon as in the grant or lease prescribed, and to maintain and repair the building, and prohibiting the division of the site or building, and any addition to or alteration of the character of the building, without the consent of the corporation, and for the re-vesting of the site in the corporation, or its re-entry thereon, in breach of any provision in the grant or lease.

(4.) Every such provision shall be valid in law to all intents, and binding on the parties ⁽⁴⁾.

(5.) All costs and expenses incurred or authorised by a corporation in carrying out execution or otherwise in pursuance of this section, shall be paid out of the borough fund and borough rate, or by money borrowed by the corporation under this Part.

(6.) In this section the term working men's dwellings means building suitable for the habitation of persons employed in manual labour and their families; but the use of part of a building for purposes of retail trade or other purposes, approved by the council, shall not prevent the building from being deemed a dwelling.

Repayment of Loans.

112.—(1.) Where the Treasury approve a mortgage or charge under this Part, they may, as a condition of their approval, require that the money borrowed on the security of the mortgage or charge be repaid, with all interest thereon, in thirty years, or any less period, and either by instalments or by means of a sinking fund, or both ⁽⁵⁾.

Power for Treasury to impose conditions as to repayment of money borrowed.

(2.) In that case the sums required for providing for the repayment of the principal and interest of the money borrowed shall be by virtue of this Act a charge on all or any of the following securities, namely, the land comprised in the mortgage (without prejudice to the security thereby created), or any other corporate land, or the borough fund, or the borough or other rates legally applicable to payment of the money borrowed or of the expenses which the money is borrowed to defray, as the Treasury direct.

(2.) The annuities shall, in the books of the Bank of England, be placed to the account of the corporation, and in the matter of this Act or of any previous Act under which the investment is made.

(3.) The dividends of the annuities shall be received and invested by such persons as the council by power of attorney under the corporate seal from time to time appoint.

(4.) No transfer shall be made of the annuities, or of any part thereof, without the consent in writing of the Treasury addressed to the chief accountant of the Bank of England ⁽¹⁾.

(5.) The direction in writing of the council by power of attorney under the corporate seal, with the consent in writing of the Treasury ⁽¹⁾, shall be sufficient authority to the Bank for permitting any such transfer.

Purchase or Compensation Money.

Provision for replacing purchase or compensation money paid to treasurer.

114.—(1.) Where purchase money or compensation has been paid to the Bank of England under an Act of Parliament in respect of land or any interest therein purchased or taken from a municipal corporation, or in respect of permanent damage to land of a municipal corporation, and the Treasury approve of the payment of the money or compensation, or of any money to arise from the sale of any Government securities in which the same has been invested, to the corporation or the treasurer, the Treasury may, as a condition of their approval, require provision to be made for raising and for investing in Government annuities a sum equivalent to the amount of money so paid.

(2.) The foregoing provisions of this part applicable in the case of a sinking fund ⁽²⁾, as regards the mode of investing, payment of dividends, and transfer of annuities, shall be applicable in the case of investments under this section.

(3.) The Treasury shall, when it appears to them that an amount of annuities equivalent to the amount so paid has been raised by investment, direct that the accumulation shall cease; and the annuities and the dividends thereof shall thenceforth be applicable as if the annuities had arisen from investment under the Act of Parliament under which the purchase money or compensation became payable.

(4.) But this section shall not apply to money payable to a municipal corporation when provision for the application of the money, or of the price or compensation from which the money is derived, is contained in any local Act of Parliament relating thereto, and the money is to be paid to the corporation to be applied in conformity with that provision.

Investment of proceeds of sale or exchange authorised by Treasury.

115.—(1.) Where the Treasury approve of the sale or exchange of any corporate land or of any interest therein, their approval may be subject to such conditions as they think fit in relation to the investment for the benefit of the corporation of the money arising from the sale or exchange.

(2.) If the Treasury direct the money to be invested in Government annuities, the foregoing provisions of this part respecting the mode of investing, payment of dividends, and transfer of annuities shall be applicable, but not so as to make any accumulation necessary.

(3.) If the Treasury consent to the application of the money or of any part thereof for the benefit of the inhabitants of the borough, they may, as a condition of their consent, require the like provision to be made as they are authorised to require in the case of their approval of payment to a municipal corporation or the treasurer.

(1) Under 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 76, s. 94, it was held that this consent was sufficiently signified by a letter signed by their secretary: Arnold v. Mayor, &c., Gravesend, ant. p. 299.

(2) See the preceding section.

116. The Treasury may at any time approve of the application of any annuities arising from investments under either of the two last preceding sections, or of the money to arise from the sale thereof, or any part thereof respectively, for the benefit of the inhabitants of the borough; and, as a condition of their approval, may require the like provision to be made as they are authorised to require in the case of their approval of payment to a municipal corporation or the treasurer, and so from time to time, and the provisions of this part shall be applicable accordingly; but it shall not be imperative on the Treasury to impose the condition aforesaid where by reason of the application of the annuities or money to improvement of the property of the corporation or for the permanent benefit of the borough, or otherwise, under the special circumstances of the case, the Treasury in their discretion think fit to dispense with the condition.

(2.) Any stock and money so standing belonging to the trustees of the municipal charities solely on charitable trusts (2) may be transferred by and paid to persons appointed under the hands and seals of the greater part of the trustees, the appointment being attested under the hand and seal of their clerk, and being also sealed with the corporate seal, which seal the mayor shall on request cause to be affixed thereto.

(7.) Every person authorised to so receive any money shall account to the council and to the trustees of the municipal charities for all money received by him, and on his failure so to account a court of summary jurisdiction may, on complaint either of the council or of the trustees, by summary order require him to do so.

⁽⁴⁾ It would seem from Staniland v. Hopkins, supra (decided under the corresponding sections of the previous enactment, viz., 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 76, ss. 72, 73), that the provisions of this section do not apply to any case provided for by section 134, ante.

(2.) The transfer shall be made in writing under the common seal of the trustees if they are a corporation, and if not, then by deed executed by the trustees, or by any two of them acting by their authority and on their behalf.

(3.) On the transfer being made, the municipal corporation shall become and be the trustees for executing by the council the powers and provisions of the local Act; and all the rights, powers, estates, and property vested in the transferring trustees shall vest in the corporation; and all the liabilities and obligations of the transferring trustees shall be transferred to and borne by the corporation, and the transferring trustees shall be discharged therefrom.

137.—(1.) Where at the passing of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, there was a local Act of Parliament for lighting part of a borough then incorporated, the council may, if they think fit, make an order that any specified part of the borough not within the provisions of any such local Act shall, after a day fixed in the order, be within those provisions; and after that day the part so specified shall be within those provisions, as far as relates to lighting, or to any rate authorised to be levied for lighting.

Power for council to extend local lighting Act.

(2.) But the part so specified shall be lighted in like manner as those parts of the borough which before the making of the order were within those provisions; and any rate raised for the purpose of defraying the expenses of lighting the part so specified shall not exceed the average expense in the pound of lighting the other parts of the borough ⁽²⁾.

138. Everything provided under any local Act of Parliament in force on the twentieth of August, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-six, to be done exclusively by a particular or limited number, class, or description of the members of any body corporate named in the schedules to the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, the continuance of which was not inconsistent with the provisions of that Act, and everything provided in any such local Act to be done by the justices, or by some particular class or description, or members of such body corporate, being justices, at a Court of Quarter Sessions, which did not relate to the business of a court of criminal or civil judicature ⁽³⁾, if the same respectively has been lawfully continued to be done up to the commencement of this Act by the council, or a committee thereof, shall be continued thereafter to be done by the council at a quarterly meeting, or by any three of a committee of the council appointed at such a meeting.

Application of borough fund.

140.—(1.) The borough fund shall be applicable to and charged with the several payments specified in the Fifth Schedule.

(2.) The payments specified in Part I. of that schedule may be made without order of the council; those specified in Part II. may not be made without such order.

(3.) No other payment shall be made out of the borough fund, except—

(a.) Under the authority of an Act of Parliament; or (b.) By order of the council; or

(c.) By order of the court of quarter sessions for the borough; or (d.) By order of a justice in pursuance of this Act; or Orders for payment of money.

141.—(1.) An order of the council for payment of money out of the borough fund shall be signed by three members of the council, and countersigned by the town clerk ⁽³⁾.

(2.) Any such order may be removed into the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court by writ of certiorari ⁽⁴⁾, and may be wholly or partly disallowed or confirmed on motion and hearing, with or without costs, according to the judgment and discretion of the court.

Payments to and by treasurer.

142.—(1.) All payments to and out of the borough fund shall be made to and by the treasurer.

(2.) All payments to the treasurer shall go to the borough fund.

Application of surplus of borough fund.

143.—(1.) If the borough fund is more than sufficient for the purposes to which it is applicable under this Act, or otherwise by law, the surplus thereof shall be applied under the direction of the council for the public benefit of the inhabitants and improvement of the borough ⁽⁵⁾.

⁽¹⁾ The borough fund was originally instituted by the corresponding section of the Act of 1835, 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 76, s. 92.

⁽³⁾ As to power of burgess to make copy of or take extract from such order, see section 233, post.

⁽⁴⁾ Certiorari is excluded except as regards order for payment of money.

The limit of six months, within which application for certiorari must be made under 13 Geo. II. c. 18, s. 5, does not apply; but the application must be made within a reasonable time under all the circumstances: R. v. Mayor, &c., Sheffield, L. R. 6 Q. B. 652, 40 L. J. Q. B. 247, 24 L. T. (2.) If the surplus arises from the rents and profits of the property of the municipal corporation, and not from a borough rate, and the borough is a sanitary district under the Public Health Act, 1875, then the municipal corporation, as the sanitary authority for the borough, may apply the surplus in payment of any expenses incurred by them as such sanitary authority, before or after the commencement of this Act, in improving the borough, or any part thereof, by drainage, enlargement of streets, or otherwise, under the Public Health Act, 1875, or any Act thereby repealed ⁽¹⁾.

Secs. 143,

Borough Rate.

144.—(1.) If the borough fund is insufficient ⁽²⁾ for the purposes to which it is applicable under this Act or otherwise by law, the council shall from time to time estimate, as correctly as may be, what amount, in addition to the borough fund, will be sufficient for those purposes.

Power for council to make borough rate and assess contribution thereto.

(2.) In order to raise that amount, the council shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, from time to time order a rate, called a borough rate, to be made in the borough ⁽³⁾.

(3.) A borough rate may be made retrospectively, in order to raise money for the payment of charges and expenses incurred, or which have come in course of payment, at any time within six months before the making of the rate ⁽⁴⁾.

(4.) The council shall assess the contributions to the borough rate on the several parishes and parts of parishes in the borough in proportion to the total annual value of the hereditaments in each parish or part which are rateable to the poor, or in respect of which a contribution is made to the poor rate.

(5.) That value shall be estimated according to the valuation list (if any) in force for the time being, and if there is none, according to the last poor rate.

(6.) But if for any reason the council think that the valuation list or poor rate is not a fair criterion of value they may cause an independent valuation to be made.

(7.) For the purpose of assessing a borough rate, or for the purpose of an independent valuation, the council from time to time may cause any of the books of assessment of any rates or taxes, parliamentary or parochial, on any property, and the valuation by which the assessment is made, in the hands of the overseers, to be brought before them, and may take copies thereof or extracts therefrom, or may

(8.) The overseers and such persons as they select, by warrant of the council, signed by the mayor and sealed with the corporate seal, may enter on, view, and examine any land chargeable to the borough rate, in order to ascertain the annual value at which it ought to be charged; but no such entry shall in any case be made unless fourteen days previous notice in writing, signed by the mayor and sealed with the corporate seal, of the intention to make the entry, has been given to the overseers and to the persons on whose land the entry is to be made.

(9.) If on any occasion the overseers of a parish ⁽¹⁾ think that their parish is aggrieved by a borough rate, on account of the proportions assessed as the contributions of the respective parishes being unequal, or on account of some parish being without sufficient cause omitted, or on account of any other just cause of complaint, they may appeal to the recorder at the next quarter sessions for the borough, or if there is none, to the next quarter sessions for the county wherein the borough is situate, or whereto it is adjacent, against such part of the rate only as affects their parish ⁽²⁾.

(10.) The recorder or quarter sessions shall hear and finally determine the appeal, and either confirm such parts of the rate as are appealed against, or correct any inequalities, disproportions, or omissions proved to exist therein, as to him or them appears just.

(11.) The expenses of the appeal shall be paid by such parishes or persons and in such proportions as the recorder or court having cognizance of the appeal directs.

(12.) If any person having custody of any book for which the council call under this section, fails to produce it to the council, or to permit any copy thereof or extract therefrom to be made or taken, or to give such evidence as the council require, he shall, on summary conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

(13.) If any clerk to the commissioners of a district fails to make any copy, which he is required to make under this section, within a reasonable time after his receipt of the order to make it, he shall, on summary conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds.

Collection of borough rate in undivided
parish.

145.—(1.) Where a parish is wholly in a borough, the council may from time to time, if they think fit, order the overseers to pay the contribution of the parish to the borough rate out of the poor rate made or to be made for the parish.

(2.) The overseers shall pay the contribution to the council or as they order.

(3.) If the overseers fail to pay as ordered, the amount may be levied off the goods of them or any of them, by distress, by virtue of a warrant signed by the mayor and sealed with the corporate seal, or signed by two justices in and for the borough ⁽³⁾.

Collection of borough rate in divided
parish.

146.—(1.) Where a parish is partly in and partly out of a borough, the overseers, on receipt of an order for payment of money for the contribution of the part in the borough towards a borough rate, which order the council may make as if the whole parish was in the borough, shall assess on and levy from the occupiers

⁽²⁾ Notice of appeal is necessary: R. v. Carmarthen, 7 A. & E. 756, 3 N. & P. 19.

It seems that, this being the only remedy given, a mandamus to the overseers will not be issued: R. v. Hunslet, 1 E. & E. 775, 28 L. J. M. C. 180, 7 W. R. 411.

of hereditaments rateable to the poor rate in that part of the parish the amount necessary for the contribution, either as a separate rate, for which the overseers shall have all the powers which belong to them for levying a poor rate, or with and as part of the poor rate to which occupiers in that part of the parish are liable in common with occupiers in the other part ⁽¹⁾.

147.

(2.) Any person rated under this section may appeal against the rate in like manner and with the like consequences, and subject to the like provisions and regulations, as in appeals against a poor rate ⁽²⁾.

(3.) The overseers shall pay the amount of the contribution to the council, or as they order, and in default thereof shall be subject to all provisions and penalties provided by law concerning non-payment of contribution to a borough rate ⁽³⁾.

(4.) Every overseer and collector shall account for the money collected and expended under this section to the auditor of the district comprising the parish in the like manner, and with the like incidents, consequences, liabilities, and power of appeal as in the case of the poor rate ⁽⁴⁾; and the Local Government Board shall have the like power to make orders to regulate the mode of accounting as they have in regard to other local rates.

(5.) If any balance is found in the hands of any such overseer or collector he shall apply it towards the next rate required under this section, or pay it to his successor in office.

(6.) In default of his so applying it while in office, or making payment to his successor within seven days after the balance is found, the auditor shall proceed to recover it.

(7.) The officers ordinarily employed in the collection of the poor rate shall, if required by the overseers, collect the rate under this section, and shall receive thereout such remuneration for the additional duty as the overseers, with the consent of the vestry, determine.

(8.) The collector or other person appointed shall, for the purposes of this section, have all the powers of overseers.

(9.) The overseers, in estimating the amount of their assessment under this section, may include a sum for costs of assessment and collection, and a reasonable sum for rates excused or irrecoverable.

147. Where the vestry of a parish has made or makes, before or after the commencement of this Act, under section four of the Poor Rate Assessment and Collection Act, 1869 ⁽⁵⁾, an order, as in that section provided, to the effect that

Two or more of the justices having jurisdiction in a borough shall, in October in every year, appoint, by precept signed by them, so many as they think fit of the inhabitants of the borough, not legally exempt from serving the office of constable, to act as special constables in the borough.

(2.) Levy of watch rate.

197.—(1.) Where at the commencement of this Act any rate might be levied in a borough, or in any part of a borough, for the purpose of watching solely by day or by night, or for the purpose of watching by day or by night conjointly with any other purpose, the council may from time to time make and levy a watch rate on the occupiers of all hereditaments within such parts of the borough as are watched by day and by night, and as are from time to time, by order of the council, declared liable to watch rate.

(2.) The watch rate shall be made on an estimate of the net annual value of the several hereditaments rated thereto, that is to say, of the rent at which, one year with another, they might in their actual state be reasonably expected to let from year to year, the probable annual average cost of the repairs, insurances, and other expenses necessary to maintain them in their actual state, and all rates, taxes, and public charges, except tithes or tithe commutation rentcharge (if any), being paid by the tenant ⁽³⁾.

(1) As to indictment for assault on constable, see 24 & 25 Vict. c. 100, s. 38.

(2) The oath was as follows:—

“I, A. B., do swear that I will well and truly serve our Sovereign Lord the King in the office of special constable for the parish [or township] of _____, without favour or affection, malice or ill-will; and that I will to the best of my power cause the peace to be kept and preserved, and prevent all offences against the persons and properties of His Majesty’s subjects; and that while I continue to hold the said office I will to the best of my skill and knowledge discharge all the duties thereof faithfully according to law. So help me God.”

(3) Compare the definition of net annual value in the Public Health Act, 1875, ante, p. 45.

(3.) The watch rate may be made by one rate made yearly, or by two or more rates made half-yearly or otherwise, and may be of any amount, in the discretion of the council, not exceeding in any year eightpence in the pound on the net annual value of the hereditaments rated thereto.

Secs. 197,

(4.) For the purposes of the watch rate the council and all persons concerned, including overseers, shall have all powers given to them in respect of the borough rate for ordering, making, assessing, levying, raising, collecting, or paying the same, or as near thereto as the nature of the case admits.

(5.) The provision of this Act relating to orders of vestries for the rating, in some cases, of owners, instead of occupiers, shall extend to the watch rate.

(6.) Nothing in the foregoing provisions of this section (except the general power to levy a watch rate) shall apply to any borough in which the borough fund is sufficient with the aid of the amount only of watch rate which could for the time being be raised therein under the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, and without the aid of any borough rate, to defray the expenses of the constabulary force of the borough, with all other expenses legally payable out of the borough fund; but nothing in the present provision shall affect any benefit or right reserved by Part X.,¹ or make the borough fund liable to any expenses with which it would not be otherwise chargeable.

(7.) Nothing in this section shall affect the liability of the borough fund to make good any deficiency of the watch rate towards the expenses of the police.

(8.) Nothing in this section shall make liable to watch rate any hereditaments exempted by any local Act from payment of watch rate⁽²⁾.

(9.) Nothing in this section shall alter the comparative liability to watch rate of any hereditaments which are under any local Act in respect of any watch rate entitled to any deduction from, or chargeable with any increase on, an equal pound rate; but the like comparative deductions and increased charges shall be made under this section.

198.—(1.) Where part only of a parish is liable to watch rate, the overseers shall not pay out of the poor rate the amount of the watch rate charged by the council on that parish, but shall make a separate rate or assessment on the part or parts only of the parish liable to watch rate; which rate shall be made in like manner and under like regulations and with like means and remedies for recovery thereof as in the case of a rate levied in respect of the contribution towards a borough rate⁽³⁾.

(2.) No such separate rate shall be demanded, collected, or payable until it has been allowed by two justices usually acting in and for the borough and has been published, as a poor rate is by law required to be allowed and published⁽⁴⁾.

(3.) Any person who thinks himself aggrieved by such a separate rate may appeal to the recorder at the next quarter sessions for the borough, or if there is none to the next court of quarter sessions for the county wherein the borough is situate, or whereto it is adjacent; and the recorder or court shall hear and determine the same, and shall award relief in the premises as in cases of appeal against a poor rate.

(4.) Every such separate rate may be of the rate in the pound necessary for raising the sum charged by the council, but not exceeding twopence in the pound beyond the rate in the pound at which the council have computed the watch rate charged by them.

(5.) The overseers shall account for money collected under such a separate rate as for money collected under a poor rate; and if there is a surplus in their hands,

PART X.

FREEMEN.

Definition of freeman.

201. In this Part the term freeman includes any person of the class whose rights and interests were reserved by the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, under the name either of freemen or of burgesses ⁽²⁾.

Freedom not by gift or purchase.

202. No person shall be admitted a freeman by gift or by purchase.

(1) As to the power of urban authorities to reduce or remit rates, see Public Health Act, 1875, section 225, ante, p. 168.

(2) By section 2 of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, it was enacted that "Every person who now is or hereafter may be an inhabitant of any borough, and also every person who has been admitted, or who might hereafter have been admitted, a freeman or burgess of any borough if this Act had not been passed, or who now is or hereafter may be the wife or widow or son or daughter of any freeman or burgess, or who may have espoused or may hereafter espouse the daughter or widow of any freeman or burgess, or who has been or may hereafter be bound an apprentice, shall have and enjoy and be entitled to acquire and enjoy the same share and benefit of the lands, tenements, and hereditaments, and of the rents and profits thereof, and of the common lands and public stock of any borough or body corporate, and of any lands, tenements, and hereditaments, and any sum or sums of money, chattels, securities for money or other personal estate of which any person or any body corporate may be seised or possessed in whole or in part for any charitable uses or trusts as fully and effectually and for such time and in such manner as he or she by any statute, charter, bye-law, or custom in force at the time of passing this Act might or could have had acquired or enjoyed in case this Act had not been passed: Provided always, that the total amount to be divided amongst the persons whose rights are herein reserved in this behalf shall not exceed the surplus which shall remain after payment of the interest of all lawful debts chargeable upon the real or personal estate out of which the sums so to be divided have arisen, together with the salaries of municipal officers, and all other lawful expenses, which on the fifth day of June were defrayed out of or chargeable upon the same: Provided also, that nothing hereinbefore contained shall be construed to apply to any claim, right, or title of any burgesses or freemen or of any person to any discharge or exemption from any tolls or dues levied wholly or in part by or to the use or benefit of any borough or body corporate, and that after the passing of this Act, no person shall have or be entitled to claim thenceforward any discharge or exemption from any tolls or dues lawfully levied in whole or in part by or to the use of any body corporate, except as hereinafter is excepted: Provided nevertheless, that every person who on the fifth day of June in this present year was an inhabitant or was, or was entitled to be, admitted a freeman or burgess of any borough, or who on the said fifth day of June was the wife or widow, son or daughter of any freeman or burgess of any borough, or who on the fifth day of June was bound an apprentice, shall be entitled to have or acquire and enjoy the same discharge or exemption from any tolls or dues lawfully levied in whole or in part by or to the use of any borough or body corporate as fully and for such time and in such sort as he or she by any statute, charter, bye-law, or custom in force on the said fifth day of June might or would have had, acquired, and enjoyed the same if this Act had not been passed, and no further or otherwise: Provided also, that where by any statute, charter, bye-law, or custom in force within any borough at the time of passing this Act, any person whose rights in this behalf are herein reserved would have been liable in case this Act had not been passed to pay any fine, fee, or sum of money to any body corporate in consideration of his freedom, or of his or her title to such rights as are herein reserved, no such person shall be entitled to have or claim any share or benefit in respect of the rights herein reserved as aforesaid until he or she shall have paid the full amount of such fine, fee, or sum of money to the treasurer of such borough appointed under the provisions of this Act on account of the borough fund hereinafter mentioned: Provided also, that nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to entitle any person to any share or benefit of the rights herein reserved who shall not have first fulfilled every condition which if this Act had not passed would have been a condition precedent to his or her being entitled to the benefit of such rights so far as the same is capable of being fulfilled according to the provisions of this Act, or to strengthen, confirm, or affect any claim, right, or title of any burgesses or freemen of any borough or body corporate, or of any person, to the benefit of any such rights as are hereinbefore reserved, but the same in every case may be brought in question, impeached, and set aside in like manner as if this Act had not been passed."

The effect of the saving of rights in this section is to legalize the beneficial interests therein mentioned, without reference to the legality of their origin, and in particular to obviate any objection which might otherwise arise in respect of the tendency towards a perpetuity of any such beneficial interest: Prestney v. Mayor, &c., of Colchester and Attorney-General, L. R. 21 Ch. D. 111, 51 L. J. Ch. 805, Hall, V.-C. An action to establish such rights may be brought by parties claiming to be entitled without an information by the Attorney-General: Ibid.

In an action by some (on behalf of all) of the freemen of a borough to establish the right of all the individual freemen to share for their private benefit the net proceeds of certain properties vested in the corporation, it is sufficient to aver that at the time of the passing of the Act, the rents, tolls, and profit claimed by them were not nor ever had been nor ought to have been held and applied for public purposes, but then were and always had been held, &c., for the particular benefit of the freemen, without pleading that such rents, &c., had been enjoyed or acquired by virtue of any specific statute, charter, bye-law, or custom, or expressly averring that any custom to such effect existed: Ibid.

The word "custom" in the section is not used in a technical sense, but is merely equivalent to "usage": Ibid.

Secs. 204— the mayor shall examine into the claim, and on its being established the claimant shall be admitted and enrolled by the town clerk on the Freeman's Roll ⁽¹⁾.

209.
Reservation of rights of property to freemen and others.

205.—(1.) Every person who had before the passing of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, been admitted a freeman, or if that Act had not been passed might have been so admitted otherwise than by gift or purchase, and

(2.) Every person who for the time being is—

(a.) An inhabitant of a borough, or

(b.) Wife, widow, son, or daughter of a freeman, or

(c.) Husband of a daughter or widow of a freeman, or shall, subject to the provisions of this Part, have and enjoy and be entitled to acquire and enjoy the same share and benefit of the hereditaments, and of the rents and profits thereof, and of the common lands and public stock of any borough or body corporate, and of any property held in whole or in part for any charitable uses or trusts, as if the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, or this Act, had not been passed ⁽²⁾.

(d.) Bound an apprentice,—

Limit of value and saving as to conditions precedent.

206.—(1.) The total amount to be divided among the persons whose rights are by the last foregoing section reserved shall not exceed the surplus remaining after payment of the interest of all lawful debts chargeable on the property out of which the sums so to be divided have arisen, together with the salaries of municipal officers and all other lawful expenses which, on the fifth of June, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, were defrayed out of or chargeable on the same.

(2.) Where, if the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, or this Act, had not been passed, any such person would have been liable by statute, bye-law, charter, or custom, to pay any fine, fee, or sum of money to any body corporate, or to any member, officer, or servant thereof, in consideration of his freedom, or of his or her title to those reserved rights, or there was any condition precedent to any person being entitled to those rights, he or she shall not have any benefit in respect of those rights until he or she has paid that fine, fee, or sum to the treasurer on account of the borough fund, or has fulfilled that condition, as far as it is capable of being fulfilled according to the provisions of this Act ⁽³⁾.

Saving for power to question right.

207. Nothing in this Act shall strengthen or confirm any claim, right, or title of any freeman or of any person to the benefit of any right in this Part reserved, but the same may in every case be brought in question, impeached, and set aside, as if this Act had not been passed.

Reservation of beneficial exemptions to freemen and others.

208.—(1.) Nothing before in this Part contained shall apply to any claim, right, or title of a freeman, or of any person to any discharge or exemption from any tolls or dues levied wholly or in part by or for the use or benefit of any borough or body corporate.

(2.) No person shall have any such discharge or exemption except a person who, on the fifth of June, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, was an inhabitant, or was admitted or entitled to be admitted a freeman, or was the wife, widow, son, or daughter of a freeman, or was bound an apprentice; and every such person shall be entitled to the same discharge or exemption as if the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, or this Act, had not been passed.

(3.) But nothing in this Act shall affect the right of any person claiming such discharge or exemption otherwise than as inhabitant or freeman, or member of a municipal corporation, or widow or kin of such an inhabitant, freeman or member.

Reservation of parliamentary franchise, &c.

209.—(1.) Every person who, if the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, had not been passed, would have enjoyed as a freeman, or might thereafter have acquired, in respect of birth or servitude, as a freeman, the right of voting in a parliamentary

(2.) No stamp duty shall be chargeable on the admission of any person as a freeman in respect of birth or servitude in a parliamentary borough ⁽²⁾.

(3.) The town clerk shall do all things appertaining by law to the registration of freemen for parliamentary elections.

PART XI.

GRANT OF CHARTERS.

210. If on the petition to the Queen ⁽³⁾ of the inhabitant householders ⁽⁴⁾ of any town or towns or district in England, or of any of those inhabitants, praying for the grant of a charter of incorporation, Her Majesty, by the advice of Her Privy Council, thinks fit by charter to create such town, towns, or district, or any part thereof specified in the charter, with or without any adjoining place, a municipal borough, and to incorporate the inhabitants thereof, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty by the charter to extend to that municipal borough and the inhabitants thereof so incorporated the provisions of the Municipal Corporations Acts ⁽⁵⁾. Power to Crown in granting charter to borough to extend to it the provisions of the Municipal Corporations Acts.

211.—(1.) Every petition for a charter under this Act shall be referred to a Committee of the Lords of Her Majesty's Privy Council (in this Part called the Committee of Council). Reference to Committee of Council, and notice of petition for charter.

(2.) One month at least before the petition is taken into consideration by the Committee of Council, notice thereof and of the time when it will be so taken into consideration shall be published in the London Gazette, and otherwise in such manner as the Committee direct for the purpose of making it known to all persons interested ⁽⁶⁾.

212.—(1.) Where Her Majesty by a charter extends the Municipal Corporations Acts to a municipal borough, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, by the charter, to do all or any of the following things: Power by charter to settle wards, and by fixing dates and otherwise to adapt the Municipal Corporations Acts to first constitution of new borough.

(a.) To fix the number of councillors, and to fix the number and boundaries of the wards (if any), and to assign the number of councillors to each ward; and

(b.) To fix the years, days, and times for the retirement of the first aldermen and councillors; and

(c.) To fix such days, times, and places, and nominate such persons to perform such duties, and make such other temporary modifications of the Municipal Corporations Acts, as may appear to Her Majesty to be necessary or proper for making those Acts applicable in the case of the first constitution of a municipal borough.

(2.) The years, days, times, and places fixed by the charter, and the persons nominated therein to perform any duties, shall, as regards the borough named in

Secs. 212, the charter, be respectively substituted in the Municipal Corporations Acts for the
213. years, days, times, places, officers, and persons therein mentioned, and the persons so nominated shall have the like powers, and be subject to the like obligations and penalties, as the officers and persons mentioned in those Acts for whom they are respectively substituted.

(3.) Subject to the provisions of the charter authorised by this section, the Municipal Corporations Acts shall, on the charter coming into effect, apply to the municipal borough to which they are extended by the charter; and, where the first mayor, aldermen, and councillors, or any of them are named in the charter, shall apply as if they were elected under the Municipal Corporations Acts, and, where they are not so named, shall apply to their first election.

Scheme or continuance or abolition of and adjustment of rights of existing local authority
and officers.

213.—(1.) Where a petition for a charter is referred to the committee of council, and it is proposed by the charter to extend the Municipal Corporations Acts to the municipal borough to be created by the charter, the Committee of Council may settle a scheme for the adjustment of the powers, rights, privileges, franchises, duties, property, and liabilities of any then existing local authority ⁽¹⁾ whose district ⁽²⁾ comprises the whole or part of the area of that borough, either with or without any adjoining or other place, and also of any officer of that authority.

(2.) The scheme, so far as it appears to the Committee of Council to be necessary or proper for carrying into effect the said adjustment as regards any local authority existing at the time of the making of the scheme, may contain provisions for the continuance of that authority, or for the abolition, total or partial, of that authority, or for the creation of another authority or authorities, and the alteration of the district of the existing local authority, and the union or other relation of the existing local authority, and the authority or authorities so created, and for the continuance, modification, transfer, vesting, and extension to the whole of the borough of all or any of the powers, rights, privileges, franchises, duties, property, and liabilities of the existing local authority, and may contain such provisions as appear to the Committee of Council to be necessary or proper for fully carrying into effect any such adjustment and provisions as aforesaid ⁽³⁾.

(3.) The scheme, when settled by the Committee of Council, shall be published in the London Gazette, and shall not be of any effect unless confirmed as hereinafter mentioned.

(4.) Where, within one month after the publication of the scheme in the London Gazette, a petition against it by any local authority affected thereby, or by not less than one-twentieth of the owners and ratepayers of the borough (such twentieth to be one-twentieth in number of the owners and ratepayers of the borough taken together, or the owners and ratepayers in respect of one-twentieth of the rateable property in the borough and the owners and ratepayers in all cases to include women not under coverture) has been received by the Committee of Council, and is not withdrawn, the scheme shall require the confirmation of Parliament, and the Committee of Council may, if they think fit, submit it to Parliament for confirmation; but otherwise, at any time after the expiration of the said month, or after the withdrawal of any petition that has been presented, the Committee of Council may, if they think fit, submit the scheme for confirmation, either to Parliament or to Her Majesty in Council, and in the latter case it shall be lawful for Her Majesty to confirm the scheme by Order in Council.

(5.) A scheme, when confirmed by Parliament or by Order in Council, shall have full operation, with, in the former case, such modifications, if any, as are made therein by Parliament, as if the scheme were part of this Act.

(6.) A local authority for the purposes of this Part means a sanitary authority (not being the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses of a borough subject to the Municipal Corporations Acts), also the corporation of a borough not subject to the Municipal Corporations Acts, a burial board, trustees, commissioners or other persons who, as a public body and not for their own profit, act under any Act for paving, lighting, supplying with water or gas, cleansing, watching, regulating or improving any town or place, or for providing or maintaining a cemetery or market in or for any town or place, and any commissioners, trustees, or other persons (not being justices) maintaining any police force, and any other authority not in this section excepted, and not being a school board, and having powers of local government and of rating for public purposes ⁽¹⁾. Secs. 213—

(7.) The district of a local authority for the purposes of this section means the area within which such authority can exercise any powers or rights.

214.—(1.) A scheme shall, before being settled by the Committee of Council, be referred for consideration to the Secretary of State and the Local Government Board, and, if and as far as it is intended to affect any authority which is a harbour authority within the meaning of the Harbours and Passing Tolls, &c., Act, 1861, to the Board of Trade. Supplemental provisions as to scheme and charter. 24 & 25 Vict. c. 47.

(2.) A scheme shall in every case provide for placing the new borough within the jurisdiction of the council as the sanitary authority.

(3.) The regulations contained in the Seventh Schedule with respect to the scheme shall be observed.

(4.) If the Committee of Council are satisfied that a local authority ⁽²⁾ or other petitioners have properly promoted or properly opposed a scheme before them, and that for special reasons it is right that the reasonable costs incurred by the authority or other petitioners in such promotion or opposition should be paid as expenses properly incurred by the local authority in the execution of their duties, the Committee of Council may order those costs to be so paid, and they shall be paid accordingly ⁽³⁾.

215. Nothing in any scheme or in the Municipal Corporations Acts shall authorise the establishment in a borough to which a charter is granted under this Act of a new separate police force not consolidated with the county police force, unless the district incorporated by the charter contained twenty thousand inhabitants or upwards, according to the census taken next before the date of the incorporation ⁽⁴⁾. Provision as to police force in new borough.

216.—(1.) A charter creating a municipal borough which purports to be granted in pursuance of the royal prerogative and in pursuance of or in accordance with this Act, shall after acceptance be deemed to be valid and within the powers of this Act and Her Majesty's prerogative, and shall not be questioned in any legal proceeding whatever ⁽⁵⁾. Validity of charters.

(2.) Every such charter shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament within one month after it is granted, if Parliament is then sitting, or if not, within one month after the beginning of the then next sitting of Parliament.

217. Where a charter was granted to a borough within seven years before the fourteenth of August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven, the Committee of Council, on the petition to the Queen of the council of the borough, or of any existing local authority whose district comprises the whole or any part of the area of the borough, either with or without any adjoining or other place, may settle a scheme under this Act in like manner as if the petition for the grant of a charter to the borough had been referred to the Committee of Council after the commencement of this Act, and the provisions of this Act with respect to a scheme shall apply accordingly, with the necessary modifications ⁽⁶⁾; and if within one month after the publication of the scheme in the London Gazette a petition against the scheme from the council of the borough has been received by the Committee of Council and is not withdrawn the scheme shall require the confirmation of Parliament. Power to settle scheme in case of recent charters.

221.

amend

218.—(1.) Where a scheme for a borough has been confirmed under this Part, or any former enactment, and the municipal corporation of the borough or one-twentieth of the owners and ratepayers of the borough (estimated as in this Part mentioned ⁽¹⁾), or a local authority affected by the scheme, petition the Queen for an amending scheme, the petition shall be referred to a Committee of the Lords of Her Majesty's Privy Council (included in the term the Committee of Council in this Part), and shall be proceeded on, and this Part shall apply thereto, as nearly as may be, as if the same were a petition for a charter extending the Municipal Corporations Acts to a municipal borough to be incorporated.

(2.) The Committee of Council, if they think fit to submit the amending scheme for confirmation, shall submit the same to Parliament, or they may submit the same to Her Majesty in Council, if the original scheme was confirmed by Order in Council; and in the latter case it shall be lawful for Her Majesty to confirm the amending scheme by Order in Council.

(3.) An amending scheme, when confirmed by Parliament, or by Order in Council, as the case may require, shall have full operation, with, in the former case, such modifications, if any, as are made therein by Parliament, as if the amending scheme were part of this Act.

(2.) Any person aggrieved by a conviction of a court of summary jurisdiction under this Act may appeal therefrom to a court of quarter sessions ⁽³⁾.

(3.) Any fine incurred under this Act and not recoverable summarily may be recovered by action in the High Court.

Exclusion of

220. A conviction, order, warrant, or other matter made or done or purporting to be made or done by virtue of this Act, shall not be quashed for want of form, and shall not, unless it is an order of the council for payment of money out of the borough fund, be removed by certiorari or otherwise into the High Court ⁽⁴⁾.

(2.) But this section shall not apply to a fine, penalty, or forfeiture, or part thereof, where the Act under which it is recovered—

(a.) Directs payment thereof to the informer or to any person aggrieved; or

(b.) If passed since the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, directs that the same shall go in any other manner and not to the borough fund ⁽²⁾; or

(c.) Relates to the customs, excise, or post office, or to trade or navigation, or to any branch of the revenue of the Crown ⁽³⁾.

222. Where the offices of town clerk and clerk of the peace for a borough are not held by the same person, the clerk of the peace shall perform all duties imposed on the town clerk by the Act of the third year of King George the Fourth, chapter forty-six, "for the more speedy return and levying of fines, penalties, and forfeitures, and recognisances estreated;" and the clerk of the peace shall make all returns, issue all processes, and do all other acts required by that Act to be made, issued, and done by the town clerk. Duties of clerk of peace as to fines and forfeitures.

223. Any summons for appearance, warrant to enforce appearance, warrant for apprehension, or search warrant ⁽⁴⁾, may, if issued by a justice for a borough ⁽⁵⁾, be served or executed in any county wherein the borough or any part thereof is situate, or within any distance not exceeding seven miles ⁽⁶⁾ from the borough, and, within those limits, shall have the same effect as if it had been issued or indorsed by a justice having jurisdiction in the place where it is served or executed, and may be served or executed by the constable or special constable to whom it is directed. Service of summons or warrant.

224.—(1.) An action to recover a fine ⁽⁷⁾ from any person for acting in a corporate office without having made the requisite declaration, or without being qualified, or after ceasing to be qualified, or after becoming disqualified, may not be brought except by a burgess of the borough ⁽⁸⁾, and shall not lie unless the plaintiff has, within fourteen days after the cause of action arose, served a notice in writing personally on the person liable to the fine of his intention to bring the action, nor unless the action is commenced within three months after the cause of action arose ⁽⁹⁾. Procedure in penal actions against corporate officers.

(2.) The court or a judge shall, on the application of the defendant within fourteen days after he has been served with writ of summons in the action, require the plaintiff to give security for costs.

(3.) Unless judgment is given for the plaintiff, the defendant shall be entitled to costs, to be taxed as between solicitor and client.

L. R. 5 C. P. D. 253, 49 L. J. C. P. 474, 42 L. T. N. S. 776, it was held that a wrong statement in a nomination paper of the number on the burgess roll of a nominating burgess was not remedied and could not be amended under the provisions of 41 & 42
Vict. c. 26, s. 41, and 35 & 36 Vict. c. 33, s. 13.

(4) Compare section 313 of the Public Health Act, 1875, ante, p. 215.

13. The court shall insert in the parish burgess lists the name of every person who has only claimed to have his name inserted therein, and is proved to the satisfaction of the court to be so entitled⁽⁵⁾.

15. Subject as aforesaid, the court shall retain in the parish burgess lists the name of every person to whom objection has not been duly made.

16. The court shall also retain therein the name of every respondent, unless the objector appears by himself, or by some person on his behalf, in support of the objection.

17. Where the objector so appears, the court shall require proof of the respondent's qualification, and, if it is not proved to the satisfaction of the court, shall expunge his name from the parish burgess list⁽⁶⁾.

18. If the name of any person is entered in respect of property situate in more than one ward, the court may call upon him to choose, and if he does not choose, may determine in which of those wards he shall be entitled to vote⁽⁷⁾.

Sched. III.

PART II.

Rules as to Nomination in Elections of Councillors ⁽¹⁾.

1. Every candidate for the office of councillor must be nominated in writing ⁽²⁾.
2. The writing must be subscribed by two burgesses of the borough or, in the case of a ward election, of the ward, as proposer and seconder, and by eight other burgesses of the borough or ward, as assenting to the nomination ⁽²⁾.
3. Each candidate must be nominated by a separate nomination paper, but the same burgesses, or any of them, may subscribe as many nomination papers as there are vacancies to be filled, but no more ⁽²⁾.
4. Each person nominated must be enrolled in the burgess roll ⁽³⁾ or entered in the separate non-resident list ⁽⁴⁾ required by this Act to be made.
5. The nomination paper must state the surname and other names ⁽⁵⁾ of the candidate, with his abode ⁽⁶⁾ and description.
6. The town clerk shall provide nomination papers, and shall supply any burgess with as many nomination papers as may be required ⁽⁷⁾, and shall, at the request of any burgess, fill up a nomination paper.
7. Every nomination paper subscribed as aforesaid must be delivered by the candidate, or his proposer or seconder ⁽⁸⁾, at the town clerk's office, seven days at least ⁽⁹⁾ before the day of election, and before five o'clock ⁽¹⁰⁾ in the afternoon of the last day for delivery of nomination papers.
8. The town clerk shall forthwith send notice of every such nomination to each candidate.
9. The mayor shall attend at the town hall on the day next after the last day for delivery of nomination papers for a sufficient time, between the hours of two and four in the afternoon, and shall decide on the validity of every objection made in writing to a nomination paper ⁽¹¹⁾.
10. Where a person subscribes more nomination papers than one, his subscription shall be inoperative in all but the one which is first delivered ⁽¹²⁾.
11. Each candidate may, by writing signed by him, or if he is absent from the United Kingdom, then his proposer or seconder may, by writing signed by him, appoint a person (in this schedule referred to as the candidate's representative) to attend the proceedings before the mayor on behalf of the candidate, and this appointment must be delivered to the town clerk before five o'clock ⁽¹³⁾ in the afternoon of the last day for delivery of nomination papers.

⁽¹⁾ These rules apply to the nomination of elective and revising assessors. See sections 62 and 72, ante.

⁽²⁾ As to inaccurate description, &c., see the notes to section 241, ante. In Harmon v. Park, L. R. 7 Q. B. D. 369, 50 L. J. Q. B. 775, 45 L. T. N. S. 174, 45 J. P. 714, it was decided under 38 & 39 Vict. c. 40, s. 1 ⁽²⁾, that after a nomination paper was completed and delivered to the town clerk it could not be altered by striking out the name of the proposer and inserting the name of another duly enrolled burgess.

As to a candidate being nominated twice, one nomination being good and the other bad, and as to adding together the votes given under both nominations, see Northcote v. Pulsford, L. R. 10 C. P. 476, 44 L. J. C. P. 217, 32 L. T. N. S. 602, 23 W. R. 700.

It would seem that where the same burgess subscribes more nomination papers than there are vacancies, the first nomination papers subscribed to the number of the vacancies are not invalid. See Burgoyne v. Collins, L. R. 8 Q. B. D. 450, 51 L. J. Q. B. 335, 30 W. R. 923, 46 J. P. 390; and now see rule 10, post.

⁽³⁾ See rule 18, post, and section 11 ⁽²⁾ (a), ante.

⁽⁴⁾ See section 49, ante, and section 11 ⁽²⁾ (b), ante.

⁽⁷⁾ See rule 3, ante, and rule 10, post.

⁽⁸⁾ Under 38 & 39 Vict. c. 40, s. 1, delivery by an agent was held insufficient: Monks v. Jackson, L. R. 1 C. P. D. 683, 46 L. J. C. P. 162, 35 L. T. N. S. 95.

⁽⁹⁾ As to computation of time, see section 230, ante, and R. v. JJ. of Middlesex, 3 D. & L. 109, 14 L. J. M. C. 139.

⁽¹⁰⁾ Greenwich time: 43 & 44 Vict. c. 9.

⁽¹¹⁾ See note ⁽⁸⁾, supra, and rule 14, post.

⁽¹²⁾ See rule 3, and notes thereon.

⁽¹³⁾ See note ⁽¹⁰⁾, supra.

12. Each candidate and his representative, but no other person, except for the purpose of assisting the mayor, shall be entitled to attend the proceedings before the mayor. Sched. III.

13. Each candidate and his representative may, during the time appointed for the attendance of the mayor for the purposes of this schedule, object to the nomination paper of any other candidate for the borough or ward.

14. The decision of the mayor shall be given in writing, and shall, if disallowing an objection, be final, but, if allowing an objection, shall be subject to reversal on petition questioning the election or return ⁽¹⁾.

15. The town clerk shall at least four days ⁽²⁾ before the day of election cause the surnames and other names of all persons validly nominated, with their respective abodes and descriptions, and the names of the persons subscribing their nomination papers as proposers and seconders, to be printed and fixed on the town hall ⁽³⁾, and in the case of a ward election, in some conspicuous place in the ward.

16. The nomination of a person absent from the United Kingdom shall be void, unless his written consent given within one month before the day of his nomination in the presence of two witnesses is produced at the time of his nomination.

17. Where the number of valid nominations exceeds that of the vacancies, any candidate may withdraw from his candidature by notice signed by him and delivered at the town clerk's office not later than two o'clock ⁽⁴⁾ in the afternoon of the day next after the last day for delivery of nomination papers: Provided that such notices shall take effect in the order in which they are delivered, and that no such notice shall have effect so as to reduce the number of candidates ultimately standing nominated below the number of vacancies.

18. In and for the purposes of the provisions of this Act relating to proceedings preliminary to election, the burgess roll or ward roll which will be in force on the day of election shall be deemed to be the burgess roll or ward roll, and a person whose name is inserted in one of the lists from which the burgess roll or ward roll will be made up, shall be deemed to be enrolled in that roll although that roll is not yet completed ⁽⁵⁾.

PART III.

Modifications of the Ballot Act in its Application to Municipal Elections ⁽⁶⁾.

1. The provisions of the Ballot Act, 1872, with respect to the voting of a returning officer, the use of a room for taking a poll, and the right to vote of persons whose names are on the register of voters, and rules 16 and 19 in the schedule to that Act, shall not apply in the case of a municipal election.

2. The mayor shall at least four days before the day of election give public notice of the situation, division, and allotment of polling places for taking the poll at the election, and of the description of the persons entitled to vote thereat, and at the several polling stations.

3. The mayor shall provide everything which in the case of a parliamentary election is required to be provided by the returning officer for the purpose of a poll, and shall appoint officers for taking the poll and counting the votes.

⁽¹⁾ It would seem that the mayor has no power to deal with an objection as to the time of delivering a nomination paper, and that his decision may be questioned on petition: Hoves v. Turner, ante, p. 284. An objection as to the proper delivery of a nomination paper is cognizable by the mayor: Monks v. Jackson, ante, p. 356.

See, also, as to what questions can be entertained by the mayor, Burgoyne v. Collins, ante, p. 356; Harmon v. Park, ante, p. 356; Budge v. Andrews, ante, p. 282; and Gothard v. Clarke, ante, p. 288.

⁽²⁾ As to computation of time, see section 230, ante.

⁽³⁾ See section 232, ante.

⁽⁴⁾ Greenwich time: 43 and 44 Vict. c. 9. ⁽⁵⁾ See Budge v. Andrews, ante, p. 282.

⁽⁶⁾ See section 58 (1), ante. See the provisions of the Ballot Act in so far as it applies to municipal elections, post.

- Sched. III. 4. The mayor shall furnish every polling station with such number of compartments in which the voters can mark their votes screened from observation, and furnish each presiding officer with such number of ballot papers as in the judgment of the mayor may be necessary for effectually taking the poll at the election.
5. All expenses of the election shall be defrayed in manner by this Act provided.
6. No return shall be made to the clerk of the Crown in Chancery.

PART IV.

Enactments which are to Revive on the Expiration of the Ballot Act (1).

With respect to a contested election of councillors, elective auditors, or revising assessors, the following rules shall be observed :

1. The returning officer shall cause the requisite polling booths to be erected, or the requisite rooms to be hired and used as polling booths.

2. The returning officer shall, at least two days before the day of election, give public notice of the situation, division, and allotment of the different booths.

3. Each booth shall be divided into compartments, and the returning officer shall appoint a clerk to take the poll at each compartment.

4. There shall be affixed on each booth a notice specifying the part of the borough for which it is allotted.

5. No person shall be admitted to vote at any booth except that allotted for the part in which his qualifying property is situate, unless no booth is allotted for that part, in which case he may vote at any booth.

6. If there is more than one booth, the returning officer may appoint a deputy to preside at each booth.

7. A burgess may vote by delivering to the returning officer or his deputy a voting paper containing the surnames and other names of the persons for whom he votes, with their abodes and descriptions. The voting paper must be signed by the burgess, and must state the qualifying property in respect of which he votes.

8. The returning officer or his deputy shall, if so required by two burgesses, put to any person offering to vote at the time of his delivering in his voting paper, but not afterwards, the following question :

“Are you the person whose name is signed as [A.B.] to the voting paper now delivered in by you?”

The vote of a person required to answer this question shall not be received until he has answered it. If any person wilfully makes a false answer thereto he shall be guilty of a misdemeanour.

9. The returning officer shall, at the close of the poll, examine the voting papers, and shall publish a list of the persons elected not later than two o'clock in the afternoon of the day next but one after the day of election.

10. The town clerk shall, for a period of six months from the day of election, keep at his office the voting papers used at the election, and shall permit any burgess to inspect the same on payment of one shilling for each search.

12. The Master shall, upon the presentation of the petition, forthwith send a copy of the petition to the town clerk, pursuant to section 88 of the Act, sub-section (3), and shall therewith send the name of the petitioner's agent, if any, and the address, if any, given as prescribed, and also the name of the respondent's agent, and the address, if any, given as prescribed, and the town clerk shall forthwith publish those particulars along with the petition.

13. The time for giving notice of the presentation of a petition and of the nature of the proposed security, shall be five days, exclusive of the day of presentation.

14. Where the respondent has named an agent or given an address, the service of a municipal election petition may be by delivery of it to the agent, or by posting it in a registered letter to the address given at such time that, in the ordinary course of post, it would be delivered within the prescribed time.

In other cases the service must be personal on the respondent, unless a judge of the High Court, on an application made to him not later than five days after the petition is presented on affidavit, showing what has been done, shall be satisfied that all reasonable effort has been made to effect personal service and cause the matter to come to the knowledge of the respondent, in which case the judge may order that what has been done shall be considered sufficient service, subject to such conditions as he may think reasonable. An agent employed for the petitioner or respondent shall forthwith leave written notice at the office of the Master of his appointment to act as such agent, and service of notices and proceedings upon such agent shall be sufficient for all purposes.

15. In case of evasion of service the sticking up a notice in the office of the Master of the petition having been presented, stating the petitioner, the prayer, and the nature of the proposed security, shall be deemed equivalent to personal service if so ordered by a judge.

17. The Master shall file such receipt or certificate, and keep a book open to inspection of all parties concerned, in which shall be entered from time to time the amount and the petition to which it is applicable.

18. All claims at law or in equity to money so deposited or to be deposited in the Bank of England shall be disposed of by the High Court of Justice or a judge thereof.

19. Money so deposited shall, if and when the same is no longer needed for securing payment of such costs, charges, and expenses, be returned or otherwise disposed of as justice may require, by rule of the High Court, or order of a judge thereof.

20. Such rule or order may be made after such notice of intention to apply, and proof that all just claims have been satisfied or otherwise sufficiently provided for, as the Court or judge may require.

21. The rule or order may direct payment either to the party in whose name the same is deposited, or to any person entitled to receive the same.

22. Upon such rule or order being made, the amount may be drawn for by the Lord Chief Justice of England for the time being.

23. The draft of the Lord Chief Justice of England for the time being shall in all cases be a sufficient warrant to the Bank of England for all payments made thereunder.

24. The recognisance as security for costs may be acknowledged before a judge of the High Court or the Master in town, or a justice of the peace in the country.

There may be one recognisance acknowledged by all the sureties, or separate recognisances by one or more, as may be convenient.

A justice of the peace [or, as the case may be].

26. The recognisance or recognisances shall be left at the Master's office, by or on behalf of the petitioner in like manner as before described for the leaving of a petition forthwith after being acknowledged.

The security may (unless the High Court or a judge thereof shall otherwise order on summons) be given to any amount not less than £300; but the High Court or a judge thereof may, on summons taken out within five days from the service of the notice of the nature and amount of the security, order that the same shall be increased within a time to be fixed in the order by further security to be given in the manner directed by the Act, for a further amount, not exceeding with the amount for which security shall have been already given £500. And in default of compliance with such order, no further proceedings shall be had on the petition.

27. The time for giving notice of any objection to a recognisance under the 89th section of the Act, sub-section (4), shall be within five days from the date of service of the notice of the petition and of the nature of the security, exclusive of the day of service, or in case of further security within five days after service of notice of the nature thereof, exclusive of the day of such service.

28. An objection to the recognisance must state the ground or grounds thereof, as that the sureties, or any and which of them, are insufficient, or that a surety is dead, or that he cannot be found, or that a person named in the recognisance has not duly acknowledged the same.

29. Any objection made to the security shall be heard and decided by the Master, subject to appeal within five days to a judge, upon summons taken out by either party to declare the security sufficient or insufficient.

30. Such hearing and decision may be either upon affidavit or personal examination of witnesses, or both, as the Master or judge may think fit.

31. If an objection be allowed and the security be declared insufficient, the Master or judge shall in his order state what amount he deems requisite to make the security sufficient, and the further prescribed time to remove the objection by deposit shall be within five days from the date of the order, not including the day of the date, and such deposit shall be made in the manner already prescribed.

32. The costs of hearing and deciding the objections made to the security given shall be paid as ordered by the Master or judge, and in default of such order shall form part of the general costs of the petition.

33. The costs of hearing and deciding an objection upon the ground of insufficiency of a surety or sureties, shall be paid by the petitioner, and a clause to that effect shall be inserted in the order declaring its sufficiency or insufficiency, unless at the time of leaving the recognisance with the Master there be also left with the Master an affidavit of the sufficiency of the surety or sureties sworn by each surety before a justice of the peace, which affidavit any justice of the peace is hereby authorised to take, or before some person authorised to take affidavits in the High Court of Justice that he is seised or possessed of real or personal estate, or both, above what will satisfy his debts, of the clear value of the sum for which he is bound by his recognisance, which affidavit may be as follows:

In the High Court of Justice.

A copy of every order (other than an order giving further time for delivering particulars, or for costs only), or, if the Master shall so direct, the order itself or a duplicate thereof, also a copy of every particular delivered, shall be forthwith filed with the Master, and the same shall be produced at the trial by the Registrar, stamped with the official seal. Such order shall be filed by the party obtaining the same, and such particular by the party delivering the same.

36. The petitioner or his agent shall, immediately after notice of the presentation of a petition and of the nature of the proposed security shall have been served, file with the Master an affidavit of the time and manner of service thereof.

37. The days mentioned in rules 7 and 8, and in any rule of court or judge's order, whereby particulars are ordered to be delivered, or any act is directed to be done, so many days before the day appointed for trial, shall be reckoned exclusively of the day of delivery, or of doing the act ordered, and the day appointed for trial, and exclusively also of Sunday, Christmas Day, Good Friday, and any day set apart for a public fast or public thanksgiving.

38. When the last day for presenting petitions, or filing lists of votes or objections, under rules 7 and 8, or recognisances, or any other matter required to be filed within a given time, shall happen to fall on a holiday, the petition or other matter shall be deemed duly filed if put into the letter box at the Master's office at any time during such day; but an affidavit, stating with reasonable precision the time when such delivery was made, shall be filed on the first day after the expiration of the holidays.

39. The Master shall make out the municipal election list. In it he shall insert the names of the agents of the petitioners and respondents, and the addresses to which notices may be sent, if any. The list may be inspected at the Master's office at any time during office hours, and shall be put up for that purpose upon a notice board appropriated to proceedings under the said Act, and headed "Municipal Election List."

40. The time of the trial of each municipal election petition shall be fixed by the election judges on the rota or any one of them, who shall signify the same to the Master, and notice thereof shall be given in writing by the Master by sticking notice up in his office, sending one copy by post to the address given by the petitioner, another to the address given by the respondent, if any, and a copy by the post to the town clerk of the borough to which the petition relates, fifteen days before the day appointed for the trial.

The town clerk shall forthwith publish the same in the borough.

41. The sticking up of the notice of trial at the office of the Master shall be deemed and taken to be notice in the prescribed manner within the meaning of the Act, and such notice shall not be vitiated by any miscarriage of or relating to the copy or copies thereof to be sent as already directed.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS ACT, 1883.

46 & 47 VICT. c. 18.

An Act to make provision respecting certain Municipal Corporations and other Local Authorities not subject to the Municipal Corporations Act.

[29th June, 1883.]

Whereas Commissioners were appointed by His late Majesty King William the Fourth (in this Act referred to as the Commissioners of 1834) to inquire into Municipal Corporations in England and Wales, and made reports respecting divers corporations, including most of those mentioned in the schedules to this Act:

And whereas the Municipal Corporation Acts consolidated and repealed by the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882 ⁽¹⁾, were passed and applied to most of the places mentioned in the above report, but not to those which are mentioned in the schedules to this Act:

And whereas Commissioners were appointed by Her Majesty to inquire into Municipal Corporations not subject to the Municipal Corporation Acts (in this Act referred to as the Commissioners of 1876), and have made reports to Her Majesty respecting the places mentioned in the schedules to this Act, and it is expedient to make the provisions hereinafter appearing respecting those places:

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited as the Municipal Corporations Act, 1883.

2. On and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, or such later day, not after the twenty-ninth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, as Her Majesty in Council may in the case of any place or places appoint, the following provisions shall (subject to the savings for vested interests and other provisions contained in this Act) apply to each of the places mentioned in the schedules to this Act; that is to say,

(1.) All civil, criminal, and Admiralty jurisdiction of any corporate officer, court, or judge of the said place appointed or holding office under any charter, grant, or prescription shall cease, whether such jurisdiction is conferred by such charter, grant, or prescription, or by any Act, and the place shall be subject to the same jurisdiction as the part of the county in which it is situate or to which it adjoins, and if it adjoins more than one county or part of a county, then as the county or part with which it has the longest common boundary:

(2.) All exclusive rights of trading, local exemptions from juries, and other local franchises, privileges, and exemptions existing under any charter or grant or prescription shall cease.

3. On and after the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, or such later day, not after the twenty-ninth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, as Her Majesty in Council may, except as in the case of any place or places, appoint, the following provisions shall (subject to the savings for vested interests and other provisions contained in this under 40 & 41 Vict.

c. 69.

(a.) The place shall not be a corporate town or borough, and any municipal or other corporation thereof existing under any charter or grant or prescription shall be dissolved:

(b.) All property of any corporation in the place which is dissolved by this Act, or of any person as member or officer thereof, or of any court or judge whose jurisdiction is abolished by this Act, shall be applied for the public benefit of the inhabitants of the place in such manner as may be for the time being provided by a scheme of the Charity Commissioners, or, in a case where a scheme is made by the Local Government Board, by that scheme, and shall vest in such persons or body corporate as may be specified in such scheme.

(2.) Provided that until any such scheme takes effect the said property shall continue to be held, managed, and enjoyed as heretofore in like manner as if a scheme of the Charity Commissioners, in pursuance of this Act, had provided for such holding, management, and enjoyment, and for that purpose the persons managing the property shall continue in like manner as if they were a body constituted by the scheme for the administration of such property, but the legal estate in the property shall vest in the official trustees.

Saving for new charters and for charities.

4. Nothing in this Act shall prevent the application to any place of any charter applying the Municipal Corporation Acts ⁽²⁾ which Her Majesty may be pleased to grant, or affect anything done in pursuance of those Acts or any scheme thereunder, and shall not affect the operation of any such charter, thing, or scheme; save that nothing in the said Acts or scheme shall authorise the establishment or continuance of any court for the trial of civil actions.

(2.) Nothing in this Act shall affect the right to the benefit of any charity, or shall alter or confer any power of altering the defined charitable purposes (if any) to which any property is by law applicable at the passing of this Act.

Inquiry as to places mentioned in first part of First Schedule.

5. Whereas the Commissioners of 1876 reported that the places mentioned in the first part of the First Schedule to this Act might be dealt with by being subjected to the provisions of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835, and the Acts amending the same, as if they were mentioned in Schedule B. of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1835: Be it therefore enacted as follows:

(1.) As soon as conveniently may be after the passing of this Act, the Privy Council shall cause an inquiry to be made into the expediency of advising Her Majesty to grant a charter extending the Municipal Corporation Acts to the several places mentioned in the first part of the First Schedule to this Act, and also whether it is expedient that any adjoining district not included in the existing corporations shall be included in the places to which such charters may be granted, and shall report to Her Majesty thereon.

(2.) The expenses of such inquiry shall be regulated by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, and paid out of moneys provided by Parliament.

(3.) Nothing in this section shall require an inquiry to be held with respect to any place with respect to which a similar inquiry has been held since the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine.

Power to Privy Council to preserve certain courts
and officers.

6. The Privy Council, upon being satisfied by any applicants after inquiry that it is expedient for the public so to do, may, by order, provide for retaining any court leet or other court or any officer, whether as returning officer for the return of members to serve in Parliament, or as town clerk for the purpose of the registration of parliamentary voters, or otherwise, and for the appointment of any officer so retained, subject in every case to such exceptions, restrictions, and modifications as seem expedient.

(2.) Subject to the provisions of any Order of the Privy Council, any person who at the passing of this Act holds an office by virtue of which he is such returning officer or town clerk as aforesaid may during the time limited for the tenure of

Secs. 6—8.

7. Whereas there are local boards or improvement commissioners in some of the places mentioned in the First Schedule to this Act, and the Commissioners of 1876 reported that it might be expedient to establish local boards in other of such places: Be it therefore enacted as follows:

Scheme of Local Government Board respecting places under local boards or improvement commissioners.

- (1.) Where any part of any of the places mentioned in any of the schedules to this Act is comprised in the district of any local board or improvement commissioners, whether established before or after the passing of this Act, and Her Majesty is not pleased to grant a charter to such place, the Local Government Board, after such local inquiry as they think expedient, may, at any time before any corporation in the said place becomes abolished by this Act, make such scheme as might be made by the Committee of Council under part eleven of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882 ⁽¹⁾.
- (2.) Sections two hundred and thirteen and two hundred and fourteen ⁽²⁾ of and the Seventh Schedule ⁽³⁾ to that Act shall, so far as is consistent with the tenour thereof, apply accordingly as if they were herein re-enacted, with the substitution of the Local Government Board for the Committee of Council, and of the said district for borough, and with a limitation to the purposes of this section:
- (3.) A scheme may be made as aforesaid for the purpose of amending any previous scheme under this section:
- (4.) Sections two hundred and ninety-four, two hundred and ninety-five, and two hundred and ninety-six of the Public Health Act, 1875 ⁽⁴⁾, shall, so far as is consistent with the tenour thereof, apply to any local inquiry held by order of the Local Government Board for the purposes of this section.

Power of Charity Commissioners.

(2.) If any such property has after the first day of March, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, and before the date at which a charter or a scheme under this Act, or the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, as the case may be, takes effect, been alienated by way of sale, mortgage, grant, lease, charge, or otherwise, and such alienation has not been made in pursuance of some covenant, contract, or agreement bonâ fide made or entered into on or before the said first day of March, or of some resolution duly entered in the Corporation books of the Corporation on or before the said first day of March, or in pursuance of any right saved by this Act, and such alienation has been made collusively and for no consideration, or for insufficient consideration, such alienation may be set aside in the like proceedings (instituted with the consent of the Charity Commissioners or of the Attorney-General) and in like manner as a lease of land of a charity granted without due consideration may be set aside: Provided that if a charter is granted or a scheme made whereby the property is affected, the said proceedings shall be commenced within one year after the charter or scheme takes effect.

(4.) Any corporation or person directly affected by any order of the Charity Commissioners under this Act in relation to any property made before a scheme under this Act has provided for the application of such property, or directly affected by the order of the Charity Commissioners which first establishes a scheme providing for the application of such property, may, if aggrieved by the order, appeal (except as hereinafter provided) to the Privy Council, and the Privy Council after considering the objections to the order and, if it seem necessary, hearing the parties, may make such order as in their opinion the Charity Commissioners ought to have made, and such order shall have the same effect under this Act as if made by the Charity Commissioners, and an appeal shall not lie to the High Court of Justice under the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853 to 1869, against any order against which an appeal to the Privy Council can be had in pursuance of this enactment.

(5.) After a scheme has been made under this Act providing for the application of any property the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853 to 1869, shall apply in all respects as if the scheme were a scheme made in pursuance of those Acts, and the property shall for the purpose of those Acts be deemed to be the endowment of a charity.

All property by this Act vested in the official trustees or any body corporate or persons shall, so far as the same can be transferred by this Act, be transferred by virtue of this Act, and so far as the same cannot be so transferred, be held in trust for those trustees, body corporate, or persons, and shall be vested for the same estate and interest, and subject to the same liabilities, for and subject to which such property was held at the time immediately before the same becomes vested.

(2.) For the purposes of this Act the expression “property” includes all property, real and personal, and all things in action, and all rights of common or commonable rights, and rights to toll, and all franchises, privileges, and rights which have any pecuniary value, and all charters, records, deeds, books, and documents, and includes any estate or interest, legal or equitable, in any property as so defined; and all property held, enjoyed, claimed, or administered by any corporation, Court, judge, or person shall for the purposes of this Act be deemed to be the property of such corporation or person.

(3.) (4.) Any question which may arise as to whether anything is property within the meaning of this Act, or as to whether anything is vested in the official trustees or any body corporate or persons as provided by this Act, shall in the first instance be decided by the Charity Commissioners, subject, nevertheless, to an appeal to the High Court of Justice, as provided by section eight of the Charitable Trusts Act, 1860, and such appeal may be presented by any person interested or claiming to be interested in the property, and the provisions of this Act with respect to an appeal to the Privy Council shall not apply.

10.—(1.) Every person who now is or hereafter may be an inhabitant of any borough mentioned in any of the schedules to this Act, and also every person who has been admitted or might hereafter have been admitted a freeman or burgess of any such borough if this Act had not been passed, or who now is or hereafter may be the wife or widow or son or daughter of any freeman or burgess, or who may have espoused or may hereafter espouse the daughter or widow of any freeman or burgess, or who has been or may hereafter be bound an apprentice, shall have and enjoy and be entitled to acquire and enjoy the same share and benefit of the lands, tenements, and hereditaments, and of the rents and profits thereof, and of the common lands and public stock of any such borough or any municipal or other corporation thereof, and of any lands, tenements, and hereditaments, and any sum or sums of money, chattels, securities for money, or other personal estate, of which any person or any corporation may be seised or possessed in whole or in part for any charitable uses or trusts, as fully and effectually, and for such time and in such manner as he or she by any statute, charter, bye-law, or custom in force at the time of passing this Act might or could have had, acquired, or enjoyed in case this Act had not been passed ⁽¹⁾: Provided that—

- (a.) The total amount to be divided amongst the persons whose rights are herein reserved in this behalf shall not exceed the surplus which shall remain after payment of the interest of all lawful debts chargeable upon the real or personal estate out of which the sums so to be divided have arisen, together with the salaries of municipal officers, and all other lawful expenses, which on the first day of March one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three were defrayed out of or chargeable upon the same:
- (b.) Nothing hereinbefore contained shall be construed to apply to any claim, right, or title of any burgesses or freemen, or of any person, to any discharge or exemption from any tolls or dues levied wholly or in part by or to the use or benefit of any borough or corporation; and after the passing of this Act no person shall have or be entitled to claim thenceforward any discharge or exemption from any tolls or dues lawfully levied in whole or in part by or to the use of any corporation except as hereinafter is excepted:
- (c.) Nevertheless, every person who on the said first day of March was an inhabitant or was entitled to be admitted a freeman or burgess of any borough mentioned in any of the schedules to this Act, or who on the said first day of March was the wife or widow, son or daughter, of any freeman or burgess of any such borough, or who on the said first day of March was bound an apprentice, shall be entitled to have or acquire and enjoy the same discharge or exemption from any tolls or dues lawfully levied in whole or in part by or to the use of any borough or corporation as fully and for such time and in such sort as he or she by any statute, charter, bye-law, or custom in force on the first day of March might or would have had, acquired, and enjoyed the same if this Act had not been passed, and no further or otherwise:
- (d.) Where, by any statute, charter, bye-law, or custom in force at the time of passing this Act within any of the boroughs mentioned in any of the schedules to this Act, any person whose rights in this behalf are herein reserved would have been liable in case this Act had not been passed to pay any fine, fee, or sum of money to any corporation, or to any member, officer, or servant of any corporation, in consideration of his freedom, or of his or her title to such rights as are herein reserved, no such person shall be entitled to have or claim any share or benefit in respect of the rights herein reserved as aforesaid until he or she shall have paid the full amount of such fine, fee, or sum of money to the treasurer of such borough, elected under the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, or to such other person as may be appointed in that behalf by a scheme under that Act or under this Act:
- (e.) Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to entitle any person to any share or benefit of the rights herein reserved who shall not have first fulfilled every condition which, if this Act had not passed, would have been a condition precedent to his or her being entitled to the benefit of such rights, so far as the same is capable of being fulfilled according to the provisions of this Act, or to strengthen, confirm, or affect any claim, right, or title of any burgesses or freemen of any borough or corporation, or of any person, to the benefit of any such rights as are hereinbefore reserved, but the same in every case may be brought in question, impeached, and set aside in like manner as if this Act had not been passed.

(2.) From and after the passing of this Act no person shall be elected, made, or admitted a burgess or freeman of any borough mentioned in any of the schedules to this Act by gift or purchase.

(3.) Every scheme under the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, or this Act, shall, if need be, provide for carrying this section into effect, and for the enrolment of persons from time to time entitled under this section, and a scheme may be made for that purpose or for the purpose of managing any property to which the said persons may be for the time being entitled.

Saving for
interests.

11.—(1.) If any person alleges that he is by virtue of this Act deprived of any emolument or pecuniary profit, or any other profit of a pecuniary value, he may apply to the Local Government Board, and that Board, if satisfied that the allegation is true, and that under all the circumstances the applicant ought, if deprived thereof, to receive compensation for the same, may order that he shall continue to enjoy such emolument or profit, or shall receive such compensation for the same as the Board may think just, and if the compensation is pecuniary, the money shall (and if necessary from time to time) be raised in such manner or paid out of such funds (being, so far as may be, the same manner or funds in or out of which the emolument or profit was previously raised or paid) as the order directs.

(2.) All liabilities of any corporation, court, judge, or officer abolished by this Act, existing at the time of such abolition, shall be discharged out of the same funds and in the same manner, as near as may be, as they would have been if this Act had not passed; and the Local Government Board, on the application of any person interested, may by order provide in such manner as they think expedient for the discharge of such liabilities.

(3.) For the purposes of this section, a rate, toll, or due may continue to be levied, and may be made, assessed, levied, and collected by such persons as the Local Government Board direct, in like manner as if they were the persons who, if this Act had not passed, would have been authorised to make, assess, and levy such rate, toll, or due.

(4.) An order under this section may be made an order of the High Court of Justice, and may be enforced accordingly.

Saving for powers of Committee of Council and Charity Commissioners.

12. Nothing in this Act shall be in derogation of any power otherwise vested in the Committee of Council, or the Charity Commissioners, and the Committee of Council and Charity Commissioners may exercise for the purposes of this Act all powers otherwise vested in them in relation to boroughs and charities respectively.

Saving as to Cinque
Ports.

13. With respect to any cinque port¹ or ancient town or member of a cinque port mentioned in the schedules to this Act, the following provisions shall have effect:—

- (1.) Nothing in this Act shall diminish the jurisdiction of the Court of Admiralty of the Cinque Ports within the boundaries defined by the Act of the session of the first and second years of the reign of King George the Fourth, chapter seventy-six, intituled “An Act to continue and amend certain Acts for preventing the various frauds and depredations committed on merchants, shipowners, and underwriters by boatmen and others within the jurisdiction of the Cinque Ports; and also for remedying certain defects relative to the adjustment of salvage under a statute made in the twelfth year of the reign of Her late Majesty Queen Anne,” or of any commissioners appointed in pursuance of that Act:
- (2.) Nothing in this Act shall increase the authority or jurisdiction which any cinque port, or any court, justice, or officer of a cinque port, has over any member of a cinque port, notwithstanding that that member is, in pursuance of this Act, no longer corporate;
- (3.) The non-corporate members of any such cinque port or ancient town shall form part of the body of the county, and hundred, and other division in which those members are respectively situate.

14. In the event of a charter not being granted to Winchelsea the property of the corporation of Winchelsea shall continue to be held, managed, and enjoyed as heretofore, in like manner as if a scheme of the Charity Commissioners in pursuance of this Act, had provided for such holding, management, and enjoyment, and for that purpose the corporation of Winchelsea shall continue undissolved in like manner as if it were constituted by the said scheme; and, notwithstanding anything in this Act, Winchelsea shall continue to be entitled an ancient town of the Cinque Ports.

Secs. 14-18.

Saving as to Winchelsea.

15.—(1.) Every body referred to in the First Schedule to this Act, shall, notwithstanding any mistake in the name or description thereof, be subject to this Act, as a corporation, and be deemed to be a local authority within the meaning of section two hundred and thirteen of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882.¹

Provisions as to local authorities and officers.
45 & 46 Vict. c. 50.

(2.) Any mayor, jurat, recorder, justice of the peace, coroner, bailiff, sergeant, inspector, or constable, or any other officer by whatever name called, having or claiming the authority of any judge or officer above named, shall be deemed to be included in this Act in the expression judge or officer, as the case may be.

(3.) Where in any report of the Commissioners of 1834, or in any report of the Commissioners of 1876, any corporation, court, sessions, judge, recorder, justice, coroner, constable, inspector, authority, or officer, or any franchise, privilege, right, or exemption, or any property, is mentioned in connection with any place mentioned in the schedules to this Act, that mention shall be evidence that the same is subject to this Act.

16.—(1.) Nothing in this Act shall affect the right enjoyed by any person at the passing of this Act to vote for any member or members to serve in Parliament.

Saving for rights of voting and acts done.

(2.) The abolition by this Act of any jurisdiction shall not affect anything done in pursuance of such jurisdiction before it is abolished; any offence committed before such abolition may be prosecuted, tried, and punished as if the jurisdiction had been abolished at the time when the offence was committed.

17. Whereas it appears from the Report of the Commissioners of 1876, that doubt exists as to whether the corporation mentioned in Part II. of the First Schedule to this Act, as existing or reputed to exist in Romney Marsh, is a municipal corporation, and it is expedient to make such provision respecting the same and respecting the lords, bailiff, and jurats of Romney Marsh as hereinafter contained: Be it therefore enacted as follows:

Saving for Romney Marsh.

(1.) The reputed corporation of the bailiff, jurats, and commonalty of Romney Marsh shall, notwithstanding anything in this Act, continue to exist, and to elect officers, and to hold the property vested in them, but any such corporation shall not have or exercise any municipal rights or powers; and all property vested in such corporation shall continue to be applicable for the purposes to which it is at present by law applicable or otherwise for the benefit of the inhabitants of the said place.

(2.) Notwithstanding anything in this Act, the bailiff and justices of the corporation of Romney Marsh shall continue to be appointed and elected, as nearly as may be, in like manner as heretofore, and to have authority as justices in like manner as if they were justices assigned by a commission from Her Majesty in a liberty not having a separate court of quarter sessions.

(3.) The reputed corporation of the lords, bailiff, and jurats of Romney Marsh shall not be deemed a municipal corporation, and notwithstanding anything in this Act shall continue to exist, to elect officers, to hold the property vested in them, and to exercise the same powers as heretofore, and all property vested in such corporation shall continue to be applicable for the purposes to which it is at present by law applicable or otherwise for the benefit of the inhabitants of the said place.

18. Whereas it appears from the Report of the Commissioners of 1876 that doubt exists whether the corporation of Havering-atte-Bower is a municipal corporation, and whether an Order in Council for the union of Havering-atte-Bower to the county of Essex might be made in pursuance of the Act of the

Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to apply to Havering-atte-Bower or to the justices or corporation or reputed corporation thereof, save that it shall be lawful that an Order in Council be made for uniting Havering-atte-Bower to the county of Essex, in pursuance of the recited Act, upon the petition either of the justices of the said county or of the justices of Havering-atte-Bower.

Saving for Local Act relating to Alnwick.

19. Notwithstanding anything in this Act, the corporation referred to in the Alnwick Corporation Act, 1882, shall continue to be a corporation and to hold and administer the property vested in such corporation at the passing of this Act, and shall apply the same for the purposes mentioned in the said Alnwick Corporation Act, 1882, and the maintenance as heretofore of the Corporation schools or for any other public or charitable purposes; and the provisions of this Act with respect to an inquiry by the Privy Council or the Local Government Board, or with respect to a scheme by the Local Government Board, shall not apply to Alnwick, and this Act shall not affect the provisions of the said Alnwick Corporation Act, 1882.

Saving as to Laugharne and Malmesbury.

20. Whereas in Laugharne and Malmesbury divers members of the corporation, whether called burgesses, landholders, or any other name, have the right to occupy without rent or at low rents certain property belonging to the corporation, and it is expedient to make provision with respect to such property, be it enacted as follows:

- (1.) In the event of a charter not being granted to Laugharne or Malmesbury, the property of the corporation of the place to which a charter is not so granted shall continue to be held, managed, and enjoyed as heretofore, in like manner as if a scheme of the Charity Commissioners, in pursuance of this Act, had provided for such holding, enjoyment, and management, and for that purpose the corporation in the said place shall continue undissolved in like manner as if it were constituted by the said scheme.
- (2.) The corporation of such place, subject to the approval of the Charity Commissioners, may sell all or any of the property of the corporation for the best price that may be got for the same; and, after compensating or saving the rights of any person in such property, whether existing or prospective, may pay the proceeds to any public authority in the locality, to be applied by such authority for the benefit of the inhabitants of the said place.
- (3.) The provisions of this Act and of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882⁽¹⁾, for saving the rights and interests of freemen and of persons who might have become freemen shall extend to the rights and interests of persons who are or if this Act had not passed might have become landholders, assistant burgesses, or capital burgesses in Malmesbury, and for that purpose freemen of Malmesbury may continue to be elected landholders, assistant burgesses, and capital burgesses.

Saving for Newport,
Pembroke.

21. Whereas it appears from the report of the Commissioners of 1876 that the office of mayor of Newport (Pembroke) is purely honorary, and that the corporation has no revenue and no municipal function: Be it therefore enacted as follows:

Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to prevent the election of the mayor of Newport (Pembroke) as heretofore, or to dissolve the corporation of Newport (Pembroke), or deprive the lord of the manor or the burgesses of any tolls, rights of common, or other rights of a pecuniary value.

Saving for Over.

22. Whereas it appears from the report of the Commissioners of 1876 that the corporation of Over has no revenue, and no municipal function, and that the mayor of Over, elected at the court leet, has a magisterial but no other jurisdiction: Be it therefore enacted as follows:

Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to prevent the holding of the court leet, and the election by such court of the mayor of Over as heretofore, but such mayor shall not, as such, have the jurisdiction of a justice, whether for criminal, licensing, Secs. 22-27. or any other purpose.

23. Whereas it appears from the report of the Commissioners of 1876 that the corporation of Altrincham has no municipal function, and that the mayor of Altrincham elected at the court leet has no jurisdiction, be it therefore enacted as follows:

Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to prevent the holding of the court leet and the election by such court of the mayor of Altrincham as heretofore, but such mayor shall not have any jurisdiction magisterial, municipal, or other.

24. Nothing in this Act shall deprive the lord of the manor of Corfe of any title enjoyed by him under any charter.

25.—(1.) Nothing in this Act shall diminish the liability of the owner or occupier of any tenement to any rent or sum payable under any charter granted to any corporation mentioned in the Schedules to this Act, and any person entitled to receive such rent or sum shall have the same right and remedy for recovering the same as prior to the passing of this Act, and also upon the abolition by this Act of the corporation under the charter shall have the power of such corporation or of any officer of such corporation to enforce payment of such rent or sum.

(2.) The provisions of this section and of the other parts of this Act for protecting the rights of persons interested shall have effect in favour of Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, and of any body corporate, not being a corporation abolished by this Act, in like manner as if Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, and such body corporate, were included in the term person.

(3.) Nothing in this Act shall affect the legal proceedings pending at the passing of this Act on the information of the Attorney General against the corporation of the mayor and burgesses of Holt, and certain members of that corporation, and for the purpose of such proceedings the said corporation shall continue to be and to act as a corporation, and the mayor, bailiffs, and burgesses shall continue to be elected and appointed in like manner as if this Act had not passed, and any liabilities of such corporation under any judgment, decree, or order in such legal proceedings shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to be liabilities of the corporation existing at the time of the abolition thereof.

26.—(1.) So much of any Act, law, charter, or usage as is inconsistent with this Act is hereby repealed.

(2.) The Act of the session of the seventeenth and eighteenth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter seventy-one, intituled "An Act to amend the law concerning the making of borough rates in boroughs not within the Municipal Corporation Acts," shall, on and after the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, or such later day, not after the first day of September one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, or such later day, not after the first day of September one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, as Her Majesty in Council may appoint, be repealed, without prejudice to any rate previously made in pursuance of that Act, and without prejudice to the making of any rate which is by this Act authorised to be made; and any such rate may be made, levied, collected, and applied, as nearly as may be, as if the said Act had not been repealed.

27. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

The expression "Privy Council" means the Lords of Her Majesty's most Honourable Privy Council, or any two of them;

The expression "Committee of Council" means a Committee of the said Lords:

The expression "Municipal Corporation Acts" has the same meaning as in the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882 (1);

The expression "Charity Commissioners" means the Charity Commissioners for England and Wales:

The expression "official trustees" means, as respects real property the official trustee of charity lands, and as respects all other property the official trustees of charitable funds, acting under the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853 to 1869.

An Act for constituting a Local Government Board, and vesting therein certain functions of the Secretary of State and Privy Council concerning the Public Health and Local Government, together with the powers and duties of the Poor Law Board.
[14th August, 1871.]

Whereas it is expedient to concentrate in one department of the Government as hereinafter provided the supervision of the laws relating to the public health, the relief of the poor, and local government:

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Preliminary.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Local Government Board Act, 1871."

Short title.

Establishment of Local Government Board.

2. A Board shall be established, to be called the Local Government Board, and from and after the establishment of such Board the Poor Law Board shall cease to exist, and all powers and duties vested in or imposed on the Poor Law Board by the several Acts of Parliament relating to the relief of the poor and any other Acts, or vested in or imposed on one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State by the enactments in that behalf mentioned in the first part of the schedule annexed hereto, so far as such powers and duties relate to England, or vested in or imposed on Her Majesty's most honourable Privy Council by the enactments in that behalf specified in the second part of the said schedule, shall be transferred to and imposed on the said Local Government Board, and, except as otherwise provided by this Act, shall be exercised and performed by such Board in like manner and form, and subject to the same conditions, liabilities, and incidents respectively as such powers and duties might before the passing of this Act have been exercised and performed by the authorities in whom the same were then vested respectively, or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

Establishment of Local Government Board.

3. The Local Government Board shall consist of a president to be appointed by Her Majesty, and to hold office during the pleasure of Her Majesty, and of the following ex-officio members, that is to say, the Lord President of Her Majesty's most honourable Privy Council, all Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State for the time being, the Lord Privy Seal, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Constitution of Local Government Board.

Short title and construction.

1. This Act may be cited as the Public Health Act, 1875 (Support of Sewers,) Amendment Act, 1883, and shall be construed as one with the Public Health Act, 1875 (in this Act called the principal Act), as amended by the Acts for the time being in force amending the same.

The expression "support" includes vertical and lateral support ⁽³⁾:

The expression "Sanitary Act" means the Act or Provisional Order under the authority of which a sanitary work has been or is constructed or is maintained, whether such Act or Order was passed and confirmed before or after the commencement of this Act :

3. The provisions of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, sections eighteen to twenty-seven (both inclusive) with respect to mines ⁽⁴⁾ shall, in relation to any sanitary work ⁽⁵⁾ of a local authority ⁽²⁾, be deemed to be incorporated with this Act and with the Sanitary Act ⁽⁵⁾ under the authority of which such sanitary work has been or is constructed or is maintained, with the following modifications (that is to say):—

(1.) For the purposes of such incorporation the said provisions of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, shall be construed as if the expression "the undertakers" referred to the local authority ⁽⁶⁾, and as if the expression "the Special Act" referred to such Sanitary Act ⁽⁷⁾ and this Act, and as if expressions relating to pipes, conduits, or other works referred to the sanitary work ⁽⁷⁾:

(2.) The local authority, by or with any notice under the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, of willingness to treat for or make compensation, or of intention to prevent or interfere with the working of any mines, may specify and define the nature and extent of support ⁽⁸⁾ which they require

- (5.) A local authority ⁽¹⁾ may from time to time make agreements with the owners, lessees, or occupiers of or the persons working any mine for compromising any claim made or to be made in respect of anything done or omitted before the passing of this Act in relation to the matters in this Act mentioned or otherwise for carrying into effect the purposes of this Act in relation to the past or future working of mines :

Where any right of support ⁽³⁾ has been acquired before the passing of this Act by a local authority in respect of any sanitary work, and no compensation is at the passing of this Act recoverable in respect of such right, nothing in this Act shall be construed to apply to the work in respect of which such right has been acquired, or operate to deprive the local authority of such right or to entitle any person to any compensation in respect thereof, to which such person would not have been entitled if this Act had not been passed.

THE RIVERS POLLUTION PREVENTION ACT.

39 & 40 VICT. c. 75.

An Act for making further Provision for the Prevention of the Pollution of Rivers. [15th August, 1876.]

WHEREAS it is expedient to make further provision for the prevention of the pollution of rivers, and in particular to prevent the establishment of new sources of pollution ⁽¹⁾:

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876. Secs. 1—3.

Short title of Act.

PART I. ⁽²⁾.

LAW AS TO SOLID MATTERS.

2. Every person ⁽³⁾ who puts or causes to be put or to fall or knowingly permits to be put or to fall or to be carried into any stream ⁽⁴⁾, so as either singly or in combination with other similar acts of the same or any other person to interfere with its due flow, or to pollute its waters, the solid refuse of any manufactory, manufacturing process or quarry, or any rubbish or cinders, or any other waste or any putrid solid matter, shall be deemed to have committed an offence against this Act. Prohibition of putting solid matters into streams.

In proving interference with the due flow of any stream, or in proving the pollution of any stream, evidence may be given of repeated acts which together cause such interference or pollution, although each act taken by itself may not be sufficient for that purpose.

PART II.

LAW AS TO SEWAGE POLLUTIONS.

3. Every person ⁽⁵⁾ who causes to fall or flow or knowingly permits to fall or flow or to be carried into any stream ⁽⁴⁾ any solid or liquid sewage matter, shall Prohibition as to drainage into streams of sewers.

⁽¹⁾ As to the evils for the remedy of which this Act was passed, see the Reports of the Royal Commissioners, appointed in 1868 to inquire into the best means of preventing the pollution of rivers.

⁽³⁾ See note ⁽⁵⁾, infra.

⁽⁴⁾ As to the meaning of "stream," see section 20, post, p. 405.

⁽⁵⁾ "Person" includes any body of persons, whether corporate or unincorporate. See section 20, post, p. 405.

Where a sanitary authority have not themselves constructed sewers which are a nuisance, but only permitted them to be used as formerly by the inhabitants, they are not doing an act which can be restrained under this or the Public Health Act. They Secs. 3—4 (subject as in this Act mentioned) be deemed to have committed an offence against this Act ⁽¹⁾.

Where any sewage matter falls or flows or is carried into any stream along a channel used, constructed, or in process of construction at the date of the passing of this Act for the purpose of conveying such sewage matter, the person causing or knowingly permitting the sewage matter so to fall or flow or to be carried shall not be deemed to have committed an offence against this Act if he shows to the satisfaction of the court having cognisance of the case that he is using the best practicable and available means ⁽²⁾ to render harmless the sewage matter so falling or flowing or carried into the stream.

Where the Local Government Board are satisfied after local inquiry ⁽⁴⁾ that further time ought to be granted to any sanitary authority, which at the date of the passing of this Act is discharging sewage matter into any stream, or permitting it to be so discharged, by any such channel as aforesaid, for the purpose of enabling such authority to adopt the best practicable and available means for rendering harmless such sewage matter, the Local Government Board may by order declare that this section shall not, so far as regards the discharge of sewage matter by such channel, be in operation until the expiration of a period to be limited in the order ⁽⁵⁾.

Any order made under this section may be from time to time renewed by the Local Government Board, subject to such conditions, if any, as they may see fit.

A person ⁽⁶⁾ other than a sanitary authority shall not be guilty of an offence under this section in respect of the passing of sewage matter into a stream ⁽²⁾ along a drain communicating with any sewer belonging to or under the control of any sanitary authority, provided he has the sanction of the sanitary authority for so doing.

Dorking Union*, ante, p. 56. But where a corporation themselves constructed sewers under their Local Act, they were restrained at the suit of landowners from polluting a river, although the sewer had been completed and in operation sixteen years: Att.-Gen. v. Leeds Corporation, L. R. 5 Ch. 583, 39 L. J. Ch. 711, 22 L. T. N. S. 330, 19 W. R. 19. See, further, sections 17 & 19 of the Public Health Act, ante, pp. 55, 57.

⁽²⁾ As to the meaning of "stream," see section 20, post, p.

⁽³⁾ By section 12, post, a certificate granted by an inspector appointed by the Local Government Board that the means used are the best or only practicable and available means, under the circumstances of the particular case, shall be conclusive evidence of the fact.

The expression must be construed with reference to the state of chemical and other knowledge for the time being, and with reference to the locality and circumstances of the particular cases.

Where any such poisonous, noxious, or polluting liquid as aforesaid falls or flows or is carried into any stream along a channel used, constructed, or in process of construction at the date of the passing of this Act, or any new channel constructed in substitution thereof, and having its outfall at the same spot, for the purpose of conveying such liquid, the person causing or knowingly permitting the poisonous, noxious, or polluting liquid so to fall or flow or to be carried shall not be deemed to have committed an offence against this Act if he shows to the satisfaction of the court having cognizance of the case that he is using the best practicable and reasonably available means (2) to render harmless the poisonous, noxious, or polluting liquid so falling or flowing or carried into the stream (3).

5. Every person (4) who causes to fall or flow or knowingly permits to fall or flow or to be carried into any stream any solid matter from any mine in such quantities as to prejudicially interfere with its due flow, or any poisonous, noxious, or polluting solid or liquid matter proceeding from any mine, other than water in the same condition as that in which it has been drained or raised from such mine, shall be deemed to have committed an offence against this Act, unless in the case of poisonous, noxious, or polluting matter he shows to the satisfaction of the court having cognizance of the case that he is using the best practicable and reasonably available means (2) to render harmless the poisonous, noxious, or polluting matter so falling or flowing or carried into the stream (3).

the Act.

The said Board in giving or withholding their consent shall have regard to the industrial interests involved in the case and to the circumstances and requirements of the locality.

The said Board shall not give their consent to proceedings by the sanitary authority of any district which is the seat of any manufacturing industry, unless they are satisfied, after due inquiry, that means for rendering harmless the poisonous, noxious, or polluting liquids proceeding from the processes of such manufactures are reasonably practicable and available under all the circumstances of the case, and that no material injury will be inflicted by such proceedings on the interests of such industry.

Any person within such district as aforesaid, against whom proceedings are proposed to be taken under this part of this Act, shall, notwithstanding any consent of the Local Government Board, be at liberty to object before the sanitary authority to such proceedings being taken, and such authority shall, if required in writing by such person, afford him an opportunity of being heard against such proceedings being taken, so far as the same relate to his works or manufacturing processes. The sanitary authority shall thereupon allow such person to be heard by himself, agents, and witnesses, and after inquiry such authority shall determine, having regard to all the considerations to which the Local Government Board are

PART IV.

ADMINISTRATION OF LAW.

Sanitary authority to afford facilities for factories draining into sewers.

7. Every sanitary ⁽¹⁾ or other local authority having sewers under their control shall give facilities for enabling manufacturers within their district to carry the liquids proceeding from their factories or manufacturing processes into such sewers:

Provided that this section shall not extend to compel any sanitary or other local authority to admit into their sewers any liquid which would prejudicially affect such sewers or the disposal by sale, application to land, or otherwise, of the sewage matter conveyed along such sewers, or which would from its temperature or otherwise be injurious in a sanitary point of view:

Provided also, that no sanitary authority shall be required to give such facilities as aforesaid where the sewers of such authority are only sufficient for the requirements of their district, nor where such facilities would interfere with any order of any court of competent jurisdiction respecting the sewage of such authority ⁽²⁾.

Power of sanitary authority to enforce Act.

8. Every sanitary authority ⁽¹⁾ shall, subject to the restrictions in this Act contained ⁽³⁾, have power to enforce the provisions of this Act in relation to any stream ⁽⁴⁾ being within or passing through or by any part of their district, and for that purpose to institute proceedings in respect of any offence against this Act which causes interference with the due flow within their district of any such stream, or the pollution within their district of any such stream, against any other sanitary authority or person, whether such offence is committed within or without the district of the first-named sanitary authority.

Any expenses incurred by a sanitary authority in the execution of this Act shall be payable as if they were expenses properly incurred by that authority in the execution of the Public Health Act, 1875 ⁽⁵⁾.

Proceedings may also, subject to the restrictions in this Act contained, be instituted in respect of any offence against this Act by any person aggrieved by the commission of such offence.

Power of Lee Conservancy Board to enforce Act.

9. The Conservancy Board constituted under the Lee Conservancy Act, 1868, shall, within the area of their jurisdiction, have, to the exclusion of any other authority, the powers for enforcing the provisions of this Act which sanitary authorities have under this Act.

The said Conservancy Board may also enforce the provisions of the Lee Conservancy Act, 1868, under the head or division "Protection of Water," by application to the county court having jurisdiction in the place in which any offence is committed against those provisions, and such court may by summary order require any person to abstain from the commission of any such offence, and the provisions of this Act with respect to summary orders of county courts and appeal therefrom shall apply accordingly.

⁽²⁾ As to the rights and obligations of sanitary authorities with regard to sewers, see the Public Health Act, 1875, sections 15 et seq., ante, p. 53 et seq.

⁽³⁾ See section 6, ante, and section 13, post.

⁽⁴⁾ See the interpretation clause, section 20, post.

⁽⁵⁾ As to expenses of urban authorities, see p. 157 et seq., ante; and as to those of rural authorities, see ante, p. 169 et seq.

LEGAL PROCEEDINGS. SAVING CLAUSES. DEFINITIONS.

(1.) Legal Proceedings.

10. The county court having jurisdiction in the place where any offence against this Act is committed may by summary order require any person ⁽¹⁾ to abstain from the commission of such offence, and where such offence consists in default to perform a duty under this Act may require him to perform such duty in manner in the said order specified; the court may insert in any order such conditions as to time or mode of action as it may think just, and may suspend or rescind any order on such undertaking being given or condition being performed as it may think just, and generally may give such directions for carrying into effect any order as to the court seems meet. Previous to granting such order the court may, if it think fit, remit to skilled parties to report on the "best practicable and available means" and the nature and cost of the works and apparatus required, who shall in all cases take into consideration the reasonableness of the expense involved in their report.

Offences to be restrained by summary order of county court.

Any person making default in complying with any requirement of an order of a county court made in pursuance of this section shall pay to the person complaining, or such other person as the court may direct, such sum, not exceeding fifty pounds a day for every day during which he is in default, as the court may order; and such penalty shall be enforced in the same manner as any debt adjudged to be due by the court; moreover, if any person so in default persists in disobeying any requirement of any such order for a period of not less than a month or such other period less than a month as may be prescribed by such order, the court may in addition to any penalty it may impose appoint any person or persons to carry into effect such order, and all expenses incurred by any such person or persons to such amount as may be allowed by the county court shall be deemed to be a debt due from the person in default to the person or persons executing such order, and may be recovered accordingly in the county court.

11. If either party in any proceedings before the county court under this Act feels aggrieved by the decision of the court in point of law or on the merits, or in respect of the admission or rejection of any evidence, he may appeal from that decision to the High Court of Justice.

Appeal from county court, and removal of case into High Court of Justice.

The appeal shall be in the form of a special case to be agreed upon by both parties or their attorneys, and, if they cannot agree, to be settled by the judge of the county court upon the application of the parties or their attorneys.

The court of appeal may draw any inferences from the facts stated in the case that a jury might draw from facts stated by witnesses.

Subject to the provisions of this section, all the enactments, rules, and orders relating to proceedings in actions in county courts, and to enforcing judgments in county courts and appeals from decisions of the county court judges, and to the conditions of such appeals, and to the power of the superior courts on such appeals, shall apply to all proceedings under this Act, and to an appeal from such action, in the same manner as if such action and appeal related to a matter within the ordinary jurisdiction of the court.

Any plaint entered in a county court under this Act may be removed into the High Court of Justice by leave of any judge of the said High Court, if it appears to such judge desirable in the interests of justice that such case should be tried in the first instance in the High Court of Justice and not in a county court, and on such terms as to security for and payment of costs, and such other terms (if any) as such judge may think fit.

12. A certificate granted by an inspector of proper qualifications appointed for the purposes of this Act by the Local Government Board, to the effect that the means used for rendering harmless any sewage matter or poisonous, noxious, or polluting solid or liquid matter falling or flowing or carried into any stream, are best practicable means.

All expenses incurred in or about obtaining a certificate under this section shall be paid by the applicant for the same.

Any person aggrieved by the grant or the withholding of a certificate under this section may appeal to the Local Government Board against the decision of the inspector; and the Board may either confirm, reverse, or modify his decision, and may make such order as to the party or parties by whom the costs of the appeal are to be borne as to the said Board may appear just ⁽²⁾.

Restriction on proceedings for offences.

13. Proceedings shall not be taken under this Act against any person for any offence against the provisions of Parts II. and III. of this Act until the expiration of twelve months after the passing of this Act; nor shall proceedings in any case be taken under this Act for any offence against this Act until the expiration of two months after written notice of the intention to take such proceedings has been given to the offender, nor shall proceedings under this Act be taken for any offence against this Act while other proceedings in relation to such offence are pending ⁽³⁾.

Orders as to costs of inquiries.

14. The Local Government Board may make orders as to the costs incurred by them in relation to inquiries instituted by them under this Act, and as to the parties by whom such costs shall be borne ⁽⁴⁾; and every such order and every order for the payment of costs made by the said Board under section twelve of this Act may be made a rule of Her Majesty's High Court of Justice ⁽⁵⁾.

Power of inspectors of Local Government Board.

15. Inspectors of the Local Government Board shall, for the purposes of any inquiry directed by the Board under this Act, have in relation to witnesses and their examination, the production of papers and accounts, and the inspection of places and matters required to be inspected, similar powers to those which the inspectors of the said Board have under the Public Health Act, 1875, for the purposes of that Act ⁽⁶⁾.

⁽¹⁾ In Portobello (Magistrates of) v. Edinburgh (Magistrates of), 10 C. of S. Cas. (4th Series) 130 (Sc.), where a sanitary authority had been for a long time before the Act sending a large quantity of sewage into a watercourse which joined a large stream, the combined stream falling into the sea three miles below the junction, so that, though for more than forty years the combined stream had carried more or less polluted water to the sea, within the last twenty years the pollution had largely increased, and in the summer the greater part of the combined stream was foully polluted, it was held that, though the watercourse was at the date of the Act "mainly used as a sewer," and therefore excepted from the operation of the Act, the stream into which it flowed was not so used, and the pollution of the latter must be prevented.

41 & 42 VICT. c. 25.

An Act to amend the Public Health Act, 1875, so far as relates to the supply of Water. [4th July, 1878.]

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the provisions of the Public Health Act, 1875: Secs. 1—3.

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

38 & 39 Vict.
c. 55.

1. This Act may be cited as the Public Health (Water) Act, 1878, and shall be construed as one with the Public Health Act, 1875.

Short title, and construction.
Commencement of Act.

2. This Act shall come into operation on the twenty-fifth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, which day is in this Act referred to as the commencement of this Act.

3. It shall be the duty of every rural sanitary authority⁽¹⁾, regard being had to the provisions in this Act contained, to see that every occupied dwelling-house within their district has within a reasonable distance an available supply of wholesome water⁽²⁾ sufficient for the consumption and use for domestic purposes of the inmates of the house.

Duty of rural authority to provide or require provision of sufficient

Where it appears to a rural sanitary authority⁽¹⁾, on the report of their inspector of nuisances⁽³⁾, or their medical officer of health⁽³⁾, that any occupied dwelling-house within their district has not such supply within a reasonable distance, and the authority are of opinion that such supply can be provided at a reasonable cost not exceeding a capital sum the interest on which at the rate of five per centum per annum would amount to twopence per week, or at such other cost not exceeding a capital sum the interest on which at the rate of five per centum per annum would amount to threepence per week, as the Local Government Board may on the application of the local authority⁽⁴⁾ determine under all the circumstances of the case to be reasonable, and that the expense of providing the supply ought to be paid by the owner⁽⁵⁾ or defrayed as private improvement expenses⁽⁶⁾, proceedings may be taken as follows:

water supply,
and procedure for enforcing such requirement.

(1.) The authority may serve on the owner of the house a notice⁽⁷⁾ requiring him, within a time specified in the notice and not exceeding six months from the date of the service thereof, to provide such supply, and to do all such works as may be necessary for that purpose.

(2.) If at the expiration of the time so specified the notice is not complied with, the authority may serve on the owner a second notice⁽⁸⁾, informing him that if the requirements of the first notice are not complied with within one month from the date of the service of the second notice, the authority will themselves provide such supply, and that the expense of providing the supply will in that case be payable by the owner or as a private improvement expense.

- (3.) If at the expiration of one month from the date of the service of the second notice the requirements of the first notice are not complied with, the authority may, subject as in this Act is mentioned, themselves provide the supply, and for that purpose they may enter upon the premises and execute all such works as appear to them necessary for obtaining a supply of water for the house, and for the purposes of such entry sections 102 and 103 of the Public Health Act, 1875, shall apply until the works are completed, in the same manner as if an order of a court of summary jurisdiction had been made for the abatement of a nuisance on the premises, and that order had not been complied with⁽¹⁾.
- (4.) Any expenses incurred by the authority in providing such supply and doing such works may, when the supply has been provided, be recovered in a summary manner from the owner of the house⁽²⁾, or may, at the option of the authority, be declared, by their order, to be private improvement expenses⁽³⁾.
- (5.) Where the owners of two or more houses have failed to comply with the requirements of the notices served on them under this section, and the authority might, under this Act, execute the necessary works for providing a water supply for each house, the authority may, if it appears to them desirable, and no greater expense would be occasioned thereby, execute works for the joint supply of water to those houses, and apportion the expenses as they deem just.

The authority may, on cause being shown to their satisfaction why the requirements of a notice served by them under this section should not be complied with, withdraw the notice or modify the requirements thereof.

c. 55.

Provided that nothing in this section contained shall be deemed to relieve the authority from the duty imposed upon them by the Public Health Act, 1875, of providing their district or any contributory place or part of a contributory place therein with a supply of water in cases where danger arises to the health of the inhabitants from the insufficiency or unwholesomeness of the existing supply, and a general scheme of supply is required, and such supply can be got at a reasonable cost⁽⁴⁾.

Appeal by owner against requirement to provide
water supply.

4. Where an owner of a house has been required by the notice of a rural sanitary authority to provide a supply of water for his house, and objects to such requirement on any of the following grounds; that is to say,

- (1.) That the supply is not required; or,
- (2.) That the time limited by the notice for providing the supply is insufficient; or,
- (3.) That it is impracticable to provide the supply at a reasonable cost; or,
- (4.) That the authority ought themselves to provide a supply of water for the district or contributory place in which the house is situate, or to render the existing supply of water wholesome; or,
- (5.) That the whole or part of the expense of providing the supply, or of rendering the existing supply wholesome, ought to be a charge on the district or contributory place;

he may, within twenty-one days after service on him of the second notice, address a memorial to the authority, stating his objections, and in that case it shall not be lawful for the authority to proceed with the execution of the works which they

(3) See Public Health Act, 1875, sections 257, 213, 214 and 251 et seq., ante, pp. 185, 163, 164, 181 et seq.

(4) See the Public Health Act, 1875, section 299, ante, p. 207, and sections 51 et seq., ante, pp. 69 et seq.

might otherwise execute under this Act until they have been authorised to execute the same by a court of summary jurisdiction or by the Local Government Board in manner hereinafter provided. Secs. 4—6.

If the objections stated in the memorial do not include either the fourth or fifth of the above-mentioned grounds, the authority may apply to a court of summary jurisdiction for an order authorising them to proceed with the works, and thereupon the court shall summon the owner, and, if satisfied on hearing the case that the objections are not well founded, shall make an order authorising the authority to proceed with the works in the event of their not being executed by the owner within a time limited by the order.

If the objections stated in the memorial are or include the fourth and fifth of the above-mentioned grounds, or either of them, the authority shall forward a copy of the memorial to the Local Government Board, who may either cancel the requirement of the authority, or confirm the same, with or without modifications.

If the Local Government Board confirm the requirement they shall issue an order authorising the authority, subject to such modifications, if any, as they prescribe, to execute the works in the event of such works not being executed by the owner within a time limited by the order.

And such order may, if the Local Government Board think it equitable so to do, apportion the expense of providing the supply between the owner of the house and the authority of the district comprising the contributory place in which the house is situate, or between the owner and any other person or persons.

If the Local Government Board cancel the requirement on the grounds that the authority ought themselves to provide a supply of water for the district or contributory place in which the house is situate, or to render the existing supply wholesome, the memorial shall be deemed to have been a complaint of default made to the Local Government Board against the authority under the 299th section of the Public Health Act, 1875 ⁽¹⁾. 38 & 39 Vict.
c. 55.

5. Where the expenses of providing a joint supply of water for two or more houses are apportioned under this Act by a rural sanitary authority among the owners of the several houses, notice of such apportionment shall be forthwith given to each of such owners, and if any owner objects to the apportionment as unjust, he may, within twenty-one days after service on him of notice thereof, apply to a justice, and thereupon the justice may summon the authority, and also the other owners, to show cause before a court of summary jurisdiction why the apportionment should not be varied, and the court may either dismiss the application or make such order varying the apportionment as to the court may appear reasonable ⁽²⁾. Appeal against
of expenses.

6. It shall not be lawful in any rural district for the owner of any dwelling-house which may be erected after the date of the commencement of this Act, or of any dwelling-house which after that date may be pulled down to or below the ground floor and rebuilt, to occupy the same, or cause or permit the same to be occupied, unless and until he has obtained from the sanitary authority of the district a certificate that there is provided, within a reasonable distance of the house, such an available supply of wholesome water as may appear to such authority, on the report of their inspector of nuisances or of their medical officer of health, to be sufficient for the consumption and use for domestic purposes of the inmates of the house. Houses in rural districts not to be erected or rebuilt without
water supply.

If the sanitary authority refuse to grant such certificate, the owner may apply to a court of summary jurisdiction for an order authorising the occupation of the house notwithstanding the refusal of the certificate, and thereupon the court shall summon the authority, and if the court, after hearing the case, is of opinion that the certificate ought to have been granted, the court may make an order authorising the occupation of the house.

⁽²⁾ As to meaning of "rural sanitary authority," see sections 5 and 9 of Public Health Act, 1875, ante, pp. 48, 50. As to providing joint supply of water, see section 3 (5), ante.

Secs. 6—12. Any owner who occupies a house or causes or permits it to be occupied in contravention of this section shall be liable on conviction by a court of summary jurisdiction to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds ⁽¹⁾.

Periodical inspections of water supply.

7. It shall be the duty of every rural sanitary authority ⁽²⁾ from time to time to take such steps as may be necessary to ascertain the condition of the water supply within their district, and the authority may pay all reasonable costs and expenses incurred by them for the purpose of taking such steps. The authority, or any of their officers, or any person duly authorised in writing for that purpose by the authority, if they or he have or has reasonable ground for believing that any occupied dwelling-house within the district is without a proper supply of wholesome water, sufficient for the consumption and use for domestic purposes of the inmates of such house, shall be admitted into the premises for which such supply is required or from which the water supply may be derived for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not such house has such a supply within a reasonable distance; and for the purposes of any such admission sections 102 and 103 of the Public Health Act, 1875 ⁽³⁾, shall apply in the same manner as if such admission were necessary for the purpose of examining as to the existence of any nuisance on the premises, and the person so authorised as aforesaid were an officer of the rural sanitary authority.

38 & 39 Vict.
c. 55.

Explanation of s. 62 of 38 & 39 Vict.
c. 55, as to the meaning of "reasonable cost."

8. Where application is made to the Local Government Board by a local authority under section 62 of the Public Health Act, 1875 ⁽⁴⁾, to determine what is a reasonable cost within the meaning of that section, the Board may, for that purpose, fix, by order, a general scale of charges for the whole or any part of the district of the local authority, and the cost of the supply of water to any house within the area specified in the order shall be deemed to be determined to be a reasonable cost within the meaning of that section if it does not exceed the cost authorised by such general scale of charges.

Rating for water supply
by stand-pipes.

9. Where a rural sanitary authority ⁽⁵⁾ have provided a stand-pipe or stand pipes for the supply of water to any portion of their district, they may recover water rates or water rents from the owner or occupier of every dwelling-house within two hundred feet of any such stand-pipe, in the same manner in all respects as if the supply had been given on the premises ⁽⁶⁾.

Provided that if any such dwelling-house has, within a reasonable distance, and from other sources, a supply of wholesome water sufficient for the consumption and use of the inmates of the house, no water rate or water rent shall be recoverable from the owner or occupier of the house unless and until the water supplied by the authority by means of such stand-pipes is used by inmates of the house.

Power to require water rates to be levied.

38 & 39 Vict.
c. 55.

10. Where a sanitary authority under the provisions of the Public Health Act, 1875, as amended by this Act, supply water in any urban district or in any contributory place, and an application is made to them by any ten persons rated to the relief of the poor in such urban district, or by any five persons so rated in such contributory place, to charge water rates or water rents in respect of the water so supplied, it shall be incumbent upon the authority to exercise the powers given to them by the Public Health Act, 1875 ⁽⁶⁾, and by this Act, of charging water rates or water rents in respect of all water supplied by them in such urban district or in such contributory place.

urban sanitary authorities in certain cases.

11. The Local Government Board may, if they think fit, by order, invest any urban sanitary authority with all or any of the powers and duties which are by this Act given to a rural sanitary authority, and such investment may be made either unconditionally or subject to any conditions to be specified by the Board as to the time, portion of the district, or manner during at or in which the powers and duties are to be exercised.

The word "inspector" shall mean an officer appointed under any local Act relating to the town or district supplied with water under the special Act "Inspector."

Secs. 3—6.

for the purpose of inspecting or superintending works connected with the paving, drainage, or supply of water of such town or district, or any officer appointed under any general Act for executing the like duties with respect to such town or district together with other towns or districts.

And with respect to citing this Act or any part thereof, be it enacted as follows :

Short title of this Act.

Form in which portions of this Act may be incorporated in other Acts.

4. In citing this Act in other Acts of Parliament, and in legal instruments, it shall be enough to use the expression "The Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847" (1).

5. For the purpose of incorporating part only of this Act with any Act hereafter to be passed, it shall be enough to describe the clauses of this Act with respect to any matter in the words introductory to the enactment with respect to such matter, and to enact that the clauses so described, or that this Act, with the exception of the clauses so described, shall be incorporated with such Act, and thereupon all the clauses of this Act so incorporated shall, save so far as they are expressly varied or excepted by such Act, form part of such Act, and such Act shall be construed as if such clauses were set forth therein with reference to the matter to which such Act relates.

And with respect to the construction of the waterworks, be it enacted as follows :

Construction of waterworks to be subject to the provisions of this Act and the Lands
Clauses Consolidation
Acts, 1845.

6. Where by the special Act the undertakers shall be empowered, for the purpose of constructing or supplying waterworks, to take or use any lands or streams otherwise than with the consent of the owners and occupiers thereof, they shall, in exercising the power so given to them, be subject to the provisions and restrictions contained in this Act, and if the waterworks be situated in England or Ireland, to the provisions and restrictions contained in the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (2), and if the waterworks be situated in Scotland, the provisions and restrictions contained in the Lands Clauses Consolidation (Scotland) Act, 1845, and shall make to the owners and occupiers of and all other parties interested in any lands or streams taken or used for the purposes of the special Act, or injuriously affected by the construction or maintenance of the works thereby authorised, or otherwise by the execution of the powers thereby conferred, full compensation for the value of the lands and streams so taken or used, and for all damage sustained by such owners, occupiers, and other persons, by reason of the exercise, as to such lands and streams, of the powers vested in the undertakers by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith (3); and, except where otherwise provided by this or the special Act, the amount of such compensation shall be determined in the manner provided by the said Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts (4) respectively for determining questions of compensation with regard to lands purchased or taken under the provisions thereof, and all the provisions of the said last-mentioned Acts respectively shall be applicable to determine the amount of any such compensation, and to enforce payment or other satisfaction thereof.

(1) The Act of 1863, section 1, post, p. 434, provides that that and this Act may be cited together as the Waterworks Clauses Acts, 1847 and 1863.

(2) See sections 16 et seq. of the Act, post.

(3) See further section 12, post.

There is a distinction between "taking and using" and "injuriously affecting" lands and streams. The diversion of a stream is a "taking and using" within the meaning of section 85 of the Lands Clauses Act, 1845 (post), and before such diversions can be effected, the value of the stream must be ascertained and secured to the owners of the land through which it passes: Ferrand v. Mayor of Bradford, 21 Beav. 412, 27 L. T. 11, 2 Jur. N. S. 175. See also Stone v. Corporation of Yeovil, ante, p. 212. But the mere abstraction of water only entitles a riparian proprietor below to compensation for injuriously affecting his interest in the stream: Bush v. Trowbridge Waterworks Co., ante, p. 213.

Generally as to water rights and liabilities for injury thereto, see the notes ante, p. 70 et seq.

(4) Post.

7. If any omission, mis-statement, or wrong description shall have been made of any lands or streams, or of the owners, lessees, or occupiers of any lands or streams, described on the plans or books of reference deposited in compliance with the standing orders of either House of Parliament, or in the schedule to the special Act, the undertakers, after giving ten days notice to the owners, lessees, and occupiers of the lands and streams affected by such proposed correction, may apply, in England or Ireland, to two justices, and in Scotland to the sheriff, for the correction thereof; and if it appear to such justices or sheriff that such omission, mis-statement, or wrong description arose from mistake, they or he shall certify the same accordingly, and shall in such certificate state the particulars of any such omission, mis-statement, or wrong description; and such certificate, with the other documents to which it relates, shall be deposited, in England or Ireland, with the clerk of the peace, and in Scotland with the sheriff clerk of the several counties in which the lands or streams affected thereby are situated, or, where any such lands or streams are situated in a royal burgh, in Scotland, with the town clerk of such burgh; and such certificate shall be kept by such clerks of the peace, sheriff clerks, or town clerks respectively with the other documents to which they relate; and thereupon such plan, book of reference, or schedule shall be deemed to be corrected according to such certificate; and the undertakers may make the works in accordance with such certificate, as if such omission, mis-statement, or wrong description had not been made (1).

Secs. 7—11.

Errors and omissions in plans, &c., may be corrected by justices, &c., who shall certify the same.

Certificate, &c., to be deposited.

8. The undertakers shall not begin to execute the waterworks unless they shall have previously deposited with the clerk of the peace in England or Ireland, and the sheriff clerk in Scotland, of every county, and the town clerk of every royal burgh in Scotland in which the waterworks shall be situated, a plan and section of all such alterations from the original plan and section (if any) as shall have been approved of by Parliament, on the same scale and containing the same particulars as the original plan and section of the waterworks, and shall also have deposited with the parish clerks of the several parishes in England, and the clerks of the unions of the several parishes in Ireland, and the schoolmasters of the several parishes in Scotland, in which such alterations shall have been authorised to be made, copies or extracts of or from such plans and sections as shall relate to such parishes respectively.

Works not to be proceeded with until plans of all alterations authorised by Parliament have been deposited.

9. The said clerks of the peace, sheriff clerks, and town clerks, parish clerks, clerks of unions, and schoolmasters, shall receive the said plans and sections of alterations, and copies and extracts thereof respectively, and shall keep the same, as well as the said original plans and sections, and shall allow all persons interested to inspect any of the documents aforesaid, and to make copies and extracts of and from the same, in the like manner and upon the like terms, and under the like penalty for default, as is provided in the case of the original plans and sections by an Act passed in the first year of the reign of Her Majesty, intituled "An Act to compel clerks of the peace for counties, and other persons, to take the custody of such documents as shall be directed to be deposited with them under the Standing Orders of either House of Parliament."

Clerks of the peace, &c., to receive plans of alterations, &c., and allow inspection.

7 Will. IV. & 1 Vict. c. 83.

10. Copies of the said plans and books of reference, or of any alteration or correction thereof, or extracts therefrom, certified by any such clerk of the peace, sheriff clerk, or town clerk, which certificate such clerk shall give to all parties interested, when required, shall be received in all courts of justice or elsewhere as evidence of the contents thereof.

Copies of plans and alterations, &c. to be evidence.

11. The undertakers in constructing the waterworks shall not deviate from the line of the works laid down in the said plan more than the prescribed number of

Not to deviate beyond limits

(1) It has been held that the corresponding section in the Railways Clauses Act is intended to meet the case of any omission of land in the plan or of description of the owner in the books of reference, or the omission or mis-statement of the acreage as from an error in copying or the like: Kemp v. W. London & Crystal Palace Ry., 1 K. & J. 681, Jur. N. S. 1012. See also Taylor v. Clemson, 11 Cl. & F. 610, 2 Q. B. 978.

If the justices are satisfied that the omission, &c., arose from mistake, it is their duty to grant the necessary certificate, and they may be compelled to do so by mandamus. See ex parte Central Wales Ry., Hodges on Railways, 6th ed., p. 335.

defined upon plans, &c.

Undertakers, subject to provisions of this and the special Act, may execute the works herein named.

12. Subject to the provisions and restrictions in this and the special Act, and any Act incorporated therewith, the undertakers may execute any of the following works for constructing the waterworks; (that is to say,)

They may enter upon any lands and other places described on the said plans and in the said books of reference, and take levels of the same, and set out such parts thereof as they shall think necessary, and dig and break up the soil of such lands, and trench and sough the same, and remove or use all earth, stone, mines, minerals, trees, or other things dug or gotten out of the same :

They may from time to time sink such wells or shafts, and make, maintain, alter, or discontinue such reservoirs, waterworks, cisterns, tanks, aqueducts, drains, cuts, sluices, pipes, culverts, engines, and other works, and erect such buildings upon the lands and streams authorised to be taken by them, as they shall think proper, for supplying the inhabitants of the town or district within the prescribed limits with water :

They may from time to time divert and impound the water from the streams mentioned for that purpose in the special Act, or the said plans or books of reference, and alter the course of any such streams, not being navigable, and also take such waters as may be found in and under or on the lands to be taken for constructing the works ⁽²⁾ :

Undertakers to make compensation for damages.

Provided always, that in the exercise of the said powers the undertakers shall do as little damage as can be ⁽³⁾, and in all cases where it can be done, shall provide other watering places, drains, and channels for the use of adjoining lands, in place of any such as shall be taken away or interrupted by them, and shall make full compensation to all parties interested for all damage sustained by them through the exercise of such powers ⁽⁴⁾.

Penalty for obstructing construction of works.

13. Every person who shall wilfully obstruct any person acting under the authority of the undertakers in setting out the line of the works, or pull up or remove any poles or stakes driven into the ground for the purpose of setting out

⁽¹⁾ It would seem that this will not prevent the company from taking, for collateral purposes, land beyond the prescribed distance and beyond the limits of deviation marked on the plans, provided the land be scheduled in the company's local Act, and included in their plans and books of reference. See Armistead v. N. Staffordshire Ry., 16 Q. B. 526, 20 L. J. Q. B. 249.

Undue delay may deprive a landowner of the right to complain of unwarranted lateral deviation. See per Lord Cottenham in Holyoake v. Shrewsbury, &c. Ry., 5 Rail. Cas. 421.

⁽²⁾ This section does not empower a company to execute any works which are not authorised by its special Act: Simpson v. S. Staffordshire Waterworks Co., 34 L. J. Ch. 380, 12 L. T. N. S. 360, 11 Jur. N. S. 453, 13 W. R. 729. But private persons seeking an injunction must show a private interest: Mayor, &c. of Liverpool v. Chorley Waterworks Co., 2 De G. Mac. & G. 852; Ware v. Regent's Canal Co., 3 De G. & J. 212.

⁽³⁾ This relates to the mode only of doing the works authorised, and does not regulate what these works shall be: Per Lord Campbell, C.J., in *R. v. E. & W. India Docks, &c. But substantial damage must be shown: Holyoake v. Shrewsbury, &c. Ry., supra; Wandsworth Board v. L. & S. W. Ry., 31 L. J. Ch. 854; or an action will lie, if there be special damage: Watkins v. Great N. Ry., 16 Q. B. 961, 20 L. J. Q. B. 391; Tanner v. S. W. Ry., 5 El. & Bl. 618, 25 L. J. Q. B. 7.

shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every such offence.

14. After the streams or supplies of water hereby or by the special Act authorised to be taken by the undertakers shall have been so taken, every person who shall illegally divert or take the waters supplying or flowing into the streams so taken, or any part thereof, or who shall do any unlawful act whereby the said streams or supplies of water may be drawn off or diminished in quantity, and who shall not immediately repair the injury done by him, on being required so to do by the undertakers, so as to restore the said waters to the state in which they were before such act, shall forfeit to the undertakers any sum which shall be awarded in England or Ireland by two justices, and in Scotland by the sheriff, not exceeding five pounds for every day during which the said supply of water shall be diverted or diminished by reason of any act done by or by the authority of such person, and any sum so forfeited shall be in addition to the sum which he may be lawfully adjudged liable to pay to the undertakers for any damage which they may sustain by reason of their supply of water being diminished; and the payment of the sum so forfeited shall not bar or affect the right of the undertakers to bring or raise an action at law against such person for the damage so committed ⁽¹⁾.

Provided always, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the owners and occupiers for the time being of lands through or by which such streams shall flow, from using the waters thereof in such manner and to such extent as they might have done before the passing of the special Act, unless they shall have received compensation in respect of their right of so using such water.

Reservation
of existing

And with respect to the construction of works for the accommodation of lands adjoining the waterworks, be it enacted as follows:

16. Where by the special Act the undertakers shall be required to erect any works for making good the interruption caused to any lands adjoining or near the waterworks, or otherwise, for the accommodation of such lands, then, if any difference shall arise respecting the construction of any such accommodation works, or the kind or size or sufficiency thereof, or respecting the maintenance thereof, the same shall be determined, in England or Ireland by two justices, and in Scotland by the sheriff, and such justices or sheriff shall also appoint the time within which such accommodation works shall be begun and finished by the undertakers ⁽²⁾.

17. If the undertakers shall, for fourteen days next after the time appointed by such justices or sheriff for the beginning of any such accommodation works, fail to begin such works, or, having begun such works, fail diligently to execute the same in a sufficient manner, the person aggrieved by such failure may execute such work or repairs; and the reasonable expenses thereof shall, on demand, be repaid by the undertakers to the person by whom the same shall so have been executed; and if there be any dispute about the amount or nature of such expenses, the same shall be settled in England or Ireland by two justices, and in Scotland by the sheriff.

And with respect to mines, be it enacted as follows ⁽³⁾:

Map and plan of underground works of undertakers to be made.

19. The undertakers ⁽²⁾ shall from time to time within six months from the time at which any pipes, conduits, or underground works shall have been laid down or formed by them, cause a survey and map to be made of the district within which any such pipes or underground works shall be laid, on a scale not less than one foot to a mile, and shall cause to be marked thereon the course and situation of all existing pipes or conduits for the collection, passage, or distribution of water, and underground works belonging to them, in order to show all such underground works within the said district, and shall, within six months from the making of any alterations or additions, cause the said map to be from time to time corrected, and such additions made thereto as may show the line and situation of all such pipes, conduits, and underground works as may be laid down or formed by them from time to time after the passing of the special Act ⁽³⁾; and such map and plan, or a copy thereof, with the date expressed thereon of the last time when the same shall have been so corrected as aforesaid, shall be kept in the office of the undertakers, and shall be open to the inspection of all persons interested in the same within the said district ⁽³⁾.

Except where otherwise provided for by agreement between the undertakers ⁽²⁾ and other parties, if the owner, lessee, or occupier of any mines or minerals lying under the reservoirs or buildings belonging to the undertakers, or under any of their pipes or works which shall be under ground, and shall be described in the map or plan which shall be so kept and deposited as hereinbefore mentioned, or within the prescribed distance, if any, and if no distance be prescribed within forty yards therefrom, be desirous of working the same, such owner, lessee, or occupier shall give the undertakers ⁽²⁾ notice in writing of his intention so to do thirty days before the commencement of working; and upon the receipt of such notice it shall be lawful for the undertakers to cause such mines to be inspected by any person appointed by them for the purpose, and if it appear to the undertakers

23. If before the expiration of such thirty days the undertakers ⁽²⁾ do not state their willingness to treat with such owner, lessee, or occupier for the payment of such compensation, it shall be lawful for him to work the said mines, and to drain the same by means of engines or otherwise, as if this Act and the special Act ⁽²⁾ had not been passed, so that no wilful damage be done to the said works, and so that the said mines be not worked in an unusual manner; and if any damage or obstruction be occasioned to the works of the undertakers by the working of such mines in an unusual manner, the same shall be forthwith repaired or removed (as the case may require), and such damage made good, by the owner, lessee, or occupier of such mines or minerals, and at his own expense; and if such repair or removal be not forthwith done, or, if the undertakers shall so think fit, without waiting for the same to be done by such owner, lessee, or occupier, it shall be lawful for the undertakers to execute the same, and recover from such owner, lessee, or occupier the expense occasioned thereby by action in any of the Superior Courts.

If company unwilling to treat for payment of compensation, owner may work the mines.

Owners to make good damage occasioned by working the mines in an unusual manner.

24. If the working of any such mines under the said works of the undertakers ⁽²⁾ or within the above-mentioned distance therefrom be prevented as aforesaid by reason of apprehended injury to such works, it shall be lawful for the respective owners, lessees, and occupiers of such mines to cut and make such and so many airways, headways, gateways, or water levels through the mines, measures, or strata, the working whereof shall be so prevented, as may be requisite to enable them to ventilate, drain, and work any mines or minerals on each or either side thereof, but no such airway, headway, gateway, or water level shall be of greater dimensions or sections than the prescribed dimensions or sections, and where no dimensions are prescribed eight feet wide and eight feet high, nor shall the same be cut or made upon any part of the said works so as to injure the same.

25. Except where otherwise provided for by agreement, the undertakers ⁽²⁾ shall from time to time pay to the owner, lessee, or occupier of any mines of coal, ironstone, and other minerals, extending so as to lie on both sides of any reservoirs, buildings, pipes, conduits, or other works, all such additional expenses and losses as shall be incurred by such owner, lessee, or occupier by reason of the severance of the lands over such mines or minerals by such reservoirs or other works, or of the continuous working of such mines or minerals being interrupted as aforesaid, or by reason of the same being worked under the restrictions contained in this or the special Act ⁽²⁾, and for any mines or minerals not purchased by the undertakers which cannot be obtained by reason of making and maintaining the said works, or by reason of such apprehended injury from the working thereof as aforesaid; and if any dispute or question shall arise between the undertakers ⁽²⁾ and such owner, lessee, or occupier as aforesaid, touching the price of such minerals, the same shall be settled by arbitration in such manner as is provided by the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act ⁽³⁾ if the undertaking shall be situate in England or Ireland, and by the Lands Clauses Consolidation (Scotland) Act if the undertaking shall be situate in Scotland.

Company to make compensation to owner, lessee, or occupier of mines for expenses incurred by reason of mines being worked.

It would seem that in estimating compensation an arbitrator may take into consideration, not only the loss and expense incurred by reason of the land being severed and the working of the mines interrupted, but also such losses and expenses as might with reasonable certainty be estimated, which would necessarily be sustained or incurred in working the mines in future. Nothing to prevent undertakers from being liable to actions for injury done to mines.

Power to break up streets, &c. under superintendence, and to open drains.

Not to enter on private land without consent.

Notice to be served on persons having control, &c., before breaking up streets or opening drains.

27. Nothing in this or the special Act ⁽¹⁾ shall prevent the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ from being liable to any action or other legal proceeding to which they would have been liable for any damage or injury done or occasioned to any mines by means or in consequence of the waterworks, in case the same had not been constructed or maintained by virtue of this Act or the special Act.

And with respect to the breaking up of streets for the purpose of laying pipes, be it enacted as follows ⁽²⁾:

28. The undertakers, under such superintendence as is hereinafter specified, may open and break up the soil and pavement of the several streets ⁽³⁾ and bridges within the limits of the special Act, and may open and break up any sewers, drains, or tunnels within or under such streets ⁽³⁾ and bridges, and lay down and place within the same limits pipes, conduits, service pipes, and other works and engines, and from time to time repair, alter, or remove the same, and for the purposes aforesaid remove and use all earth and materials in and under such streets ⁽³⁾ and bridges, and do all other acts which the undertakers shall from time to time deem necessary for supplying water to the inhabitants of the district included within the said limits, doing as little damage as can be ⁽⁴⁾ in the execution of the powers hereby or by the special Act granted, and making compensation for any damage which may be done in the execution of such powers ⁽⁵⁾.

29. Provided always, that nothing herein contained shall authorise or empower the undertakers to lay down or place any pipe, conduit, service pipe, or other work in any land not dedicated to public use without the consent of the owners and occupiers thereof, except that the undertakers at any time may enter upon and lay or place any new pipe in the place of an existing pipe in any land wherein any pipe hath been already lawfully laid down or placed in pursuance of this or the special Act, or any other Act of Parliament, and may repair or alter any pipe so laid down.

30. Before the undertakers open or break up any street ⁽⁶⁾, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel, they shall give to the persons under whose control or management the same may be, or to their clerk, surveyor, or other officer, notice in writing of their intention to open or break up the same, not less than three clear days before beginning such work, except in cases of emergency arising from defects in any of

Secs. 64-68.

Penalty on gas makers causing water to be fouled.

Power to examine gas pipes, to ascertain cause of water being fouled.

The expenses to abide the result of the examination.

How expenses to be ascertained.

Rates to be payable according to the annual value of the premises.

64. Whenever the water supplied by the undertakers shall be fouled by the gas of any person making or supplying gas within the limits of the special Act, such person shall forfeit to the undertakers for every such offence a sum not exceeding twenty pounds, and a further sum not exceeding ten pounds for each day during which the offence shall continue after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the service of notice of such offence ⁽¹⁾.

65. For the purpose of ascertaining whether the water of the undertakers be fouled by the gas of any person making or supplying gas within the limits of the special Act, the undertakers may dig up the ground, and examine the pipes, conduits, and works of the persons making or supplying gas; provided that before proceeding so to dig and examine the undertakers shall give twenty-four hours' notice in writing to the person so making or supplying gas of the time at which such digging and examination is intended to take place, and they shall give the like notice to the persons having the control or management of the pavements or place where such digging shall take place, and they shall be subject to the like obligation of reinstating the road and pavement, and to the same penalties for delay, or any nonfeasance or misfeasance therein, as hereinbefore provided with respect to roads and pavements broken up by them for laying their pipes.

66. If upon such examination it appear that such water has been fouled by any gas belonging to such person, the expenses of the digging, examination, and repair of the street or place disturbed in any such examination shall be paid by the person making or supplying gas; but if upon such examination it appear that the water has not been fouled by the gas of such person, then the undertakers shall pay all the expenses of the examination and repair, and also make good to the said person any injury which may be occasioned to his works by such examination.

67. The amount of the expenses of every such examination and repair, and any injury done to the undertakers, shall, in case of any dispute about the same, together with the costs of ascertaining and recovering the same, be ascertained and recovered in the same manner as damages for the ascertaining and recovery whereof no special provision is made are directed to be ascertained and recovered.

And with respect to the payment and recovery of the water rates be it enacted as follows:

68. The water rates, except as hereinafter and in the special Act mentioned, shall be paid by and be recoverable from the person requiring, receiving or using the supply of water, and shall be payable according to the annual value of the tenement supplied with water, and if any dispute arise as to such value the same shall be determined by two justices ⁽²⁾.

⁽²⁾ In estimating the annual value the amount of the rate itself may be deducted; Sheffield Waterworks Co. v. Bennett, L. R. 8 Ex. 196, 42 L. J. Ex. 121, 28 L. T. N. S. 509, 21 W. R. 74. The 46th section of the "New River Company Act, 1852," which incorporates this Act, provides that "nothing in any Act incorporated herewith shall prevent the company from recovering any sum of money not exceeding £50 which shall be due for water rate, by action or proceeding in such manner as is by law provided for the recovery of debts not exceeding £50." Held that if a bona fide dispute as to the annual value of the tenement has arisen before any proceeding has been taken for the recovery of the rate, the company must get such value determined by the justices before they can sue for more or less than £50: New River Co. v. Mather, L. R. 10 C. P. 442, 44 L. J. M. C. 105, 32 L. T. N. S. 658.

No dispute as to the annual value can arise where a water company are making the minimum charge to which they are entitled under their special Act. Colne Valley Water Co. v. Treharne, 48 J. P. 279.

See section 85, post, p. 432, and as to recovery of rates by action, see section 21 of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1863, post, p. 438. The water rate must be calculated on the "rateable value," not on the "gross estimated" rental of the premises: Warrington Waterworks Co. v. Longshaw, L. R. 9 Q. B. D. 145, 51 L. J. Q. B. 498, 46 L. T. N. S. 815, 31 W. R. 11, 46 J. P. 773; and as to meaning of "annual value," see Dobbs v. Grand

69. When several houses or parts of houses in the separate occupation of several persons are supplied by one common pipe, the several owners or occupiers of such houses or parts of houses shall be liable to the payment of the same rates for the supply of water as they would have been liable to if each of such several houses or parts of houses had been supplied with water from the works of the undertakers by a separate pipe.

Secs. 69-74.

Where several houses supplied by one pipe each to pay.

70. The rates shall be paid in advance by equal quarterly payments, in England or Ireland, at Christmas Day, Lady Day, Midsummer Day, and Michaelmas Day, and in Scotland at Martinmas, Candlemas, Whitsuntide, and Lammas, and the first payment shall be made at the time when the pipe by which the water is supplied is made to communicate with the pipes of the undertakers, or at the time when the agreement to take water from the undertakers is made.

Rates to be paid quarterly.

71. The occupier of any dwelling-house or part of a dwelling-house liable to the payment of any water rate, who shall give notice of his intention to discontinue the use of the water supplied by the undertakers, or who shall remove from his dwelling between any two quarterly days of payment, shall pay the water rate in respect of such dwelling-house or part of a dwelling-house for the quarter ending on the quarterly day of payment next after his quitting the same or giving such notice.

Parties giving notice to discontinue use of water or removing, to pay to the next quarter day.

72. The owners of all dwelling-houses or parts of dwelling-houses occupied as separate tenements, the annual value of which houses or tenements shall not exceed the sum of ten pounds, shall be liable to the payment of the rates instead of the occupiers thereof; and the powers and provisions herein or in the special Act contained for the recovery of rates from occupiers shall be construed to apply to the owners of such houses and tenements; and the person receiving the rents of any such house or tenement as aforesaid from the occupier thereof, on his own account, or as agent or receiver for any person interested therein, shall be deemed the owner of such house or tenement.

Owners of houses not exceeding £10 rent to be liable to water rates.

73. Provided always, that when any owner shall pay any such rate in respect of any such dwelling-house or part of a dwelling-house which shall be in the occupation of any tenant under any lease or agreement made prior to the passing of the special Act, such tenant shall repay to the owner all sums which shall be so by him paid during the continuance of such lease, unless it have been agreed that the owner shall pay the water rates in respect of such dwelling-house or part of a dwelling-house; and every such sum of money payable by the tenant to the owner, under the provision hereinbefore contained, may be recovered if the same be not paid upon demand, as arrears of rent could be recovered from the occupier by the said owner.

Tenants under existing leases to repay the owner.

74. If any person supplied with water by the undertakers, or liable as herein or in the special Act provided to pay the water rate, neglect to pay such water rate at any of the said times of payment thereof, the undertakers may stop the water from flowing into the premises in respect of which such rate is payable, by cutting off the pipe to such premises, or by such means as the undertakers shall think fit, and may recover the rate due from such person, if less than twenty pounds, with the expenses of cutting off the water and costs of recovering the rate, in the same manner as any damages for the recovery of which no special provision is made are recoverable by this or the special Act; or if the rate so due amount to twenty pounds or upwards, the undertakers may recover the same, with the expenses of cutting off the water, by action, in any court of competent jurisdiction⁽¹⁾.

Where a tenant has failed to pay the rates and a company have cut off the water under this section, they are not warranted in refusing to supply water to an incoming tenant, who has tendered the current quarter's rate and the estimated cost of restoring the communication, until the arrears due to them have been paid, but they cannot be made Profits of the company to be limited.

If profits exceed the amount limited excess to be invested and form a reserved fund.

Reserved fund not to be resorted to unless to meet an extraordinary claim.

When fund amounts to

And with respect to the amount of profit to be received by the undertakers when the waterworks are carried on for their benefit, be it enacted as follows :

75. The profits of the undertaking to be divided among the undertakers in any year shall not exceed the prescribed rate, or where no rate is prescribed they shall not exceed the rate of ten pounds in the hundred by the year on the paid-up capital in the undertaking, which in such case shall be deemed the prescribed rate, unless a larger dividend be at any time necessary to make up the deficiency of any previous dividend which shall have fallen short of the said yearly rate (1).

76. If the clear profits of the undertaking in any year amount to a larger sum than is sufficient, after making up the deficiency in the dividends of any previous year as aforesaid, to make a dividend at the prescribed rate, the excess beyond the sum necessary for such purpose shall from time to time be invested in Government or other securities, and the dividends and interest arising from such securities shall also be invested in the same or like securities, in order that the same may accumulate at compound interest until the fund so formed amounts to the prescribed sum, or if no sum be prescribed to a sum equal to one tenth part of the nominal capital of the undertakers, which sum shall form a reserve fund to answer any deficiency which may at any time happen in the amount of divisible profits, or to meet any extraordinary claim or demand which may at any time arise against the undertakers ; and if such fund be at any time reduced it may thereafter be again restored to the said sum, and so from time to time as often as such reduction shall happen.

77. Provided always, that no sum of money shall be taken from the said fund for the purpose of meeting any extraordinary claim, unless it be first certified, in England or Ireland, by two justices, and in Scotland by the sheriff, that the sum so proposed to be taken is required for the purpose of meeting any extraordinary claim within the meaning of this or the special Act.

J. M. C. 145. But if the company have wrongly cut off the communication they cannot require the consumer to renew the communication: Sheffield Waterworks Co. v. Carter, L. R. 8 Q. B. D. 632, 51 L. J. M. C. 97, 30 W. R. 889, 46 J. P. 548.

A corporation is liable to be rated in respect of land and waterworks in several parishes which it occupies for the benefit of the town and inhabitants, though it is provided by the special Act that the charges for the water are to be kept down to the amount necessary to defray the expense of managing the works and supplying the water without making a profit on the supply: Mayor, &c. of Liverpool v. Overseers of West Derby, 6 E. & B. 704, 25 L. J. M. C. 112, 2 Jur. N. S. 1002. See, also, R. v. Overseers of Longwood, 13 Q. B. 116, 21 L. J. M. C. 215; R. v. Mayor of Manchester, 21 L. J. M. C. 160. But the rate is to be made with reference to the amount of profit actually made, and not with reference to the amount which might be earned if the occupiers were not subject to restrictions: Corporation of Worcester v. Droitwich Assessment Committee, L. R. 2 Ex. D. 49.

A waterworks company is not liable to be assessed to the land tax for the land occupied by their pipes: Chelsea Waterworks Co. v. Bowley, 17 Q. B. 358, 20 L. J. M. C. 520.

scribed sum, or one-tenth part of the nominal capital, as the case may be, the interest and dividends thereon shall no longer be invested, but shall be applied to any of the general purposes of the undertaking to which the profits thereof are applicable.

79. If in any year the profits of the undertaking divisible amongst the undertakers shall not amount to the prescribed rate, such a sum may be taken from the reserved fund as, with the actual divisible profits of such year, will enable the undertakers to make a dividend of the amount aforesaid, and so from time to time as often as the occasion shall require.

80. In England or Ireland the Court of Quarter Sessions, and in Scotland the sheriff of such county, may, on the petition of any two water rate payers within the limits of the special Act, appoint some accountant or other competent person, not being a proprietor of any waterworks, to examine and ascertain, at the expense of the undertakers, the actual state and condition of the concerns of the undertakers, and make report thereof to the said court at the then present or some following sessions, or to the sheriff (the amount of such expense to be determined by the said court or sheriff), and the said court or sheriff may examine any witnesses upon oath touching the truth of the said accounts, and the matters therein referred to; and if it thereupon appear to the said court or sheriff that the profits of the undertakers for the preceding year have exceeded the prescribed rate, the undertakers shall, in case the whole of the said reserve fund has been and then remains invested as aforesaid, and in case dividends to the amount hereinbefore limited have been paid, make such a rateable reduction in the rates for water to be furnished by them as in the judgment of the said court or sheriff shall be proper, but so as such rates, when reduced, shall ensure to the undertakers, regard being had to the amount of profit before received, a profit as near as may be to the prescribed rate.

81. Provided always, that if, in the case of any petition so presented, it appear to the said court or sheriff that there was no sufficient ground for presenting the same, the said court or sheriff may, if they or he think fit, order the petitioner to pay the whole or any part of the costs of or incident to such petition (the amount thereof to be determined by the said court or sheriff), and the costs so ordered to be paid shall be recoverable in the same way as damages are recoverable under this or the special Act.

82. If the undertakers shall for seven days after being required to produce to the said court or sheriff, or to the said accountant or other person as aforesaid, any books of account, or other books, bills, receipts, vouchers, or papers relating to their pecuniary affairs, refuse or neglect to produce such books, bills, receipts, vouchers, or papers, they shall forfeit the sum of one hundred pounds for every such refusal or wilful neglect, and the further sum of ten pounds for every day during which such refusal or wilful neglect shall continue after the expiration of the said seven days, such respective penalties to be recovered by any person who will sue for the same, with full costs of suit, in any of the Superior Courts.

83. And with respect to the yearly receipt and expenditure of the undertakers, be it enacted, that the undertakers shall, in each year after they have begun to supply water under this or the special Act, cause an account in abstract to be prepared of the whole receipt and expenditure of all rates or other moneys levied under the powers of this or the special Act for the year preceding, under the several distinct heads of receipt and expenditure, with a statement of the balance of such account, duly audited and certified by the chairman of the undertakers, and also by the auditors thereof, if any; and a copy of such annual account shall be sent, free of charge, to the clerk of the peace for the county in which the waterworks are situated, if the waterworks are situated in England or Ireland, and if the waterworks are situated in Scotland to the sheriff clerk of such county, on or before the thirty-first day of January in each year, under a penalty of twenty pounds for each default; and the copy of such account so sent to the said clerk shall be kept by him, and shall be open to inspection by all persons at all seasonable hours, on payment of one shilling for each inspection.

26 & 27 VICT. c. 93.

An Act for consolidating in One Act certain provisions frequently inserted in Acts relating to Waterworks. [28th July, 1863.]

Secs. 1—4.

10 & 11 Vict.
c. 17.

Whereas the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, was passed in order to comprise in one Act sundry provisions which were at the time of the passing of that Act usually introduced into Acts of Parliament authorising the construction of certain waterworks :

And whereas sundry provisions of the like nature, but not comprised in the said Act, are now frequently introduced into Acts of Parliament relating to waterworks, and it is expedient to comprise such last-mentioned provisions also in one Act, and that as well for the purpose of avoiding the necessity of repeating such provisions in special Acts relating to waterworks, as for insuring greater uniformity in the provisions themselves :

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :

Preliminary.

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1863; and the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, and this Act may be cited together as the Waterworks Clauses Acts, 1847 and 1863.

Application of Act and interpretation
of terms.

2. This Act shall apply to any waterworks to which any special Act hereafter passed and incorporating this Act relates; and every such special Act is hereinafter referred to as "the special Act."

Terms used in this Act have the same meanings as the same terms have when used in the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847.

The provisions respecting the recovery of penalties contained in the last mentioned Act shall be incorporated with this Act.

Security of Reservoirs.

And with respect to the security of the reservoirs constructed by the undertakers, be it enacted as follows :

Power for justices to inquire as to danger of

such person, if less than twenty pounds, together with the expense of cutting off the gas, and the costs of recovering the rent, in the same manner as any damages for the recovery of which no special provision is made are recoverable under this or the special Act, or if the rent so due amount to twenty pounds or upwards the undertakers may recover the same, together with the expenses of cutting off the gas, by action in any court of competent jurisdiction (1).]

Power to take away pipes, &c., when supply of gas discontinued.

17. In all cases in which the undertakers (2) are authorised to cut off and take away the supply of gas from any house or building or premises, under the provision of this or the special Act, the undertakers, their agents or workmen, after giving twenty-four hours previous notice to the occupier, may enter into any such house, building, or premises, between the hours of nine in the forenoon and four in the afternoon, and remove and carry away any pipe, meter, fittings, or other works the property of the undertakers (3).

And with respect to waste or misuse of the gas, or injury to the pipes and other works, be it enacted as follows:

Penalty for fraudulently using the gas of the undertakers.

18. Every person who shall lay or caused to be laid any pipe to communicate with any pipe belonging to the undertakers (2) without their consent, or shall fraudulently injure any such meter as aforesaid, or who, in case the gas supplied by the undertakers is not ascertained by meter, shall use any burner other than such as has been provided or approved of by the undertakers, or of larger dimension than he has contracted to pay for, or shall keep the lights burning for a longer time than he has contracted to pay for, or who shall otherwise improperly use or burn such gas, or shall supply any other person with any part of the gas supplied to him by the undertakers, shall forfeit to the undertakers the sum of five pounds for every such offence, and also the sum of forty shillings for every day such pipe shall so remain, or such works or burner shall be so used, or such excess be so committed or continued, or such supply furnished; and the undertakers may take off the gas from the house and premises of the person so offending, notwithstanding any contract which may have been previously entered into (4).

Penalty for wilfully damaging pipes.

19. Every person who shall wilfully remove, destroy, or damage any pipe, pillar, post, plug, lamp, or other work of the undertakers (2) for supplying gas, or who shall wilfully extinguish any of the public lamps or lights, or waste or improperly use any of the gas supplied by the undertakers, shall for each such offence forfeit to the undertakers any sum not exceeding five pounds, in addition to the amount of the damage done.

Satisfaction for accidentally damaging pipes.

20. Every person who shall carelessly or accidentally break, throw down, or damage any pipe, pillar, or lamp belonging to the undertakers (2), or under their control, shall pay such sum of money by way of satisfaction to the undertakers for the damage done, not exceeding five pounds, as any two justices or the sheriff shall think reasonable.

And with respect to the provision for guarding against fouling water, or other nuisance from the gas, be it enacted as follows (5):

21. If the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall at any time cause or suffer to be brought or to flow into any stream, reservoir, or aqueduct, pond, or place for water, or into any drain communicating therewith, any washing or other substance produced in making or supplying gas, or shall wilfully do any act connected with the making or supplying of gas whereby the water in any such stream, reservoir, aqueduct, pond or place for water shall be fouled, the undertakers shall forfeit for every such offence the sum of two hundred pounds.

Secs. 21-27.

Penalty on undertakers for causing water to be corrupted.

22. The said penalty of two hundred pounds shall be recovered, with full costs of suit, in any of the Superior Courts, by the person into whose water such washing or other substance shall be conveyed or shall flow, or whose water shall be fouled, by any such act as aforesaid; but such penalty shall not be recoverable unless it be sued for during the continuance of the offence, or within six months after it shall have ceased ⁽²⁾.

Penalty to be sued for in Superior Court within six months.

23. In addition to the said penalty of two hundred pounds (and whether such penalty shall have been recovered or not) the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall forfeit the sum of twenty pounds (to be recovered in the like manner) for each day during which such washing or other substance shall be brought or shall flow as aforesaid, or the act by which such water shall be fouled shall continue after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the time when notice of the offence shall have been served on the undertakers by the person into whose water such washing or other substance shall be brought or shall flow, or whose water shall be fouled thereby, and such penalty shall be paid to such last-mentioned person.

Daily penalty during the continuance of the offence.

24. Whenever any gas shall escape from any pipe laid down or set up by or belonging to the undertakers ⁽¹⁾, they shall, immediately after receiving notice thereof in writing, prevent such gas from escaping; and in case the undertakers shall not within twenty-four hours next after service of such notice effectually prevent the gas from escaping, and wholly remove the cause of complaint, they shall for every such offence forfeit the sum of five pounds for each day during which the gas shall be suffered to escape after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the service of such notice ⁽³⁾.

Daily penalty during escape of gas after notice.

25. Whenever any water within the limits of the special Act shall be fouled by the gas of the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ they shall forfeit to the person whose water shall be so fouled for every such offence a sum not exceeding twenty pounds, and a further sum not exceeding ten pounds for each day during which the offence shall continue after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the service of notice of such offence.

Penalty if water contaminated by gas.

26. For the purpose of ascertaining whether such water be fouled by the gas of the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ the person to whom the water supposed to be fouled shall belong may dig up the ground and examine the pipes, conduits, and works of the undertakers; provided that such person, before proceeding so to dig and examine, shall give twenty-four hours notice in writing to the undertakers of the time at which such digging and examination is intended to take place, and shall give the like notice to the persons having the control or management of the road, pavement, or place where such digging is to take place; and they shall be subject to the like obligation of reinstating the said road and pavement, and the same penalties for delay or any nonfeasance or misfeasance therein, as are hereinbefore provided with respect to roads and pavements broken up by the undertakers for the purpose of laying their pipes.

Power to examine gas pipes to ascertain cause of contamination, if notice be given of the same.

27. If, upon any such examination, it appear that such water has been fouled by any gas belonging to the undertakers ⁽¹⁾, the expenses of the digging, examination, and repair of the street or place disturbed in any such examination shall be

Expenses to abide result of examination.

⁽²⁾ This pro tanto repeals any similar provision in any previous local Act: Parry v. Croydon Gas Co., 15 C. B. N. S. 568, 9 L. T. N. S. 694, 12 W. R. 212.

Secs. 27-33. paid by the undertakers; but if upon such examination it appear that the water has not been fouled by the gas of the undertakers, the person causing such examination to be made shall pay all such expenses, and shall also make good to the undertakers any injury which may be occasioned to their works by such examination.

How expenses to be ascertained.

28. The amount of the expenses of every such examination and repair, and of any injury done to the undertakers ⁽¹⁾, shall, in case of any dispute about the same, together with the costs of ascertaining and recovering the same, be ascertained and recovered in the same manner as damages for the ascertaining and recovery whereof no special provision is made are to be ascertained and recovered.

Nothing to exempt undertakers from being indicted for a nuisance.

29. Nothing in this or the special Act contained shall prevent the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ from being liable to an indictment for nuisance, or to any other legal proceeding to which they may be liable, in consequence of making or supplying gas ⁽²⁾.

Profits of the company limited.

And with respect to the amount of profit to be received by the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ when the gasworks are carried on for their benefit, be it enacted as follows :

30. The profits of the undertaking to be divided amongst the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ in any year shall not exceed the prescribed rate, or where no rate is prescribed they shall not exceed the rate of ten pounds in the hundred by the year on the paid-up capital in the undertaking, which in such case shall be deemed the prescribed rate, unless a larger dividend be at any time necessary to make up the deficiency of any previous dividend which shall have fallen short of the said yearly rate ⁽³⁾.

If profits exceed the amount limited, excess to be invested and form a reserved fund.

31. If the clear profits of the undertaking in any year amount to a larger sum than is sufficient, after making up the deficiency in the dividends of any previous year as aforesaid, to make a dividend at the prescribed rate, the excess beyond the sum necessary for such purpose shall from time to time be invested in Government or other securities; and the dividends and interest arising from such securities shall also be invested in the same or like securities, in order that the same may accumulate at compound interest until the fund so formed amounts to the prescribed sum, or if no sum be prescribed a sum equal to one-tenth of the nominal capital of the undertakers ⁽¹⁾, which sum shall form a reserved fund to answer any deficiency which may at any time happen in the amount of divisible profits, or to meet any extraordinary claim or demand which may at any time arise against the undertakers; and if such fund be at any time reduced, it may thereafter be again restored to the said sum, and so from time to time as often as such reduction shall happen.

Reserved fund not to be resorted to, unless to meet an extraordinary claim.

32. Provided always, that no sum of money shall be taken from the said fund for the purpose of meeting any extraordinary claim, unless it be first certified in England or Ireland by two justices, and in Scotland by the sheriff, that the sum so proposed to be taken is required for the purpose of meeting an extraordinary claim within the meaning of this or the special Act.

When fund amounts to prescribed sum, interest to be applied to purposes of the undertaking.

33. When such fund shall, by accumulation or otherwise, amount to the prescribed sum, or one-tenth of the nominal capital of the company, as the case may be, the interest and dividends thereon shall no longer be invested, but shall be applied to any of the general purposes of the undertaking to which the profits thereof are applicable.

⁽²⁾ As to nuisances under the Public Health Act, 1875, and generally, see sections 91-111, and sections 114, 115 of that Act and the notes thereto, ante; and see section 255, ante, as to proceedings in case of nuisances caused by the acts of two or more persons.

⁽³⁾ See the notes to section 75 of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, p. 430. Gasworks managed at a profit by a corporation, although the profits are applied to reduce the town rate, are not "occupied for a public purpose," and therefore not exempt from being rated : Mayor, &c., of Limerick v. Commissioners of Valuation, Ir. Rep. (C. L.) 6 Q. B. 420.

As to the rating of gasworks and the proper deductions to be made, see R. v. Inhabitants of Lee, L. R. 1 Q. B. 241, 35 L. J. M. C. 105.

Fixing pipes in the ground for the conveyance of gas to light a town is a rateable occupation of land : R. v. Brighton Gaslight Co., 8 D. & R. 308, 5 B. & C. 406.

34. If in any year the profits of the undertaking divisible amongst the undertakers shall not amount to the prescribed rate, such a sum may be taken from the reserved fund as, with the actual divisible profits of such year, will enable the undertakers to make a dividend of the amount aforesaid, and so from time to time as often as the occasion shall require. Secs. 34-39.

35. In England or Ireland the court of quarter sessions, and in Scotland the sheriff, may, on the petition of any two gas ratepayers within the limits of the special Act, nominate and appoint some accountant or other competent person, not being a proprietor of any gasworks, to examine and ascertain, at the expense of the undertakers (the amount of such expense to be determined by the said court or sheriff), the actual state and condition of the concerns of the undertakers, and to make report thereof to the said court at the then present or some following sessions or to the sheriff; and the said court or sheriff may examine any witnesses upon oath touching the truth of the said accounts and the matters therein referred to; and if it thereupon appear to the said court or sheriff that the profits of the undertakers for the preceding year have exceeded the prescribed rate, the undertakers shall, in case the whole of the said reserved fund has been and then remains invested as aforesaid, and in case dividends to the amount hereinbefore limited have been paid, make such a rateable reduction in the rate for gas to be furnished by them as in the judgment of the said court or sheriff shall be proper, but so as such rates, when reduced, shall ensure to the undertakers (regard being had to the amount of profit before received) a profit as near as may be to the prescribed rate.

If profits are less than the prescribed rate, a sum may be taken from the reserved fund to supply deficiency. If profits are more than the amount prescribed, a rateable reduction to be made in the price of gas.

36. Provided always, that if, in the case of any petition so presented, it appear to the said court or sheriff that there was no sufficient ground for presenting the same, the said court or sheriff may, if they or he think fit, order the petitioner to pay the whole or any part of the costs of or incident to such petition (the amount thereof to be determined by the said court or sheriff), and the costs so ordered to be paid shall be recoverable in the same way as damages are recoverable under this or the special Act.

Court may order petitioner to pay costs of groundless petition.

37. If the undertakers shall, for seven days after being required to produce to the said court or sheriff, or to the said accountant or other person as aforesaid, any books of account or other books, bills, receipts, vouchers, or papers relating to the pecuniary affairs of the undertakers, refuse or neglect to produce such books, bills, receipts, vouchers, or papers, they shall forfeit the sum of one hundred pounds for every such refusal or wilful neglect, and the further sum of ten pounds for every day such refusal or wilful neglect shall continue after the expiration of the said seven days, such respective penalties to be recovered by any person who will sue for the same, with full costs of suit, in any of the Superior Courts.

Penalty on undertakers for refusing to produce books, vouchers, &c.

38. And with respect to the yearly receipt and expenditure of the undertakers, be it enacted, that the undertakers shall, in each year after they have begun to supply gas under the provisions of this or the special Act, cause an account in abstract to be prepared of the total receipts and expenditure of all rents or funds levied under the powers of this or the special Act for the year preceding, under the several distinct heads of receipt and expenditure, with a statement of the balance of such account, duly audited and certified by the chairman of the undertakers, and also by the auditors thereof, if any; and a copy of such annual account, if the gasworks be situated in England or Ireland, shall be transmitted, free of charge, to the clerk of the peace for the county in which the gasworks are situate, and if the gasworks be situated in Scotland, such copy shall be transmitted, free of charge as aforesaid, to the sheriff clerk of such county, and such transmission shall be made on or before the thirty-first day of January in each year, under a penalty of twenty pounds for each default; and the copy of such account so sent to the said clerk of the peace or sheriff clerk shall be kept by him, and shall be open to inspection by all persons at all seasonable hours, on payment of one shilling or each inspection.

Annual account to be made up by undertakers, and sent to the clerk of the peace in England or Ireland, or to the sheriff clerk in Scotland, and to be open to inspection.

39. And with respect to tender of amends, be it enacted, that if any person shall have committed any irregularity, trespass, or other wrongful proceeding in the execution of this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, or by virtue of any power or authority thereby given, and if before action brought in respect Tender of amends.

Secs. 39-45. thereof such person make tender of sufficient amends to the party injured, such last-mentioned party shall not recover in any such action; and if no such tender have been made the defendant may, by leave of the court where such action is pending, at any time before issue joined, pay into court such sum of money as he thinks fit, and thereupon such proceedings shall be had as in other cases where defendants are allowed to pay money into court (1).

And with respect to the recovery of damages not specially provided for, and of penalties, and to the determination of any other matter referred to justices or to the sheriff, be it enacted as follows:

The Railways
Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, as to damages, &c., to be incorporated with this and the special Act.

40. If the gasworks be in England or Ireland, the clauses of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, with respect to the recovery of damages not specially provided for, and of penalties, and to the determination of any other matter referred to justices shall be incorporated with this and the special Act (2); and if the gasworks be in Scotland, the clauses of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act (Scotland), 1845, with respect to the recovery of damages not specially provided for, and to the determination of any other matter referred to the sheriff or to justices, shall be incorporated with this and the special Act, and such clauses shall apply to the gasworks and to the undertakers respectively, and shall be construed as if the word "undertakers" had been inserted therein instead of the word "company."

43. Every penalty of forfeiture imposed by this or the special Act, or any Act incorporated therewith, or by any bye-law in pursuance thereof, in respect of any offence which shall take place within the metropolitan police district, shall be recovered, enforced, accounted for, and, except where the application thereof is otherwise specially provided for, shall be paid to the receiver of the metropolitan police district, and shall be applied in the same manner as penalties or forfeitures other than fines upon drunken persons, or upon constables for misconduct, or for assaults upon police constables, are directed to be recovered, enforced, accounted for, paid, and applied by an Act passed in the third year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for regulating the police courts in the metropolis;" and every order or conviction of any of the police magistrates in respect of any such forfeiture or penalty shall be subject to the like appeal, and upon the same terms, as is provided in respect of any order or conviction of any of the said police magistrates by the said last-mentioned Act; and every magistrate by whom any order or conviction shall have been made shall have the same power of binding over the witnesses who shall have been examined; and such witnesses shall be entitled to the same allowance of expenses as they would have had or been entitled to in case the order, conviction, and appeal had been made in pursuance of the provisions of the said last-mentioned Act.

Undertakers not exempt from the provisions of 57 Geo. III. c. xxx., or from the laws regulating sewers.

48. And be it enacted, that nothing in this or the special Act shall be deemed to extend to or affect any Act of Parliament relating to Her Majesty's duties of customs or excise, or any other revenue of the Crown, or to extend to or affect any claim of Her Majesty in right of her crown, or otherwise howsoever, or any proceedings at law or in equity, by or on behalf of Her Majesty, in any part of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

Nothing in this or the special Act to affect the rights of the Crown.

49. And be it enacted, that nothing herein or in the special Act contained shall be deemed to exempt the undertakers from any general Act relating to gasworks, or any Act for improving the sanitary condition of towns and populous districts, which may be passed in the same session in which the special Act is passed, or any future session of Parliament.

THE GASWORKS CLAUSES ACT, 1871.

34 & 35 VICT. c. 41.

An Act to amend the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847.

[13th July, 1871.]

Secs. 1—4. Whereas it is expedient that the provisions contained in the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, should be amended :

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows ; (that is to say,)

10 & 11 Vict.
c. 15 and this Act to be construed together.
Short title.

1. The Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, and this Act shall be construed together as one Act, and the provisions of this Act shall be held to repeal and supersede such of the provisions of that Act as are inconsistent with this Act ⁽¹⁾.

2. This Act may be cited as "The Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871."

Application of Act.

3. The provisions of this Act shall apply to every gas undertaking authorised by any special Act hereafter passed, or by any Provisional Order made under the authority of the Gas and Waterworks Facilities Act, 1870, save where the said provisions are expressly varied or excepted by any such special Act or Provisional Order ⁽²⁾; and every such special Act and Provisional Order is in this Act included in the term "the special Act" ⁽³⁾.

Interpretation
of terms.

4. Terms used in this Act have the same meanings respectively as the same terms have when used in the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, and in the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act, 1870.

The term "prescribed" in this Act shall mean prescribed by the special Act :

The term "premises" in this Act shall include house and building :

And the expression "superior courts" or "court of competent jurisdiction" in this Act, or in any Act wholly or partially incorporated herewith, shall be read and have effect as if the debt or demand in respect of which the expression is used were an ordinary simple contract debt and not a debt or demand created by statute.

⁽²⁾ The general rule of construction is that a general Act of Parliament does not repeal a previous particular Act unless there are express words, or unless the two Acts are necessarily inconsistent: Thorpe v. Adams, L. R. 6 C. P. 125, 40 L. J. M. C. 52, 23 L. T. N. S. 810. And where a general Act of Parliament is incorporated with a special Act, if there is any contradiction between them, the special Act is to prevail: A.-G. v. Great Eastern Ry., L. R. 7 Ch. 475, 41 L. J. Ch. 505; and see Metropolitan District Ry. v. Sharpe, L. R. 5 App. Cas. 425, 50 L. J. Q. B. 14, 43 L. T. N. S. 130, 28 W. R. 617, per Selborne, L.C.

⁽³⁾ This section makes the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, and this Act apply to all future companies without any incorporation being necessary: Per Quain, J., in Commercial Gas Co. v. Scott, L. R. 10 Q. B. 400, at p. 403, 44 L. J. Q. B. 215. See also Dudley Gaslight Co. v. Warmington, 50 L. J. M. C. 69, 44 L. T. N. S. 475, 29 W. R. 680, 45 J. P. 649.

*General Provisions.*Secs. 5—11.

5. The undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall not manufacture gas, or any residual products, except upon lands described in the special Act, and they shall not store gas, except upon those lands, without the previous consent in writing of the owner, lessee, and occupier of every dwelling-house situate within three hundred yards of the limits of the site where such gas is intended to be stored.

Prohibition against erecting gasworks elsewhere than on lands specified in schedule.

6. The undertakers ⁽¹⁾ may sell and dispose of any lands which are vested in them, or which they are authorised to purchase, or which they may hereafter require, and which shall not be required for the purposes of the undertaking, and the provisions of "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845," sections 128 to 132 (both sections inclusive) ⁽²⁾, shall apply to any such sale; and the undertakers may also from time to time sell and dispose of any works, buildings, or erections on any lands belonging to them which shall not be required for the purposes of the undertaking.

Sale of superfluous lands.

7. If any money be payable to a shareholder in a gas undertaking, being a minor, idiot, or lunatic, the receipt of his or her respective guardian or committee shall be a sufficient discharge to the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ for the same.

Receipts of guardians, &c., to be sufficient discharge.

8. The mortgagees of the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ may enforce payment of arrears of interest or principal, or principal and interest, due on their mortgages, in England and Ireland by the appointment of a receiver, and in Scotland by the appointment of a judicial factor; and in order to authorise the appointment of a receiver or judicial factor in respect of principal, or principal and interest, the amount owing to the mortgagees by whom the application for a receiver is made, shall not be less than in the whole one thousand pounds, or such sum as shall be specified in the special Act.

For appointment of receiver.

9. Nothing in this or the special Act shall exonerate the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ from any indictment, action, or other proceeding for nuisance, in the event of any nuisance being caused by them.

Undertakers not exempted from indictment.

10. Persons empowered by "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845" ⁽³⁾, to sell and convey or release lands may, if they think fit, subject to the provisions of that Act, and of "The Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts Amendment Act, 1860" ⁽⁴⁾, grant to the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ any easement, right, or privilege, not being an easement of water, required for the purposes of the special Act, in, over, or affecting any such lands; and the provisions of the last-mentioned Acts with respect to lands and rent-charges, as far as the same are applicable in this behalf, shall extend and apply to such grants, or to such easement, rights, or privileges as aforesaid.

Power to take easements, &c., by agreement.

Supply of Gas to Owners and Occupiers of Premises.

11. The undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall, upon being required so to do by the owner or occupier of any premises situate within twenty-five yards from any main of the undertakers, or such other distance as may be prescribed, give and continue to give a supply of gas for such premises, under such pressure in the main as may be prescribed, and they shall furnish and lay any pipe that may be necessary for such purpose, subject to the conditions following; (that is to say,)

Undertakers to furnish sufficient supply of gas to owners and occupiers within the limits of the special Act.

The cost of so much of any pipe for the supply of gas to any owner or occupier as may be laid upon the property of such owner or in the possession of such occupier, and of so much of any such pipe as may be laid for a greater distance than thirty feet from any pipe of the undertakers, although not on such property, shall be defrayed by such owner or occupier.

Every owner or occupier of premises requiring a supply of gas shall—Serve a notice upon the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ at their office, specifying the premises in respect of which such supply is required, and the day (not being an earlier day than a reasonable time after the date of the service of such notice) upon which such supply is required to commence;

Enter into a written contract with the undertakers (if required by them so to do) to continue to receive and pay for a supply of gas for a period of at least two years, of such an amount that the rent payable for the same shall not be less than twenty pounds per centum per annum on the outlay incurred by the undertakers in providing any pipe to be provided by them for the purpose of such supply; and

Give to the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ (if required by them so to do) security for the payment to them of all moneys which may become due to them by such owner or occupier in respect of any pipe to be furnished by the undertakers and in respect of gas to be supplied by them.

Provided always, that the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ may, after they have given a supply of gas for any premises, by notice in writing require the owner or occupier of such premises, within seven days after the date of the service of such notice, to give to them security for the payment of all moneys which may from time to time become due to them in respect of such supply, in case such owner or occupier has not already given such security, or in case any security given has become invalid, or is insufficient, and in case any such owner or occupier fails to comply with the terms of such notice, the undertakers may, if they please, discontinue to supply gas for such premises so long as such failure continues.

Quality of gas.

12. The quality of the gas supplied by the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall, with respect to its illuminating power, be such as to produce at the testing place provided in conformity with this Act a light equal in intensity to that produced by the prescribed number of sperm candles of six in the pound, and such gas shall as to its purity not exhibit any trace of sulphuretted hydrogen when tested in accordance with the rules prescribed in that behalf in Part II. of the Schedule A. to this Act annexed.

Undertakers may require consumers to use meters.

13. Every consumer of gas supplied by the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall, if required to do so by them, consume such gas by a meter duly stamped under the authority of an Act passed in the session of Parliament held in the twenty-second and twenty-third years of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for regulating measures used in sales of gas," and being a legal meter within the meaning of the said Act, or by a meter supplied or approved by the undertakers: Provided always, that where the provisions of the said Act are in force no meter shall be used unless the same shall be a legal meter within the meaning of the said Act, and that elsewhere the undertakers shall not refuse to approve of any meter which when duly tested according to the rules contained in the said Act for regulating measures used in sales of gas is found to be correct within the meaning of the said Act.

Undertakers to supply meters.

14. The undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall supply to any owner or occupier of premises within the limits of the special Act requiring the same a meter for registering gas supplied by them: Provided always, that such owner or occupier shall, if required, previous to receiving such meter, give to the undertakers security for payment to them of the price of such meter if he desires to purchase the same, or of the rent of such meter if he desires to hire the same.

Meters not to be connected or disconnected without notice.

15. No consumer shall connect any meter with any pipe through which gas is supplied by the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ to such meter, or disconnect any meter from any such pipe, unless he shall have given to the undertakers not less than twenty-four hours notice in writing of his intention so to do, and if any person acts in contravention of this section he shall be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

Nature and amount of security.

16. Where any owner or occupier is required by the special Act to give security to the undertakers ⁽¹⁾, such security may be by way of deposit or otherwise, and of such amount as he and the undertakers agree on, or as, in default of agreement, may be determined, on the application of either party, by two justices, who may also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before them shall be paid, and the decision of the justices shall be final and binding on all parties.

(1) See note (2), ante, p. 439.

17. Every consumer of gas supplied by the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall at all times, at his own expense, keep all meters belonging to him whereby any gas of the undertakers is registered in proper order for correctly registering such gas, and in default of his so doing the undertakers may cease to supply gas through such meter. The undertakers shall have access to and be at liberty to take off, remove, test, inspect, and replace any such meter at all reasonable times, such taking off, removal, testing, inspecting, and replacing to be done at the expense of the undertakers if the meter be found in proper order, but otherwise at the expense of the consumer.

Secs. 17-23.

Consumer to keep his meter in proper order.

18. The undertakers ⁽¹⁾ may let for hire any meter for ascertaining the quantity of gas consumed or supplied, and any fittings thereto, for such remuneration in money, and on such terms with respect to the repair of such meter and fittings, and for securing the safety and return to the undertakers of such meter, as may be agreed upon between the hirer and the undertakers, and such remuneration shall be recoverable in the same manner as the rents or sums due to the undertakers for gas, and such meters and fittings shall not be subject to distress, or to the landlord's remedy for rent of the premises where the same may be used, nor to be taken in execution under any process of a court of law or equity, or any proceedings in bankruptcy against the persons in whose possession the same may be.

Power to the undertakers to let meters.

19. The undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall at all times, at their own expense, keep all meters let for hire by them to any consumer in proper order for correctly registering gas, and in default of their so doing the consumer shall not be liable to pay rent for the same during such time as such default continues. The undertakers shall, for the purposes aforesaid, have access to and be at liberty to remove, test, inspect, and replace any such meter at all reasonable times.

Undertakers to keep meter let for hire in repair.

20. The register of the meter shall be prima facie evidence of the quantity of gas consumed, and in respect of which any rent is charged and sought to be recovered by the undertakers ⁽¹⁾: Provided always, that if the undertakers and the consumer differ as to the quantity consumed, such difference may be determined, upon the application of either party, by two justices, who may also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before them shall be paid, and the decision of the justices shall be final and binding on all parties.

Register of gas meters to be prima facie evidence.

21. Any officer appointed by the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ may at all reasonable times enter any building or land lighted with gas supplied by the undertakers, in order to inspect the meters, fittings, and works for the supply of gas, and for the purpose of ascertaining the quantity of gas consumed or supplied; and if any person hinder such officer as aforesaid from entering and making such inspection as aforesaid at any reasonable time, he shall for every such offence forfeit to the undertakers a sum not exceeding five pounds.

Power to enter buildings for ascertaining quantities of gas consumed.

22. In all cases in which a consumer of gas supplied by the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ ceases to require a supply of such gas, and in all cases in which the undertakers are authorised to take away and cut off the supply of gas from any premises, it shall be lawful for the undertakers, their agents or workmen, after twenty-four hours notice in writing, under the hand of the secretary, or other properly authorised officer of the undertakers, to the occupier, or if unoccupied, then to the owner or lessee, or to the agent of the owner or lessee, of any premises in which any pipes, meters, fittings, or apparatus belonging to the undertakers are laid or fixed, and through or in which the supply of gas is from any such cause discontinued to enter such premises between the hours of nine in the morning and four in the evening, for the purpose of removing and to remove such pipes, meters, fittings, or apparatus, repairing all damage caused by such entry or removal.

Power to remove meter and fittings.

23. In case any person who shall have been supplied with gas by the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall neglect or refuse to pay the amount due in respect of such supply, any justice may issue his summons to such person requiring him to appear at a time and place named therein, and then and there to show cause why the sum so demanded should not be paid; and if on the appearance of such person, or in

Secs. 23–27. default of appearance after proof of the service of the summons, either personally or at the last known place of abode or of business of such person, no sufficient cause can be shown to the contrary, any justice may issue his warrant of distress for the seizure and sale of the goods and chattels of such person, for the recovery of the amount which may be proved before such justice to be due from such person, together with such costs, including the cost of cutting off the gas, if the same shall have been cut off by the undertakers, as to such justice shall seem just and reasonable.

Supply of Gas to Local Authorities.

Supply and price of gas to public lamps.

24. The undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall supply gas to any public lamps within the distance of fifty yards from any of the mains of the undertakers in such quantities as the local authority of each district or the trustees of any turnpike road or any highway board within the limits of the special Act may from time to time require to be supplied, and the price to be charged by the undertakers and to be paid to them for all gas so supplied shall be settled by agreement between the local authorities and the undertakers, and in case of difference by arbitration, regard being had to the circumstances of the case, and the prices charged to private consumers in the district.

As to consumption of gas supplied to the public lamps.

25. The gas supplied to the public lamps within the limits of the special Act shall be consumed by meter, at the option either of the local authority of the district or the undertakers ⁽¹⁾, and in case of its being consumed by meter the meter shall be provided and fixed by the undertakers, and be paid for by the party requiring it.

If the gas is supplied to the public lamps in any district by average meter indication, the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall, for securing uniformity of consumption between metered and unmetered lamps, from time to time provide the public lamps in such district with proper self-acting pressure regulators and burners to the satisfaction of the local authority of such district; and the average amount of the indications of all the meters attached to the public lamps within such district under the control of the local authority shall, except as hereinafter mentioned, be deemed to be the amount consumed by each such lamp in such district.

Governors for street lamps.

26. In case gas is supplied to the public lamps in any district by the undertakers ⁽¹⁾, they or the local authority of such district may, at their own expense, cause to be affixed to each lamp the instrument known as a street lamp governor, and the undertakers or such local authority (as the case requires) shall be entitled to have access thereto for the purpose of examining the same.

For settlement of differences between the undertakers and the local authority.

27. Any difference which may arise between the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ and any local authority in relation to the supply or consumption of gas to or by such local authority shall be from time to time settled by arbitration in manner provided by “The Companies Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845,” with respect to the settlement of disputes by arbitration ⁽²⁾.

Testing of Gas.

Testing place.

28. The undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall cause to be provided, at the place prescribed and within the prescribed time, a testing place, with apparatus therein, for the purposes following, or such of them as may be prescribed by the special Act; that is to say,—

1 For testing the illuminating power of the gas supplied :

2. For testing the presence of sulphuretted hydrogen in the gas supplied :

The said apparatus shall be in accordance with the regulations prescribed in Part I. of the Schedule A. to this Act annexed, or according to such rules as may from time to time be substituted in lieu thereof by any special Act, and shall be so situated and arranged as to be used for the purpose of testing the illuminating power and purity of the gas supplied by the undertakers, and the undertakers shall at all times thereafter keep and maintain such testing place and apparatus in good repair and working order. Secs. 28-36.

29. The local authority of any district within the limits of the special Act, where the gas is not supplied by such local authority, may, after the passing of the special Act, from time to time appoint, or may appoint and keep appointed, a competent and impartial person to be a gas examiner to test the gas at the testing place provided in conformity with the provisions of this Act; and such gas examiner may there test the illuminating power and purity of the gas supplied by the undertakers ⁽¹⁾, on any or every day between the hours of five o'clock and ten o'clock in the afternoon from the first day of October to the thirty-first day of March, both inclusive, and on any or every day between the hours of eight o'clock and eleven o'clock in the afternoon from the first day of April to the thirtieth day of September, both inclusive. Appointment and powers of gas examiners.

30. Where no such gas examiner is appointed, or where the testing of the gas is imperfectly attended to by the local authority, two justices, on the application of consumers of the gas of the undertakers ⁽¹⁾, not being less than five, by order in writing may appoint some competent and impartial person to be gas examiner, and such person may at any time within the hours aforesaid, on producing the said order, enter on the premises of the undertakers, and there test the illuminating power and purity of the gas supplied by them. Two justices may appoint gas examiner.

31. The undertakers ⁽¹⁾ may, if they think fit, on each occasion of the testing of the gas by the gas examiner, be represented by some officer, but such officer shall not interfere in the testing. Representation of undertakers.

32. Any tests taken in pursuance of this Act shall be taken in accordance with the rules prescribed in Part II. of the Schedule A. to this Act annexed. Mode of testing.

33. The gas examiner shall, on the day immediately following that on which the testing of the illuminating power or purity of the gas has been conducted, make and deliver a report of the results of his testing to the local authority or justices by whom he was appointed, and to the undertakers ⁽¹⁾, and such report shall be receivable in evidence. Report of gas examiner.

34. The undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall give to the gas examiner and to his assistants, and to every local authority within the limits of the special Act and their agents, access to the testing place, and shall afford all facilities for the proper execution of this Act; and in case the undertakers make default in complying with any of the provisions of this section they shall for every such default be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds to the local authority or to the persons making the application. Access to testing place.

Accounts.

35. The undertakers ⁽¹⁾ shall fill up and forward to the local authority of every district within the limits of the special Act, on or before the twenty-fifth day of March in each year, an annual statement of accounts, made up to the thirty first day of December then next preceding, as near as may be in the form and containing the particulars specified in the Schedule B. to this Act annexed. Accounts, &c.

The undertakers shall keep copies of such annual statement at their office, and sell the same to any applicant at a price not exceeding one shilling for each such copy ⁽²⁾.

The Board of Trade, with the consent of the undertakers, may alter the said forms for the purpose of adapting them to the circumstances of the undertaking, or of better carrying into effect the objects of this section.

In case the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ make default in complying with the provisions of this section they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each day during which such default continues.

Penalties.

36. Whenever the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ neglect or refuse to give a supply of gas to Penalty for failure to supply gas.

⁽²⁾ See Dudley Gaslight Co. v. Warmington, 50 L. J. M. C. 69, 44 L. T. N. S. 475, 29 W. R. 680, 45 J. P. 649.

Secs. 36-39. any owner or occupier of premises within the limits of the special Act entitled to the same, under such pressure as is prescribed, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each day during which such default continues ⁽¹⁾.

Whenever the undertakers ⁽²⁾ neglect or refuse to supply gas as by this Act required to all or any of the public lamps in accordance with the provisions of this Act, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each default.

If it shall be proved to the satisfaction of any two justices, not being shareholders in the undertaking, after hearing the parties, that on any day the gas supplied by the undertakers ⁽²⁾ is under less pressure, of less illuminating power, or of less purity than it ought to be according to the provisions of this or the special Act, the undertakers shall in every such case forfeit and pay to the local authority or other persons making application for testing the gas such sum, not exceeding twenty pounds, as the justices shall determine.

Penalties not cumulative.

Penalties imposed on the undertakers ⁽²⁾ for one and the same offence by several Acts of Parliament shall not be cumulative, and for such purpose the special Act and the Acts incorporated therewith shall be deemed several Acts.

Cost of experiment to be paid according to event.

37. Where the gas examiner is appointed by the justices as aforesaid, the costs of and attending such experiment, including the remuneration to be paid to the person making the same, and the costs of the proceedings before the justices, shall be ascertained by such justices, and in the event of any penalty being imposed on the undertakers ⁽²⁾ shall be paid, together with such penalty, by the undertakers, but in the event of no penalty being imposed the costs shall be in the discretion of the justices.

Penalty for injuring meters.

38. Every person who wilfully, fraudulently, or by culpable negligence injures or suffers to be injured any pipes, meter, or fittings belonging to the undertakers ⁽²⁾, or alters the index to any meter, or prevents any meter from duly registering the quantity of gas supplied, or fraudulently abstracts, consumes, or uses gas of the undertakers ⁽²⁾, shall (without prejudice to any other right or remedy for the protection of the undertakers or the punishment of the offender) for every such offence forfeit and pay to the undertakers a sum not exceeding five pounds, and the undertakers may in addition thereto recover the amount of any damage by them sustained; and in any case in which any person has wilfully or fraudulently injured or suffered to be injured any pipes, meter, or fittings belonging to the undertakers, or altered the index to any meter, or prevented any meter from duly registering the quantity of gas supplied, the undertakers may also, until the matter complained of has been remedied, but no longer, discontinue the supply of gas to the person so offending (notwithstanding any contract previously existing); and the existence of artificial means for causing such alteration or prevention, or for abstracting, consuming, or using gas of undertakers, when such meter is under the custody or control of the consumer, shall be prima facie evidence that such alteration, prevention, abstraction, or consumption, as the case may be, has been fraudulently, knowingly, and wilfully caused by the consumer using such meter.

Recovery of Gas Rents.

Incoming tenants not liable to pay arrears of gas rents, &c.

39. In case any consumer of gas supplied by the undertakers ⁽²⁾ leaves the premises where such gas has been supplied to him without paying the gas rent or meter rent due from him, the undertakers shall not be entitled to require from the next tenant of such premises the payment of the arrears left unpaid by the former tenant, unless such incoming tenant has undertaken with the former tenant to pay or exonerate him from the payment of such arrears.

⁽¹⁾ This applies not only to neglect or refusal to supply gas at a given pressure, but to neglect or refusal to supply it at all, and, therefore, a company is liable which improperly cuts off the supply of gas: Commercial Gas Co. v. Scott, L. R. 10 Q. B. 400, 44 L. J. Q. R. 215.

⁽²⁾ See note ⁽²⁾, ante, p. 439.

40. If any person supplied with gas or with any gas meter or fittings by the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ neglects to pay to the undertakers the rent due for such gas or the rent or money due to the undertakers for the hire or fixing of such meter, or any expenses lawfully incurred by the undertakers in cutting off the gas from the premises of such person, the undertakers may recover the sum so due in like manner as a penalty under this Act.

Secs. 40—46.

Recovery of rents, &c.

41. Whenever any person neglects to pay any rent or sum due and payable by him to the undertakers ⁽¹⁾, the undertakers may recover the same, with full costs of suit, in any court of competent jurisdiction, and the remedy of the undertakers under this enactment shall be in addition to their other remedies for the recovery of such rent or sum ⁽²⁾.

Recovery of sums due to undertakers.

Legal Proceedings.

42. Any summons or warrant issued for any of the purposes of this Act may contain, in the body thereof or in a schedule thereto, several names and several sums.

Contents of summons or warrant.

43. Any justice who issues a warrant of distress in pursuance of the provisions of this Act may order that the costs of the proceedings for the recovery of the money to be levied shall be paid by the person liable to pay such money, and such costs shall be ascertained by the justice, and shall be included in the warrant of distress for the recovery of such money.

Warrant of distress shall include costs.

44. All offences and penalties under this Act, and all money forfeited, and all money and costs by this Act directed to be recovered as penalties, may be prosecuted and recovered in manner directed by "The Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847," with respect to the recovery of penalties ⁽³⁾.

Summary proceedings for offences, penalties, &c.

45. Every notice which the undertakers ⁽¹⁾ are by this Act required to serve upon any person shall be served by being delivered to the person for whom it is intended, or by being left at his usual or last known place of abode, or sent by post addressed to such persons, or if such person or his address be not known to the undertakers, and cannot after due inquiry be found or ascertained, then by being affixed for three days to some conspicuous part of the premises to which such notice relates.

Service of notices by undertakers.

46. No justice or judge of any county court or quarter sessions shall be disqualified from acting in the execution of this Act by reason of his being liable to the payment of any gas rent or other charge under this Act.

Liability to gas rent not to disqualify justices from acting.

SCHEDULE A.

Sched. A.

PART I.

Regulations in respect of testing apparatus.

1. The apparatus for testing the illuminating power of the gas shall consist of the improved form of Bunsen's photometer, known as Letheby's open 60-inch photometer, or Evans' enclosed 100-inch photometer, together with a proper meter, minute clock, governor, pressure gauge, and balance.

The burner to be used for testing the gas shall be such as shall be prescribed.

The candles used for testing the gas shall be sperm candles of six to the pound, and two candles shall be used together.

Sched. A. 2. The apparatus—

(a.) For testing the presence in the gas of sulphuretted hydrogen.—A glass vessel containing a strip of bibulous paper moistened with a solution of acetate of lead, containing sixty grains of crystallised acetate of lead dissolved in one fluid ounce of water.

PART II.

RULES AS TO MODE OF TESTING GAS.

I. Mode of testing for illuminating power.

The gas in the photometer is to be lighted at least fifteen minutes before the testings begin, and it is to be kept continuously burning from the beginning to the end of the tests.

Each testing shall include ten observations of the photometer made at intervals of a minute.

The consumption of the gas is to be carefully adjusted to five cubic feet per hour.

The candles are to be lighted at least ten minutes before beginning each testing, so as to arrive at their normal rate of burning, which is shown when the wick is slightly bent and the tip glowing. The standard rate of consumption for the candles shall be 120 grains each per hour. Before and after making each set of ten observations of the photometer the gas examiner shall weigh the candles, and if the combustion shall have been more or less per candle than 120 grains per hour he shall make and record the calculations requisite to neutralise the effects of this difference.

The average of each set of ten observations is to be taken as representing the illuminating power of that testing.

II. Mode of testing.

(a.) For sulphuretted hydrogen.—The gas shall be passed through the glass vessel containing the strip of bibulous paper moistened with the solution of acetate of lead for a period of three minutes, or such longer period as may be prescribed; and if any discolouration of the test paper is found to have taken place, this is to be held conclusive as to the presence of sulphuretted hydrogen in the gas.
